Well Loved Lady Called to Last Rest

Mrs. Frances Sayles, Mother of County Clerk George Sayles Dies at Cedar Creek Yesterday.

From Wednesday's Daily— Yesterday afternoon at 2:30 at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Andrew Thomsen at Cedar Creek, occurred the death of Mrs. Frances A. Sayles, one of the pioneer residents of Cass county and a lady loved and esteemed by a wide acquaintanceship over the entire county.

Mrs. Sayles has been suffering from pneumonia for some time and her condition has been complicated by the effects of an attack of heart trouble that dated from a few years back when she had suffered from the flu, and in the past winter Mrs. Sayles has not been as vigorous as in the past few years.

It is with sadness that the friends over the entire county learn of her passing as she has made her home hood days and assisted in her work and culture to develop the best interests of the community in which she had made her home.

Frances A. Cooley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Griffith E. Cooley, was born in the state of Ohio, April 17, 1851, and when sixteen years of age came with her parents to Cass county, Nebraska, they settling on a farm in the northern portion of Mt. Pleasant precinct and where the father engaged in farming for a great many years. It was in this community that the daughter grew to womanhood and where she was in her young womanhood united in marriage to George E. Sayles, also a pioneer resident of Cass county. The family after marriage made their home for the greater part of the time in and near Cedar Creek and where in 1919 the husband and father passed on to his reward. To bless the life of Mr. and Mrs. Sayles, five children were born, four of whom are living and one, Miss Eva E. Sayles passed away in 1918. The living children are George R. Sayles, county clerk of Cass county, Mrs. Ida Seybert of Plattsmouth, Mrs. Susie A. Fudge of Montgomery, Virginia and Mrs. Ruth N. Thomson of Cedar Creek. In the late years since the death of the husband Mrs. Sayles has made her home for the greater part of the time with her daughter, Mrs. Thomson.

The exact time of the funeral services has not been settled upon as the services will be held at the Glendale church and the interment made in the family lot in the Glendale cemetery where rest the other members of the family that have gone on before.

In their bereavement the members of the family circle will have the deep sympathy of the large circle of friends over Cass county.

Death of Wm. D. Smith Occurs Last Evening

Former Well Known Resident Here Called to His Last Rest After a Long Illness.

From Wednesday's Daily— Last evening a few moments after 8 o'clock at the University hospital in Omaha occurred the death of William D. Smith, for many years a resident of Plattsmouth and who has for a considerable period of time been gradually failing in health and in the last few weeks sinking into a condition from which there was little hope of recovery.

Mr. Smith was suffering from a complication of diseases and to add to his troubles in his last days he was stricken with blindness and from which he failed to recover. On Saturday his condition took such a serious turn that members of the family were summoned to his side and it was recognized that his chances for betterment were very remote.

The deceased was reared to manhood in this city where his parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Smith were early residents, and the father of Mr. Smith was one of the best known Burlington shop foremen in this part of the state for a great many years. Billy Smith, as he was better known to the large circle of friends, was for many years employed in the tinshop of the Burlington and one of the most prominent of the shop employees, being at the head of several of the shop committees and activities in his years of service here. Since 1922 Mr. Smith has largely been engaged in working in Omaha and where two years ago the family removed to reside in the future.

Mr. Smith was a man of the most pleasant temperament and had a large host of friends in this city, as well as with the bereaved family the sense of loss that has come in his taking away. There remains of the family the wife and one daughter, Ruth, two sons having preceded the father in death.

Mr. Smith was a member of Cass Camp No. 322 Modern Woodmen of America of this city for a great many years and while here was very active in its membership.

There was a large delegation of people from Cass county attending Feeders Day and many comments can be heard.

New Corn Club Tests.

Nebraska boys and girls who have already finished one year of corn club work are now entering a project in which they will compare seed from several sections of the country with their own home grown seed. They will plant small plots of Hodge's Yellow Dent, Nebraska White Prize, northern western, and southern corn and both rough and smooth types of their own home grown corn. The entire test will be located on the farm of the local leader or one of the club members and be watched by the club members and probably the entire neighborhood. Club lessons will tell just how the plots are to be planted. Seed will be furnished for all the plots excepting those of home grown seed. Each member of these second year clubs must grow five acres of corn on his home farm in addition to helping with this test.

Handling Old Alfalfa.

The problem of what to plant on newly broken out alfalfa land is a common one in most of Nebraska. The great amount of fertility in the ground and the low moisture content of the soil cause corn to burn badly during dry spells. A rather common plan of managing such land is to plow it shallow in the fall or early spring, disk it down well and then list it to corn. The listing tends to retard the growth of the corn plants, reducing the amount of water to produce the crop. Also the alfalfa roots often make such land rather disagreeable to handle. It is on the whole a good plan to use. Listed corn on land not so rough as to cause serious soil washing, is usually superior to surface planted corn in the western two-thirds of the state. At the North Platte Experiment Station listed corn has outyielded surface corn about four bushels per acre. More acres can be handled when listed than when surface planted with the same amount of man labor.

UNEARTH COYOTES

From Tuesday's Daily— Yesterday while Clifford Roberts and H. F. Iraton were engaged in the farm work at the farm of Mr. Roberts northwest of this city they unearthed a den of some eight coyotes that were soon disposed of by the farmers and placed out of commission so that they will not prey on the stock of that portion of the country. The two gentlemen will receive a bounty for the animals and which will make a very profitable day's work as well as ridding the community of some very undesirable residents.
