In Memoriam!

In the mad rush of daily affairs we pause today and invite all to join us in honoring the memory of our immortal heroes of whom we may proudly say with the poet—

"Ay, call it holy ground,
The soil where first they trod;
They have left unstained what there they found—
Freedom to worship God."

A Trial Will Tell!

No one who has ever ridden in the Essex Super-Six can ever forget the thrilling difference from all other transportation.

Smooth indifference to road conditions—silk smoothness in all performance—riding is actually like flying. It will give you fifty miles an hour all day long with ease to car and comfort to passengers, with far greater speed if you want it.

In every detail the Essex Super-Six engineered to outstanding savings in fuel and oil, with freedom from early depreciation and lowest maintenance cost. This Essex Super-Six obtained instant recognition when it was first exhibited. Its popularity has developed into the greatest sales success in the long line of Essex achievements.

These are but a few of the reasons why we urge that you see, inspect and ride in an Essex before deciding on any car. There are six beautiful models to choose from.

as receiver, has accepted a position with the Michel Oil company of Minneapolis and is now working for that institution, was a visitor in Murray for a short time on last Saturday.

Bon Neill, who has been with the B. H. Nelson hardware company and who resigned with the intention of going south to engage in the trucking of oil, has accepted a position with the Hudson-Essex Sales company of Murray and is hustling for the sale of the best line of cars in the country.

Otto Schaefer and wife are rejoicing over the arrival of a very fine house which arrived at their home on Friday of last week. The young man received a royal reception and joy reigns in the household on account of the arrival. All are doing nicely and Otto is wearing a smile that will not wear off.

Dora Crosser who has been in a hospital in Omaha for some time while he underwent an operation for the restoration of his health, and where he has been receiving treatment since. He is much improved and is stopping for a season in Murray until he grows stronger before returning to his home at Woodriver.

Carl E. Root, grandson of Uncle B. A. Root of Murray, arrived here last week from his home at Los Angeles and visited with his grandfather for a number of days and last week departed for Lincoln where he will visit for some time before he returns to the west. Carl made the trip overland in his auto from the coast to Murray.

W. L. Stine of Union, with his family had started to Omaha for the day with the auto and had the misfortune to have some trouble with the auto and had to stop at the bustling village of Murray for a few hours while the car was being repaired. This was not such a bad thing either as they had a visit in one of the excellent towns of eastern Nebraska.

James E. Gruber who has been assisting in the graveling of the highway near Palmyra with the Modern Construction company, which is owned by the McMillan Brothers, with the conclusion of the work there returned to Murray until the company should go to their next place at Central City where they have a large contract for graveling one of the Nebraska highways.

John Stewart Roush of Nehawka was a visitor in Murray on Friday of last week, he coming over to see one of the best make of cars, a Hudson sedan, and is well pleased with the new acquisition.

Home From East.

Dr. G. L. Taylor who has been in the east for some time where he has accepted a position with a large chemical company, returned to Murray on last Sunday evening, and will remain for some time to prepare to move to Ohio to make his home. The people of Murray and vicinity are very glad to see the family back in their neighborhood, but are wishing them success, health and much happiness in their new home in the east.

Has a New Universal.

Dr. G. H. Gilmore who has used a number of cars, and has had much experience with the mad and storm of winter has purchased himself a new car, and this time he has kept to the old established practice and bought one of the same kind this time, a Universal sedan.

Old Ironsides Framed.

Thomas Nelson who is patriotic if he is anything, has a large picture of "Old Ironsides," the frigate constitution framed at the lumberyard office which makes a very fine picture and shows the difference from the new craft of its time and that of today. The school children of America had old Iron Sides re-vitalized and made over again and the boat will last like the love of liberty in the American citizen throughout the ages.

Will Make Home in Kansas.

Operator John J. Gleason who has been an operator in Murray for more than a year was transferred to Hiar, Kansas, a short time since and the family will move to that place in a short time.

Golden Text: We must obey God, rather than man.—Acts 3:29.

The Persistent Apostles.

After the beginning of the church, and the wonderful things which the apostles did, the people were much interested in the cause of the Master, and many associated themselves with the organization believing that Jesus was indeed the very Christ, the Son of God. There went aboard the good news that the apostles were healing all manner of diseases and were preaching with wonderful force and telling of the way of life and how Christ had come to earth, lived as we lived, and gave his life for the sins of the world, how he had been raised from the dead and after forty days had returned to His home in heaven with the Father.

This had caused the people to surge around the apostles and especially Peter and his co-worker, John, for they were doing many wonderful acts. The Sanhedrian was astonished and then amazed at the wonderful works which the apostles were doing and preaching with such power and authority. To circumvent this popularity of the cause of Christ and to prevent the growth of the church, and thus stop their influence which was robbing the Sanhedrian of their power and authority, was agitating the members of the Sanhedrian and officers and arrested the apostles placing them in prison, and had in mind punishing them in the morning, and would have put them to death had they not been afraid of the people as the church had grown so rapidly that the members were very numerous.

Angel Delivers Them.

During the night an angel appeared to the apostles in prison and quietly led them out and instructed them to return to the temple as Solomon's porch had been set aside some time before for their use and to preach the gospel of the Christ. They did this, going to the temple, and as soon as there were any people to hear they began to tell the story of Christ and of His crucifixion and being raised from the dead.

