Celebrate at K. K. K. Last Sunday was the passing of the 75th birthday anniversary of Judge Daniel Lynn of Union, and his friends gathered at their summer home at "Kamp Kill Kare" at the mouth of the historic Weeping Water, in numbers more than a hundred, where they celebrated the occasion in the most approved manner. Uncle Daniel was expecting that some of his friends would call during the day, but when they arrived in droves with well laden baskets of the choicest of good things to eat, and erected long tables under the pleasant shade of the trees of this celebrated place, "Kamp Kill Kare," where scores could eat at a time and where in fact more than a hundred did eat to their fill, he was somewhat surprised as they intended he should be. Uncle Dan will long remember the excellent time which his many friends made for him on this balmy June day. There was swimming, boating and many other amusements as well as the quiet visiting of the elder of the gathering. A swing was erected which caught the eye of one to swing out over the rippling waves of the Weeping Water, and as Uncle John Lidgett was preparing to take a journey out over the water and back again, his progress was hastened by one of his friends, and he went swinging out over the water in the first place, but as he had not gotten well into the swing he dangled below it and as he struck the water his feet and legs going into the water some two feet, the impulse of the swing was stopped, and there he hung partly in the water and partly out, while his friends, feeling that there was no danger, shouted advice about solving the situation, telling him to kick with this foot or that one, and thus he hung suspended until he was about exhausted before a boat came to his rescue. Taking it all in all the merry crowd enjoyed themselves greatly at Kamp Kill Kare.

"And Others Who Took The Medicine Over Year Ago When I Did Tell Me The Same Thing About It," Says Offer.

Edward J. Offer
Karnak is sold in Plattsmouth exclusively by P. G. Fricke & Co., and by the leading druggist in every town.

"More than a year ago this Karnak put me right and I've been right ever since," declares Edward J. Offer, 1335 N. 21st St., Lincoln, Neb.

"Yes, sir, this medicine rid me of chronic indigestion, stomach trouble, and constipation from which I suffered five years. Why, it just stopped all the bloating, biliousness and shortness of breath, and built me up like a new man."

"A friend put me on to Karnak when I could find nothing else that would reach my case, and it fixed me up so fine I haven't spent a cent for medicine since. And others who took Karnak when I did tell me their experience has been the same as mine."
