Farewell to City is Given by Secretary Davis

Last Article from the Pen of Secretary of the Chamber of Commerce Given to the Public

There was a remark once made that it must take a great deal of time to write these articles. When ten minutes to the article is the average time, it is not much.

This little column has been known under a good many names. Some have asked where my daily "Moon" was? Others, the "Hot Air" column; one, the "funny page." Some have considered it wasted time—others ask for it when it fails to appear—some commendation, some criticism, some appreciation, some pepper sauce! So as you know, it is impossible to please everyone. We have put our heart-felt hopes, and aspirations for Plattsmouth and vicinity in this little column; it has been universally read here and in the neighboring towns. It has advertised Plattsmouth, and its chamber of commerce, more widely than anything else. It has been written in a spirit of affection and good will, and hope for us all.

If it has offended, it has been unintentional and regretted. If it has helped along a good cause, that is all that is necessary. So, this last column today is merely to say farewell, to Plattsmouth, our neighboring cities, and adjoining country. The writer carries away with him great hopes for Plattsmouth; a deep appreciation of the good will and friendship extended him by our neighbor cities, and only the keenest wishes for the future growth, prosperity and success of this city and the community, and our sister cities.

Other cities and communities are pulling themselves out of the mire thru their chambers of commerce; other places demonstrate the importance and necessity of a live chamber of commerce. So can this community. If it wishes to do so hard enough to make the little sacrifice, that such civic work always entails. There is nothing that attracts more favorable attention to a city, than to know and feel in that city a great local spirit of pride and loyalty; a deep sense of unselfish friendly co-operation between the various mercantile interests therein; a pull-together support of home merchants and home interest; a burial of all petty grievances in one great effort to promote the development of the city and community. An effective stamping out of indifference—for indifference is the greatest enemy any city or community may have—especially indifference to the efforts to put that city or community "over the top."

Our tourists from other sections of the country are our greatest advertisers, whether it be our friendly spirit, our good roads, our good stores, or for the courtesies extended them by your local chamber of commerce office. They see our resources, our possibilities often where we from indifference fail to appreciate and great opportunities that lie here on all sides of us, waiting to be grasped.

I shall always remember Plattsmouth with a deep feeling of affection for the many splendid and loyal friends I have found here, and especially for those who have supported this organization, unselfishly, and have been willing to shoulder their obligations and the work in the organization, looking ahead, not back, optimistic, courageous, loyal—the high-type citizenship that differentiates a live community from a dead one.

Plattsmouth has made a decided advance for the better the past few months. The success of this organization in securing an open office has been a big step forward; its realization thru its efforts of passage of necessary bridge bills, in Lincoln and Washington. There has been some new businesses come here, and none has been lost; some old stores are again occupied; new window fronts put in, and a steady advance all along the line. We expect greater things right along—and feel 1927-28 will be a big turning point for the better for us all.

I hope I may hear from my friends here, as I shall rejoice in the success of this city and community. I wish for my successor a big measure of splendid support and co-operation, and his success. My temporary address, will be Medina, Ohio, care of my brother F. C. Davis, where after a short rest and vacation shall again take up this work.

So farewell, and best wishes, and especially do we speak our appreciation of the great support of the Plattsmouth Journal in the space they have so generously contributed to the boosting of the chamber of commerce, and the entire community.

W. G. DAVIS.

DOING CONSTRUCTION WORK

From Monday's Daily—
The Modern Construction Co., of this city, engaged in building the new 8x8 concrete culvert that will replace the former small bridge on 15th street near Oak street and which will be a decided improvement in that part of the city.

This company also has the contract for the new vault in the Farmers State bank building and which they are starting at once.

Facilities for Banquets in New Building Superb

Legion Auxiliary Buying Complete Service for 200—Folding Type Tables Contemplated.

From Monday's Daily—
One of the greatest advantages of the new community building will be its availability for banquets, large and small. The American Legion Auxiliary committee is placing an order for complete service for two hundred persons, including a high grade of china, into which will be burned the Auxiliary emblem in colors, silverware and glassware. The kitchen will also be equipped with a modern gas stove of size sufficient to take care of meal preparations for a like number. Folding leg tables that can be stored in small space, will be built for use in the assembly room when needed for banquets and folded up and placed out of the way when the room is used for dancing and other entertainment.

