SOME VERY EFFECTIVE SHOW WINDOWS HERE

In Artistic Display and Well Arranged Show Windows This City Ranks High.

From Thursday's Daily: There has been a great deal of stress made by large city stores on the fact of the great beauty of their show windows and in Omaha recently a campaign has been staged to give the best possible effects in the show windows of the city.

Now, while the subject of show windows is being discussed, there are several of the local stores that have some very artistically arranged fronts, a number of which have been mentioned in the past by the Journal.

One of the places in the city where the window dressing art is shown to the best possible advantage is at the store of the H. M. Soenichsen company, on upper Main street, where the new plate glass fronts give some very pleasing effects to the passers-by of the streets of goods that may be found on the interior of this store.

In the windows there is an artistically prepared display of all of the various lines carried in the store itself, which with the lighting effects in the windows makes a most alluring picture and a great addition to the business section of the city. They have attracted the attention of all those who have visited the city and are real advertisements for this city as a trading center.

RETURNED TO SANITARIUM

From Friday's Daily:—Lloyd Gilmore, former Cass county service man, who was member of the 124th Machine Gun Battalion and later the 11th Machine Gun Battalion in France for several months, who has been living at Nebraska City, and was recently sent from there to the government sanitarium at Knoxville, Iowa, is again back at the institution for care. Mr. Gilmore returned to Nebraska City last week and yesterday was taken sick and had to be taken back to Knoxville. Harry Benson, an ex-service man of Nebraska City, accompanied him to the Iowa institution.

TRUCK GETS STUCK

From Friday's Daily:—This morning while Fred Haffke was out on his route delivering milk, he had a most unpleasant experience in trying to make the steep South Fifth street hill, that he will not soon forget. The truck had progressed up the hill as far as Pearl street when the rear right hand wheel sank into a ditch recently made there and was buried up to the bed of the truck. It was after only the utmost difficulty and the assistance of the larger part of the population that the truck was lifted by main force from the mud and the driver able to back down the hill with the loaded truck.

THE YOUNGEST ODD FELLOW

Louisville perhaps has the youngest Odd Fellow in the state. Leo Shuyter, who was recently initiated as a member of Louisville lodge No. 154, had just passed his eighteenth birthday and went in with a class of four other young men. At the last meeting of the grand lodge the age limit was reduced from 21 to 18 and Lee immediately filed his application for membership and is now a third degree Odd Fellow.—Louisville Courier.

STERLING FLEMING POORLY

From Friday's Daily:—The last few days has shown the condition of Sterling Fleming, who is at the Wise Memorial hospital in Omaha, to be more serious than it has since he has been at the hospital and yesterday an X-ray picture was taken of the young man to try and locate if possible the cause of his severe sickness that has covered the last few weeks. The young man has suffered a great deal from the illness and its cause has been baffling to the attending physicians. He had been feeling fairly well up until the last few days but has since been suffering a great deal and causing some apprehension to the family and the attending physicians.

PLATTSMOUTH TEAM HOOKS LEGION FIVE

Local Organization Victors by Score of 34 to 24 in a Gruelling Battle Last Night.

From Thursday's Daily:—Last evening the basketball fans, who made the trip up the high school hill, saw an exhibition of the favorite winter pastime that was filled with many thrills and spills.

The Plattsmouth Athletic club team was an easy victor over the American Legion team of Omaha, winning by the score of 34 to 24, in a struggle replete with much mixing.

In the opening quarter the game was close, the lead shifting from one to the other of the teams, but following the opening quarter the Plattsmouth team gradually drew away from the visitors. The Omaha team also suffered from a large number of fouls given them that Plattsmouth was fortunate in being able to hoop for scores. The half ended with the score of 18 to 12 in favor of the locals.

The Omaha players were husky and clever players and the two teams apparently well matched in science and strength and mixed freely throughout the battle.

In the second half Plattsmouth opened up on George Parrish and his warriors with renewed vigor and kept them at the small end of the score for the remainder of the game. For Plattsmouth Robert was the main basket gainer, with Sattler second in rolling in the scores that spelled victory for Plattsmouth.

