The state bank examiner was in Murdock on last Tuesday and Wednesday, conducting an examination of the Farmers and Merchants bank on Tuesday, while on Wednesday he examined the Bank of Murdock, finding them both in excellent condition.

J. E. Hendrix was down to Crab Orchard during the past week, where he held a sale, at which he disposed of his farming machinery and other things pertaining to the farming industry, but retained the land, which he is renting, so it will no longer require his close personal attention.

The box social which was held last week at the Grand Prairie school was a success in every particular. The program was excellent, while the attendance was all that was expected, and the boxes went well. Walter Gehrking was the auctioneer and made a very fine man for the purpose.

Many of the local shooters who are there when it comes to putting the good shots over, were enjoying a shoot at the home of Simon Brockhage on last Wednesday afternoon. The targets were only blue rocks, but still they had a way of getting out and the boys had to be "Johnny on the Spot" to get them.

John Eppings, the patrol man for the state out of Murdock, sure has been having good success in the maintenance of the roads. He has good roads on his section, while there are others, either from the lay of the land or the condition of the soil or other things, who find it impossible to approximate the condition which he maintains.

Henry A. Tool and the good wife were spending the Thanksgiving season at their old home in north central Iowa, where they lived in their youthful days—Ackley, Iowa. They departed on the early train last Wednesday and expected to remain during the balance of the week. While they are away, Richard is making his home with Uncle Harry and wife.

Had Friends from Omaha
Mr. and Mrs. Jess Landholm celebrated Thanksgiving at their home in Murdock by a dinner in which goose was one of the attractions, and had as their guests for the occasion, Messrs and Mesdames Tage Burglund, Linus Burglund, Sekel Jacobson, all of Omaha, and Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Kruger, of Murdock. A most pleasant time was enjoyed by the merry crowd.

Will Meet at the Hall
The Ladies Aid society of the Evangelical church will hold their next meeting at the Modern Woodmen hall and will incorporate in their program a bazaar and supper as well, which they will serve. You know how these gatherings are and you cannot afford to miss this one.

Loses a Good Gun
O. E. McDonald was a visitor at Ashland on last Tuesday, where he went to attend a shooting match which was given there. Oscar had two very good guns and he took them both along, but only brought one back. The new one, which was a Winchester that he had recently purchased from a party in Murray and in the stock of which he had had two jewels set, was lifted from his car by some culprit who went to the shooting match bent on getting something better rightfully or otherwise. O. E. is after the culprit and we are hoping that he will get the bird.

The World at His Finger Ends
Harry McDonald, who has been very much interested in radio, takes especial pleasure getting away out into the remote spaces of this hemisphere and the other night, or rather morning, for it was 2:00 a. m. he dropped onto a dance given at Santa Monica, California, and as the pavilion is located over the ocean, being built far out on a pier, he could hear the splash of the waves as the surfer swished to and fro about the piling and could almost realize himself in the open with the warm weather and the billows of the sea rolling in at the southern and western pleasure resort.

Shower Happy Bride
Mesdames John Gakemeier and Rex Peters, the latter of Greenwood, on Saturday afternoon gave a very enjoyable shower in honor of Mrs. Wayne Swartz, who was formerly Miss Eleanor Gakemeier, and who with Mr. Swartz were united in marriage early in August at Papillion, keeping the fact of their marriage a secret until last week. The afternoon was greatly enjoyed at the home of the parents of the bride, many beautiful and costly gifts being received by Mrs. Swartz which will prove most useful in the home of the newly weds.

At Home Thanksgiving
On last Thursday Mr. and Mrs. L. Neitzel were enjoying a family reunion, when most of the family were present at the Thanksgiving day dinner which was served at the Neitzel home here. There were present for the occasion Miss Catherine Neitzel, who is attending school in Lincoln; A. J. Neitzel and the family; Dr. and Mrs. MacDiarmid and children, of Omaha, and O. J. Hitchcock, of Havelock.

Mrs. Stauss Loses Father
In addition to the loss of her mother less than two years ago, Mrs. A. Stauss was called upon last week to part with her father, who had made his home in Sutton. The Rev. and Mrs. Stauss were out at the time of the death of her father and for the funeral, returning early last week. The Stauss family have the sympathy of their many friends both here and over the state, where they are well known. The father's name was John Yost, and he was well along in years. Mrs. Stauss still has two sisters, who are making their home at Sutton.

"Four-Square" Club Active
The regular monthly meeting of the "Four Square" club of the Extension Project work of Cass county, was held at the home of Mrs. McHugh on Friday, November 19th. Those present included two visitors, seventeen members and six new members. Meeting was called to order by the chairman, Mrs. Lydia Lawton, and the minutes of the last meeting read by Mrs. Bess Goerthy, secretary. The regular business of the club was then taken up, after which the work of the month was presented by the leaders, Mesdames Alice Tool and Nettie Brunkow. The topics included the following subjects: "Tapestry and color suitable to decorative walls and woodwork; decorative objects with their use and abuse, furniture, the care of woodwork and floors, the finish or refinishing to improve furniture, casing and floors, etc. etc." Mrs. Lelah Buell, our musician, brought the song, "Nebraska, My Native Land" and the music period was spent in learning it.

Inasmuch as the membership has grown and promises to be much greater, the members of the club thought best to bet a public meeting place in town, as the homes of most of them were not large enough for a meeting place. A committee was appointed to see about getting a place and will report before the next meeting. Otherwise the meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Ed Thimman in December. Visitors are always welcome.

