

Is your furnace Out-of-date?

A worn out furnace is a luxury. It consumes more fuel. It dirties up the house. It needs repairs. Even then you can't depend on it, to keep the house healthfully warm and comfortable. In actual dollars, a worn out furnace costs more than a new one.

Buy a WEIR Furnace and the savings in fuel alone will pay for it. Many WEIR Furnaces have been in actual service for from 30 to 40 years, so you know they are good. If you don't know about the WEIR—come in and let us explain its advantages and features to you. You may make the old furnace do, but you'll spend more than you save.

Consider These Points
Made of low carbon, boiler plate material unexcelled for furnace construction.
Has more prime heating surface than any other furnace.
Patented Hot Blast Fire Pot is found in no other furnace.
Successfully burns cheaper grades of soft coal.
Greater heating surface assures more heat and less loss of heat out the chimney.
These and many other WEIR features gladly explained to you in detail.

PASSPORT ERROR HOLDS METROPOLITAN ARTIST

New York, Oct. 26.—Tullio Serafin, conductor of the Metropolitan opera, was detained several hours Sunday aboard the liner Conte Ross, because of an erroneous statement in his passport. It was feared by the officials of the Metropolitan that the opening might be delayed. He was permitted to land later, however, when Daniel A. Caputo, the Lloyd Sabando landing agent, assumed all responsibility for the visitor. Serafin's passport declared him a resident of the United States, when his actual status is that of a temporary visitor. He agreed to appear at Ellis Island to make his explanation to the federal authorities whenever he was called.

Automobiles caused 89 deaths in nine middle western states last week against more than 100 for the previous week. The death list for the week was distributed as follows: Ohio, 24; Indiana, 19; Illinois, 15; Michigan and Missouri, 8 each; Minnesota, 7; Texas, 6; Oklahoma and Kansas, 1 each.

Cass County Now Tuberculosis Free

State and Federal Bureaus Complete Inspection and Payment of $4,881 as Indemnity.

The Nebraska bureau of animal industry in co-operation with the United States bureau of animal industry reports that Cass county will be certified as a modified tuberculosis-free cattle area on or about November 1, 1925. The eradication of tuberculosis has been sufficiently completed that the chief of the Nebraska bureau is reporting Cass county for this certification to the United States bureau, a certain delay being necessary in preparation of the official papers. This will place Cass county on a par with Thurston, Polk, Butler and Gage counties, all of which have thru the services of the state and federal departments become tuberculosis-free areas.

The records of tuberculin testing done in Cass county show that a total of 2,134 herds were tested on the initial general test. These contained a total of 24,685 cattle tested, of which 210 were found to be diseased with tuberculosis. This represents .85 of one per cent of the total cattle tested. These diseased cattle were located in 110 different herds, which represents 5 per cent of all herds tested. This is one out of every twenty herds.

All tuberculosis cattle have been removed from the county and slaughtered under federal meat inspection, which was attended to immediately at the time the affected animals were located by tuberculin test. The owners have received indemnity from the state and federal governments for these tuberculosis cattle a total sum of $4,881.64. Of this the state paid $2,534.59, and the federal government paid $2,347.05. Indemnity will continue to be paid for any other cattle reacting to the test in compliance with federal and state laws and regulations. The cost of the work in Cass county was $7,187.06. This includes the cost of field operations in tags used to identify cattle, an average cost per head of 26 1-2 cents.

Incidentally securing the eradication of the tuberculosis in this county it is estimated that this will add $10,000 to the value of the cattle and hogs that are placed on the market from this county. The Cass county farm bureau is

Young Men's Bible Class Enjoyed Lecture

Superintendent G. E. DeWolf Is Speaker at Y. M. B. C. Weekly Meeting—Gives Fine Address.

From Wednesday's Daily—Last evening the members of the Y. M. B. C. of the First Methodist church had a very inspiring address given to them at the close of their weekly "sing" when Superintendent George E. DeWolf of the city schools was heard in the course of the half hour talk.

Mr. DeWolf took as his subject the title of the well known story of Dr. Henry Van Dyke, "The Prince's Garden" where in the prince is given a tree to nurture and care for and which grows and produces a wonderful return of his care and attention. It was urged by the speaker that nation state and individual give the care to the wonderful gifts that had been given into their keeping that they might grow and flourish as the tree in the garden of the prince, producing the greatest return and results from the development of the best that the nation or the individual might be capable of producing. The result of the growth and greatness of the United States was taken as the example of what the devotion of the highest ideals to government might bring forth and which the speaker urged should be followed by the individual in their own personal lives.

It was a very pleasing treat to all of the members of the class and they will await with a great deal of interest the two succeeding talks that Mr. DeWolf will offer to the members of the class in the near future.

Few Hours of Freedom are Very Costly

Found No Sympathy Among Relatives and Were Safely in Custody on Morning After Escape.

The few hours of freedom enjoyed by John Kenney and John Hellyer, both from Omaha and twenty-two, were costly hours. Both were in custody on the morning after their escape.

The two were arraigned in municipal court Tuesday on two complaints, one charging that on October 22 they broke away from the state reformatory for men and the other charging the theft of a Studebaker belonging to Melvin E. Radford. They denied guilt to both charges and were bound over to the present term of the district court under $3,000 bonds each on the two charges. Each waived preliminary hearing.

If convicted on one or both charges, Kenney and Hellyer will be transferred to the penitentiary since they will no longer be first offenders. The penalty for breaking custody is from one to ten years. The statutes provide the same penalty for auto stealing.