A large serving counter with work table and sliding door cabinet space beneath will enable the serving of large numbers in a minimum of time and with the least possible effort. Another feature of the kitchen is that it will be available to organizations of the city who desire to prepare and serve their own meal, at a nominal charge, with of course a replacement charge on any china, glassware, silverware and cooking utensils that may be broken or destroyed. The revenue derived from rent of the assembly rooms or the entire building, including kitchen, will go to the fund being accumulated for eventual completion of the structure.

The small club suppers as well as larger banquets can be handled there in splendid manner and with window and roof ventilation provided, it will be a most pleasing place for the Ad. Rotary club, who wish to congregate, with service of their meal in the hands of whoever they may select.

With the roof framing well completed, it is interesting to note that there is a marked drop in temperature inside the structure from that outdoors these hot days, showing that the sub-structure rooms all completed for use until the future second story, stage and balcony can be added, will not be unduly hot, even in the most torrid weather.

The building committee has secured Roy Taylor to install the main sewer leading from the building to the sanitary sewer at the corner of Sixth and Vine streets. This will be a six-inch private line, calculated to take care of future as well as present needs of the building, including the installation of shower baths and additional toilet facilities when the building goes on up. The plumbing sub-contract is in the hands of John Bauer, who will get busy with this part of the work right away.

Good progress is being made in all departments of the work and the new building will be ready for occupancy by the 1st of September.

Mrs. W. H. Rainey and daughter, Miss Winifred, departed this afternoon for New York City, where they will spend some time visiting there at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Merle Rainey and enroute will stop at Buffalo and other points along the way to enjoy the sights.

Omaha Youth Drowns in Louisville Sand Pit

Harold Ditter, Aged 17, is Victim of Waters of Lyman-Richey Sand Pits Late Yesterday.

From Monday's Daily—
Another victim was claimed by the chilling waters of the sand pits in the vicinity of Louisville Sunday afternoon when Harold Ditter, aged 17, of Omaha, was drowned in the Lyman-Richey sand pits one-half mile west of Louisville.

The young man had been subject to fainting spells it was stated by members of the family and it is thought that he suffered one of these in the chilly waters of the pit, as he sank out of sight without a struggle and was not missed for some little time by his comrades from Omaha, who, as soon as they were unable to locate him, sounded the alarm, and efforts were started to recover the body, being continued by the Louisville people through the night until 9 a. m. today, when the body was brought from the waters of the pit.

The search for the body was made with hay rakes, which were pulled back and forth across the pit by a force of fifty men for hours before the body was finally brought to the surface and placed in the hands of the heart broken parents, who had arrived from Omaha and were present when the body was brought to the surface.

The party arrived in Louisville at about 3 o'clock in the afternoon, and obtaining a boat had been enjoying themselves for some time when the tragedy occurred and the boy had suddenly been missing in the water some time before his absence was noted by the boy and girl friends.

There were few bathers in the pits at the time and although it is stated the water was only 15 feet deep, the efforts of the other bathers to locate the body were unavailing and it was not until the hay rakes were used that the body was found.

The deceased was a son of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Ditter, of 1126 South 21st street, Omaha, and was a sophomore in the Central High school.

Was Learning to Swim
According to members of the Ditter family there were four other boys and three girls in the party. They were: David Hamilton, 1009 South 28th street; Arvid Johnson, 1792 South 31st street; Dick Stahl, 1119 South 31st street; Louis Reinarter, 1111 South 31st street; Mildred Maxwell, 1029 Park avenue; Virginia Newcomb and another girl living in the North side. All are between 16 and 18 years of age. They were traveling in a car driven by Reinarter.

The boy was just learning to swim and on his last attempt had boasted to his parents that he had been able to keep above water for 10 feet, a sister said. He was a great favorite in his neighborhood, according to this morning's Omaha papers, and his death has brought grief to many residents near his home.

SOCIAL CIRCLE CLUB

The Social Circle club of Lewiston held one of the most delightful of their meetings on Sunday when the members with their families loaded in autos in the early morning and motored to Arbor Lodge at Nebraska City to spend the day in the pleasantness of the great outdoors.

The party enjoyed the fine drive over the gravelled roads to the state park at Nebraska City where they had decided to spend the day. They enjoyed to the utmost the trip through the historic mansion that J. Sterling Martin built and which is one of the chief attractions from a historic standpoint in this part of Nebraska.

There were fifty-four in the party and at the noon hour the well filled baskets of the good things to eat were unpacked and a picnic dinner fit for a king spread beneath the cool shade of the trees and here the time was spent in visiting and having a general good time for a period of several hours.

