Weddings in County Seem Order of Day

Two Well Known Western Cass County Couples Are Wedded at Different Points.

From Thursday's Daily—

The wedding season seems to be in full blast in the western portion of Cass county and yesterday the marriage of two well known couples occurred at Lincoln and Tecumseh and which will be learned of with much pleasure by the many friends.

Miss Edith Jennen, who has been one of the efficient teachers in the public schools at Murdock, and Henry Amgwert, manager of the Murdock Mercantile Co., were married on Wednesday afternoon at Lincoln at the Calvary Evangelical church of which the father of the bride, Rev. Jenner is the pastor. The marriage service was assisted by Rev. Lenz. The young people will spend a few days in Lincoln with the relatives of the bride before returning to Murdock where they will make their future home. The young people are well known in and near Murdock and have a large number of friends in that section of Cass county.

Two of the popular young people of Alvo have also joined their lives in the bonds of wedlock, Miss Goldie Bird and Mr. Roy Leaver of that place having motored to Tecumseh on Wednesday and were there united in the bonds of wedlock. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. I. Bird, well known Alvo residents and the groom is a very successful young farmer of that locality. Mr. and Mrs. Leaver will reside on the farm in the vicinity of Alvo in the future.

Concerts Very Pleasant Part of Community Life

Musical Entertainments Add Very Much to the Wednesday Evening Activities.

From the number of cars on the street last night around the court house, it would appear as though all of Cass county was out to hear the splendid Plattsmouth band. Don't know of a prettier sight than the band with their uniforms, a nice beautiful court house grounds, and best of all Director Holly, as well as his members of the band, gave Plattsmouth a treat of real music, and genuine talent. A city without a band is indeed an unfortunate thing—more luck to you!

One thing we would like to see at every band concert is a big blackboard with the words of Bruce Blackbards' song Nebraska, and at the close, have this played and the entire crowd join in the singing. This a Nebraska song, written by a Plattsmouth boy, is spreading over the state like wild-fire. It's up to us home-folk now to have it made a weekly closing over air song at our band concerts. Every one in Plattsmouth ought to know this song—for it is peppy and a booster from start to finish. Had fully expected it last night!

In a communication from the United States Chamber of Commerce on Community Advertising, we observe Jacksonville started the program with an organization called "Believers in Jacksonville," of one hundred members, each subscribing $10 per month to advertise and sell Jacksonville to Jacksonville. This was increased to a thousand members in a drive, and then used to advertise Jacksonville to the world. There are many ways of doing these things but nothing can be done unless the citizenship responds to the call of such boosting programs. However, such publicity campaigns are building Florida.

This is the last quarter of the year we are hoping there will be a unanimous and concerted effort on the part of all members of this organization, to get their subscriptions up to date. There is no need to worry if you subscribers will do your bit, and this can be carried to a successful close. It doesn't matter whether you pay $1.00 or $1.000 a year for a permanent secretary and an office of a Chamber of Commerce, unless each member of the organization can feel the enthusiasm of the secretary and the workers in the organization, and keep it full of pep and optimism. As we stated when we first arrived in Plattsmouth—a Chamber of Commerce will get out of Plattsmouth just what its members put into it: loyalty, support, boosting and cooperation.

Mr. A. H. Walts, of the Ft. Morgan Chamber of Commerce called yesterday. You will always find boosters from other communities, prospective investors gravitate to the Chamber of Commerce offices wherever they are. A Chamber of Commerce should represent the progressive, cooperative activity of a community.

A secretary is no "useless" man to wave his hand or rub a mystic lamp and have factories float into his community, but an open Chamber of Commerce, does secure these things by constant work, constant seeking and constant application, and places seeking locations, prospective cities which have the boosting spirit to support a Chamber of Commerce as that means a split of cooperation and friendliness otherwise unobtainable.

If this were not a fact, the following would not be the case: Kansas City subscribed $750,000 for publicity thru its chamber; in Detroit $1,000,000 was subscribed to support the publicity campaign; Salt Lake City $105,000; Atlanta, $250,000; Fremont, Nebraska, $25,000; Chattanooga, $250,000; San Francisco, $400,000. Of course these amounts are beyond our means, but that doesn't mean we could not do the same thing on a smaller scale, and just as efficiently. Simon Springs, Ark., population 2,700, $15,000; Rogers Arkansas, population 3,500 $12,000.

If there has been dissatisfaction with the last few months work of the Chamber of Commerce, and especially this office, we ask you to inquire, whether you have personally called and gone over matters with this office? If there has been criticism, have you come and laid it before the secretary? This is what we have wanted—frank, open, clean-cut cooperation. Have you given it to us?

We feel that Plattsmouth has a great future; that it can be facilitated by a strong civic organization. In fact it is difficult to express in words the affection we feel for our city and this community; the confidence in its future, and no observing citizen can drive around our city, and not appreciate that it is in better shape than it was a year ago; more buildings occupied; more modern window and store and bank fronts; a better atmosphere of community interest.

And we have before us prospects for a creamery; the new Sanatorium progressing; a physician and surgeon from Omaha interested in a hospital; the Morrow Hatchery has had a successful season; one merchant advised us yesterday this had been the largest spring business he had ever experienced; the Omaha road graded; the Louville road put up in good shape; definite plans and work going on to secure our bridge; in fact

Like the old hymn, it is well to "Count Your Blessings One by One."

But impatience has killed many a good cause. It means patience, work and confidence to put these things over; it means time also, and if you have been discouraged, have you been waiting and waiting? Rome was not built in a day, and that a step back now, would be more damaging than had no forward step ever been taken.

It had been our hope to see a swimming pool built here, but conditions hardly justified this one present—there have been other important things which must come first.

Yours for cooperation, confidence and faith and boosting—
W. G. DAVIS, Secretary.

FUNERAL OF PETER MADSEN
From Wednesday's Daily—

The funeral of the late Peter Madsen was held on Monday afternoon from the St. Paul's German Evangelical church where the departed had for a number of years been a very devout member.

There were a large number of the old time friends and neighbors in attendance at the service and to share with the members of the family the sorrow that the death had brought.

The Rev. O. G. Wichmann, pastor of the church gave a short sermon and tribute to the departed, speaking in both German and English and bringing to the members of the family a deep comfort in the bereavement that they have suffered.

The choir of the church gave several of the well loved hymns that had been favorites of the departed in his lifetime.

At the conclusion of the service the body was borne to Oak Hill cemetery where it was laid to its last long rest.
