

Union Department

Prepared Exclusively for The Journal.

Charles Swan shelled and delivered corn to the Flossie McCarthy elevator on last Monday.

David C. Morgan of Plattsmouth was looking after some business matters in Union on last Saturday.

Mrs. Mary Davis was quite ill for a number of days during the past week, but is at this time reported as being some better.

With Lucian Banning looking after the business at the store, Joe was out in the hay field putting up hay while the sun shone.

Roy Wray of Omaha a barber, is engaged with Ira Clarke, and is an excellent workman, and is formerly a resident of Plattsmouth.

Attorney C. L. Graves was visiting with friends and looking after some legal matters in the county court on Monday of this week.

Mrs. John Irvin and two of the children are visiting with relatives in the northern portion of the state and enjoying the visit very much.

L. R. Upton was putting spouting on the new home which was recently purchased by Mrs. Jennie Frans for a home, formerly owned by Mrs. Van Cleve.

Frank A. Finkle who is working near Atchison, Kansas was up to visit with his many friends and to look after some business here for over the week end.

Harry and Mos McCarroll were looking after some business matters in Omaha on Tuesday of this week, bringing also a load of goods from there for the merchants of Union.

Miss Beulah Niday has accepted the management of the Fairmont Creamery company and will continue to work in the Backer store and will receive and handle the cream there.

D. P. Sloan is visiting with his friends and relatives, James F. Wilson for the present and will remain for some time. The two gentlemen are enjoying a fine time during their visit.

J. C. Snively of Union was a visitor in Plattsmouth on Wednesday of this week and was a very pleasant caller at the Journal office, also advancing his subscription for another year.

Hal Liggett and wife with their little ones were spending last week end at Lincoln where they visited with relatives and by the way, attended the football game which was staged for the afternoon.

H. M. O'Dell, the walnut log man, and Walter Havenridge loaded two cars of Walnut logs here on Monday for shipment, the logs going to a firm in Des Moines, Iowa. The logs were cut from the farm of A. L. Becker.

Guy Stokes of north of Nehawka was a visitor in Union last Monday and says that he has about gotten in his wheat, which he is putting in and when completed will have about 52 acres for the feeding of the millions.

G. P. Anderson the scale and measure inspector, was looking after the scales, gas tanks, and other things which are regulated by the state and found the bearers in Union honest and with the appliances in good condition.

Harry Nelson of the Gate City Hat Co., making his home in Kansas City and traveling this territory was visiting his friends here. He has called regularly on the merchants of Union for the past twenty-seven years and is generally liked by the trade, having many friends here.

At the Union schools there were received six new pupils, all of one family, there being three in the high school and three in the grades, those in the high school being Miss Sarah, and Miss Thelma and Master Newland Myers, children of Rev. and Mrs. Myers, pastor of the Methodist church, while those in the grades are Herman, Herbert and Olive. This adds much to the school.

At an initiation party which was held at the school building on last Friday evening, the Sophomore class of the high school was entertainers who gave instruction to the Freshman class. They merrily were wont to call the meeting an initiation party, and we suppose they were right in their description. Anyway they sure had a time with games and good things to eat. These sessions lasted from seven in the evening until eleven at night.

Many Greet Old Time Friend. On last Sunday there were gathered at the hospitable home of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Stites, a large number of friends, notwithstanding the weather was not their choosing, their spirits were gay, and a general good time was had. The occasion being the greeting of Florence Davis who is spending a month at the home of her sister, Mrs. Stites. There were there for the occasion, many friends of former years, and the visiting was very enjoyable to all present. Among those who were present and assisted in the making of the day one most enjoyable were, Mrs. L. J. Hall of Eskomish, Washington, Mrs. Rose Kendall and daughter, Miss Rachel and son, David Kendall, Mr. and Mrs. Rue Frans and family, Mrs. Ida Roddy and daughter, Margaret and son, Edwin, Eugene Roddy and wife, Earl and Gerald Roddy and Mr. and Mrs. M. Lynde.

Entertained Friend Sunday. On last Sunday Mr. and Mrs. W. Porter entertained at their home for the day and dinner a number of their friends, where all enjoyed the occasion very much. Those present for the occasion being Daniel Lynn and wife, Robert E. Hastings, John Lidett and wife and Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Taylor.

Improving the Streets. The streets of Union are being greatly improved when the gutters are finished on the sides of the street to care for the storm waters and thus keep down the wash from the storms. W. L. Stine, Otis Keene and James Lewin, are the gentlemen doing the work, and to be sure the job is being done in the best manner.

