Jess Chambers and Henry Heebner were rounding up the work of installing the tank and pump for the vending of the Ethyl gas which will be dispensed at the Murray garage in a short time.

Robert Troop, of Plattsmouth, was a visitor in Murray on last Monday morning and was a caller on Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Rhoden, coming to see Mr. Rhoden, who has been very sick for some time past. C. K. Frats has purchased a new Tudor Ford sedan, buying the same of the energetic salesman Otto Wohlforth, representing the Plattsmouth Motor company. Kemper says he likes the new car fine.

J. V. Pfitman has had three of his horses quite sick, but they are all better now, having been treated by Dr. Taylor. Nick Friedrich also had one quite sick, that is likewise getting better since being treated.

Louise Ingwerson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elba Ingwerson, has been suffering quite badly with an attack of typhoid fever. The little fellow is only about two years of age and quite small for an attack of this kind.

Sidney Bell and C. A. Rosenkrans were visiting in Murray on Tuesday morning of this week, and were looking after the sale of the tickets to the Elks carnival, which is to be held soon in the City of Plattsmouth.

The Rev. H. G. McClusky and family were visiting in Murray for a short time on last Tuesday afternoon, they driving over from their home at Plattsmouth for a ride and a visit for a short time with their friends. Mr. and Mrs. Allen Vernon, of Plattsmouth, were visiting and looking after some business matters in Murray on Tuesday afternoon of this week, and are preparing to move to the farm east of Murray about the first of March.

M. S. Davis, who has been visiting here for some time as a guest at the home of his son J. A. Davis and his brother O. A. Davis, departed on last Tuesday afternoon for his home at Hutchinson, Kansas, and was taken to Union by Mr. O. A. Davis to catch the train for the south.

Everett Spangler, the hustling salesman for the Atwater-Kent radio, has sold during the season twenty-one radios, nine of them in three weeks. The last one to be placed was a console, which went to the home of Dr. and Mrs. G. H. Gilmore. They are liking it splendidly.

At the home of Victor Murster there is quite a bit of joy occasioned by the arrival via the stock route of a son, who with the mother is doing nicely. The joy is not confined to the fond mother and proud father, but is shared by Grandfather and Grandmother Mr. and Mrs. James R. Hill.

Elmer Elliott, who was farming a portion of the lands of John Hobscheidt, was shelling and delivering his corn to the Farmers elevator on Tuesday of this week. He was assisted in the work by his nephew, Glen Elliott, who had the truck down and was doing a portion of the delivering.

Messrs. A. D. Bakke, Glen Boedeker and George E. Nickles were all in Omaha on Tuesday of this week, where they were in attendance at the Automobile show which was in operation during the first portion of this week. They also were guests at the wholesale offices of the Hudson-Exeter Auto Sales company.

The Murray Lumber company, owned and operated by George Nickles, are making a number of hay racks, so as to be prepared when the time comes for their use. Thomas Nelson of the yard has also been making some gates when he has time, and will be prepared when the time comes to close the gates and put up the bars.

Edwin Shumacher has been suffering quite a bit from an attack of appendicitis and was taken to the hospital last Monday, where he underwent an operation for relief. The condition when the operation was performed was very serious, it being revealed that the appendix had burst and ed and gangrene was setting in. However, he has been getting along as well or even better than was expected.

Ladies to Meet Soon
The Ladies Aid of the Christian church will hold a meeting on Wednesday of the coming week, March 2nd, at which there will be provided a very excellent program, which will be looked after by Mrs. J. F. Brendel, who is the leader for the occasion. The entertainment will be in the hands of the efficient hostesses, Mesdames Wm. Sporrer, Martin Sporrer and Oscar Shradler. Come and enjoy this meeting and do your mite for the good of the church.

