

Alvo Department

Mrs. Albert Foreman has been staying at the home of Mr. and Mrs. P. M. Prouty while they have been away on a visit.

Walter Collins was hauling hay for R. M. Coatsman, for the feeding of the cow, but he cannot use it for feed the truck and auto.

Simon Rehmeier was a visitor in Lincoln on Saturday of last week where he was looking after some business for a short time.

Last Friday Miss Harriett Patterson who is here assisting in the work at the Alvo schools was a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Kirkpatrick.

Messrs. and Mesdames S. C. Boyles and C. D. Ganz were attending the bankers' convention at Omaha on last Wednesday evening, and enjoying the banquet.

D. S. Sheelsley, believing that with the best conditions, the farm flock will pay the best and therefore he has been having an excellent poultry house constructed on the farm for his flocks.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Kirkpatrick entertained last Sunday for dinner at their home in Alvo and had for their guests for the occasion Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Lewis of University Place, II enjoying an excellent time.

On Wednesday last, there were at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Kirkpatrick, as their guests Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gillham of Waverly, they being accompanied by the sisters of Mr. Gillham, Mesdames Walter Hamill and Frank Byowne.

William Nickel has been rebuilding the cribs at his home on the farm, and is endeavoring to have the receptacles for the grain such as will care for the corn and other grain in the best shape, for it is no use to raise crops unless they are cared for.

Irvan Heier, living northwest of Alvo, is having a chicken house built for the accommodation of his flocks, and by the way, they have some excellent chickens at that. The building will be erected forty feet and capable of housing a large flock of fowls.

D. W. Skinner of Hooper, where his mother, Mrs. Mary Skinner, of Alvo, has been visiting for some time, came down to Alvo on last Sunday, bringing the mother along and he and his wife, after visiting here for the day, returned to their home in the north.

With the ending of the year at the meeting of the Cass County Sunday School association, Mrs. A. B. Stromer, who was the secretary, and that office and gracefully asked that the office be passed to another, which was done. Mrs. Stromer has been very efficient in her work in this capacity.

This is what he said, George Hardnock, drayman, and a good man for the position at that, said that he had a goat which he milks and often takes three or four cans of cream to the depot in a day. Of course a good milk goat is a fine thing to have around, but what does that have to do with the dray business, either hauling cream or coal?

The Parents and Teachers association of Alvo, which met in an all-day session on Saturday of last week, occupied the time during the day with examinations of the students, with examinations conducted by Dr. M. R. Breuer, assisted by Miss Harriett Patterson and Miss Murphy of the state hygiene society. At the meeting in the evening discussions were had on the findings of the clinic during the day. A most worthwhile meeting was had.

Hamburgers? You Bet!

A party consisting of Messrs. and Mesdames John B. Skinner, Art Dinges and A. B. Stromer, went to the grove northwest of Alvo, in the pasture of L. D. Mullen, where they, being provided with the makings, prepared a hamburger supper which all enjoyed to the fullest extent. The ladies demonstrated that they knew just how to cook the hamburgers to bring out the very best of the quality possible. The boys who were good and hungry testify that that was as good a meal as they ever ate.

Legion Auxiliary Holds Meeting in New Auditorium

Large Attendance of the Members Present Yesterday Afternoon for Initial Meeting There.

The American Legion Auxiliary meeting yesterday—the first in the new community building—was largely attended and a good deal of business was transacted, followed by the usual social hour and the serving of refreshments. Hostesses of the afternoon were Mesdames Frank Robal, James Nebal, C. A. Rosencrans, LeRoy Stewart and Ed Rippe.

At the business session arrangements were discussed for the candy booth which the Auxiliary will conduct in connection with the annual Harvest Festival of Hugh J. Kearns post, American Legion. It was also decided to sponsor a market and dish towel shower in the near future, from which it is hoped to realize revenue for the purchase of linen and silverware, these being the only remaining items in banquet service not already provided by the Auxiliary.

As the November meeting will be the occasion of the annual election of officers, a nominating committee was appointed by the president, members of this committee being Mesdames Harold Holcomb, Tom Walling and Elmer Web.