Bring that Watch Back
You were seen to enter my home, when I was out and you are known. Unless you bring the watch back you will be prosecuted. We do not care to make a public example of you, but if you do not do so, we will have to. Your time for the return of the watch will be but short.
MRS. FRANK MELVIN.

NEED OF COMMUNITY BUILDING.
With the joyous Christmas season at hand again, attention is being turned to the proposal to have another municipal Christmas tree similar to that of last year which was provided by the Nebraska Gas and Electric company and the American Legion acting in conjunction. But always, there is a regret expressed that we do not have a suitable building in which to house such a tree, enabling the giving of a program before the distribution of gifts that would serve to teach the hundreds of little folks the true meaning of Christmas.

This is but one of many uses to which the Legion's new community building could be put. Plattsmouth has long needed such a building and when we get it, the social life of the city will be greatly improved.

BAZAAR AND SUPPER
The Cedar Creek ladies aid society will give a bazaar and supper at the town hall in Cedar Creek on Friday, December 3rd. The public is cordially invited to be present. n25-2tw

Community Building Sure Go in 1927

Legion Sentiment Strong for Consumption of Building Plans with Aid of Carnival Money.

From Friday's Daily—
With the highly successful termination of the Legion's indoor carnival and the aid of funds already subscribed, the prospects for a community building in Plattsmouth look exceedingly promising.

When carnival proceeds are transferred to the building fund, several thousand dollars of which are now invested in certificates of deposit in Plattsmouth banks, the total will be within $200 of the $10,000 goal set at the beginning of the drive.

A contribution of $25 voted some months ago by the Eagles lodge will also be available at this time, adding to the grand total.

Until definite assurances could be had that the building would be erected, no persistent effort was made to collect in the money of firms which had signified their intention of paying their contribution in one lump sum, but now it is planned to collect in every cent subscribed and add it to the time deposits drawing interest until spring, when it will be needed to finance the building.

Abandonment of a plan to vote bonds and make the building a municipal owned structure has resulted in an advisory committee composed of their intention of doubling their donations, already in some instances as much as $50, since they will be relieved of the tax burden the bonding plan would entail.

The newly elected Legion commander is strongly in favor of getting the building next year and with a capable Legion building committee and an advisory committee composed of Judge James T. Begley, Attorney Wm. Robertson and R. A. Bates, the interests of everyone concerned will be well conserved.

Next year's Legion carnival will be held in the new community auditorium and countless civic meetings, etc., will be accommodated there free in the years to come as part of the Legion's unselfish plan of community betterment.

Another Civil War Veteran is Called by Death

S. D. Roybler of Eagle Dies at Soldiers Home—Funeral Services Are Held at Old Home.

Again this community is called upon to lay away one of its highly respected veterans of the civil war. Mr. Roybler died at the Soldiers' Home at Millford Saturday morning, and the remains were brought to Eagle Monday for burial beside his wife, who preceded him only a few months ago. The deceased was well known to our readers, having lived in Eagle for the past thirty years. He had enjoyed good health and was as sprightly as one half his age up to a few weeks ago, when he began to fail. His illness only lasted a short time, and his death was not wholly unexpected by those who knew of his condition.

The funeral was held Monday afternoon from the Methodist church, Rev. Zimmerman conducting the funeral service, and the remains were laid away to rest in the Eagle cemetery.

The Grand Army service was conducted by Commander Moore of the Soldiers' Home, assisted by the pastor, who acted as chaplain. This service, always very touching, is made doubly so when performed by a surviving comrade, and in this case the commander of the Home, under whose care the deceased had spent the past year, came with the remains to pay this last tribute.

Obituary

Stephen DeWitt Roybler was born in Tioga county, Pennsylvania, on April 9, 1842, and passed away at Millford Soldiers' Home on November 23, 1926, aged 84 years, 7 months and 11 days. On September 10, 1861, he enlisted in company F, First regiment, New York Light Artillery, and was discharged on November 17, 1863, re-enlisting the same day and serving until the close of the war.

At the close of the war he came to Iowa with his parents from Pennsylvania, and later came to Loupe county, Nebraska, where he married Rebecca Ford, June 15, 1886, and lived until 1897, when he moved to Eagle, where he made his home until about a year ago, when he entered the Soldiers' Home. He was the father of two sons, two daughters, one of whom, Lizzie Williams, preceded him in death. His life companion also passed to her reward about four months ago. He leaves to mourn his loss his children: Major Roybler of Weeping Water, Mrs. Rhoda Muench and Calvin Roybler of Eagle; also one step-daughter, Mrs. Linnie Deles Dernier of Havelock; one brother, Lew Roybler of Erickson, Nebraska, and one sister, Mrs. C. D. Copp of Taylor, Nebraska.

He was a member and joined the Congregational church at Taylor, Neb., in 1895, transferring his membership to the Methodist church at Eagle, where he has been a member for thirty years.—Eagle Beacon.

CELEBRATE ANNIVERSARY

On the 19th day of November, 1868, Miss Celvia Barrett and Mr. Charles Philpot were joined in wedlock, and Sunday, Nov. 21st was the day chosen, because of its convenience, by the children and their families to celebrate their 58th anniversary.

The table was set for their usual Sunday dinner, when the guests began to arrive, therefore the meal was delayed for a few hours, and at the end of that time, grandpa and grandma were both more than willing to eat.

Time was limited, so most of it was spent in visiting, and renewing acquaintances, you might say, because it has been a long time since the Philpots have held such a reunion.
