Entertained for Daughter.
Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Deitl entertained at their home north of Murray on last Sunday in honor of their daughter, Mary and husband, now Mr. and Mrs. Robert Shields of Omaha. There were present for the occasion besides the host and hostess and family, the guests of honor, Edward Ulrich and family, Joseph Bell and family, John Fisher and family, of this vicinity and Herbert Johnson and wife of Omaha.

Are Visiting in the West.
On Monday of this week County Commissioner C. D. Spangler and wife and their daughter, Margaret, babe, departed for Brule where they are spending the week at the homes of Vnor Perry and family and Earl V. Cole and family of that place.

Will Hold Debate.
The matter of whether the laws can be enforced or not will be thrashed out at the Presbyterian church at Murray on October sixth, when the subject of prohibitionary law will be discussed by some very able speakers. What ever your attitude to the question this will be an interesting meeting.

We Appreciate the Assistance.
We tried a new plan for the Bible school lesson last Sunday, it being review work of the quarter and asked a number to write a letter on the lessons of the quarter, and we wish to extend our thanks for the kindness to Chester Sporrer, Miss Rose Reed, Mrs. Wm. Seybolt, Mrs. W. Sporrer, Mrs. J. E. Hatchett, E. H. Wescott, Will T. Adams, Mrs. J. F. Brendel, C. A. Rawls, L. F. Pickett and C. C. Wescott.

Ladies Will Serve Meals.
The ladies of the Presbyterian church of Murray will serve meals during the meeting of the Presbyterian Synod, at the Christian church which the members of that church so kindly offered for the use during the time the Synod is in convention here.

This is a nice thing when the members of one church come to the assistance of the other by providing a place for the meeting and whatever they may wish to put the building to. We like this excellent fellowship.

Sustains Severe Injury.
While working about the house, Grudms Schaeffer had the misfortune to catch her foot against some of the furniture which tripped this good lady, causing her to fall, bruising her badly, but fortunately not breaking any bones. She is feeling pretty sore, but is doing as well as under the circumstances it could be looked for.

Community Picnic Great Success.
The Murray Community Picnic which was to have been given several weeks since, and was postponed on account of the rain at that time was held on last Friday evening at the Peterson Hall, and was attended by some 400 people, who enjoyed the occasion and the excellent community spirit of the citizens of Murray. A real worthwhile program was put over and one which was thoroughly enjoyed by all present. Mr. W. G. Davis, secretary of the Plattsmouth Chamber of Commerce, was present and addressed the meeting and commended the excellent community spirit which was manifested in the gathering which was an evidence of the working together of the people of this community for the betterment of the town and community surrounding it. A free dance and a free movie show and free eats were features of the occasion. Mr. Hays is to be commended for the way in which this gathering was so successfully put over.

Three Young Men Arrive.
Three homes were made happy when during the past few days three young men came to stay at the homes of three of the excellent families, living in this vicinity. The first to arrive was one who selected the home of Mr. and Mrs. Waldo Rizzo, as his place of abode. The second young man came on last Monday and is making his home with Willis Eaton and wife. The third young man looked about until he found where Rube Eaton and wife were staying and made that his home. All are pretty happy over the fortuitous event and all are doing nicely.

Could Not Make the Grade.
Last Sunday evening, while six brunettes, having had their ancestry traced to Africa, were howling along down the Washington Highway a few miles north of Union, and being rather hilarious, they missed the highway, getting into the ditch on the left or east side of the road, and in an endeavor to regain the roadway struck the concrete side of the bridge just north of the farm residence of County Commissioner C. F. Hays, with some very disastrous results. Three of the Sentagambians were badly battered up and when Dr. J. F. Brendel was called he patched them up and had Fred Hanzel take them to Omaha where they were placed in a hospital. The remaining three of the Malay type, were able to navigate and they telephoned for some friends to come from Omaha, who were not quite so dizzy and take them and the broken gas wagon home. We only have this advice to offer, be very selective in choosing the materials which you mix with your gas.