In the morning when the Sanhedrian gathered to take steps about what to do about the growing popularity of the apostles and their success as it was interfering with the authority of the Sanhedrian, they sent officers to the prison to bring the apostles to the meeting of the Sanhedrian, where they were to be tried. When the officers arrived they found the prison securely closed and the guards standing watching, but in the prison they found no one, and returning to the place where the Sanhedrian was in session they reported the situation. They were surprised and when the officers arrived they found the apostles were preaching in the temple. The authorities sent for and brought the apostles before the august body and charged them with disobeying the commands of the Sanhedrian. Then Peter standing in the midst of them said, when the matter of obeying God and obeying the commands of man, which conflicts with the word of God we are going to obey the commands of God, rather than of man.

In the preaching of the apostles they had maintained with a positiveness that the Jews who were the rulers had crucified the Lord of heaven and earth and that he had risen again from the dead, and that these who had done this and had given their support and moral influence in any way against the cause of the Master were His murderers; this cut like a knife, for the Jews were guilty. In the meeting the Jews said to the apostles, "We strictly charged you not to teach in His name, and behold you have filled Jerusalem with your teaching." For the growth of the early church testified to the truth of the matter of their work and also told of the belief of the people. Why have you done this and by your actions you intend to bring this man's blood on us.

The story is told that when innocent blood is shed that the earth does not open her mouth to receive it, but it stays there a testimony against the one who slew the innocent one. The apostles had been whipped even when they had Jerusalem with your teaching. For the growth of the early church testified to the truth of the matter of their work and also told of the belief of the people. Why have you done this and by your actions you intend to bring this man's blood on us.

Way of Transgressor Hard.

When the Prince of Light and Life, the very Son of God was betrayed and was crucified there were many who had a hand in the crucifixion and the betrayal, and all except as they had sown, Christ Himself said unto Peter, put up your sword for He that taketh the sword shall die by the sword, and it was true with Peter who was crucified with his head down. Note the end of some of the rulers of Judea at that time.

Judas Iscariot died of his own hand the darkest death probably of anyone in the history of the world. Caiaphas the high priest had his priestly robes torn from him and became an outcast and became a suppliant; Herod Antipas, the ruler, paid the penalty for his misdeeds for his breaking up the home of his brother, when he took his brother's wife and when he beheaded John the Baptist. Herod became a beggar and died a beggar's death.

Pilate, who said he would wash his hands of the innocent Christ, still allowed the soldiers to kill Him, was deposed of his office, and was banished and finally committed suicide. The princely house of Annas, the other high priest had his house demolished by an infuriated mob, and his son driven through the streets by the infuriated mob to the place of his execution where he was murdered. Peter said we are witnesses of these things, and know whereof we are speaking. The Holy Spirit had testified to the divinity of Christ by giving

Harry Nelson and the family were visiting in Omaha and also looking after some business matters as well. R. H. Ingwerson and family and B. H. Nelson were visiting with friends in Omaha on Wednesday of this week.

Pleasantly Entertained.

A very pleasant gathering was had at the home of Peter Johnson on last Sunday at which a large number for friends and relatives of the family were present and a most enjoyable time was had. B. H. Nelson and family from Murray were present and report a very pleasant and enjoyable time.

There were there for the occasion, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Benson of Lincoln, Joseph Johnson and family of Weeping Water, Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Johnson, and C. W. Johnson and family, Clarence Peterson of Ashland, Miss Alberta Peterson of Omaha. The meeting was given in honor of Albert Benson who soon goes to New York to continue his studies in art.

Have Enjoyable Trip.

Miss Mable Howard, the teacher of Picasant Hill school took the members of the seventh and eighth grades for a visit to Lincoln where they were shown the big city with its new capitol building, and many other most interesting features of the town named after the civil war president.

GIVES FRIENDS SURPRISE

A very delightful social gathering was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Lancaster, east of Murray, when a number of the friends gathered to tender Mrs. J. W. Hendricks a very delightful birthday surprise, and which will be most pleasantly remembered by those who were fortunate enough to be in attendance. The time was spent in dancing at which a great deal of pleasure was derived and at the close of the happy surprise party and delicious refreshments were served that completed the event. Those who enjoyed the evening were: Messrs. and Mesdames Albert Wheeler, Perry Nickles and son, Robert, Will Wehrlein, Harry Thiecher, Dan Hochar, Oscar Campbell, Wes Hill, A. T. Who Killed Custer May be Decided at Norfolk Powwow

Sioux Chief's Suicide Story to Be Investigated by Six Famous Pioneers of Plains.

Norfolk, May 25.—Who killed Gen. George Custer during the battle of "Little Big Horn?" In a recent story of a young Indian chief insinuates that the hero of that historic battle committed suicide.

Pioneers of the west are starting to take up the banner of Custer and one of the greatest arguments on this particular historic event is impending. Prominent men of the west after reading the magazine story expressed indignation and cited statements of Indians who were in the battle that it was Chief Rain-in-the-Face who killed Custer.

Six famous western pioneers have agreed to argue out Custer's last stand in a powwow to be held here on June 16. They will hold a reunion for the purpose of welcoming to the west the national editors when they come to Nebraska to hold their convention. These pioneers are Richard W. Clark (Deadwood Dick); Maj. Gordon W. Little (Pawnee Bill); Dr. Richard Tanner (Diamond Dick); Doc Carver; Idaho Hill Pearson and Capt. Late North.

Those who are intimately acquainted with most of these famous men say that they are in accord that General Custer died a hero. It will, perhaps, be shown in this powwow that Custer fought a great battle, that he was the last to fall and that he fell with a bullet in his heart.

These men, perhaps, can tell more about the battle of the Little Big Horn than any other white men. Perhaps those who could tell the story, and tell it truthfully, if they would, will be some of the surviving warriors of the battle of the Little Big Horn who today are government wards.

In the powwow of the six famous western characters at Norfolk the question of the advisability of asking the United States to start an investigation among these wards and settle the argument about Custer's death will be taken up.
