Basketball to the Front; Teams Getting Started

City Team and One Sponsored by the Knights of Columbus Being Planned.

From Tuesday's Daily—
The basketball season which is just opening with the regular practice period prior to the three months of enjoyment of this indoor sport, is attracting a great deal of attention in this city where it has been among the most popular of sports.

The city team that has usually numbered among the best of the former high school players of the past years is being taken up by the followers of the sport and John Sattler, June Marshall, Carl Ofe and those two grand old men of basketball, Lawrence Sprecher and Hill Martin as well as Coach Rother of the high school team are numbered among the prospects on this team and with the addition of others who may have at one time flashed on the local court.

The Knights of Columbus team will number some of the well known players of the city and who last year played as the K. O. club team, under the management of Mike Viternik. These players number also a large part of former high school stars and include John Svoboda, who is to be captain of the new team, George Sedlacek, Louis Svoboda, Louis Sedlak, Frank Koubek, Robert Eagan, Ernest Janda, James Holly and Fritz Duda. It is expected that Ed Gradoville will appear as the pilot of the new team and assist them in their work of the season.

The two teams will start their practice the coming week and hope to both be in the best of shape in a short time and be prepared to meet all comers and with the splendid work that they have performed in the past as individual players they should more than make the season interesting.

Henry Robert Herold and Mrs. Herold motored in Saturday afternoon from their home at Oklahoma City, for a few days' visit here at the home of Mr. Herold's parents and will leave Thursday for New York to attend the Hudnut trade conference. Mr. and Mrs. Herold will return here for the Christmas holidays.

FARM BUREAU NOTES

How to Call the Farm Bureau Office.

Anyone wishing to call the Farm Bureau office for a farm visit from the agricultural agent should call if possible any time in the morning before 8 o'clock, because I will leave the office to do my field work at or before 8. Many times I go past your place or near it, and could save an extra trip if you would call me before 8.

Annual Farm Bureau Meeting.

At the annual meeting held last week the following board members were re-elected: Charles Noyes, Louisville; Harry Bricker, Greenwood; Carl Day, Weeping Water. New members elected were Mr. Westfall of Alvo, and Miss Rosette Gerard of Weeping Water. It was agreed by those present that the Farm Bureau would continue along definite lines which have already been established. One extra project will probably be taken up this year. That is poultry sanitation, especially the eradication of tuberculosis in poultry. At this meeting Dr. Alfred of the State Serum plant discussed the hog cholera situation. He said that when an outbreak of cholera occurs there is only about 15% of the hogs vaccinated in the state of Nebraska. The next year after the outbreak about 25% of those who vaccinated will not vaccinate, and the next year about 40% of those who do not vaccinate, and so on down until only 4% of the hogs are vaccinated. Then we usually have another outbreak of cholera. Now this being the case, and history repeats itself, the serum plants govern themselves accordingly. Each year following a severe outbreak they curtail their supply of serum to correspond with what they think will be used. Since our last outbreak of hog cholera was in 1923, we had reached a low point in the number of hogs vaccinated this year. Some serum plants did not open this spring to manufacture serum because they could see no sale for their product. Then the outbreak of cholera came and pigs that should have been vaccinated in June were vaccinated in September and October, taking two or three times the amount of serum that they would have at weaning time. Then of course, in a few weeks a shortage came.

Cracklings Instead of Tankage.

A comparative new by-product of the packing house known as cracklings produced the largest gain per day of any high protein supplement for corn in a series of hog feeding tests at the Nebraska experiment station. Pigs on a self fed ration of cracklings and corn gained more than a pound more per day per pig than those on tankage and corn. It took 48 pounds less corn to produce a hundred pounds of gain in this lot also. Cracklings are available now in only a limited amount but more packing houses are changing their rendering processes to the dry method which yields this by-product. The supply of this new feed will always be limited, however, by the number of animals slaughtered in the packing houses. It is not expected that the increase in the production will keep pace with the increase in demand from hog raisers, so the problem is either to buy this feed reasonably or substitute linseed oil meal or cottonseed meal for a part of it.

FIRE DEPARTMENT GENEROUS
From Tuesday's Daily—
The members of the Plattsmouth Fire Department were in a most generous mood at their meeting last evening and voted to add two local enterprises, voting $15 to the Plattsmouth Ad club to be applied on the forthcoming Santa Claus on next Saturday morning and also voting $10 for the purpose of starting a skating rink on the Washington park or the tourist park as it is better known. The fire department has worked the residents of the city without salary for many years and are also desirous of doing their part for the community in a public way by donating from their funds. Their attitude is certainly to be commended.