MANY VISIT BEACH

From Monday's Daily—
The Murray bathing beach was an attraction for a great many of the residents of this section of the county Sunday, and both in the afternoon and evening the park surrounding the beach was filled with cars as the hundreds of bathers sought relief from the heat of the summer day and early evening in the cool waters of the swimming pool. The pool has been greatly improved in the past season and affords a place for a real pleasant outing and the fullest enjoyment of bathing in the water that is an even temperature and assures comfort while safety devices are arranged for those who may not be the most expert and the graduated depth of the pool permits everyone to enjoy themselves with safety. The opening of the bathing beach has been an added attraction to the summer season in this section and with the weekly band concerts given here keeps something doing all the time in this part of the county.

INJURED IN FALL

From Monday's Daily—
Carl Franklin, farmer near Plattsmouth, Nebraska, was badly bruised about the body when he fell down a flight of stairs at 4931 South Twenty-sixth street early Sunday morning during a scuffle with several acquaintances. He was attended by Police Surgeon J. J. O'Hearn.—World-Herald.

OBITUARY
Nancy Jane Hoback was born at Marysville, Mo., August 17, 1842, and died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. B. M. Cline, June 23, 1927. When a small child she came with her parents to Nebraska, locating near Nebraska City, where they lived a short time and in 1856 they took a homestead in Cass county, two and a half miles southwest of Union. James Dysart had a homestead north of her father's, and to him she was married on September 13th, 1860. To this union were born eleven children, three of whom died in infancy. The eight living are Mrs. Elizabeth Wolfe, Aroca, Nebraska; Mrs. Ellen Krueger, Spokane, Washington; Mrs. Louisa Day, Wellington, Kansas; Mrs. Ida Cline, Plattsmouth; James A. Dysart, Bolivar, La.; Dr. Thomas P. Dysart, Oakland, Calif.; Jesse R. Dysart, Union, and Charles H. Dysart, Murray.

Mrs. Dysart was a Christian from childhood and a member of the Baptist church of Union. She was of a kind disposition and no one in sorrow ever went to her without coming away benefited. She knew all of the pioneer struggles and could tell many interesting stories of the Indians. It was in James Dysart's bachelor home that the first Sunday school of that locality was held.

Her husband passed away at their old homestead on February 12, 1908. She continued to live there until 1914, when she went with her eldest son to Bolivar, La., where she resided until August 1, 1926, when she returned to spend her last days with her daughter, Mrs. B. M. Cline.

HOLD BEAUTY CONTEST
Miss Helen Heintzelman of Nebraska City, tall and dark-complexioned, was adjudged the winner of the bathing beauty contest held at Brown's Park Sunday afternoon over eight other girls from Plattsmouth, Hamburg, and Nebraska City. Miss Heintzelman was awarded a cash prize of $10 and a new bathing suit.

Miss Claudine Brown of Hamburg won the second prize and Miss Thelma Kroehler of Plattsmouth was awarded the third prize.

The contest, sponsored by the park management, was arranged by L. Wessell's Sons & Company, and F. W. Cleveland & Son of Nebraska City and the H. M. Soennichsen Co., of Plattsmouth. The contest was directed by Miss Agnes Britton of Omaha, and the contests were the Misses Helen Heintzelman and Mable Sharp, who modeled for Wessell's; Magalena Ziels, Margaret Huffer, Nettie Mikkelson of Nebraska City; Claudine Brown and Nettie Wing of Hamburg who modeled for Cleveland's and Thelma Kroehler and Helen Clement of Plattsmouth who modeled for the Plattsmouth concern.—Nebraska City News-Press.

MODERN WOODMEN WIN GAME
From Monday's Daily—
Yesterday afternoon the M. W. A. baseball team of this city were the winners on the local lot over the Cedar Creek Cubs by the score of 9 to 8 in a battle in which the Cubs had led in the earlier part of the game, but were caught by the Woodmen in one inning when they annexed five runs that gave them the lead in the scoring that they held until the close.

The Cedar Creek team suffered the loss of the services of Don Schneider, their shortstop, and which seemed to take the pep out of the visitors. Roland Thomas and "Chuck" Holzer were the slab artists for the Woodmen, Thomas striking out seven in five innings and Hulzer nine in the last four frames of the game.

For Cedar Creek Schmoek did the hurling and fanned seven of his foes. A three bagger was made by George Dasher and two baggers by Chuck Hulzer, Bill and Chet Smith and Don Schneider.