The president also will appoint a committee soon to confer with the Legion concerning a proper observance of Armistice day. The program included the reading of an article by Mrs. Ed Fullerton on "Navy Day" and an article on "Educational Week" by Mrs. Harold Erickson. It was voted to proffer the aid of the Auxiliary to the public schools in arranging programs during the week of November 7th to 13th. The purpose of American Education week is to acquaint the public with the work of the schools and their needs. This movement is now world wide in scope, action having been taken at the recent meeting of the World Federation of Educational Associations in Toronto to observe Education Week in all nations.

At the close of the business and social session delicious refreshments were served and the ladies were loud in their praise of the new community building as a meeting place although during the week weather reason they will probably continue to meet in the various homes in order to save the expense of heating the building. The new gas stove was hooked up a day before the meeting and used for the first time yesterday. The November meeting will be an evening one and will be held at the home of Mrs. Elmer Webb, 410 North 8th street.

COLUMBIAN P-T MEETING

From Saturday's Daily—

Last evening the members of the parent-teachers' association of the Columbian school held a very pleasant and largely attended meeting at the school building in the south part of the city.

The meeting was of a social nature and many of the parents of the little folks were in attendance to enjoy the occasion and to meet the new teachers who are at the Columbian building this year.

A very pleasant program had been arranged and which served to make the evening one of the rarest enjoyment to all of the members of the party. Miss Betty West, one of the talented teachers of the school gave a very delightful piano solo while Donald Cotner, one of the musically inclined pupils of the schools gave two most appreciated saxophone solos that added to the interest of the evening. Miss West served as the accompanist.

Mrs. W. A. Robertson gave a short talk on the work of the P. T. A. in the city where the three chapters of the organization have been very active for the past year. The speaker detailed the work of the P. T. A. and the opportunities for further advancement in the work.

At the conclusion of the evening refreshments of sandwiches, pickles, cake and coffee were served that completed the evening program.

Mo. Pac. Has New Head for Industrial Work

J. G. Carlisle, Former General Freight Agent, Will Have Charge of Industrial Development.

St. Louis, Oct. 19.—J. G. Carlisle, general freight agent of the Missouri Pacific lines, will be promoted, November 1 to the position of director of industrial development, according to announcement made here by C. E. Perkins, vice president in charge of traffic.

Coming to the Missouri Pacific in 1924, Mr. Carlisle has had charge of development of natural resources in the territory along the Missouri Pacific lines. In his new work, he will continue these activities in a larger scope. He will, after November 1, have jurisdiction over the industrial department, which deals with securing locations for new industries along the railroad.

Mr. Carlisle is a southerner, having ing begun his railroad career as a young man on the Central of Georgia railroad, and remaining with that railroad until 1922, after which he was out of railroad work until he began with the Missouri Pacific.

Already thoroughly versed in the resources of the South, thru which a large part of the Missouri Pacific line, Mr. Carlisle, in the last three years, has become an authority on the natural developed and undeveloped wealth of the Central West, the West and the Southwest. To him come representatives of industries seeking new locations for factories, mines, quarries and other industrial plants.

His also has been the unique duty of locating unknown or undeveloped natural resources and making their existence known to the industrial world. That he has been successful is shown by reports in the archives of the railroad revealing the vast number of new industries located on Missouri Pacific rails in the last few years.

Broadening the scope of Mr. Carlisle's activities assures greater industrial development and resultant prosperity for the territory served by the Missouri Pacific lines.

HOT WEATHER PREVAILS

Kansas City, Oct. 20.—Summer appeared in a mid-season role in the west today, shattering October heat records of years standing in some cities on the heels of a frost that two days ago made top-coats comfortable. Altogether apparently no general heat wave was felt in Oklahoma, Missouri, Kansas, North Dakota, The Rocky mountain region enjoyed moderate weather, while in some California cities the thermometer graduated into the 90's. In San Diego the temperature reached 94, the hottest hot spot, Oct. 20, for fifty years with one exception.

At Oklahoma City the temperature was 90, breaking a record for the day that stood for thirty-three years. It was 96 above at Hobart, Okl., 91 at Salina, Kas., 88 at Hamark, N. D., and 81 at Kansas City.