DEATH OF YOUNG BOY

From Friday's Daily:—The Plattsmouth friends of the John Fassbender family, former residents of this city, and now living in Nebraska City, will regret to learn of the death of their grandson, Jack Watherston, son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Watherston. The mother of the deceased boy was formerly Miss Florence Fassbender, well known here. In speaking of the death, the Nebraska City Press has the following:

"Jack Watherston, 12, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Watherston, former residents of Nebraska City, died at St. Joseph's hospital, Omaha, at 8:30 o'clock yesterday morning. "Nebraska City relatives knew that the boy had been ill but were unaware that his ailment was serious until they were notified that he had contracted meningitis a few days before his death.

"Jack was born in Nebraska City in the spring of 1913. He was an especially attractive and popular young man and had just recently visited here with relatives and friends. "Besides his parents, his small sister, Ebeasia, he is survived by his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Fassbender; an uncle, Leo Fassbender; an aunt, Mrs. Otto Schneider, all of Nebraska City.

"Funeral arrangements are to be made today."

A GREAT FORWARD MOVEMENT

Dr. John Alber, secretary of the Nebraska Missionary society, will be here next week in a great Christian stewardship rally at the First Christian church. The following is the program for the week:

Sunday: A great Bible school rally at the church at 10 a. m. Rev. Walter R. Robb, pastor of the church, will speak at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m.

Tuesday: At 8:45 p. m., a banquet of the Men's club will be held. Rev. S. R. Bradley of Weeping Water will be the speaker.

Wednesday and Thursday: Rev. E. T. McFarland of Lawrence, Kansas, will speak at the church.

Friday and Saturday and the following Sunday morning: Rev. John Alber will speak.

MANLEY NEWS ITEMS

Lenard Wendt, living near Louisville, was a visitor in Manley and also was attending the Earhardt sale last Thursday.

Herman Rauth was an able assistant last Thursday to the clerk, Mr. W. J. Rau, at the sale, which was had at the home of Clarence Earhardt.

Searl Davis of Plattsmouth, was a visitor at Manley and a caller at the home of J. C. Rauth last Thursday morning. He was looking after some business matters in Weeping Water also.

The sale which was held last Thursday at the home of Clarence Earhardt, with William Cebekhan as the referee in bankruptcy, was well attended and the property went at a very good price.

David Tiche is out again, having been, for some time, feeling quite badly on account of an attack of the grip which was not easily shaken off. However, he is mending now and soon hopes to be all right again.

E. Bergman, the merchant and postmaster of Manley, has traded his old time friend off, the Saxon car, and in its stead has gotten an Essex Coach which will make this gentleman and family a very nifty wagon for their use.

Edward Kelly and R. Bergman were visiting in Omaha last Monday where they went to look after some business matters and, where Mr. Kelly remained for the week, and there was nothing doing in the grain business at this time.

Hans Nelson, who formerly lived just west of Manley on the state highway and, who some time since moved to Council Bluffs to make his home, was a visitor with friends in and about Manley last week, being a guest at the home of Frank Bergman and family.

The hard luck came the way of John Stander last week when a bee stung him in the eye and he stepped on a board with a nail in it the same day and consequently was out of commission for a short time, but not any longer in a day or so he was out in the field working away.

The new law regulating the incomes of the postmasters and the postal employees benefited the post-office at Manley about one hundred dollars per year. As the income from this source has been quite meager this slight increase comes with a welcome that makes its reception appreciated.

The little son of Mr. and Mrs. John Murphy, who is at the hospital at Omaha where he underwent an operation for appendicitis some time since is reported as getting on fine at this time. His father was a visitor of the young man last week and reported that the son will be able to come home in a short time.

THE "RADIANT" GROOM

The Columbia (S. C.) Piedmont, in a recent issue, asks: "Did it ever occur to you that in the usual news of a wedding a man gets about as much attention as a delegate from a fourclass principality at a conference of nations? It doesn't seem right."