The firm has had the auditing of the Plattsmouth city books as well as several times having been engaged by Cass County in the annual audits of the county affairs.

The company is headed by O. M. Campbell, one of the best known auditors of the state and has in addition to the large force of auditors are adding several short hand reporters that will add to the efficiency of the company in their lines of highly specialized work.

SUGAR RISES TO 6C A POUND

New York, Sept. 29.—A general increase in the price of refined sugar at 6 cents a pound, the highest level of this year, took place throughout the country Tuesday, as refiners, pressed by a heavy retail demand, scrambled for supplies in the raw sugar market. The advance, which amounts to nearly a cent above the low mark of the year, coincides with the peak of the canning season. Raw sugar also commanded the highest price of the year—4.65 cents a pound after the payment of duty—with 350,000 bags of the Cuban products sold in the New York market, an unusually heavy turnover.

REPUBLICAN CAUCUS

BIBLE SCHOOL LESSON

Sunday, October 3, 1926.
By M. S. Briggs

Golden Text:—Come with us and we will do thee good.—Num. 10:19.

Israel Takes Up Her Journey
After leaving Egypt, the Israelites consumed a year and nine months in traveling to Sinai, and their stay there, and at the end of that time at the command of Jehovah, proceeded on their journey to the land of Canaan which they had sworn in the first place. At this time the Lord commanded that Moses have the people numbered, which was done and again just before they entered the promised land. At this time their numbers were of men over twenty years of age 603,550 which applies to the first place. This number is generally accepted, multiplying this number by five makes the entire number of all, counting women and children, 3,017,750. During their stay about Sinai, sundry laws were given them, and also at the time of their starting. It will be remembered that they were a mob of slaves when they left Egypt, and it was necessary to have some laws to govern them, and that they should have something to keep them close to Jehovah, for they had broken away and worshipped the golden calf, and the laws were given that they might keep to the God who delivered them from slavery.

They had given the materials for the construction of the Tabernacle, and which had been constructed and was in the hands of Aaron and his sons, and the tribe of Levi, whom were not numbered with the others of the tribes. When they departed from Sinai, the Tabernacle was given into the hands of the Levites who were to care for it, and take down the structure when they moved and put it up when they stopped, and also camp round about it, for no others of the Israelites were to come near under the penalty of death. In the order of march, the people formed, with the Levites carrying the Tabernacle, and the ark of the covenant where was the tablet of stone on which the ten commandments were written, and the ark of the tabernacle, as it was called, "The Tabernacle of the Testimony," because it contained the ten commandments. Before them went the pillar of cloud, which showed the way, and which the people followed, and people they did not know where they were to go, and with the faith of Moses they went as the cloud directed. It required great faith for the patriarch Abraham to leave his native land in Ur of the Chaldees years before when he was commanded by the Great Jehovah, and in its exercise he came to the west, where he was made rich with many experiences as well as with herds of cattle, gold and silver, and the blessings of Almighty God, for his obedience, and it was this very land which God promised to give him and his descendants, and it was the fulfillment of that promise.

Notwithstanding the children of Israel had been taught this required great faith on their part, when three million of them went into the wilderness, for it was a very sparsely covered country without pastures for the flocks, and of any semblance of anything to eat.

