A REAL ARK

From Thursday's Daily—
Yesterday there were two former air service men in the city for a few hours en route to Weeping Water, a boat on the west coast country. The two men were traveling in a real unique car that had been constructed with the body in the form of a boat cabin and on the outside of which were hung articles that had been picked up in all parts of the United States where the autoists had been visiting. Cactus from New Mexico was planted on the side of the car as well as plants and animal pelts secured in Canada and also a number of guns and swords that were souvenirs of the world war that the men had secured. The whole outfit was one that would attract attention anywhere and during the stay here their car, which was parked on North Sixth street, attracted the attention of a large number, who viewed it and visited with the two happy-go-lucky men who were journeying in this gypsy fashion over the country, seeing all they could and having a real outing.

RETURNING TO NEBRASKA

The Plattsmouth and Cass county friends of Col. William Hayward, old time resident of Nebraska City, will be interested in learning that Col. Hayward is soon to return to his old home for a visit among the once familiar scenes. Mr. Hayward has been district attorney of New York and received strong support for governor of the empire state several times. The visit of Col. Hayward will bring him back to the scenes of his boyhood as the parents of Mr. Hayward, Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Hayward were among the pioneers of that section of the state. The old Hayward home is now a part of the buildings of the St. Bernard academy.

W. C. T. U. COUNTY INSTITUTE TO BE HELD THIS SUNDAY

From Thursday's Daily—
Last evening for the second time in the existence of the local post of the American Legion, the members of this organization of service men met and broke bread at the post banquet. This occasion was one that was fully as pleasant as that of the past in a social way, and left even greater thought with the members and those outside of the organization that were present, of the maturing American Legion that has been doing things in the nation for the service man, disabled or well, members of the organization or one who was not affiliated.

The members of the American Legion Auxiliary were responsible in a large part for the great success of the occasion by the splendid manner in which they prepared and served the feast, offering in their delightful manner a menu that would tempt the most exacting.

The ladies also arranged the tables and the hall in a patriotic color scheme in which the red, white and blue was the prevailing note, the national colors and the American Legion standard also being used in the decorations of the hall. The tables were brightened with the bloom of the carnations as well as streamers of red, white and blue and red, white and blue candles.

The service men were invited to the dining hall at 8 o'clock and entered to the stirring strains of the march played by Peter Gradoville and his joy producing melodists and who also offered a program of the popular music of the day during the course of the evening. The banquet and making no small part of the success of the occasion.

The banquet was presided over by Attorney J. A. Capwell, as toastmaster, and who in this capacity covered himself with glory and very pleasantly introduced the various speakers of the evening that were called upon.

Father George D. Pierce, chaplain of the post, was called upon and pronounced the invocation, whereupon the feast proceeded.

Mrs. J. W. Gamble of Omaha, Past Grand Worthy Matron, One Of the Visitors.

From Friday's Daily—
Last evening Home Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, held one of its most pleasant sessions of the year at the Masonic temple which was attended by some 150 members of the order.

The occasion was the regular visit of inspection by the grand chapter of the state, which was represented by Mrs. Margaret McPherson of Omaha, district supervisor. Mrs. John W. Gamble of Omaha, past grand worthy matron of Nebraska, and a former Plattsmouth resident, was also here to enjoy the meeting and to meet her old friends of the years past.

The ladies enjoyed a dinner at 6:30 at the dining room of the temple that was a fitting prelude to the evening in the work of the order. The dining room was a place of the rarest beauty as the decorating committee, composed of Mrs. W. F. Wurga and Mrs. Monte Streight, had performed their duties in a most artistic manner. The colors of the Eastern Star were used in the decorations, the ceiling of the room being brightened with the coloring and the streamers suspended from the ceiling to the tables below presented a very pleasing scene, while the tables with their candles and flowers as well as the snowy linen made the settings all that could be wished for by the members of the banquet party.

The serving of the banquet was in charge of the daughters of the members and performed their tasks most efficiently.

