SEEK FIRST GOD'S KINGDOM

Take no thought, saying, What shall we eat? or, What shall we drink? or, Wherewithal shall we be clothed?

It's a long head that wears no cap. A fool and his Ford are soon smashed.

A thing of beauty wants ice cream sodas forever.

California reports the lemon crop will be a peach.

A bachelor is funnier than any other single thing.

There are too many people getting married on approval.

The man who never takes a long shot shoots very far.

Being sensible about everything you do is very foolish.

He who says sweat is perspiration knows not what it is.

The school board has been put aside for the spring board.

Governor McMullen gives his endorsement to the defense test.

Many of us are trained nurses when it comes to nursing a grouch.

The hand that rocks the steering wheel is the hand that ruins the wheel.

The life of a dollar bill is eight months, but it's not spent in one place.

The height of foolishness is on the same level with the depths of despair.

The general run of funeral sermons is all right until the defense begins.

Now is a good time to seed the lawn, so that the sparrows will not be disappointed.

It is a sad thought: the undeveloped peoples are those that still have faith in mankind.

Life reminds us of a checker game in which you must keep moving and taking the jumps.

Man's clothing may not be as simple and hygienic as a woman's, but he feels safer.

Hope springs eternal in the human breast and that's why the pool of disappointment is always slopping over.

Mr. Coolidge has candidly declined all invitations to visit college campuses for honorary degrees.

Honors are hard bought at the cost of sweetening in the academic black gown and mortar board.

Some fellow who has nothing better to do has figured that an ordinary house fly alights an average of 1,000 times a day.

While he was about it he should have figured the energy a bald-headed man expends slapping at the flies that alight 1,000 a day.

Road building near Atlantic City is said to have been delayed because the workmen cannot keep their eyes off girls in one-piece bathing suits.

There is only one thing for such susceptible workmen to do and this is to get jobs as life guards.

A Chicago man is reported to have maintained a bank account of $100,000, and all the while made his wife believe he was a clerk on a salary of $40 a week.

Which is undoubtedly another affront to American womanhood, and would stir us to fight if we believed the story.

Elizabeth Marbury, author, publicist, democratic national committee-woman and anti-prohibitionist, has come out strongly against bells on garters in a radio talk delivered over WEAF.

The talk was a feature of the woman's hour program. But Mrs. Marbury needn't worry. There is no need of bells to call attention to those shimmering salmon-colored hose they are wearing nowadays.

A TRAGIC PICTURE

Much has been written of the horrors of war. But the most terrible and impressive picture of what war really means is given in a few brief statistics published in the June issue of Current History.

No conflict since time began ever approached the World War. There were mobilized for actual conflict the enormous total of 64,683,810 soldiers—more than half the total population of the United States.

Not less striking were the enormous armies mobilized. Russia led with 12,000,000; other nations were: Germany, 11,000,000; Great Britain, 8,904,476; France, 8,410,000; Austria-Hungary, 7,800,000; Italy, 5,615,000; United States, 4,800,000.

No history of the war has given an adequate description of the scenes when the routed Roumanian forces were caught between Mackensen's army and the Bulgarian forces coming from the east and south.

In commenting on these terrifying estimates, Mr. Barlow says: "The facts and figures that have been set forth show two things: First, that war such as that conducted in Europe from 1914 to 1918 has kept pace with the development of other human activities."

Summer seems hotter when times are so good; we have nothing but the weather to curse. Some women swear like men, while others are so plous that they won't even darn socks.

There's one nice thing about troubles. You get rid of old ones to make room for new ones. Milwaukee thermometers jumped 28 degrees in 20 minutes, and she no longer is famous for what?

Frank Gould, starting on a shoe-string of $10,000,000, has run it up to $60,000,000, which shows what financial genius will do. A sea serpent was reported off Boston the other day and in St. Louis alligators are frisking about in the Mississippi.

We're expecting to see this line in a modern novel almost any time now: "Elise appeared at the door, worn, weary and bedraggled, with two days' growth of beard on the back of her neck."

The California bureau of vital statistics has found that girls of 18 and widows of 40 are the most popular. However, between those ages almost any woman knows that the situation never is hopeless.

A man entered the office of an eastern university and laid down a gift of $20,000, but refused to give his name. You can't blame him—they'd probably insist on naming a dormitory after him.

New York is boasting that three hundred thousand people slept in the parks one hot night without disturbing a shrub or causing an arrest. New Yorkers evidently are a disciplined people—when they are asleep.

This is the time of year when the editor throws a spike into the small boy's vacation machinery by printing that section of the city ordinances which prohibits setting off firecrackers within the corporate limits.

A railroad man tells the Fort Scott Tribune that if the railroads spend a billion dollars a year for nineteen years eliminating grade crossings in America, there still would be eighty-four thousand crossings left.

HAIL DESTROYS CROPS IN SOUTH-WESTERN IOWA

Storms Sweep Paths Across Mills and Montgomery Counties in Iowa.

From Monday's Daily—Reports that hail Sunday morning destroyed whole crops of grain on many farms in western Iowa were received here Sunday night.

A severe hail, rain and wind storm swept a path a half mile wide thru the western part of Mills county near Glenwood, practically destroyed all small grains in the storm area.

The fruit crop of the J. W. Carter orchards, four miles northwest of Glenwood, was practically ruined for this year.

Four inches of rain was reported to have fallen in and near Glenwood in forty-five minutes. Keg creek was running bank-full, and the swollen waters of the stream carried trees and timbers from small bridges washed out above Glenwood.

The vicinity of Elliott, Ia., north of Red Oak, was hit hard by a severe hail, wind and rain storm which totally destroyed small grain in a strip from four to five miles wide across Montgomery county.

DEATH OF LITTLE CHILD From Tuesday's Daily—The little child of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Kruger, Harley, aged four years, two months and fifteen days, died at the hospital in Omaha yesterday after a short illness.

Keeps Fords quiet and well behaved

Polarine F for Fords

Few cars will stand more or work harder than Fords. But they always have had certain peculiar habits. Their brake bands and transmission bands get glazed and alternately slip and grab.

To develop an oil that properly lubricates the motor, timing gears and transmission, has been no simple or easy accomplishment.

But Polarine "F" for Fords does all these things. Introduced to Ford owners of Nebraska in 1924, it has stood the test. Thousands of motorists use it regularly and report that it does all that we promised.

If you have not tried Polarine "F" you have a pleasing experience ahead. Next time you have your crankcase drained get it filled with Polarine "F" for Fords.

Drive up to any Red Crown Service Station where you see the Red Crown sign, and be sure of proper lubrication and balanced gasoline.
