

Alvo Department

Genuine Glass Cloth at Banning's Lumber Yard, 35c per yard.

John Coleman has been busy putting a roof on the barn at the home of James Gamble, south of Alvo, for the past few days.

A. H. Weychik is spending the week in Plattsmouth, where he is serving as a member of the jury in the district court.

Wayne Kinney moved last week to the Oris Cook place, where he will make his home the coming summer and will work with Mr. Cook.

Frank Adams, who has been living in Alvo with the family, last week moved to the J. M. Ranney place, where he will work for the coming summer.

Robert Woods was shelling and delivering corn to the Rehmeier elevator on last Wednesday, getting the corn off while the roads and weather were good.

R. M. Coatman and the family were enjoying a visit on last Sunday at the home of W. W. Coatman at Elmwood, they driving over in their auto for the occasion.

Orville Robertson was shelling and delivering corn at the Rehmeier elevator on last Wednesday and was taking advantage of the good weather to get the corn off.

Harry Kemm, of Eagle, was a visitor in Alvo and at the home of Elmer Bennett on last Wednesday, as well as getting some work done at the smithy of Art Bird, of Alvo.

John Cook, of Beaver City, was a visitor with relatives here and a guest at the home of her parents, W. A. Cook, who has just returned from a stay of all winter on the Pacific coast.

Mrs. George Hardnock was a visitor in Ashland one day last week, where she was interviewing the dentist and having some of her teeth removed which had been giving her some trouble.

John B. Skinner was a visitor in Omaha on last Tuesday, taking a load of stock and on his return brought a load in his truck of the celebrated Tarkio molasses feed for S. C. Boyles who is feeding quite a number of cattle.

John Manners and the family of near Grand Island were visiting at the home of J. M. Manners, south of town, and were accompanied also by Grandmother Manners, who has been visiting at the home of her son in the west for the past few weeks.

Mrs. Iva Campbell, of Woodbine, Iowa, who has been spending the winter in Alvo, a guest at the home of her sister, Mrs. Charles Godbey, where they all enjoyed the visit very much, departed for her home in Iowa on Wednesday of last week.

Wm. Coatman and wife accompanied by their daughter, Mrs. M. L. Gellner, of Grand Island, who was here visiting at the home of her parents at Weeping Water, were over to Alvo on last Tuesday and were guests at the home of R. M. Coatman and family for the day.

Charles Jordan and wife were visiting in Iowa for a number of days extending over last Sunday, where they enjoyed a very pleasant visit at the home of Mrs. Jordan, they spending the time at Harlan, Iowa. While they were away the farm was looked after by W. H. Warner, who well knows how to look after the stock and home.

Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Dickerson were called to Fremont by the death of the grandmother of Mr. Dickerson, who passed away on last Friday, the funeral being held on Monday. Mr. Dickerson reports the cause of death was just what the farm was looked after by W. H. Warner, who well knows how to look after the stock and home.

Vote on Selling Light Plant
Officials of the Nebraska Power company were in Alvo looking over the lighting plant here and also taking a survey of the country between here and Eagle, with a view of extending a line to that town as well as attempting to purchase the Alvo and Eagle lighting systems. There is a provision for the sale of the plant which will be decided in the near future by the passage of an ordinance or its rejection, whereby the plant will be taken over or will not. The question arises whether it will be better to purchase the service or to own the plant, and this will be decided on the 23rd, when there will also be a caucus for the placing in nomination of the officers for the city for the coming year.

Woman's Reading Club Active
The Woman's Reading club held their fifth annual banquet in the basement of the M. E. church Wednesday, March 9th, with the husbands of the club members as guests. St. Patrick's day ideas were carried out in both the program and color scheme for the tables.

The guests were also entertained by a one-act play, "The Bungalow Alarm," the cast of which was as follows:
The two maiden aunts, Mary (Mrs. Frank Edwards) and Martha (Mrs. Oris Foreman). Their niece, Penelope (Mrs. Dremmer) and the maid, Bridget (Mrs. Snedgren).

The tables were beautifully decorated in green and white and the following menu was served by sons and daughters of the club members:
Escalloped Chicken
Olives
Pans in Patties Mashed Potatoes
Butter Rolls
Pineapple and Cheese Salad
Ice Cream Angel Cake
Coffee
Mints

MAKE PLANS FOR LEGION
After considerable discussion, which occupied most of the afternoon, it was decided by Nebraska department officers and committee members of the American Legion to hold the annual state convention in Lincoln on August 1, 2 and 3. About twenty-five state officers of the legion attended the morning session, luncheon and afternoon business session Thursday at the Cornhusker hotel.

It had been proposed at first to hold the convention in June but after a careful consideration of the dates, it was decided to hold the annual meeting in August. C. C. Frazier of Aurora, state commander, said that the reason for the selection of the later date was that the department year closes in that month.

The second annual radio night of the Nebraska department will be held Tuesday, March 15, over station KFKX at Hastings between 9 p. m. and 11 p. m. The program will consist of a musical and other entertainment. Short talks will be given by C. C. Frazier, of Aurora, commander of the Nebraska department; C. W. Konkin, of Lincoln, department adjutant, and other officials. The governor's greeting will be read. Miscellaneous matters of state office business and minor matters regarding the state organization were also considered briefly at the annual meeting.