Celebrate Two Birthdays.

On last Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Phillip F. Rhin, was duly celebrated the anniversary of the birth of this gentleman and also of Miss Wilma Pickard of Plattsmouth. A general good time was enjoyed by all present and one of the most sumptuous of dinners which Mrs. Rhin is capable of preparing was served. There were there for the occasion, Mrs. Minnie Pickard and daughter, Miss Wilma, guest of honor, John Alwin, Mrs. Sarah McKay, of Plattsmouth, Miss Hazel Burley of Omaha, Mrs. Mary J. Fry, C. A. Harvey, Mr. and Mrs. George Goodman of Plattsmouth, Mrs. Hakenberg and wife, Schuyler Hakenberg and Miss Alice Hakenberg of Mynard.

Minister Now Here.

The new minister of the Methodist church of Union has arrived and become one of the citizens of the town. He held services first on last Sunday and many were out to hear him, and were greatly pleased with his discourse. He is now and now the entire town should work with him for a better Union.

Methodist Church Notes.

Rev. Myers, the new minister occupied the pulpit last Sunday, both morning and evening, and delivered two very pleasing sermons.

At an official board meeting Monday evening it was decided to change the morning services back to the former plan, as it was previous to last year. This will make Sunday school beginning at 11 o'clock and preaching only every other Sunday, alternately with Wyoming for morning services. Next Sunday Rev. Myers will be at Wyoming for the morning services, but at Union in the evening.

Our Sunday school will observe Rally Day and promotion next Sunday morning. Special plans are being made to make this a red letter day in the school. Every teacher, every officer and every scholar should be present, and everyone not in Sunday school should make an effort to start in somewhere next Sunday.

Most children of the Sunday school have been very regular in attendance the past year, and have shown much interest. Parents are given a special invitation to come to Sunday school next Sunday.

The services for next Sunday will be as follows:

10:00, Sunday school (Rally Day) 6:45, Epworth League. 7:30, Evening services.

Wednesday evening, prayer meeting.

The young men's Bible class met at the home of Clifford McQuin last Friday evening. Fifteen young men were present. The class meets every two weeks. The next meeting will be with Alda Taylor, October 15th. This is a new movement among the young men and much interest is manifested, not only at social gatherings but at Sunday school as well.

Mrs. J. C. Snively entertained the Ladies Aid society last Thursday all day. It is needless to say a delicious dinner was served by the hostess. About 25 were present and the day was indeed a very pleasant one and much was accomplished for the society.

MINISTERS AT LINCOLN

About two hundred are expected to attend the three-day annual state convention of the Presbyterian ministry to be held at Lincoln beginning today. The program provides a list of nationally noted speakers headed by Dr. James H. Spear, New York secretary of the general assembly. Other features of the program include a forum of Christian education by Dr. Scott W. Smith, Philadelphia; talks by Dr. Frank Bible, Chicago, secretary of the western board on foreign missions, and Dr. Henry C. Swearingen, St. Paul, Minn.

The executive council of which Rev. E. E. Embroff, pastor of the Wheeler Memorial church, is the only Omaha member, will convene at 2 p. m. today to make appointments for the new year. Rev. Joseph Andrews of Randolph, retiring moderator, will deliver the keynote sermon tonight at Westminster church in Lincoln, where the conference will be held.

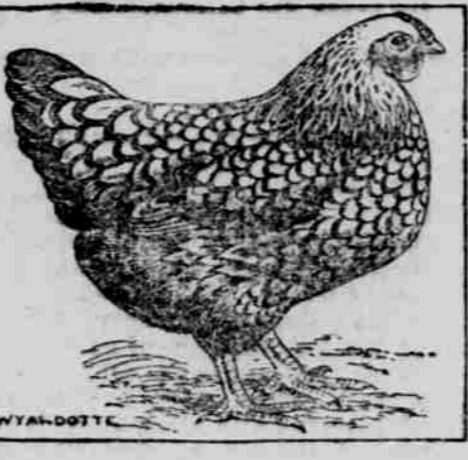

DOHENY CASE APPEALED

Washington, Oct. 4.—The long disputed question on the validity of leases on the naval oil reserves, started with a senate investigation and passed upon by lower federal courts, today reached the supreme courts at the opening of its fall term.

