Appraisers Report on Platte Bottom Road

Set Amount of Damages Due C. L. Stull for Land Used in New Road at $1,824.

From Wednesday's Daily—
The appraisers appointed by County Judge Duxbury to examine the route proposed for the new King of Trails highway along the Platte river bottom north of this city made their report yesterday to the court and advanced that much further the securing of the new road that has been under contemplation for the past summer.

The appraisers composed of L. G. Todd, Union; W. F. Diers, Louisville; Charles Godbey, Alvo; J. W. Magney, Nehawka; O. A. Davis, Murray and August Wendt, Murdock, investigated the proposed road and the land through which it will run and assessed the amount of damage that would be due the land owner, C. Lawrence Stull, as $1,824.

This report was received and filed by the court and the land owner, Mr. Stull, through his attorney, H. E. Kuppinger, filed notice of appeal of the matter to the courts.

The road construction program will not however be delayed as the county commissioners are meeting today to vote the sum of money set as damages and which will be paid over to the county judge and held there for the land owner and the contractors on the road work will be able to start in as soon as the weather will permit and which means that within the next few weeks the work should be well along toward completion.

Closing School Brings Protest from Patrons

Patrons and Residents of Vicinity of Mercerville School Are Opposing the Change.

From Wednesday's Daily—
The action of the board of education in making a change at least temporary in the grade schools of the city and which changes included the closing of the Mercerville school on West Oak street, has brought a very strong protest from the residents of that locality who feel that they wish the school to be kept in operation rather than having the pupils transported to the Central building for their teaching and instruction.

The board of education and school officials state that the measure was one of temporary expediency which would save the hiring of an extra teacher and as they state was a measure that was to save considerable money for the taxpayers of the district and at the same time would work toward giving a better result for the children.

As it is stated the Mercerville school, was the smallest in the point of attendance of any of the grade schools, having but thirteen pupils and as the school building was not modern in any way and could be best closed of any in the system it was decided to take this step. The board arranged for transportation of the pupils by car from the old school building to the Central building where a consolidation of a number of the lower grades have been arranged that would give a chance to handle a larger group of the youngsters in the lower grades by elimination one division of the sixth grade where the attendance is not as large as in the lower grades or the more advanced grades.

One of the teachers in the junior high school, Miss Teresa Hemple, has been compelled owing to her health to take a leave of absence and a teacher from the grades has been given her courses of study and the place in the lower grades being filled by Miss Mary Eastwood who has been a teacher at Mercerville. This has saved the cost of one teacher and with the saving on the cost of the operating of the Mercerville school it is estimated will result in some $700 checked off the cost of the schools.

The members of the school board are of the opinion that the change will also be for the betterment of the pupils that are brought to the Central building as they will have the advantages of the teaching where in the small grade school the teacher handling several grades has not the time to give the child constant attention in their studies.

The patrons of the Mercerville school will be asked to meet with the board of education in order that some agreement and understanding can be reached that will satisfy the patrons of the closed school and also result in a saving to the school district and give the children the very best of educational advantages.

From Tuesday's Daily—
The Methodist church conference that closed yesterday at Hastings, Nebraska, made an assignment of the pastors of the church over the state, on Sunday there being no church in the state with a pastor and by Monday noon every charge had been filled.

Weather Delays the Cass County Ball Tournam't

Owing to Bad Weather Last Sunday It Will Be Necessary to Extend Schedule.

From Wednesday's Daily—
The weather man has sure proved a jinx on the baseball season of 1926, both the early portion of the season and the close having been decidedly damp and causing a great deal of delay to the teams in getting started.

The Cass County baseball tournament that was to have been staged between Plattsmouth, Manley and Greenwood has felt the effects of the wet weather in having their first game scheduled for last Sunday at Manley delayed.

The rains of last week left a great deal of water on the Manley diamond and as the result the game there was called off Sunday and will place the tournament closing a week later than planned providing that the weather does not grow more unfavorable and make necessary a further adjustment of the schedule.

It is planned that the schedule as outlined be followed as far as possible and the games on next Sunday will be staged at Greenwood, Plattsmouth playing the opening battle at 1:30 and Manley the second game, Greenwood taking on both the visiting teams.

On Sunday, October 3rd the Manley and Greenwood teams will be here to play Plattsmouth and on the succeeding Sunday, October 10th the best game will be held at Manley, this being made necessary by the fact of the switch from last Sunday.

The fans have been looking forward with interest to these series of games and hoping for good weather for the remainder of the season.

Both Greenwood and Manley have had good fast teams this season and with Plattsmouth should make things interesting. The Greenwood team has slashed its way to the championship of the Cass county baseball league by a wide margin while the Manley team made a red hot finish in that loop to tie with Cedar Creek for second place in the league. Manley made a real showing as their team was shattered just after the season started by a number of the best players that they had leaving, which made it necessary the building up of a new team that required several weeks to get into full swing but which was going strong at the close of the season and pulled the team from fifth place to second place in the league. These teams with the Plattsmouth team ought to make a series of games that would be fast and well balanced with any of them having a chance for the first place.

The presidents of the clubs attended this first meeting to help with the planning of a program but will attend the following meetings. Any other club may send in their leaders to the next meeting and begin at that time if they write or call County Agent L. R. Snipes before Oct. 19.

Miss Douglass' project will be given in eight meetings, the first one a planning meeting, the seventh one a county achievement day and celebration of a year's work well done, and the last one a planning meeting for county fair exhibits almost a year from now. The second meeting coming in October, will deal with making the living room attractive in the home, adding interest to it the grouping of the furniture and the improvement that can be made by waxing, and refinishing it.

E. H. Hoppert, state extension agent in Horticulture, will come with Miss Douglass in December or January for the holiday meeting and take up the landscaping around the house, the grass, shrubbery, trees, walks, drives, screens, etc., that make the exterior of the house attractive.

The February lesson is to be about walls and floors, refinishing, cleaning, selection of rugs and draperies, making hooked and braided rugs. The leaders will also plan their local achievement days. The March lesson will be about the spirit in a home, the place to build character, the effect of the physical house on the family's mind, and the use of good pictures. April is reserved for the big county achievement day and celebration when the entire group of club members and leaders will meet together, and May for a follow-up meeting to plan for county fair exhibits.

At each of these monthly meetings Miss Douglass will take some time to direct a sub-project and of music appreciation. She will have the leaders listen to one number and study it so they appreciate it, more than they ever have before. They will also memorize another song so they may sing it while in meetings or at home at work alone.

Seed Corn

As there is some danger of corn not maturing until after frost, you should gather your seed corn now, before Sept. 30. Most every field has plenty of corn that could be gathered and saved for seed, if put somewhere to dry, and protected from the first frost. If this is done, there need be no shortage of seed corn.