Must be a Woodman Goat
We have heard much of the goat which the Modern Woodmen have for the initiation, but we are led to believe that the buck sheep which is boarding at the home of W. L. Seybolt is akin to the Woodmen animal, for he has surely attained a reputation for the using of his horns. He took a tilt at his master, W. S., and when he got righted that gentleman found one of his shoes in a manger some fifteen feet away. When it comes to saying "Howdy-do" with his horns he has no choice between a man or a woman.

A few days since Dr. G. L. Taylor with called to Will Seybolt, and stepping out of the barn backwards, the Sheepskin gave the genial doctor a tilt and he went sprawling into the barn on his all fours, and madder than a hornet, but the hearty laugh of his friend, Will, soon restored his good nature, although he found he had a fight on his hands, and before it was over the doctor was out of breath, and was needing a cushion to put in his easy chair and a liniment for the bruised places. However, both the doctor and the sheep escaped.

Has Splendid Hatchery

One visiting at the home of Herman Wohlforth is especially pleased with the neat appearance of the hatchery of this gentleman and his good wife, they having the incubator which contains some 3,600 eggs, running in excellent condition. Better, when you have time, go see how it works. See the ad of the Hatchery in this paper.

Mrs. Rusterholtz Poorly

Mrs. L. Rusterholtz, who was taken on last Thursday with an attack of violent bleeding of the nose, is still poorly, and while she is much better, is still kept to her bed. Mrs. John Wichman, of Plattsmouth, is caring for the patient during her illness.

On Washington's Birthday

The passing of the anniversary of the first president of the United States was marked by the birth of a very fine little girl at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Irwin, of Union, and also of a very fine son at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Ulrich, living some five miles west of Myrard. All concerned are doing nicely and they can celebrate their birthday with the Father of their country.

Card of Thanks

We desire to extend our thanks for the kindness of assisting in trying to put the fire out when our barn was burned and our home robbed; also for the saving of property as much as possible that was in the barn. We truly appreciate this friendship and neighborliness.—Earl Lancaster and family.

Celebrate Birthdays

At the home of Mrs. A. G. Long, one-half mile east of Murray was given a birthday dinner in honor of Mrs. John Paris and Mrs. Bessie Seybolt. Plates were laid for 18 guests from Murray, Union and Plattsmouth. The honor guests got many beautiful and useful presents among which were useful gifts from the husbands.

The 12 o'clock dinner was served by Mrs. A. G. Long and daughter, Mrs. Kennedy. The guests spent the afternoon in music and games and on leaving voted for a meeting on the occasion of the next person's birthday. Those present were, Mesdames Carl Snavely, Steve Copenhagen, Art Ehnman and babe, John Wesley, Elmer Porter, all of Union; Mesdames Mary McDonald, Will Sporer, G. L. Taylor and Jean Reid, J. F. Brendel, Ralph Kennedy, Allan Vernon and babe, John Ferris, Will Seybolt and Leora Ferris.

BIBLE SCHOOL LESSON

Sunday, February 27th

By M. S. Briggs

Golden Text: "Have no fellowship with the workers of darkness, but rather reprove them."—Eph. 5:11.

The Message to the Community

The Apostle Paul worked with the churches in Galatia and later at Ephesus, and was then a prisoner at Jerusalem, and following which he was taken to Rome, and still with that deep concern which all Christians have for the salvation of the world, even endeavoring to keep a close check on the churches to which he had previously ministered, hence his letter to the churches of Galatia, as contained in this the writing to the Galatians.

In the fifth chapter he begins by saying, "Stand fast, therefore in the liberty wherein Christ has made you free, and be not again entangled with the yoke of bondage." The Galatians were some way a tickle people and required a considerable supervision and checking up. Paul, who was much interested in this church, as well as with all others, was doing all things possible to keep them to the faith.

Many who were Jews and who observed the observance of circumcision, felt that they were not required to do the things which were required of Christians. Paul continued in his writings, saying: "Behold, I Paul say unto you, if you be circumcised, Christ shall profit you nothing." For I testify again to every man that is circumcised, that he is indebted to do the whole law. Christ is become of no effect unto you, whoever of you are not justified by the law; ye are fallen from grace. For we through the spirit wait for the hope of righteousness by faith. For in Jesus Christ, neither circumcision availeth anything, nor uncircumcision, but faith which worketh in love."