However, during this time and until they arrived in Canaan, they were fed with manna which the Lord provided. During their journeyings of the thirty-eight years and three months which were spent in the wilderness, the manna continued to be the bitter life which was theirs, and even perfer the hard service which had been theirs there. Moses, while inspired by God and assured that the children of Israel would be provided for in every way during the time of their journey, had a sore trial for unto him they came with their complaints, and it was he that was to pacify them. They were not obedient in fact, all that were twenty years old and upwards at the starting of the journey, which as stated in the Bible, was 603,550, died with the single exception of Joshua and Caleb, being the only ones allowed to enter the Promised Land, while those who really did enter were at the time of the starting the children and those who were born during the thirty-eight years that they dwelt there. It looks like the people who came out of Egypt were so set in their ways, having been so influenced in their lives during their residence in Egypt that they were more or less idolaters themselves, and it was necessary for that generation to pass, and another one to come, that would obey the commands of the Lord. So it is now, when one makes his home and associations with a class of people who do not respect the commands of the Lord; who flout at the obeying of law, they are in grave danger of becoming unreliable citizens. The knowing of the infractions of law and not doing what is necessary to have these correcter creates a disregard for the law, and Sabbath breaking teaches a disregard for the Holy Sabbath which God commanded when he gave the ten commandments for the government of man. Many men are willing that laws be enforced which they want, but if they do not want a particular law, they do not observe it themselves, nor endeavor to have others obey it.

Eleven thousand murders were committed in the United States during the past year because of the utter disregard for law, for one of the commandments is "Thou shalt not kill." All of these murders are traceable to the disregard for the laws of God and man. Until the people can have respect for the laws, and especially those of God, they will continue to suffer, and when the people obey the laws, the country as a whole will prosper, and the individual who does observe the law will prosper also, and will also have peace and protection, for the arm of Jehovah will protect him.

The same rule which applied to the children of Israel at the time they were in the wilderness applies to us now. We must be true to God who gives us life with all its manifold blessings if we are to expect to participate in the blessings and promises of Him whose we are. We must be true to God, to ourselves and as one great writer has said, when we do this we cannot be false to any man. In the great plan of life and it must be spent with our fellow men, we must get along with the fellow at our elbow, for there is no way other than give the other fellow just such treatment as we are wanting from him.

The matter of living in this life and expecting to get the most out of it without contributing to the welfare of the other fellow is entirely out of the question. We must contribute to the general welfare if we also expect to participate in the blessings of good government and enjoy peace and prosperity. We must pay our portion of the taxes, and for it we must get along with the fellow at our elbow, for there is no way other than give the other fellow just such treatment as we are wanting from him.

We called the fellow a slacker when he would not do his bit either by enlisting in the army or by doing those things which contributed to the preservation of this country and its ideals, and truly he was, for it was the duty of everyone to do their part to preserve the things which are the ideals of any new country. Now the man who does not contribute of his service, and himself for the preservation of the laws is a slacker, that knows that the violations of the laws and does not do the things which will correct this condition is a slacker of the very pronounced type. Just because the laws do not particularly suit us, and we think that for the welfare of the majority of the people we cannot afford to sacrifice some of our appetites and passions, we ask are we indeed good citizens, and are we free from being branded a slacker? The children of Israel were slackers to a great degree in that they did not do the things which were commanded of them and for this reason some of our beloved America may in later years and the ten tribes were carried away in captivity never to return while two tribes were permitted to return to re-establish the nation again. Rome fell on account of sins and disobedience, and let us hope that our own beloved America may not forget the laws and commandments that she may likewise go down. The home, the Bible school, and the church with the schools are the safeguards of the nation. Let us all observe the laws and commandments that we may appreciate the first commandment with promise is "Honor thy father and thy mother, that thy days may be long in the land which the Lord, thy God, giveth thee."

GIRL MAY GAIN FORTUNE

Chicago, Sept. 27.—Bohumir Kryl, famous composer, may yet have to make good his promise to give his daughter Marie, $100,000 on her thirtieth birthday. If she had not entered into wedlock at that time, the composer, desiring a musical career for his daughter, exacted a promise from her several years ago that she would not marry until she was thirty, but six weeks ago Miss Kryl announced her engagement to Spiro Hadje Kriakso, a Greek nobleman.

Late in August Kriakso arrived in New York and was met by Miss Kryl and her family. Now it would seem that the engagement has been broken. Efforts to see Miss Kryl last night were unavailing, but her mother talked.

"Are your daughter and Mr. Kriakso still engaged? Are they going to be married? Where is Kriakso?"

Mrs. Kryl replied: "I don't know."