Oral arguments in the Edward Doheny case, involving contracts for the construction of storage tanks for the navy at Pearl Harbor, Hawaii and leases on the Elk Hills naval reserve in California, were begun by Frank J. Hogan, leading counsel for Doheny and his associate Frederick R. Kellogg. Mr. Hogan completed what he termed a statement of facts and tomorrow before the special counsel for the government is heard. Mr. Kellogg will apply them to what he contends is the law in the case.

Red Cross Chief Speaks Plainly on Southern Relief

John B. Payne Says Florida Scene of Humanitarian Efforts and Fish Business Interests.

Washington, Oct. 4.—Re-emphasizing that Florida's storm sufferers are in greater need "than the interests there would have us believe," John Barton Payne, chairman of the American Red Cross, told the annual convention of that organization today that the time had come for decisive action against the propaganda activities of "officials and special interests."

Laying aside his prepared address, in which he declared that existence of the Red Cross again had been justified by the "sadful disaster" to Florida, Mr. Payne asserted there was going on in that state a "conflict between business interests." The time has come he said, when "we must consider seriously whether it is too late to renew our campaign for relief for the poor and stricken in the storm area."

The first intimation he had about "what was going on," the chairman said, was when the chairman of the Chicago chapter "called me on the telephone and read me the message Governor Martin had sent to the mayor of Chicago, asking him for money and aid and assuring the mayor that he, the governor, would let him know if further assistance was necessary."

"At first," Mr. Payne asserted, "I could scarcely believe that a governor would make such a statement right in the midst of a campaign to raise money for the poor people of his state. 'I suppose,' he continued, 'that the desire of a group to protect its business interests is a natural weakness. It is time, however, for the American Red Cross to speak out.'"

Contributions to the Florida relief fund total $3,118,000 to date. A fund of $5,000,000 is sought.

TO SHOW CORN BORERS

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 3.—The mure discussed but seldom-seen corn borer may be observed in his nefarious boring in a special exhibit at the National Dairy exposition here October 6-13. This is the first time it has been possible to reveal to the public on a large scale the borers actually at work.

R. H. Pettit of the entomology department of Michigan State college which is putting on the display, said today that this is the time of year when the borer is moving down in the cornstalks, making ready for his winter home.

The exhibit will have a direct appeal to exposition visitors from the corn belt, who have viewed with apprehension the steady, unimpeded movement of the borer westward.

NOTED DISTILLER A DRY: A DRINK MAKES HIM ILL. London, Oct. 1.—Visitors to a London restaurant found a middle-aged man lunching alone and sipping with droll solemnity and two straws a very soft ginger-beer. He was Lord Dewar, managing director of the noted firm of distillers which bears his name.

"Do you always drink that?" he was asked. "Usually," he replied. "You know it is not generally realized that people in whisky trade are the quintessence of sobriety. Personally, if I take a single glass of port or champagne it makes me feel bad for three or four hours afterwards."

Says Every Human Being Has Broken Laws

Senator Reed Believes So Many Laws Have Been Nacted that Every One Has Broken One or More

Omaha, Oct. 4.—So many laws have been enacted in the United States that it is probable that every human being in the nation more than ten years old has violated some statute or law," Senator James Reed of Missouri, declared in an address here tonight for a "return to the old faith of nationalism."

"We have stretched the constitution of the United States to the breaking point," Senator Reed, who is here in behalf of the congressional candidacy of Grenville P. North, democrat, second district, said. "We have evaded its plain terms and provisions by various subterfuges and practices. We have created in Washington a vast machine employing 600,000 people engaged in every line of human activity, from secretly spying upon citizens to the judicial construction of the laws of our land."

"We have written upon the statute books of this country over 600,000 laws and the federal government has in excess of 10,000. We have established bureaus to regulate maternity, foods and drink. We have forbidden so many things that it is probable that not a single human being in the United States over ten years has not violated some statute law."

Should Reflect Patriotism. The Missouri senator declared that the great need of the United States is an American congress and an American president, who reflect the patriotism and the love of country which burns in the hearts of the great people of our land.

He advocated rejection of the policy of internationalism in favor of nationalism; favored some middle course, whereby the prohibition law might not make so many law violators out of millions of good citizens; condemned the administration for wilful failure to recognize the needs of the west in river navigation and declared that the United States is nearly $200,000,000 a year loser by proposed debt settlements with England, France and Italy alone.

"If President Coolidge will but say the word, the present congress (as past congresses would) will appropriate enough money speedily to solve the river navigation problem," Senator Reed said.

"But in every instance the president and his advisors have refused to yield, except when forced to do so by a threatened revolt of congress."

