Corn Crop Estimates are Larger Than Last Year

Iowa Surpasses All Its Previous Figures, According to U. S. Report.

Washington, Nov. 10.—A corn crop of 3,013,390,000 bushels, one-fifth larger than that of last year and the sixth in the nation's history exceeding the three-billion bushel mark was announced today by the department of agriculture in its November preliminary estimates. Iowa, premier corn producing state, has surpassed all its previous records with an indicated production of 477,386,000 bushels.

With the progress of harvesting the late crops, yields have been found to be substantially better than was expected earlier in the season. "The final harvest of several late crops, such as potatoes, cotton, and corn, is still partially dependent on weather conditions, but from present indications yield per acre of fall crops combined will be only 4 per cent below the average yield of the last ten years. A month ago, yields were expected to fall 29 per cent below the ten year averages. The board's report disclosed that the bulk of the corn crop through frost damage. The drought in the out the country matured without south proved to be less damaging than was feared, but in the plain states it was severe. The corn belt east of the plains states had a large crop. The quality of this year's corn was somewhat above the average. Production of potatoes, placed at 346,502,000 bushels as compared with 454,784,000 last year, is still somewhat uncertain. The board announced, because part of the crop was still in the ground November 1, and losses from freezing could not be accurately estimated. In New York, heavy loss resulted from rotting and in most of the late potato states, considerable loss from freezing was reported.

DEFORMED MAN LEAVES ESTATE TO CRIPPLED

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 10.—Minnesota crippled children are to be provided with 30 thousand dollars worth of amusements through the will of Edward T. Mott, 37, who has been deformed since childhood. He died here Monday. Mr. Mott was taken care of at the city hospital here, where he was left at the age of 3, until he reached 21 years of age. He sold newspapers, post cards and relics, and amassed the small fortune, so that other children would have some of the pleasures that had been denied him.

Armistice Day is Very Quiet in This City

Anniversary of the Close of the World War Passes Without any Extensive Observance.

From Wednesday's Daily—The seventh anniversary of the close of the World war was very quiet in this city and no demonstration or program marked the observance of the day that had brought to the close the greatest war of all time and which everyone has served in the great conflict trusts will be the last of the great wars.

The court house was locked and closed for the day in accordance with the law of the state, making November 11th a legal holiday, but this was the only place in the business section which made any marked observance of the day.

In the business section of the city the street flags were displayed but all of the business houses as well as the banks were open for business as usual and the Burlington shops continued their usual activities, this being the official pay day at the shops.

The passing of another armistice day brings to many in the community a day of memories and recollections of the Armistice day seven years ago when the great guns ceased their firing and the mighty armies that had struggled for four long years in the warfare, rested on their arms, rejoicing that at last the end had come to the conflict that had made the fair land of eastern France and Belgium a charnel house of slaughter and waste.

The Plattsmouth men who were a part of the American army the day brought the close of a very intensive campaign for those who were in the troops participating in the drives on the western front, many of these men being at the front lines when the order to cease firing came through from the headquarters and it was almost beyond realization that the days of fighting, of facing death in all of the terrible manner of modern warfare had been wiped away as by a miracle. In many sectors the Allied troops and the Germans who had struggled through the years of warfare could hardly realize the fact that there was to be no more fighting but it was not long until the tired and weary soldiers crept from the trenches and shelters to enjoy the moment that they had looked forward to for the years of the war.

In the cities the event was celebrated in wild and delirious naivety by the overjoyed inhabitants of all of the nations that were engaged in the war and there was hardly a hamlet in the whole world that did not feel to some extent the great joy of the armistice had brought.

LABOR ROW HALTS WORK AT PRISON

Lincoln, Nov. 10.—Warden Fenton of the state penitentiary and the board of control are facing labor troubles in the construction of a residence near the prison for the warden. Recently it was announced that there was no bricklayers among the prisoners at the penitentiary to aid in the work. Now, the board of control, has received a letter from Charles Simon secretary of the Bricklayers Union, in which he rules that the union will not permit its members to work on the job after prison labor was employed on the foundation.

