Union Closes Season

The Union high school girls' basketball team closed a successful season last Friday night by defeating the fast Johnson sextette, 54 to 34. The game was fast throughout, but the speed and team work of the Union girls completely outclassed their opponents. The result of the game came as a complete surprise to the Johnson team and followers as well as many Union fans, as the Johnson girls were touted as being one of the best if not the champions of their corner of the state, and had defeated the Union girls earlier by a low score.

Both teams will lose some regulars by graduation this year, the Union girls losing three out of the regular lineup.

Below is a list of games played by the Union girls this season, and the final score of each.

Avoca, 9; Union, 36.

Farmers are Holding Their Corn and Oats

Low Prices Blamed for Increasing Stocks—Less Wheat Being Stored.

Washington, March 10.—Larger stocks of corn, oats and barley were held on farms March 1 this year than on that date a year ago, while stocks of wheat and rye were smaller.

The Department of Agriculture's report Tuesday, in announcing the total farm stocks, said the chief causes of the increased holdings of corn were the fairly large crop, the unsatisfactory price, the large percentage of grain that is of unmerchantable quality, and the reduced number of hogs and cattle on hand. In regions where corn production was small last year on account of the drought as in the southwest and southwest and southeast, far stocks of corn are low.

Wheat stocks are considerably smaller March 1 than the five-year average holding. The 1925 wheat crop was much the smallest since 1917, and the price has been high enough to attract wheat from the farms.

The farm stocks of oats have been augmented by the reluctance of farmers to sell oats at the unsatisfactory prices that have prevailed. There is also a diminished number of livestock to feed.

Barley stocks, while larger than a year ago, are nearly the same as the average percentage of the crop held March 1 during the last 10 years. Rye stocks were much lower than they were in each of the last two years.

CHILDREN GIVE TO CAUSE

From Wednesday's Daily—

The finance committee of the American Legion Community building have received a communication with a gift that has come to the building fund with the full measure of appreciation only for the material aid that it gives the building but because of the sentiment that has caused the two children making the contribution to give their all in helping and especially as the gift was unsolicited and given with the full measure of sacrifice on the part of the children.

The donors were William Wetenkamp, Jr., and sister, Frances, and they each gave $5 to the building and express their sentiments in the communication that accompanied the gift.

"During the world war our grandmother, Mrs. Martha Wetenkamp, purchased $5 worth of war saving stamps for each of us and while we did not understand at that time the reason for the stamps or the sacrifices that were made by the men in service and all of the other women of the nation in the war, we are now beginning to learn what part the members of the American Legion played in the great war and how much they gave personally in life and health in the cause of their country. Our daddy has since sold the stamps for us and we have the money, all that we have, and this we are giving to the Legion boys for their building and hope that we will have the opportunity of enjoying the use of this fine building when it is finished and as we grow up. We would like to give more but this is all we have and give it with the best wishes to the Legion and their new building."

TO A FRIEND I NEVER HAVE SEEN

Oh friend of mine,
 wherever you dwell,
 Your Childhood Rhymes
 have pleased me well.
 Your form and face,
 I never may see
 But your father heart,
 you have passed to me;
 And though I have pined
 my three score and ten,
 You have taken me back
 to young manhood again.
 Though it is March and
 cloudy and dreare
 Your sweet songs make me feel like summer was here,
 When you recalled to my mind those blessings of ours
 The tears would fall
 in copious showers—
 Then your humor would bring the sunshine once more
 And I would laugh and laugh
 till my sides were sore,
 Then I watched Marjorie
 and Bud with you,
 Go up childhood's pathway,
 to them so new,
 While my three little
 girls, so full of glee,
 Were toddling along
 the same path with me.
 My grandchildren now,
 the dear little things,
 Are making a harp with
 with my old heart strings.
 There is Billy and Junior and sweet Eloise,
 I wish I could see them
 now, to give them a squeeze.
 D. J. REYNISH.

HE OUGHT TO KNOW

Guy Huston, who is one of the country's largest dirt farmers as well as being chairman of both Kansas City and Southern Minnesota banks and president of both the New York and Chicago Joint stock land banks, declares that "the bad spots in our agricultural situation that have held the farmer down since 1921, have been definitely corrected by improvement of farm prices and restoration of agricultural purchasing power."

He believes that by next summer the farmers will have reached a position of financial security and a movement to increase their holdings.

Burlington Party Proves Real Success

Operating Department of the Omaha Division Has Real Time at Party at Station in Omaha.

From Monday's Daily—

The hard and grinding labor of keeping a railroad division in running order was forgotten Saturday evening by the officials of the Burlington and the employees of the operating department on the occasion of the big party that was staged at the Burlington station in Omaha.

The station was the scene of the greatest gaiety from 6:30 when the first of the special trains that came from all parts of the division arrived to unload the crowds of merry-makers who were for the evening the guests of the officials of the railroad.

The special from Plattsmouth left here at 6:15 and arrived in Omaha at 7 o'clock, a few moments after the arrival of the Lincoln special and the lower floor as well as the waiting room of the station was soon filled to its capacity by the jolly party of railroad officials and employees, all of the party wearing the bright hued carnival caps that added to the festive appearance.

As the visitors arrived at the station they were greeted by the reception committee composed of the officials from the various points on the division and among whom were R. W. Clement, local Burlington agent and W. F. Huneke, the Burlington storekeeper here at Plattsmouth.

The genial division superintendent, C. J. Connett, through whose efforts the party owed a great deal of its success and planning, gave the address of welcome to the most happy occasion and that it was a great event of pleasure could be fully attested by all those who were in attendance.

A short talk was also given by Byron Clark, general attorney of the

OLD RESIDENT VISITS HERE

From Wednesday's Daily—

W. I. Howland of this city has had the pleasure in the last few days of a visit from a friend of some forty-five years standing, John H. Smith, who as a boy was a resident of Plattsmouth and a schoolmate friend of Mr. Howland. Mr. Smith is at the present time division engineer of the Oregon Short Line at Pocatello, Idaho, and while in this part of the country on business dropped in to look over the old time friends and the scenes that he had known in his boyhood days.

From here Mr. Smith left for Kansas City to visit for a short time with the friends there, where he resided for a number of years before going to Idaho. For a number of years Mr. Smith was in the railroad work in the states of Kansas and Oklahoma and from there went to the Oregon Short Line.
