A Friend of All the People; John Morehead

Present Congressman Serves all of the People Regardless of Their Politics.

Those who have had occasion to visit Washington and have had requests to make of their congressman have found that John H. Morehead, the present congressman from this district, and the democratic candidate for re-election, to be one of the leading representatives of the western states and who was always willing to do his best for his people. These visitors have remarked that the congressman was always alert and ready to do anything that might lay in his power for the benefit of his people regardless of their politics, creed or color. This is the kind of service that the people want—they want a representative in the house of representatives that has at heart the interests of his section of the nation and of his own district, such as John H. Morehead has given and will continue to give if he is returned by the voters of the first district as seems almost certain.

As governors of the great state of Nebraska Mr. Morehead has made a lasting reputation for ability and careful and efficient government and in the same thorough manner has applied himself to the office of congressman for the first district, battling for the interests of the western country in the face of the opposition of the great interests that have ignored the farmer and his problem.

The return of Mr. Morehead to congress means that an outstanding figure in congress that is not afraid to espouse the cause of his people at any and all times, and his defeat would mean that the west and the state of Nebraska would lose a real friend and acquire at the best a doubtful quality that would "res" the wishes of the big interests that have denied the request of the western farmer for a fair shake in the matter of legislation in the past eight years.

The people of the first district can play safe in the matter of their congressman by again electing John H. Morehead, who has so ably represented the district and who is always alert to serve his people when they have any requests that he can aid them in.

MARRIED AT COURT HOUSE

From Monday's Daily— County Judge A. H. Duxbury is fast becoming an adept at the celebration of the marriage ceremony in many tongues and particularly the Spanish or rather its offspring, the "Spic" of the Mexican.

Yesterday the judge who was busy at Sunday school was called forth on the urgent appeal of Cupid, as a party of the residents of Loutsville's Mexican colony were here and with the avowed purpose of having two of the young people joined in wedlock and as the ceremonies that Judge Duxbury performs are as binding as a Yale lock, the parties decided that he should say the mystic words that would join the lives and hearts of Jesus Gracia, late of Chicago, aged 21 and Miss Junita Cruze, of Louisville, aged 18.

The young people were accompanied by the father of the bride, Mathilde Cruze, as well as a number of friends.

The ceremony required some time as the pledges of love that were given by the Judge had to be translated into the soft and languid language of Sunny Spain to give the groom the opportunity of saying "yes."

Owing to the fact that it was Sunday there was no flourishes at the wedding and the parties returned to Louisville after the ceremony.

Platters Take Both Games of Doubleheader

Locals Win from Greenwood 8 to 5 and from Manley 10 to 5— Some Fast Playing.

From Monday's Daily— Yesterday afternoon after many weeks of delay the final round of the Plattsmouth, Manley and Greenwood baseball tournament was staged on the local lot and resulted in a victory in both games by the Plattsmouth baseball aggregation that smashed their way to victory by decisive scores.

The first game with Greenwood resulted in an 8 to 5 victory for the Platters while in the second game the result was 10 to 5 in favor of the local team over the Manley team.

In the opening game with Greenwood Manager Swanson decided on Joe McCarty for the mound work while Brakage, the youthful star of Greenwood was sent to the mound and altho he was suffering with a sore arm pitched good ball until the arm made necessary his leaving the game when Grover Hopkins of Weeping Water was substituted and who was hit as well as being wild and from whom the victory was snatched.

In the opening game Greenwood uncorked their offensive in the first of the second inning when George Reichart was safe at first on a bobble and where he was resting when McDowell pulled a drive over the left field fence for a home run that scored two runs. The locals in their half of the second tied up the score. Mason was out on a grounder to Brakage while Johnson was out on a fly to third. Newman drew a walk from Bracky and McCarty hit a hard drive to left that advanced Newman and both runners scored on the two bagger of O'Donnell to deep center.

The Platters also scored in the fourth when with one out McCarty doubled to left and scored later on a passed ball when the third strike of O'Donnell was missed.

The Plattsmouth team tied up the contest in the fifth inning when the wildness of Hopkins who relieved Brakage in the fourth permitted the locals to annex three additional runs. Herb Klauschie opened the inning with a hot liner that passed over the left garden wall for a circuit drive and which apparently took the heart out of Hopkins as Art Klauschie and Mason each drew passes and were resting on bases when Johnson hit over third for the blow that tallied the two runs.