Mr. Simon pointed out that prison labor was employed on the rough masonry construction and points out that union members are not allowed to work unless all masonry is constructed by union members.

THIN OR YOUTHFUL PICK, SAYS DOCTOR

Berlin, Nov. 10.—Forced weight reducing cures to comply with the demands of the fashion, are making women prematurely old. For every pound of fat that is lost a new wrinkle appears in the face. That is the assertion of Professor Dreidrich Guzent, one of the chief surgeons of the Berlin hospital, and of other medical authorities in Germany. "Weight reducing cures rob the inner skin tissues of necessary fat, make the skin dry and wrinkly, and the woman old looking," said Professor Guzent. "It is all right to remain slender, but to make one's self slender by force is dangerous."

LEGION GOAL OF MILLION MEMBERS NOW IN SIGHT

Chicago, Nov. 10.—The American Legion goal of 1,000,000 members will be reached early next year, Col. John R. McQuigg, national commander, assured Vice President Charles G. Dawes, Monday.

Introducing the commander at a luncheon of the Advertising Men's post, Mr. Dawes said the legion, with 1,000,000 members, would be the "greatest factor for good" in the country.

Commander McQuigg pointed out that only one-fifth of the men eligible to join the legion are now members. Re-appointment of Maj. Reed Landis of Chicago as chairman of the legion's aeronautical committee was announced by the commander.

ENTERTAIN YOUNG LADIES

From Wednesday's Daily—The home of Mrs. Byron Babbitt was the scene of a very pleasant gathering yesterday afternoon when the members of the young woman's auxiliary of the Methodist church met for their regular social and business session.

At the business session of the society Mrs. R. B. Hayes gave a very interesting report of the recent meeting at Aurora and Nebraska City that gave the members of the society many close impressions of the work that had been accomplished at these meetings in the way of progress and achievement.

After the disposal of the business the ladies spent the time in visiting and a general good time until the close of the afternoon when they were invited to join in the dainty and delicious refreshments which were James Rishel.

Mrs. John E. Carmack is Improving Some

While Suffering Greatly Verdict is that Injuries Will Not Be Fatal Unless Infection Follows.

From Wednesday's Daily—The condition of Mrs. John Carmack, former Plattsmouth woman who was injured in Omaha so very seriously on last Monday afternoon, is showing improvement at the Lord Lister hospital in that city where she has been since the accident.

Carl Kunsman, father of Mrs. Carmack, was in Omaha yesterday to visit the daughter and Mrs. Kunsman has been there since the accident at the side of the injured lady, they reporting the patient as showing more favorable indications and encouraging the attending physicians in the hope that she will come thru the ordeal safely, altho her suffering has been intense.

The attending physicians have, after examination decided that the injuries were not as severe as the first indications led them to believe and that while there has been severe injury to the back that there has been no broken bones as was first reported altho a fracture of the hip and pelvis exists and will take a long course of treatment to place in shape. Mrs. Carmack was also cut somewhat about the head when she was struck by the car of H. R. Cunningham, of Kansas City beneath which she had been thrown, dragged her along the paving for a distance of fifteen feet before she could be rescued.

Eczema spreads rapidly; itching almost drives you mad. For quick relief, Doan's Ointment is well recommended. 60c at all stores.

Home Talent Play to Aid the New Church

Christian Denomination to Offer the Play "Sweetheart Town," at Parmelee November 16-17

From Monday's Daily—The entertainment, advertisement of which appears elsewhere in this issue of the Journal, of "Sweetheart Town," will be one of the pleasant entertaining features of the late fall season and will be a boost for the First Christian church, members of which are staging the production.

It was decided some time ago to have decided improvements made in the church building and to make it a larger and more suitable structure for the religious and social activities of this church and its membership.

