

Alvo Department

Miss Bessie Ohers was a visitor in Alvo and a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Coatsman and family. John Woods was a visitor in Omaha last week, he driving over with a load of stock for a farmer near Alvo.

The class in English have been studying reporting as a portion of their work and have been making good headway in this line.

Emmit D. Friend completed the picking of this year's corn crop one day last week and is now ready for anything that comes his way.

Frank Daugherty has been hustling and has completed the picking of his corn on last Wednesday and is now assisting some of his neighbors. Ed Stewart, Uptegrove and family of Sidney, were visiting in Alvo last week for a short time, being the guests of Mr. Uptegrove's mother.

R. L. Parmenter and Earl Bennett have been playing pussy wants a corner for they changed homes, each moving to where the other had lived. William Mische, skilled and devoted corn last Thursday at the Rhenmeter Elevator, a portion of the same old corn and a portion of this year's growing.

John B. Skinner had a load of hogs at the South Omaha market on last Wednesday for L. B. Appleman, they bringing a nice price as they were excellent porkers.

And Dines and wife were visiting and looking after some business matters in Lincoln last Thursday evening, they driving over to the capital city after supper.

On Friday of last week Roy Coatsman took a load of cobs to Lincoln for Lee Hill, who will use them for starting fire and for burning when there is need of only slight fire.

Both the boys and girls basketball teams of the Alvo schools have been putting in much time practicing preparatory to the games which they expect to play the coming winter.

Mr. M. V. Young of Laramie, Wyo., was a visitor in Alvo last Sunday and a guest of his friend, Miss Fern Sans, who is one of the very capable teachers of the Alvo schools.

Louis Herman has completed the picking of his corn and is ready now for any other work that shows up. He was picking corn for some of the neighbors for a portion of last week.

Messrs. C. Ganz and Uno and Henry Oush were in Plattsmouth last Tuesday, driving over in the car of the former, where they were looking after some business matters for a short time.

The Queen Esthers, the younger Home Missionary society of the Methodist church, met last Saturday evening at the home of R. M. Coatsman, where they were doing some church work.

Chris Huffman has purchased the eighty acres just north of his place which has been owned by Albert Kunz, and which Mr. Huffman will farm in connection with his other holdings in the future.

L. B. Appleman was shipping a car load of baled straw to Omaha during the last few days, having the straw and there being a market for it he thought it would be better to market it than to allow it to waste.

R. W. Stewart, last week, installed a new Arcadia at the Farmers and Merchants bank, which is claimed to be one of the best of heating propositions in the market at this time, even surpassing steam or furnace heating.

Lee Stewart has been having some time with the lumbago which gave this gentleman a great many quirks and pains since he was stricken with the ailment during the middle of the past week. He, however, is showing some improvement.

There was a box social and supper at the Belmont school which is two miles north and one mile east of Alvo, last Friday night at which time a good crowd was in attendance and a royal good time had as well as some coin accumulated for use in beautifying the school house.

John Skinner was a visitor in Lincoln last Sunday where he was visiting with a very dear friend and was so sobered in seeing the sights of Lincoln that he drove so much that the full tank of gas was used and he had to carry gas to get the car started home when he was ready to come.

Edward Casey and wife of Lincoln, were visiting in Alvo on last Thursday, guests of old time friends, as they formerly lived in this city. Mrs. Casey was also in attendance at the meeting of the Alvo Woman's club. Mr. Casey was looking after some business in town as well as at the farm.

John Banning was a visitor in Lincoln on last Friday where he was looking after some business and on his return was accompanied by Hallas Banning, a nephew of our townsman, who is attending the state university and is a guest at his uncle's home. Mr. Hallas Banning remained for over Sunday.

John Kear and wife and their two sons, Glen and Lloyd, of Plainview arrived in Elmwood last week for a visit with the mother of Mr. Kear, who makes her home there, and with other relatives and friends. John tells of an excellent corn crop in his country, where the corn is making fully as much as here.

W. W. Coatsman was in Plattsmouth during the last week, but was not serving as a jurymen very much, as he was not drawn on the cases and found time quite heavy on his hands, as he is used to hustling when he is at home. However the corn picking went along all right as he had a number of teams in the field all the time.

Henry Clapp, always a very jolly fellow, but now more so, for his smile will not even permit his whistle to work for he cannot get his mouth puckered up and all because of the birth of a little son which came to bless the home of Henry and wife. The mother and boy are doing nicely at Lincoln where the lad arrived last week.

Mrs. C. C. Bucknell and son, Clifford, of Burlington, Colo., arrived in Alvo last week and have been packing their goods for shipment west. Mr. and Mrs. Bucknell came to Alvo some thirty-five years ago and engaged in business here for some ten years after which they moved to the west for a number of years and then returned having resided here for twenty years or more now. They have purchased a large farm there and are engaged in growing wheat.

Entertain the Woman's Club.
Mrs. John Murty at her pleasant home in Alvo entertained the Alvo Woman's club on last Thursday at their regular meeting and at which time there was a goodly number of the members present and who were active on the interesting programs that enlivens these occasions. Following the rendering of the program, the social hour was greatly enjoyed and was made the more pleasurable by the delightful luncheon which the hostess served.

Fathers and Sons Eat Together.
There was at the church in Alvo last Monday most of the citizens of Alvo, there being covers laid for 117 and all filled with the fathers and sons met. The principal address was delivered by the Rev. Albert Ruth of Omaha. Addresses were also given by Dr. L. Mulier and C. D. Ganz, representing the fathers, and Arthur Koelofz and Herold McKinnon, representing the sons, all of which were greatly enjoyed. The chair of the hostmaster was most ably filled by the Rev. Chenoweth, pastor of the Methodist church of Alvo. The banquet, which was served by the ladies of the M. E. church of Alvo, was all that a banquet should be.

Entertain the Teachers.
Last Wednesday evening at their pleasant home north of Alvo, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Fairfield entertained the ladies of the faculty of the Alvo schools at a six o'clock dinner at which there was a very enjoyable time had. The teachers greatly appreciated this gathering at the very hospitable home of Mr. and Mrs. Fairfield.

Will Have Them All.
Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Armstrong will entertain the children at their home this week for hanksgiving when all the family will be together and enjoy not alone the family reunion, but the Thanksgiving as well. He family has always made at a point to get together for Thanksgiving, and we think it one of the nicest of practices, and it would be nice for more people to do so. There will be here for the occasion from South Bend, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Armstrong and family, while Barrett and Ivan Armstrong and their families will be present from Havelock here they are making their home.

SUPERPOWER HELPS FARMER

Governor Pinchot's case against superpower is punctured by O. C. Merrill, secretary of the Federal Power Commission, in an article in the Country Gentleman.

After stating the vast volume of waterpower remaining undeveloped in spite of the rapid progress of development under the federal law, he tells how the use of electricity on the farm combines with its use in the factory.

He cites California as an example where "development has proceeded to a point where it may soon be necessary to bring in power from outside the state."

More than 60 percent of the farms in California are now receiving electric power and in its use for pumping more than 2,000,000 acres are irrigated by electrically driven pumps.

Agriculture in the South owes much to hydroelectric development as industrial expansion has made possible diversified farming and has also aided materially in the maintenance of stable rural populations.

Opponents of superpower trade on an ignorant prejudice aroused by a name that implies bigness and monopoly, when its sole purpose is to transfer the surplus power of one district to another which has a deficiency, through interconnection of power lines.
