HOLD FINE MEETING

The November meeting of the Union W. C. T. U. was held at the home of Mrs. Will Banning, with Mrs. Ray Frans and Miss Nell Bramblet as assistants. Lovely refreshments were served.

Mrs. Cross was the leader of the topic "Christian Citizenship." This is a topic that really has a lot to it, for much general concern is felt over our present and future generations. The three great institutions are the home, the church and the school. The home should come first for it is there the child forms its first impressions and instincts and grows to habits which are almost completely welded.

The December meeting will be with Mrs. Marge as leader on the subject, "Temperance and Missions." The invitation is open for anyone desiring to become a member. Reports of the state convention were also given.

The winner of the event in addition to being declared the Queen of the Festival will also receive a handsome diamond ring while the second in the race will also be presented with a beautiful bracelet as a token of their success.

CHILD MAY RECOVER

Margaret Stoddard, who was very seriously injured in the auto accident near Elmwood on Monday night, is reported as having a chance for recovery at the Lincoln General hospital where she was taken following her injury. The girl is suffering from the effects of a fractured skull, fractured pelvis and thigh bone and also a fractured hip. The parents, Mr. and Mrs. John E. Stoddard, 2952 Sewall street, Lincoln, were also injured to some extent in the wreck of the car, but none of their injuries are considered at all dangerous.

The Stoddards were returning to their home in Lincoln from Auburn and were going west while the bus was going in the opposite direction. Mr. Stoddard said that as he drove onto the bridge he held as far to the right as was safe. He saw that the bus was going to strike him, he said, and swung farther out. His car moved too far to the right and struck the guard rail on the bridge, the rear end swinging out toward the center of the road. The bus and car sideswiped each other and the car turned over, pinning its occupants beneath, while the bus driver seemed to lose control, as the steering gear had been broken and the bus swung over to the left of the road, run up the embankment, plowing into a hedge fence and turned over, wrecking the car almost completely. The front wheels of the bus were torn off and it was otherwise damaged.

Doctor Liston of Elmwood, on his way to Lincoln, happened along a few minutes later and administered aid to all the injured. He took the little girl to the Lincoln General hospital in his car. Mr. and Mrs. Stoddard were taken to the same hospital by Merle Long and Stewart

All Nebraska Gets Highways in Proportion

State Engineer Cochran Denies That State Road System Favors Any One District.

Complaint voiced by an Omaha newspaper that state highways have been improved in Nebraska with Lincoln, the capital city, as a hub, rather than having them radiate from Omaha is declared by State Engineer Cochran to be without good foundation.

"The public works department is doing its best to provide good highways for the whole state, rather than for any one section or city," said Mr. Cochran, "and we believe that the results will show this is being accomplished."

"There are two main factors governing the highways, both of which are fixed by law, and it is not in the power of the state engineer, even if he were so disposed, to take from one part of the state what it is entitled to and give it some other portion."

"First, the highway routes themselves are designed by act of the legislature. Only minor changes can be made in them, such as straightening or moving short stretches of road to avoid track crossings or eliminating other bad conditions. In general every highway is where it is because the legislature said it should go there."

"Second, the money spent on the various highways is divided in the manner specified by statute. One-third of the total sum available for construction is apportioned on the basis of county area, one-third on the basis of population, and one-third on the basis of mileage of post-roads in the county. Money belonging to one county cannot be taken from it and given to another."

"Maintenance funds are not subject to this division. They are used as the law directs, to keep completed highways in good shape. Naturally, the most money goes for maintenance where it is needed, on dirt and gravelled roads. Paved roads do not require so much upkeep, and less is spent on them."

The road map of Nebraska shows good paved and gravelled roads leading into Omaha from the north, west and south. As Omaha is on the eastern boundary line of the state, its geographical location does not permit its being a 'hub' for this state.

in the same sense that Lincoln, Fremont, Grand Island, Hastings, Beatrice and other interior cities are. But it has its share of the highways that have been built, and we are expecting to get another route or two leading to Omaha opened up in the near future.

"Lincoln people in the past have made complaints to this office, similar to those now heard at Omaha. They thought we were not improving the highways to the capital as fast as we should. The fact is, as I stated before, that we are trying to build highways for the entire state, and not to help any particular community. If anyone is dissatisfied with the location of highways or the way the money is distributed he should make his complaint to the legislature."

BANDIT SUSPECTS TO STAND TRIAL

Jefferson City, Mo., Nov. 15.—Governor Sam Baker Monday issued a warrant for the return to Oklahoma of Lawrence (Red) Galloway, his wife, Mrs. Vivian Galloway and Ray Wilson, wanted in connection with a series of bank robberies in Oklahoma.

The three were captured in Kansas City last week with $26,000 worth of stolen bonds. Galloway is alleged to be the leader of a bandit gang which operated several years in southwestern states. He was paroled from Texas state penitentiary by Mrs. M. A. Ferguson, former governor.

Present charges against Galloway include robbery of the Kingfisher, Okla., bank.

The trio have been held in jail at Kansas City since their capture Thursday night.