And again in the thirteenth verse he says: "For, brethren, ye have been called unto liberty; only use not liberty for an occasion to the flesh, but by love serve one another."

This seems to be the gist of the lesson, and the serving in love of one another. To make the community Christian one must love the community and the members thereof, and not expect more of a neighbor than they are willing to give. It is our mission to win friends to Christ, and the simple way of living of the message which he said, "Go ye into all the world and teach My gospel to every creature." We can most effectively win souls for him.

We must first possess the gospel, which we desire to deliver to our friends and neighbors, and in the spirit of humility, not boasting of our success. We must work for his kingdom, not by posing that we are better than others, but with a spirit dedicated to service and he that is willing to do the humblest of things to further the Master's interests is near indeed unto the kingdom of God. The experience of mankind has been that the human being needs restraint and that they are like ourselves in need of instruction in the ways of best living. Since the beginning people have learned to live only by the inspiration of God given through his Son came to teach us all, and which he delivered to the apostles in turn give to all the people, and so rules of better living between man and man were formulated.

When man would take the life of his fellow being, rules were formulated to restrain him, and these were declared laws. Consequently as man lived long upon the earth, many rules had to be enacted to govern the actions of man in regard to his association with his fellow man. When one's interest approach upon another, then their liberty steps and along the line of contest when one rights stop and those of another begin, man has sought to form a regulation, and hence certain things which have been granted to have been guarded by certain laws, which guard the rights of all, but the clear-cut line is difficult to follow when the right and wrong of the matter is violated.

The matter of granting a license for the doing of certain things, raised the question of it being right, for when a thing is right, there should be no question. Formerly the granting of a license to operate a saloon, by its own act, carried the impression of its wrongfulness, for had it been right and resulted in no injury to anyone, no license fee should have been needed. No license is required to do the right thing. We fear no one gets an auto license and hues strictly to the line, no matter how well their intentions are, and how they may intend to literally observe the rights of others.

To make the community Christian requires that we shall do the right thing with all we are, and in so doing, extend the invitation, to become one of the community boosters, and after having selected this community to make it the very best one out of the 59,000 towns in the United States. For we are spending our lives in the city of our choice, we are compelling our families to reside there, the wife whom we pledged our sacred honor to love and provide for and the children whom God has blessed us with, therefore it follows that we must make that community the very best possible to live in. Each morning will find us with our hearts to do for the benefit of our families, for ourselves, and for our neighbors, and that day is counted worse than lost when the shades of night shall find us with nothing done for the benefit of those with whom we are associated and live with.

There is a contest between the things which make us all better and the things which have a tendency to make us worse. Paul, in his entreaty of the things which make the community and the individual worse, has named fornication, uncleanness, lasciviousness, idleness, sorcery, enmities, strifes, jealousies, wraths, factions, parties, envyings, drunkenness and revellings, which he further says: "I forewarn you that they which practice such things shall not inherit the kingdom of God. On the other hand, the fruits of the spirit, and which have the effect of making man the better, are love, joy, peace, long-suffering, kindness, goodness, faithfulness, meekness and self-control, against which there is no law. If you live by the spirit, then walk by the spirit and do the things which make the world better. Go into the very things which the Christ taught when he said, "Search the scriptures, for in them you think you have eternal life and they are they which testify of me."

W. C. Sayers says regarding the contest between the good and had in his small verse:

Calvary

In the morning hushed and still,
I am climbing Calvary's hill;
Where the winds of heaven are fresh
I shall crucify the flesh
Which has been a subtle thief,
Stealing from me my belief.
On the hill top by the side
Of the thief who mocking died,
Self shall hang upon the tree
As a part of Calvary.
While the darkness fills the skies
Self must fall and soul arise.
