

Fine Array of Door Prizes at Harvest Festival

In Addition to Capital Offering of a Chevrolet Coach, Big Nightly Awards Arranged For.

Saturday Night—50-piece Dinnerware set purchased from H. M. Soenichsen.

Monday Night—1927 Console Model Freshman Masterpiece Radio, purchased from W. O. Kettleson.

Tuesday Night—Choice of a Voss Washing Machine or Premier Duplex Vacuum Cleaner, purchased from the Nebraska Gas & Electric Co.

Wednesday Night—Choice, Lady's Wrist Watch or Gent's Open Face Watch, purchased from M. D. Brown.

The above comprise the nightly door prizes to be awarded at the Legion's annual indoor Harvest Festival on November 13, 15, 16 and 17, at Coates hall.

A glance will convince the reader that this is the finest array of nightly door prizes ever arranged for an indoor carnival in Plattsmouth.

The retail value of the Freshman Masterpiece Console is $69.50, and it is a brand new model not to be confused with any obsolete models being offered by some dealers at reduced prices.

The value of the Voss washing machine and Premier Duplex Vacuum Cleaner are well known, and the Tuesday night winner will be given the choice of these two useful household appliances.

On Saturday night the Cass county hog calling contest will be held, with two cash prizes for the winners, and this in conjunction with the fine set of dishes offered as a door prize will be a worth-while attraction for attendance on the opening night.

On Wednesday, the closing night, in addition to the drawing on the capital prize of a 1927 Chevrolet Coach, the door prize will be choice of either a Lady's wrist watch, or a gentleman's open face watch, from M. D. Brown's jewelry store.

The nightly admission charge will be 10 cents and with each paid admission a numbered coupon will be given entitling the person to a chance on that night's door prize. The only requirement is that they be present to claim their prize at the time of drawing, which will be around 10:30 o'clock, just before dancing begins.

Monday night will be designated as Radio night, and it is almost certain that Gloomy Gus, the celebrated KFAB announcer, pianist and composer will be present to help entertain the large crowd.

Other entertainment is being secured for Tuesday and Wednesday nights and the 1926 carnival promises to outdo all previous efforts in this line. It is only a month off and you had better start planning now to be present each night.

PUBLIC SHOULD BE CAUTIOUS

During the month of August the Nebraska Gas & Electric company had a contest among their various districts to endeavor to have that month a "No Accident Month." This was very successful and its success has emphasized the fact that by special effort accidents can be minimized. While it is true that accidents to the public are of less frequent occurrence than to employees, they do happen and mostly through the thoughtlessness of the person who is injured.

Just recently a citizen of one of the towns in which the Nebraska Gas & Electric company operates had a very narrow escape from serious injury and perhaps death. The plant engineer as he came on duty tested the street light circuit to see that it was in good condition, as the day had been windy and stormy. The engineer found that the circuit was open indicating perhaps that a wire had been loosened by the wind. A linesman was immediately called to locate the trouble and he did in fact find a wire fallen from the pole. The well meaning citizen who had seen this wire at the time that the engineer was making his test, he would have received a serious shock, perhaps with fatal results.

This incident has caused Mr. Hild in charge of safety work for the company to issue a warning to all districts to inform the general public as well as the employees as to the hazard of touching any wires. When a wire is down stay away from contact with the wire and if possible remain until the company is notified and a trouble man arrives. In the meantime see that no one goes near the fallen wire. Regard every wire as being charged which is the only sure way of preventing an accident.

Nebraskans Win Many Honors at Legion Meeting

Law and Order Marks Philly Convention—Patrol Wagons at Every Street Corner.

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 11.—The Nebraska delegation came in for its share of convention glory Monday, when it presented the national organization with a replica of the Liberty bell and a gavel, and received recognition on practically every committee appointed by the chair.

The Omaha drum corps paraded the streets of Philadelphia and was given a warm reception. Fred Patzell, champion hog-caller, gave his famous yell on the streets of the Quaker town and will appear on the radio program at WOO, the Wanamaker station here, Tuesday night.