Again in the sixth the locals scored when Herold was hit by a pitched ball, but was forced at second by Herb Klauschie and the run was made by Herb when Mason hit to left field, and the score crossing over just before Mason was caught trying to steal second.

The visitors started a dangerous rally in the seventh that looked for a few moments as if the tide of battle might change and gave McCarty several anxious moments until Newman, who had played a whirlwind game at short made a sensational catch of the drive of Shulke and stopped the rally. Landon, the Greenwood catcher was on base safely when Art Klauschie bobbled his drive at third base and scored on the hit of George Reichart to right field while Reichart scored when Herb Klauschie threw to first to tag Bert Jardine. Stradley was caught trying to reach the home station.

In the eighth inning A. Klauschie relieved McCarty on the mound for the locals and the visitors added their last score in the ninth inning when on a hit by Reichart and an error at short allowed them the run.

The last run for Plattsmouth was in the seventh when Hopkins was again in a generous mood and passed Johnson and McCarty to first and when O'Donnell hit safely Johnson tallied.

The box score of the game was as follows:

Plattsmouth—	AB	H	PO	A	E

Second Game

In the second battle of the afternoon the Manley team and the locals, the visitors were able to get a start of the game and seemed to be headed toward giving the locals a real battle until the fifth inning of the struggle when their defense crumbled and the locals were able to secure a decisive lead.

The Manley team has some fast ball players on their team and make a worthy foe for their opponents at any time and in the second inning of the game started the fireworks. Swanson of the locals was hitting a good game but several errors added to his burden in the opening innings and made him pitch the limit in returning with Newman playing a fast fielding game in support of the locals.

In the second inning West was out, third to first while Fred Reichart was passed to first. Hopkins singled to left and advanced the runner to third and successive hits by Rector and Klepper gave Manley the two runs, George Reichart closing the inning with a strikeout.

In the fourth inning Peter Herold opened for the locals and hit safe to left in a stinging liner and scored when Herb Klauschie was out third to first. Art Klauschie doubled to center and was followed by Mason who was safe on an error at third base and both runners scored when Hans Newman pulled a hot drive to center field that brought in the runs that gave Plattsmouth the lead.

The fifth inning was the undoing of the visitors as in this frame Plattsmouth netted six runs, when Rector weakened and several errors added to the wreckage. Swanson hit the Rector and was able to beat out the throw to first and secured second on an error by Harms. Svoboda hit safe to right and scored Swanny while Newman was out on a fly to right. McCarty was walked and was followed by Mason who hit safe to right and scored. Joe. Art Klauschie hit safe to left and Herb Klauschie drew one to third that could not be handled and the result was that Mason and Klauschie scored. Herold was safe at first and O'Donnell also secured a lease of life at first and was able to score on an error at second. Swanny batting the second time in the inning was struck out.

In the seventh inning Plattsmouth again scored when Hartman, who had relieved Rector, walked O'Donnell and who was scored on the hit of H. Klauschie to left field.

Manley scored three runs in the eighth inning, Hopkins opening with a hit to left which was snaged by Mason. Hartman hit safe to center and was able to score when Rector hit safely to left field. Rector was later put out at second, when Klepper was safe at first, George Reichart was walked and both runners scored when Harms hit safely for a single to center.

For the visitors in both games George Reichart played a very spectacular game and divided honors with the fast work of Newman for Plattsmouth.

The tabulated score of the game was as follows:

Plattsmouth—	AB	H	PO	A	E
O'Donnell, 1b	2	0	11	1	1

WHAT MARKS A PLATTSMOUTH?

"All your home town papers—Plattsmouth Evening Journal!" This call of an Omaha newsboy has had a group of four Plattsmouth women wondering, even since the Ak-Sar-Ben carnival week, who stamped them as natives of Plattsmouth. In the group were Mrs. Bundy Dovey, Mrs. Charlotte Patterson, Mrs. Frank Cummins and Miss Amelia Martin.

Miss Minnie Guthman, guest with them at a bridge party given by Ione Dovey, artist, in her studio in Aquila court, knows the reason. Miss Guthman, who had just returned from London, where the streets were dark, broke up the bridge game by begging the guests to go out and look at the bright lights of Omaha with her. With Mrs. Ray Frans of Union she walked ahead of the others and whispered to a newsboy—"They are from Plattsmouth!" He took the tip.—Omaha News.