The first step of the enlarging program will be the creation of a large and suitable sized basement in the church which will form a center for the social activities of the different societies.

The members of the Beran class of the church are staging the play, "Sweetheart Town" for this purpose.

It may be said here that "Sweetheart Town" is a musical production and that in the cast can be found a large number of the talented young men and women of the community who have been practicing very industriously for the past few nights and will carry on the practice work until the opening night of the play, Monday evening, November 16.

RULES FOR STORING APPLES

Care should be taken when storing winter apples to do this job "just right." Apples kept to the best advantage where each apple is wrapped separately in paper. If the apples are not wrapped the wise householder wraps each one himself; but where this seems to be too much like work, at least be careful to put them in paper-lined barrels or boxes and then "go over" them frequently during the winter to pick out any that may show signs of decay, for "one bad apple will spoil a whole barrel."

Care should also be taken not to store the apples near strong vegetables, such as turnips, onions, or even potatoes. For apples like butter, are apt to "take on" the odors of other foods that happens to be near them. Everyone knows that apples should be stored in a good dry cellar and in a cellar that will keep them cold but where they will not be frozen.

The tart varieties of apples are the best for canning purposes. All bruised spots, of course, should be carefully cut away from the fruit before cooking it. The most completely satisfactory method of preserving the apple is to make it into apple sauce and then place it in well-sterilized glass jars while it is still hot. Of course, some may prefer to can the apples whole, so that they can be used more advantageously for apple dumplings.

OPERATION OF DR. WORTHMAN IS VERY SUCCESSFUL

The many friends of Dr. E. H. Worthman will be very pleased to know that the operation he underwent last week for the removal of a cataract from his left eye was very successful. The operation was performed at the M. E. hospital in Omaha and he will be required to remain there until the latter part of this week, or perhaps a few days longer, with his eye bandaged.

This is a great trial to Dr. Worthman as it would be to anyone to sit in utter darkness so long, but he is bearing it with his usual patience and fortitude, sustained by his gratitude that his sight will be perfect. The operation is one of great delicacy and the doctor's family and friends are rejoicing over the success of it.

While Dr. Worthman is away, Dr. L. F. Polk, of Lincoln, will take care of his practice. Dr. Polk is no stranger to Louisville and he always receives a most hearty welcome from his friends here when he returns to his old home town.—Louisville Courier.

PROPOSE TWO NEW NATIONAL MUSEUMS

Chicago, Ill., Nov. 8.—Plans for construction of two national museums, one in New York and the other in Washington, each to cost approximately 50 million dollars, have been made public by Dr. Oskar von Miller, founder of the German museum of science and industry at Munich.

Dr. von Miller came to America at the invitation of those interested in the project.

Both museums will be financed by subscriptions. A gift of $1,500,000 made in his will by an eastern philanthropist is to be used as a nucleus.

Head of Large School System in Iowa Town

W. G. Brooks, One Time Superintendent Here at Head of Burlington, Iowa, City System

From Wednesday's Daily—W. G. Brooks, superintendent of the city schools at Burlington, Iowa, who has been attending the Iowa state teachers meeting at Des Moines, took advantage of the meeting to drop over and visit with the old friends and relatives for a few days.

Mr. Brooks, who has had experience as teacher and superintendent in the schools at Plattsmouth, Nebraska City and York, Nebraska, now is the head of one of the largest school systems in the state of Iowa, at Burlington.

The Burlington system has some 150 teachers on their list and these are under the supervision of Mr. Brooks in his conduct of the schools. There are enrolled in the high school some 1,100 pupils and forty-eight teachers who have charge of this department of the schools, while in the entire city schools there are some 5,000 students.

Mr. Brooks has a large task in his new position and has made a very favorable impression on the Burlington people as his marked executive ability has been a great factor in getting the schools started off on the term in fine shape and under his guidance the schools have taken a great stride forward and brought the schools up to a very high standard.