The two are alleged to have stolen an automobile parked near the state hospital. At Plattsmouth, they are alleged to have picked up a Buick. When they reached Belton they saw officers approaching. They deserted the car and took to their heels. Kenney went to his sister's house in Omaha and the sister immediately communicated with Superintendent Gus Miller. It was not necessary to send an officer for the youth, his relatives seeing to his return. Kenney was back in the reformatory before 9 a. m. on the day following his escape and Hellyer was in custody at the Omaha police station at the same hour.—Lincoln State Journal.

FRONTIER REVIVED AS INDIANS CHANT

Farmington, N. M., Oct. 26.—Frontier days were brought back to the memory of this town in the plains Sunday night when more than 5,000 Indians chanted and danced the weird rites of the Navajo's ya-shi dance.

The ceremony, climaxing a three day celebration by the Utes and Navajoes, began at dusk Sunday night and ends dawn Monday. Not for many years have so many Indians been gathered in Farmington. Their dance Sunday night thrilled a crowd of several thousand of their white brothers who witnessed it.

Citizens Take Interest in Cemetery Highway

Number of the City Officials Pledge Aid in Donations to Graveling of the Cemetery Road.

From Wednesday's Daily—The road that leads westward thru the city to where, on the hill, sleep the men and women of yesterday, who have gone on a while to the better world, is being at last, after many years, made into a real highway—hard surfaced and made possible of travel even in the most trying weather conditions.

It has been but a few short months ago that funeral parties were compelled to resort to the use of the heaviest horse drawn vehicles to get through the mud and slush along this highway when bound on the last journey with their loved ones, but this condition we hope has passed on forever.

The work has brought a very large expense as the citizens of the community can appreciate that have traveled the distance over the bad roads when a mile seemed as great as ten. The property owners in the district are having to face their cost of the graveling in their own district, but there is also the cost of the graveling for a considerable distance along the road where a portion of the highway lays in the precinct and the remainder in the city.

The city of Plattsmouth and its citizens will have to pay this share of the county road, this is not taxable to the residents of the district and in fact this road is really a community project as it touches the lives of almost all of the residents of the community who have loved ones sleeping in Oak Hill cemetery. The chamber of commerce roads committee has started a soliciting campaign for the securing of the funds that may lighten the cost to the city on caring for the county's part of the road work and a number have already signed up to assist in the good work.

Eastern Star Has Visit from High Officials

Home Chapter No. 189 Has Worthy Matron, Mrs. Cassie Redfield of North Platte as Guest.

From Wednesday's Daily—The members of Home Chapter No. 189, Order of the Eastern Star of this city enjoyed a most delightful time at their lodge rooms in the Masonic Temple that was attended by a very large number of the local membership as well as visitors from Murray, Union and Dunbar, who, living near the graveled roads, were able to get in despite the very bad weather conditions that were prevailing.

The weather had been a distinct disappointment to the members of Home Chapter, who were to have been the hostesses to the chapters at Weeping Water, Elmwood, Springfield, Palmyra, Peru, Papillion, Bennett and Dunbar, these chapters coming here for the district meeting at which Mrs. Cassie Redfield of North Platte, grand worthy matron of Nebraska was in attendance.

Mrs. Redfield with Mrs. Farnam of Loup City, grand Ruth and Mrs. J. W. Gamble of Omaha, past grand worthy matron of Nebraska grand chapter were the guests of honor of the evening and added very much to the interest and enjoyment of the membership of the order that was in attendance at the meeting.

Mrs. John F. Wolf, worthy matron of the home chapter presided very gracefully over the session of the chapter and assisted in the pleasures of the evening.

The ladies were disappointed somewhat in that a number of the parties from out of the city who were to have been on the program were unable to attend but the local talent that assisted as well as the former matron, Mrs. J. W. Gamble of Omaha, made a program that was most entertaining to all of the guests and members of the chapter.

Mrs. E. H. Wescott, Mrs. Fay Martin and Mrs. Gamble were each heard in two vocal selections that were most artistically given while Mrs. William Baird in her always pleasing manner gave a most charming reading.

Brief remarks were given by Mrs. Redfield, Mrs. Farnam, Mrs. Gamble, Rev. Frank Emory Pfoutz and W. F. Evers, worthy patron of the local chapter.

At the close of the evening dainty and delicious refreshments were served to the members of the party that were very much enjoyed.

Protective lubrication prevents BREAKDOWNS

Modern motors are marvels of dependable service. With reasonable care they often run thousands of miles without serious mechanical trouble.

The necessary attentions are simple—water in the radiator, clean oil of correct grade in the crankcase, water put in the battery occasionally and grease supplied where required. This much care generally prevents breakdowns and keeps repair bills small.

Because your motor will run on unsuitable or dirty oil, you are not wise to use it. The hardest steel wears down unless protected against friction—and dirty oil or oil of the wrong body or grade cannot prevent friction.

Innumerable tests prove that after 500 miles of operation—with a much smaller mileage if piston rings are loose—the lubricating qualities of motor oil are destroyed by gasoline that works past the rings and by particles of grit that are drawn in through the carburetor.

So make it a rule to use the proper grade of oil and to renew it with fresh, clean, oil every 500 miles. Consult the Polarine Chart for the grade best suited to your motor. Guard your motor car investment.

Polarine is made in Six Grades—Light, Medium, Heavy, Special Heavy, Extra Heavy—and a special grade for Ford trucks and cars—Polarine "F".

Buy Polarine where you buy Red Crown, the balanced gasoline, or wherever you see the Polarine sign.