While the temperatures in the Rockies were around the 70's San Pedro, California, reported an unofficial temperature of 100; Los Angeles 96; Pasadena, 95, and Anaheim 90.

CONCRETE AND TROWEL

New York, Oct. 19.—Concrete serves the motorist in other ways than roadways. A concrete oil tanker, the only steamship of its kind in the world, has transported over 9,000,000 barrels of oil for a subsidiary of the Tide Water Associated company in the last four years and is still going strong. It was bought for a ridiculously low price.

Oil tankers are used wherever possible because water transportation is the cheapest way to carry freight. The Tide Water Associated fleet can carry more than 4,000,000 barrels of its California oil annually to its refinery in New Jersey, which is the center of a great consuming territory.

BUMPER CROP OF CORN

Omaha Journal-Stockman: "We are just starting to harvest a bumper crop of good corn," reported H. A. Berger of Bradshaw, who was down this week looking for feeding lambs and stopped in the Journal-Stockman office to renew his subscription.

"How big the yield will prove it still indefinite, but we know that it also is good. Our corn is dried out pretty well, and what we husked yesterday was in good shape to go into the crib."

"Very little stock has gone on feed as yet, partly because prices look so high. No market has been established on new corn yet, of course, but some of the old corn is selling there now at 70 cents a bushel or a little less. If anything, we seem to have a smaller supply of hogs than a year ago. There hasn't been any unusual amount of sickness among the pigs but farmers simply didn't raise quite so many last spring."

Farm Products Soar in Value

Nebraska Corn and Wheat Production Almost Double That of Last Year Says Professor

With the Nebraska wheat and corn crop almost twice as large as last year and with prices which are close to last year's levels, Nebraska farmers will share liberally in the increased value of farm products, Prof. Harold Hedges of the agricultural college states.

Some estimates place the probable value of farm products this year at a billion and a half dollars above the value of 1926 products. Nebraska's wheat crop was 95 per cent larger than in 1926 and wheat prices are only a little below 1926 prices. The latest estimate of the Nebraska crop suggests an out-turn of 269 million bushels compared to only 125 million last fall. Corn bids fair to sell at prices from 10 to 25 per cent above the low level of last year.

Plentiful feed supplies and a general favorable outlook for livestock prices lead to further encouragement to the farmer, the report says.

Wheat prices do not seem likely to go up much in the next thirty days. "Stocks on the ocean are a third larger than a year ago, the United States visible supply is above last year's and the Canadian supply is rapidly increasing. The uncertain factors are the weather which may delay movement and lower quality in Canada, and the weather conditions affecting the crop in the southern hemisphere."

Corn prices may drop a little as prices adjust themselves to the new crop basis but prices should rule strong and the rapidly decreasing visible supply of old corn. Quality will probably be below normal.

Only seasonal declines in the hog market prices are to be expected in the next thirty days. Supplies of stocker and feeder cattle have been limited and movement to the country has been slow. Heavy feeders are in demand, as are high quality light steers that will make good use of the abundance of roughage. Highly finished steers continue to be scarce.

Butter and eggs are going up with seasonal changes. Eggs are moving out of storage rapidly and receipts of fresh eggs below last year. Poultry prices are dropping with the season.

BRYAN A FARMER

Attorneys for the state board of taxation have finished the taking of testimony before E. J. Burkett, master in chancery, in the railroad taxation suits affecting the road tax for the fiscal 1924 pending in federal court. Former Governor Bryan, C. W. Pool, former secretary of state and W. H. Smith, state tax commissioner, who were members of the state board of taxation in 1924 were called as witnesses by the state. The railroad companies had previously called former State Treasurer C. D. Robinson and he had testified that the state board of taxation had valued private property, including lands, at 60 per cent of its full value.

Mr. Bryan, Mr. Pool and Mr. Smith testified when called by the state's attorneys as witnesses, that they intended to did ax railroad, a 100 per cent and other property the same.

Former Governor Bryan, when sworn by Mr. Burkett to tell the truth, gave his name and address in reply to questions. "What is your occupation?" he was asked. "Farmer," replied Mr. Bryan.

