THE HAUGHTY HUMBLED

Behold, the Lord, the Lord of hosts, shall lop the bough with terror: and the high ones of stature shall be hewn down, and the haughty shall be humbled.

The rest of our days depend on the rest of our nights.

To get at the facts, the senate left no stone unturned.

After all, isn't the Irish problem now a matter of peat and potatoes.

Is the River des Peres, like Tennyson's Brook, to go on and on forever?

Is a red-headed woman's husband always meek, or does he just get that way.

Anyhow, the foreigner who pays our income tax does not talk with a French accent.

Just to show how scarce marrying men are, in Nyack, N. Y., a woman married the same man twice.

If you want to make money following the horses—get a job as a teamster. That's the only sure way.

It begins to look as if the state legislatures are getting a little tired of trying to improve the U. S. Constitution.

Many emigrate to America with the thought that they can live free. We natives would like a little of that ourselves.

Old fashioned girls used to be named Patience and Prudence, what has become of those old fashioned girls—or do we mean names.

From the dean of a law school to the attorney generalship, thence to the supreme court, and all in the space of a year or so. Who says a rolling Stone gathers no moss?

A Texas lady millionaire has remained single because, she says, "men are not good investments." "Maybe not, but lots of women have got a living out of them.

In the interest of economy President Coolidge might appoint some distinguished citizen to call the attention of the bakers to the fact that the price of wheat is slipping.

The average length of human life in the sixteenth century was between eighteen and twenty years. A short life, and, on the whole, not particularly a merry one.

The Russian wheat crop has again failed. But the shining communistic Utopia will never starve to death so long as the charity of the hated capitalist countries is functioning.

Go to sleep with a smile. Relax and look pleasant. This will help to keep away bad dreams, and it may save you $50 or more to have your face "lifted." No charge for this "beauty" advice.

It is whispered that the Coolidge economies are not proving popular among the residents of Washington. Washington should pretend to like them, however. If this rumor gets around, the president's popularity elsewhere will be hard to control.

Miss Zoe Akins, oozing fame at every pore, returns after a long absence and gives the old home town an awful roast, and never a word of protest or reproach is uttered. As the poet might have written, St. Louis doesn't give a damn for zippy Zoe Akins' slam.

Europe is expecting a war between Russia and the little entente as soon as spring opens, but there must be some mistake about the date because in the spring the League of Nations expects to begin construction of its new palace of peace at Geneva.

Probably the senate is suffering just now from an excess of virtue. Possibly Mr. Warren will be the victim of a senatorial prudish moment. If so, there is precedence in this prudishness. Mr. Warren is an episode. The formal judgment of the senate that even presidential nominees must qualify would be a precedent of lasting worth.

It is always of much interest when a person above suspicion climbs down.

It's hard to tell the saints from the sinners when you know them both pretty well.

We think it would have been more fun if Dr. Elliot had made a list of the ten worst educators.

The reason some people don't hear Opportunity knocking is because they are at it themselves.

It is said there are only 87 lame ducks in Washington, but 87 can quack as loudly as a whole flock.

Every man has some weakness, but he has to become famous before anybody pays any attention to it.

Young people are considered foolish because they don't know things it takes 40 or 50 years to learn.

To a man, there is more mystery confined in a fancy salad than in the best detective story ever written.

One beauty about February is that it is the shortest month in the year and one month nearer shirt-sleeve time.

Anyhow, the presence of so many women in the barber shops has toned down the qualities of stories yet heard there.

Cross-word puzzles add to our vocabulary. We saw a man who couldn't work one, learn some new cuss words.

In Oklahoma, a woman shot a young man for marrying her daughter. We believe such action is a little drastic.

In Boston, a bandit shot a man after robbing him, which, we believe, is absolutely contrary to burglar union laws.

Australopithecus Africanus is the name a London scientist gives of what he calls the missing link. Remember it, please.

Plans to merge the railways would have a better chance if some of the lines did not object so strenuously to being submerged.

The fellow who reads every speech his congressman franks to him would make a rattling fine exhibit for the next state fair.

By a remarkable coincidence congress has found the electoral vote to be exactly what the popular vote forecast last November.

"Why don't you try the Golden Rule on our children?" asks a writer. Well, in that event, be sure and follow David Harum's practice of doing it first.

The copy reader who wrote for Sunday's paper the headline, "Out of a Shoppe to Jailie," has been granted new trial.

A doctor from the Mayo hospital has discovered the hicough germ. Another doctor from Minnesota named Volstead beat him to the discovery by about six years.

President Coolidge had no remarks to make on the predicted end of the world, and probably wouldn't have uttered more than a column, if the prediction had proved true.

The bill introduced in the legislature at Jefferson City, Mo., to tax cigarettes is simply outrageous. Can't the devilish republican administration there keep its hands out of the women's pockets?

The Nemeheros are to be presented with medals as a reward for their heroism. Fortunately, the award didn't take a practical form, or the heroes might have been presented with electric fans.

Man in Washington was badly injured by a mirror that fell on him while he was waiting in a barber shop for a shave. Served him right for going into a place which properly belongs to the feminine gender.

Mr. Durant continues to win millions in the market, and the great-hearted public that used to sob over the cruel way in which Durant was ousted from General Motors must now find another martyr to fondle.

Deaths of Rev. Youtzey

From Monday's Daily— Friends here of the D. A. Youtzey family have received word of the death of this former well known Nebraska clergyman, which occurred on last Monday at his home near Port Orchard, Washington. The message did not give any of the particulars of the death of Rev. Youtzey beyond the fact of his death and his burial at Seattle, Washington.

Rev. Youtzey was for several years pastor of the First Christian church in this city, leaving here some fifteen years ago for the west and since that time he has gradually lost touch with the old friends here in this community.
