A worn out furnace is a luxury! It consumes more fuel. It dirties up the house. It needs repairs. Even then you can't depend on it to keep the house healthfully warm and comfortable. In actual dollars, a worn out furnace costs more than a new one.

Buy a WEIR Furnace and the savings in fuel alone will pay for it. Many WEIR Furnaces have been in actual service for from 30 to 40 years (a fact which speaks for itself.) If you don't know about the WEIR—come in and let us explain its advantages and features to you.

You may make the old furnace do, but you'll spend more than you save.

Indians Vote in Alaska Election

Expected to Be Factor in Selection of Territory's Representative—Favor Republican Candidate.

Juneau—The charge that the votes of illiterate Indians have been marshaled to rule the white population of Alaska entered into the campaign for election of the territory's representative in congress.

Dan A. Sutherland, republican of Juneau the incumbent, has been the target of the attack against the Indian voters. He is opposed by Thomas A. Marquam, Fairbanks lawyer, running on an independent ticket.

Marquam is generally supported by republican federal office holders, who have charged that Sutherland betrayed his constituents by allowing reports of unrestrained vice in the territory, voiced in congress, to go unanswered.

Only in the first judicial district which is the southeastern section of Alaska, have the Indians voted to any appreciable extent in past elections. Those who have voted supported Sutherland virtually to a man. Sutherland's opponents said that the Indians have been banded together by a half-breed for political purposes.

With the Eskimos of the northern part of the territory, the Indians comprise about 50 per cent of the population.

Sutherland has centered his attack on what he characterizes as a salmon fishing monopoly and to charging that federal office holders have conspired against him. He opposed re-nomination of Alaskan officials who were involved in the vice charges.

Alaska is normally republican, but party lines have been forgotten many times in recent elections. Persons seeking election to the territorial legislature are doing so with their opposition or support of Sutherland as their chief issue.

The territory's only representative in congress is the one delegate, who may speak but has no vote.

CARDINAL PLAYERS GET $5,584.51 EACH
New York, Oct. 12.—The world's series melon was cut Monday. Leslie O'Connor, secretary to Commissioner Kenesaw Mountain Landis, delivered the checks for the Yankee players at the Yankee offices and put the checks for the Cardinal players in the registered mail.

In spite of the fact that the seven-game argument between the Yankees and Cardinals set new records for receipts and attendance, the checks to the individual contending players were much smaller than the amounts the winning Yankees and the losing Giants drew down in the series of 1925.

This is due to the fact that the fourth place clubs were declared in on the split since the Yankees fought the Giants, and also because the Yankees and Cardinals this year cut their share of the prize money into more individual full shares than usual.

The Yankees voted every eligible player in their list a full share. Each eligible Yankee player received a check for $3,388.28, and each Cardinal player $5,584.51.

Sketch of Life of the Late Miles Standish

Former Well Known Resident of Near Murray and Highly Esteemed Citizen.

Miles Standish was born in Pottsville, Pennsylvania, January 29th, 1867, and passed away at his home in Holton, Kansas, September 29th, 1926, at the age of 59 years and 8 months.

At the age of 14 he united with the Presbyterian church and served as choir leader until leaving Pennsylvania some years later.

He came to Murray, Nebraska, at the age of 19 years, and resided there until about sixteen years ago, when he moved to Garnett, Kansas, later going to Holton in 1917.

In his passing Jackson county has lost a noble citizen, his faithful wife a companion of many years and the children a kind and loving father who lived the Christian principles every day in the great commandment, "Love thy neighbor as thyself."

Mr. Standish was ill about a year, and was a patient sufferer at all times. He remained conscious until within a brief time of his passing. His wife and four of his children were with him at the hour of his death. He had the best of medical attention and all was done that could be done by loving home folks to make his last days as comfortable as possible.

Those remaining to cherish his memory are Arvilla Standish, the wife; Miles Iver Standish and family, of Norton, Kansas; Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Sorg, of Hiawatha, Kansas; Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Hansell and family, of Wichita, Kansas; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Standish and family; Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Greenlee and family and Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Standish, all of Holton, Kansas, besides five brothers and two sisters and a host of friends.