CAN SHOW FIGHT FILMS

New York, Oct. 20.—The controversy over the legality of exhibiting the Dempsey-Tunney fight films which has set legal authorities by the ears in many states, was settled for New York state, at least, today when Federal Judge Goddard handed down the opinion that the law does not forbid exhibition in this city or any other state.

The judge said an exhibitor or distributor may receive films from a person whom he knows to have violated the law in transporting them into the state, but as long as the exhibitor takes no part in the transportation, he is not accountable. He explained, however, that a person may not with impunity receive fight films from another state thru the medium of the mails, an express company, or other common carrier.

Claims Honor of Oldest Resident of Otoe County

Ben F. Hoback of Near Nehawka Claims Honor as He Arrived Here on May 10, 1854

The Nebraska City Daily News-Press carried a very interesting story in their Sunday edition of Frank Carlson, who claims to be Nebraska City's oldest resident. He is no doubt entitled to that honor, but B. F. Hoback who lives just across the line in Otoe county and a few miles south and east of Nebraska City, believes he has the distinction of living in that county longer than any other living individual of today.

Mr. Hoback came to Nebraska from Savenah, Missouri with his parents and arrived at Nebraska City on May 10, 1854. Mr. Carlson arrived at the same place in the month of October of the same year. Mr. Carlson has remained in Nebraska City since his arrival in Nebraska and Mr. Hoback has never crossed out of Otoe county since he crossed the river in the spring of 1854.

Mr. Hoback was about five years old when he came to Nebraska. He remembers of the Indians taking their belongings across the Big Muddy and the trip cost his father an even $10.00. At that time East Port was a small town on the west side of the river and Fort Kearney, now Nebraska City, was situated in Nebraska on the banks of the river. The town at that time consisted of the fort, barracks for the soldiers and a couple of stores, according to Mr. Hoback's recollections. A block house also standing west of the fort about where the main part of Nebraska City is now located. Rock Bluff was the principal town north of the Fort and old Wyoming was started a couple of years after that.

Hoback family came to Nebraska from the place has long since disappeared and the thriving town of Rock Bluff is no more. The other towns that are now prospering in this part of the state were unknown and he has seen them grow to their present size.

The Hoback family remained at Nebraska City for about two years and then moved to a farm in the north part of the county. That farm adjoins the one on which Mr. Hoback now makes his home and it is on these two places that all of the years of his seventy-eight years have been spent. Yes, Mr. Hoback knows the hardships experienced by the early Nebraska settlers. His early companions were Indians and many were the times he ran to the nearest neighbors for live coals from their stoves when the fire in their home had gone out. He has seen farming revolutionized from the day of oxen to the present up-to-date machinery and many interesting stories are told by him of the early days in this locality.

"Uncle Ben" celebrated his 74th birthday the third of this month and at this time he is staying at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Chas. Hemphill in Nehawka where he is recovering from a recent attack of heart trouble. He was feeling considerably better this (Thursday) morning and hopes to be up and around again within the next few days.

Mr. Hoback is content to give Mr. Carlson credit for being the longest resident of Nebraska City, but he feels confident that he holds the undisputed record for Otoe county.—Nehawka Enterprise.

VISITING OLD HOME FRIENDS

From Saturday's Daily—Mrs. Julia Thomas, of Omaha, spent several days in and around Plattsmouth this week, visiting with old friends, and this was truly Mrs. Thomas' old home, born down near Old Rock Bluffs, where she spent her school days and attended the school taught by the old time honored citizen of our city, B. S. Ramsey and Jack Graves, both of whom have passed to the Great Beyond years ago. While in that locality Mrs. Thomas was a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Wheeler. Mrs. Thomas' family, two sons and one daughter, were born in this city, and are also now in Omaha, Gerlie, the elder son now holds a very good position in Lincoln, deputy in the Secretary of State's office. Alvin is employed in Omaha, and is also home with his family. The daughter, Mrs. Monte Franks, also lives in the city, and Monte held a good position with the Ford plant, but was laid off at the