Make Chick Feeders.
Any boy or girl or grown person who can use a hammer and saw and a jack knife can make little chick feeders and watering stands from discarded orange crates and other store boxes. All the boys and girls who enroll in poultry clubs are urged to do it to provide clean feed and water for their chicks. Any older person can get the suggestions and directions from Extension Circular 1441, Practical Poultry Equipment, and make all the dry mash feeders and watering stands needed for the little chicks this spring. This equipment will cost very little but be a very important factor in keeping down the losses of chicks from filthy feed and water. The use of dry mash for little chicks as well as for laying hens has become an established practice with good poultrymen. The feeders for this mash should be so protected that the chicks cannot run thru the mash, roost upon the sides of the feeder, or scratch litter into the feeder. Revolving reels over the feed to keep the chicks out seem to be the most satisfactory, and are the devices recommended to the club boys and girls and older poultrymen.

Watch Meat Brine
With every meat curing season comes the old caution to watch the brine in which meat is being home-cured. Sometimes without warning it becomes sour, slimy, orropy due to bacterial action. At the appearance of this trouble, the meat should be removed from the brine and each piece thoroughly scrubbed. The brine should be boiled, skimmed, and cooled, or better still, a new brine should be made. The container should also be sterilized. Brine should be tested from time to time to see that it strong enough to float a fresh egg.

A good rule to follow in curing meat in brine is to leave it in the brine three or four days per pound of meat in the piece. The small pieces should be taken out when this period is over for them and not left in the brine until the larger pieces are cured. If the outside of large pieces seem over-cured by the time the brine has reached the center, the pieces may be soaked for about four hours in several changes of tepid water. They should be hung up to drain, then smoked.

Mrs. Charles Sack Answers the Summons

After Months of Suffering, Passes Away at M. E. Hospital in Omaha Saturday Evening

The many Cass and Sarpy county friends of Mrs. Charles Sack, of Sarpy county, were much saddened last Saturday evening when word was sent of the passing of this well loved woman at the M. E. hospital in Omaha, where she had been under treatment for a number of months. She suffered greatly and death came as a welcome release, following a recent operation for the amputation of her leg above the knee, the result of blood poison.

Mrs. Sack bore her sufferings with a most remarkable patience and fortitude and through her long illness she was sustained and comforted by her unflinching trust in God and her devotion to her faith. Not many hours before the end she prayed for her children and her husband and commended them to the care of her heavenly Father.

Mrs. Sack's maiden name was Sarah Sinnard. She was the second daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Sinnard, early pioneers of Sarpy county and also well known on this side of the river in those days. Of seven children, but three remain in the Sinnard family.

Mrs. Sack was born April 6, 1858 in Christian county, Illinois. She moved to Sarpy county with her parents in the year 1875. She was married to Charles W. Sack February 23, 1881. To this union ten children were born. The two youngest children died in infancy. Those who survive are Mrs. E. A. Pankonin and Leroy P. Sack, of Louisville; Mrs. George Kohler, of Meadow; Mrs. A. W. Armstrong, of Laurel, Montana; Mrs. J. Elra E. and Claude S., of Springfield, and Mrs. William Carter, of Gretna. Thirty-five grandchildren are left to mourn a loving grandmother.

Mrs. Sack also leaves two sisters and one brother. They are Mrs. Elmer Haddon, of Valley; Mrs. Fannie Cherry, of Porterfield, Wisconsin, and Lute Sinnard, of near Springfield.

Mrs. Sack was 68 years, 10 months and 29 days old at the time of her death. During the last few weeks at the hospital, her family were with her constantly, taking turns to visit her and Mr. Sack himself was never absent from her bedside and she found great pleasure and comfort in the presence of her loved ones. She had a great deal of company and enjoyed seeing her friends and never would admit that it wearied her to visit with them.

The funeral occurred at the Christian church in Louisville, the pastor Rev. W. E. Colings officiating. The pall bearers were old time neighbors and friends and were Peter Anderson, Frank Snodgrass, William Leifer, Byron Sage, Peter Nicholson and Perry Glover. The church was filled with relatives and friends and a number of beautiful floral offerings spoke of the love and esteem in which the departed was held.

A quartette of ladies composed of Mrs. William Myers, Mrs. W. S. McGrew, Mrs. Harold A. Koop and Miss Doris Noyes, with Mrs. Elmer Sundstrom accompanying them, sang several beautiful numbers and a nephew Glen Sack, of Gretna, sang "Face to Face" with great expression and feeling, accompanied by Mrs. Harold A. Koop.

Interment was in the Ball cemetery in Sarpy county in the family lot beside the children who died in infancy.—Louisville Courier.

using RED CROWN ETHYL GASOLINE

like adding a cylinder or two

STEADY, unfaltering power for hills, for pushing through snow, slush, mud and sand—without knocking, without shifting to second—that's what you get from this remarkable combination of old reliable Red Crown Gasoline and Ethyl Brand of Anti-Knock Compound.

Carbon won't make your engine knock, because the higher the compression, the more power you get. Red Crown Ethyl Gasoline actually makes carbon in the motor a source of added power—like adding a cylinder or two.

Big-mileage, quick-starting Red Crown Gasoline with Ethyl added is sold at all Red Crown Service Stations. Costs more and worth it.

To avoid dilution, drain your tank before you fill it with Red Crown Ethyl Gasoline for the first time, and use Red Crown Ethyl exclusively thereafter.