The funeral services were held at the home on Saturday afternoon, conducted by Rev. Henry of the Christian church. Special musical numbers furnished by Mrs. F. Coffen and Ed Woodburn were very beautiful and touching. Pall bearers were Chas. Taylor, Cyrus Hurrell, Robert Armstrong, John Fisher, Bruce Hogg and Adam Fisher. Interment was made in the beautiful cemetery at Holton.

Rest, Father! Rest in quiet sleep.
While friends in sorrow o'er thee weep.
Here their heart-felt offerings bring
And near thy grave, Requiem sing.

Effort to Enjoin A Radio Station

Legals Steps Take at Chicago to Clear Up the Chaotic Conditions Existing in That City.

Chicago—Legal action, intended as a step toward clearing up the chaotic conditions that have developed in the Chicago radio broadcasting area was taken by station WGN, owned by the Chicago Tribune, when it obtained a temporary injunction against radio station WGES. Interference with WGN programs was charged.

Attorneys for WGN told Circuit Judge Francis Wilson, who issued the temporary order, that numerous complaints had come from the station's listeners of interference from WGES. The Tribune station uses a wave length of 302.8 meters, while WGES which formerly operated on 250 meters, recently went up to 315 meters. This change WGN contends, produced too much congestion. WGN has continued to operate its assigned wave length.

The temporary order enjoined WGES, which is owned by J. Louis Guyon, balloon proprietor, and the Coyne electrical school, from using WGN's wave length or any other wave length that would tend to cause interference with that station. With a least thirty-five broadcasting stations in operation in the Chicago area, inter-station interference has been gradually increasing. This situation became more pronounced early in the summer with the announcement of the department of commerce, after the House of congress to pass a radio law, that it had no authority over broadcasting. Since then several new stations have come on the air and others have taken wave lengths other than those to which they were originally assigned by the department.

ITALY DENIES WAR RUMORS

Washington, Oct. 11.—The Italian embassy Sunday issued a denial of the article published Saturday in the London Daily Express, intimating that Italy was preparing for war against Turkey.

The rumor was described by the Italian embassy as "absurd and misleading," the foreign policy of Italy being "decidedly pacific and contrary to any dislocation of world peace."

Keep Eliminative System Active

Good Health Requires Good Elimination

ONE can't feel well when there is a retention of poisonous waste in the blood. This is called a toxic condition, and is apt to make one tired, dull and languid. Other symptoms are sometimes toxic backaches and headaches. That the kidneys are not functioning properly is often shown by scanty or burning passage of secretions. Many people have learned the value of Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, when the kidneys seem functionally inactive. Everywhere one finds enthusiastic Doan's users. Ask your neighbor!

'Hung Jury' Ends Fraud Case Trial

Talesmen Out 68 Hours Before Dismissal; H. M. Daugherty and T. W. Miller Seem Jubilant.

New York, Oct. 12.—A "hung jury" Monday ended the five week's conspiracy trial of Harry M. Daugherty and Thomas W. Miller, government office holders under President Warren G. Harding. The jurors had been out more than 65 hours, longer than any other jury in the history of the federal building.

Former Attorney General Daugherty was the first man to be brought to trial on a charge of conspiracy to defraud the government he served while a member of a president's cabinet.

Daugherty and Miller, former alien property custodian, were indicted for conspiracy to defraud the government of their best services in permitting release in 1921 of $7,000,000 war impounded assets of the American Metal company.

The case was given to the jury at 8:43 p. m. Friday. Saturday failure to agree was reported, but Judge Julian Mack insisted on further deliberation. Again Sunday the jury was told that not yet would anything but a verdict be acceptable to the court.

At 3 p. m. Monday, however the talesmen were called into the courtroom for the last time, and again reported inability to agree whereupon Judge Mack said:

"I shall not hold you longer, gentlemen. You have deliberated long and earnestly, and I thank you for all that you have done."
After counsel for both sides had thanked the jury, the talesmen trooped back to the jury room for their suitcases. As they re-entered the corridor a marshal said he heard them say that they had stood 6 to 6 on Daugherty and 10 to 2 for conviction of Miller. Besieged by reporters, however, the jurors stated that they had pledged themselves not to tell what the standing had been.