"The trouble is that the mind of the president is centered more upon the prosperity of New England manufacturers than upon the welfare of the farmers of this great central west."

"Ignorance Stalks Land." "Ignorance stalks thru the land," he said. "Education is grossly lacking. Banks are failing by the hundreds. Farmers are in distress. Forty million agriculturists are compelled to sell their products on the level of European prices, forced by law to take prices fixed by trusts and combines, which operate backed by a tariff act asked for the expressed purpose of enabling them to charge high prices to the American consumer."

Senator Reed did not advocate opening the flood gates to admit liquor to the country, but he said that "somewhere between the extremists, who seek to force prohibition on the people by statute and by ever increasing penalties, and the other individuals who would flood the nation with intoxicants, there must be a sane middle ground. The manufacture and sale of intoxicants must be strictly regulated and possibly conducted as it is in Canada, by the government itself."

"The prohibition law has been upon the statute books for about seven years," the senator said. "Its direct cost of enforcement has been in excess of $120,000,000. The loss of possible revenue runs into the thousands of millions of dollars and yet, according to the testimony of the prohibition director, while there were less than 600 licensed stills in the country prior to prohibition and the number of illicit stills was inconsequential, his department seized 72,600 illicit stills in one year and probably has not captured one of ten."

MELLON IS CAUTIOUS. Washington, Oct. 4.—Editors of trade papers called on Secretary Mellon today, received an optimistic picture of business condition in the country, and were told it is too early to figure on tax reduction.

With a prospective revenue well over the original estimates in sight, the secretary said that more than 200 million dollars of this year's prospective surplus will be composed of receipts which will not recur next year, such as back taxes, repayments by railroads and return to the treasury of funds spent in federal farm loan bonds.

As a result the government, he added, would have only a comfortable margin next year unless business conditions improve materially, which he does not count on.

JAPAN FOURTH IN U. S. TRADE

Washington, Oct. 3.—An encouraging factor in the far east, as it respects toward a very important section of American foreign trade, comes from Commercial Attache C. E. Herring, at Tokio, who has informed Secretary of Commerce Hoover of a more optimistic view of business conditions in Japan.

The island kingdom stood fourth in the list of American customers during the year ending July 1, with a total buying of about $250,000,000 and any progress noted in that country will mean, in all probability, dollars and cents in the pockets of exporters in the United States.

Herring said that the favorable viewpoint of the Japanese commercial situation comes as a result of continued excellent crop conditions. He added:

"The continued advance in exchange, however, is adversely affecting exports, particularly raw silk and cotton yarn. On the other hand, a few lines of import merchandise which were unsalable at low exchange are now being marketed."

MEXICAN PRIEST HOLDS SERVICES

Vera Cruz, Oct. 4.—The first baptism services to be conducted by a priest in a Roman Catholic church in the Republic of Mexico were held Sunday morning in Santa Cristo church by a clergyman registered in compliance with the constitution and regulation issued by President Calles.

The priest came from the suburban settlement of Alvarado and the church was delivered into his charge at his request, supported, it is understood, not only by Gen. Arnulfo Gomez, but also by President Calles himself.

Prior to the customary masses the priest conducted baptismal services and other church rituals, and without authority from the Roman Catholic hierarchy. The bishop, loyal to the Roman Catholic church, declined to attend the services.

The great cathedrals and other churches in Vera Cruz, as elsewhere in the republic, continue without priests, as they have since the suspension of religious rites on August 1 by authority of the Vatican.

MAUNA LOA RISING BODILY INTO AIR

Honolulu, Oct. 3.—The great floor of Kilauea crater and much of the mountain side of Mauna Loa in the vicinity of the volcano is rising bodily into the air, according to scientists taking observations at the place, and this evidence of tremendous pressure in the mountain points to another eruption.

These men are convinced that Kilauea will erupt "sooner or later," but they decline to hazard a guess as to the approximate time this will occur. Very decided tilting of the crater floor during the month of July indicated that an eruption might occur this summer, but this tilting subsided temporarily and has only lately begun again.

PLANE HITS TREE: HAD SERIES FILM

Northumberland, Pa., Oct. 4.—Losing his way in a dense fog, Pilot E. Ward of Bellefonte, Pa., flying from New York to Cleveland with world series baseball films, crashed into a tree in attempting to land at the Island Park field here Sunday.

The airplane was wrecked, but Ward escaped with a slight cut on his right hand.

The films were in tin boxes, and Ward managed to salvage all except 12.