Mrs. J. F. Wolf, worthy matron of Home chapter, presided in a most gracious manner and was assisted by the other officers of the chapter in the conduct of the banquet and the initiatory work.

At the close of the dinner, Mrs. Allen J. Beeson very pleasantly presided for by the famous founder of the order of the Eastern Star, Mrs. S. A. Barker receiving the degree work of the evening.

Following the dinner the officers of the chapter conferred the work of the order upon four candidates, Miss Dorothea Pond, Mrs. W. F. Jorgensen, Miss Laura Meisinger and Mrs. S. A. Barker receiving the degree work of the evening.

At short address was given by Mrs. Gamble in her always pleasant manner that covered many of the points of the order and its work that has made it one of the greatest women's organizations in the United States. Mrs. McPherson also spoke briefly, congratulating the members of Home chapter on their splendid work and growing strength in the community.

BARGAIN DAY IS AN EVENT THAT BRINGS SHOPPERS

Visitors from All Sections of County Are Here and Trade Brisk at the Stores Participating.

ARBOR DAY TO BE OBSERVED WEDNESDAY

Nebraska's Own Holiday Will Be Generally Observed Over the State.

From Friday's Daily—
Yesterday the monthly community sales day drew in a large number of the residents of the county to participate in the large array of special selling opportunities that was being offered by the Plattsmouth merchants.

Stores that have kept careful check of the visitors here found that all sections of the county were represented in the shoppers who were here and also the large number of the residents of the city aided in making the day one that will rank well with the previous bargain days. In several of the stores the day's business was much heavier than at the corresponding bargain day in April, 1924, and those who visited the stores found that they were given the best the market affords at the very lowest prices that could be asked by anyone.

MRS. MARGARET OSSENKOP TAKEN TO OMAHA HOSPITAL

From Friday's Daily—
Mrs. Margaret Ossenkop, whose illness has alarmed her family and friends for several weeks, was taken to the Clarkson hospital in Omaha last Saturday for further examination and for X-ray photographs to be taken to determine if possible the exact cause of her ailment, which appears to be a trouble of the liver and gall.

She stood the trip very well, but is in a very weak condition and at present it is not known just what the outcome will be. This is very sad news to the whole community, who sympathize with the family very much. Her family visit her every day and some of her children are constantly with her and are sparing no effort and expense to make her as comfortable as possible. They are desirous of bringing their mother home as soon as they can, but will not do so as long as there is any hope for her receiving any help in the hospital. Mrs. Ossenkop is one of our pioneer citizens and her host of friends deeply regret her illness and suffering.—Louisville Courier.

PERFORMED GOOD WORK

From Friday's Daily—
Harley Campbell of University Place is in the city looking after some insurance work, and his visit here recalls the services that his father, the Rev. Frank Campbell, performed here during his charge as minister of the local Methodist church from 1898 to 1900. Rev. Campbell came here to take charge of the church which was then located on South Sixth street in the building now occupied by the Christ & Christ furniture store, and at that time the job was a real one from a financial standpoint as the church was laboring under a debt of $12,000, which at that time was equal to $25,000 in these days of more plentiful money. Rev. Campbell faced the fact that a number of the ministers before him had labored long and hard to clear the debt but without success and at one time it was debated whether to quit the church building and let the holders of the mortgages take the place. The task was not too great for Rev. Campbell as he stepped into the breach and as a result of his work he was able to clear up the debt and had the satisfaction of burning the mortgage one Sunday evening in front of the old church, leaving the way clear for the church to grow and prosper.

A Thought for Arbor Day!

After a tree takes root in the soil, it is pretty sure to gain in girth and in the spread of its branches.

After the savings habit takes root in a person's character, it, too, will grow and become a dependable shelter against financial difficulties.

Our suggestion for Arbor day is that you start a Savings account at the First National Bank, and give the savings habit a chance to bring protection and happiness to you.