The other night, when repeated failures to get to sleep, dragged along until the early hours, the observer resolved to get to change that particular failing. Some time he is going to write a wedding story where the Princess Mary gets no more space than Count Lascelles. It is like the method of Mr. Wallace, who repeats the account of the wedding story follows:

"Mr. Phill Bert, son of Mr. and Mrs. Brazil Nutt, of Nottingham, became the bridegroom of Miss Equal Rights at high noon. The ceremony took place at the home of the groom's parents, and was largely attended.

"Mr. Nutt was attended by Mr. Pecan as groomsman. As the groom approached the altar he was the cynosure of all eyes. Blushing prettily, he replied to the questions of the clergyman in low tones, but firm.

"He was charmingly clad in a three-piece suit, consisting of a coat, vest and pants. The coat, of some dark material, was draped about his shoulders and tastefully fastened. The guests that the coat was the same worn by his father and grandfather on their wedding days. Mr. Nutt does not deny the truth of the sentimental touch. The vest was sleeveless, and met in the front. It was gracefully fashioned with pockets, and at the back held together with a strap and buckle. Conspicuous on the front of the vest was the groom's most precious piece of jewelry, an Odd Fellows pin, and from the upper left hand pocket was suspended a large Ingersoll watch, the bride's gift to the groom, which flashed and gave the needed touch of brilliance to a costume in perfect taste and harmony.

"The groom's pants were of some dark worsted and were suspended from the waist, falling in a straight line almost to the floor. The severe simplicity of the garment was relieved by the right pantalolet, which was caught up about four inches by a Boston Brighton worn underneath, revealing just the artistic glimpse of brown holeproof above the genuine leather shoes, laced with strings of the same color. The effect was rather chic.

"Beneath the vest the groom wore blue galluses, attached fore and aft to the pants and passing in a graceful curve over each shoulder. This device is a useful part of the costume would have passed unnoticed had not the groom muffed the ring when the groomsman passed it to him. When he stooped over to recover the errant circlet, the cerulean blue of the galluses was prettily revealed.

"His neck was encircled with a collar characterized by a delicate sawedge, and around the collar a cravat was loosely knotted so that it rode up under his left ear with that studied carelessness which marks supreme artistry in dress.

"Mr. Pecan's costume was essentially like the groom's and as the two stood at the altar a hush of admiration enveloped the audience at the complete and wonderful harmony of the raiment. Actually you could hardly have told one from the other had it not been for a patch of court plaster worn by the groom over the niche in his chin made by a safety razor. Neither Mr. Nutt or Mr. Pecan wore a hat at the ceremony.

"As Miss Rights led her groom from the nuptials, it was noted that she wore the conventional veil and orange blossoms."

ECHOES OF BANK FAILURE

Echoes of the failure of the Walton bank formerly headed by L. A. Berge, believed now to be sojourning in Mexico, were heard in District Judge Broady's court room Wednesday morning in the trial of the case of the Farmers State bank of Weeping Water against E. J. Wetankamp in which a note for $1,000 is the issue.

The bank declares that the note was executed by the defendant to L. A. Berge January 28, 1921, payable in six months and that on February 7, 1921, Mr. Berge sold the note to the Weeping Water bank.

The defendants refuse to pay the note and in their defense declares the note to be a forgery. The case went to the jury at 10:30 a. m.—State Journal.

TRIBUTE TO THE MEMORY OF GEN. JOSEPH WHEELER

Washington, March 12.—Tribute to the memory of General Joseph Wheeler, soldier-statesman, was paid by Representative Edward B. Almon of Alabama at the unveiling today in stately hall in the Capitol of a bronze statue of the great cavalry officer. Mr. Almon, who represents the same Alabama congressional district as did General Wheeler for twenty years—the eighth—presided at the ceremony instead of Governor Brandon of Alabama.

Brief speeches also were made by other members of the Alabama delegation. Miss Julia Wheeler Harris, daughter of Senator Harris of Georgia, and grand daughter of General Wheeler, drew the veil from the big statue. Declaring Alabama has not been in a hurry to occupy the second and last place assigned her in statutory hall in the Capitol of a bronze statue of the great cavalry officer. Mr. Almon, who represents the same Alabama congressional district as did General Wheeler for twenty years—the eighth—presided at the ceremony instead of Governor Brandon of Alabama.