The jury deliberation was marked by the illness Sunday night of one juror, a shell-shocked war veteran, and the statement to the court of another that duress was being brought to bear upon the minority. Murray White, the veteran, has improved sufficiently Monday to permit him to complete his task.

Daugherty and Miller both seemed quietly jubilant over the disagreement. United States Attorney Buckner, who prosecuted the case, said that he would not decide about a retrial for a month at least.

The former government officials were charged with conspiring against the government under inducement of "hypnotic injections of graft" applied by the late John T. King, republican national committeeman from Connecticut.

Richard Merton, German copper magnate, who came to this country to obtain release of the assets, testified at the trial that he paid King a fee of $441,000 to put his claim thru government offices. It was alleged that King did this by passing part of his fee, paid in Liberty bonds, to Daugherty and Miller, "reaching" them thru Jess W. Smith, Daugherty's political handy man. Of these Liberty bonds the government traced $50,000 to Miller's brokerage accounts and $174,000 to the Midland National bank, of Washington Courthouse, O., which was operated under the presidency of Mal S. Daugherty, the former attorney general's brother.

Borah Wants An Inquiry

Washington, Oct. 11.—Senator Borah, republican, Idaho, feels that the supreme court decision today upholding the sale of seized German dye patents by the alien property custodian to the Chemical Foundation gives added reason for investigation of the custodian's office.

He indicated that, if the inquiry were undertaken, Harry M. Daugherty and Thomas W. Miller, a former custodian, would be among the first witnesses summoned. The senator is chairman of a special senate committee to investigate the office, but has been unable to proceed because no funds were appropriated.

Asserting he did not care to comment on the outcome of the Daugherty-Miller trial in New York, the senator however said that "our whole record in reference to the administration of alien property is a sorry one."

$500 Per Week Alimony is Given Wife of Menjou

Screen Dandy, Once Head Waiter, Has "Waited Too Long." Says His Wife.

Los Angeles—Adolphe Menjou, film star, has waited once too often. When he acted as headwaiter in his father's cafe on Huron road, Cleveland, that was all right.

And when he carried trays in the movies, "The Grand Duchess and the Waiter," that was lovely.

And later this summer when he took up the dishes again in a new movie in New York—beautiful, particularly at the alleged sum of $5,000 a week.

But when he waited too long of an evening to some home and when he waited too long of a morning for the bark of his prize sealym dog—that was carrying it too far.

Charging desertion, Mrs. Catheryn Menjou, his wife, filed a cross complaint in superior court here Wednesday.

"Wickedest Man." Menjou, called "the wickedest man in the world," brought her original action, charging cruelty.

The cross complaint set forth that Menjou is earning $5,000 a week. Temporary alimony of $500 a week has been awarded Mrs. Menjou pending action in the case.

Clevelanders here recall Menjou as the dandy of the town in his father's cafe, the Bismark.

Even then he had the jet black mustache with the spot of white on his upper lip, dark curly hair parted in the center and deep olive complexion.

Dressed in long swallow tails, he would show a party to a table with quite the dignity of a Spanish nobleman.

Feminine parties, it was said, after the theater would think of going no other place than the cafe where Menjou was headwaiter.

He went to school with his brother, Henry, also a movie actor, at Nottingham. About six years ago both of them came to Hollywood to work as extras in pictures.
Ex-Newspaperwoman.
His wife was Kathryn Conn of Lancaster, Ky., a former newspaperwoman, who had been married before and had a son.
Menjou lived in a small house in the heart of Hollywood. The first big money he received he used to buy a home for his mother at Annaheim, about twenty miles from here. He made his greatest hit in "A Woman of Paris," a Charlie Chaplin production with Chaplin as director. About two years ago the Menjous settled down in Beverly Hills for expected connubial bliss.
But the first rift in the family came when Mrs. Menjou claimed that her husband wasn't giving her enough carfare. But Menjou claimed that it was his wife's nagging that caused all the trouble.
And the movie actors answered back "Yes, yes," that he has one of the pleasant dispositions around the studios.
But pleasant or unpleasant, generous or stingy, Menjou has waited long enough says Mrs. Menjou and she's through.