With the price of hotel rooms nearly tripled, rooms are scarce here. Prospects for the parade Tuesday are the best in the history of the organization.

Many on Committees

Paul Leidy, of Omaha, was named a member of the finance committee, and Leo Bozell, of Omaha, was given a berth on the rehabilitation committee. Other Nebraskans to land on the various committees were as follows:

Frank Warner, of Norfolk, military affairs. John Curtis, Lincoln, welfare. Nels Johnson, Valley, time and place.

Clint Brome, Omaha, resolutions. R. A. Kirkpatrick, Omaha, veterans' bureau.

C. W. Conklin, O'Neill organization. Lloyd Kane, Gothenburg, internal organization.

Harry Ball, Lincoln, legislation. J. R. Bittner, constitutional amendments.

J. E. McHugh, Kearney, aeronautical affairs. Elton Shawka, Schuyler, naval affairs.

Past Commander J. R. Kinder made the presentation speech when the Liberty bell and gavel, purchased through donations from the Nebraska posts, were presented to the national organization.

Wagon on Every Corner

More law and order prevails here than at Omaha last year. Hundreds of uniformed police are stationed in the downtown districts with a patrol wagon on every corner.

All gambling on streets and in the hotels and in lobbies has been stopped by police.

A split in the Nebraska delegation is anticipated if the name of General John J. Pershing is placed before the convention as the next commander. Two of the Nebraska delegation have announced they will not vote for Pershing as commander.

COLUMBUS DAY TODAY

While there was little to mark the passing of the day, this was Columbus day, the anniversary of the day that Christopher Columbus, the hardy and daring Italian explorer, backed by the gold of Queen Isabella of Spain, first sighted land in the West Indies and gave to the world our present abiding place.

It would give the great explorer a real jar if he could come back from the days of 1492 to the present time when his good ship sailed through the placid waters of the southern sea might be mistaken for one of the rum fleet that has its hang-out in the Indies.

The great nation that employed him to open the conquest of the new world has been one of the greatest empires of the world and has now sunk to the rank of a second rate European power and with the royal family of Spain none too securely seated on the throne of their country. The world whose shores Columbus first sighted has now grown to one of the greatest of world powers and a great array of free republics now fill the South American continent.

It was a great day—that of October 12, 1492—but it has sunk into an ordinary day, altho it is a legal holiday in Nebraska, but this means nothing now as not even the banks in this city were closed today in honor of the event.

CANDIDATES LIVENING UP

The fast approaching election which will occur on Tuesday, November 2nd, just three weeks from today, is causing the candidates to liven up somewhat and get out in the pursuit of the elusive voter with the added vigor that the cold and snappy weather gives. The state candidates have as yet not started in on their visitations in this community or at least in this part of Cass county, but the indications are that the last few days of the campaign will see the heavy artillery of the state campaign trained on Plattsmouth and the surrounding territory. As it is the campaigning is being kept lively by the local candidates who are offering themselves as sacrifices on the altar of the public service.

ATTACKS POWER COMBINE

Paducah, Ky., Oct. 11.—An attack upon what he termed the "power combine," and a warning that people of a number of middle-western and southern states are in great danger of being robbed of their natural rights in waterways development were contained in an address here today by James E. Smith, president of the Mississippi valley association, in the opening session of the thirty-second annual convention of the Ohio valley improvement association.

Smith said that "a small group of grafting and merciless schemers, known as the 'power combine,' are attempting to gobble up all the power prospects in the territory named and securing control of the rights which now belong to the people and, when obtained, to sell the power back to these people at exorbitant prices which will net millions upon millions of dollars.

GIVE MORE THAN RECEIVE

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 11.—The only way Jews can overcome prejudice and misunderstanding is by giving more than they receive, Solomon Levitan, Wisconsin state treasurer, told the men's club of Mount Zion temple here tonight.

"It is up to us," he said, "to overcome all this prejudice and misunderstanding, and the only way we can do it is to give more than we expect. We must by kindness and unselfishness win the confidence and friendship of our neighbors."

Declaring that Jews have held themselves "too much aloof from others," Mr. Levitan urged his fellow-men to "strive not to be indifferent."
