Greenwood is Paid Night Visit by Burglars

Two Business Houses of Western Cass County Town Visited Sometime During Night.

From Tuesday's Daily—Last night the hardware store of White & Bucknell and the general merchandise store of E. L. McDonald, at Greenwood were visited by burglars and as the result the stores were looted of merchandise, the exact value of which has not been determined by the owners of the two places.

The robberies were not discovered until this morning when the stores were opened for business and several hours apparently after the robbery had occurred.

In securing entrance to the hardware store the parties broke out a window in the store and thereby gained access to the interior of the store, but just what they secured could not be determined early this morning when the check of the stock was started by the owners of the store.

At the McDonald merchandise store the parties gained their entrance by forcing a rear door of the store building and thereby were able to get into the main store room where they took a large amount of goods, largely of wearing apparel.

There was no one in the town that had heard any noise of the parties breaking in the stores or any indication that the business houses were being looted was found until this morning.

While there were no clues found that might definitely fix the crime on anyone, Marshal George Trunkelbois was of the opinion that the job looked more like that of local talent rather than some experienced burglar or store robber.

Sheriff Reed was at Greenwood this morning, leaving here as soon as the report of the robbery was received and looking over the ground in an effort to find some trace of the party or parties that might have committed the crime.

Returns to Home in East.

Mr. H. C. Farris of Marion Virginia, better and more familiarly known as Clay Farris, who has been visiting in Murray for the past nearly a month, and was a great while with his brother John H. Farris, and family departed for his home in the east on last Monday, after having enjoyed the stay in the west very much.

Mr. Farris was here for the first time and was well pleased with the country, finding it a most wonderful country, and liking it even better than the old home in the sunny southeast.

Authorities in Search for Forger Over the West

Man Sought for Having Forged Two Checks on Henry Wegener of Weeping Water.

A search by letter, telegram and radio is being made over this part of the west by Sheriff Bert Reed and Deputy Sheriff Oung for a man wanted for forgery at Weeping Water.

This man is known as D. W. Dzomla, alias W. S. Norman and from the revelations that have been found by the officers the man must have used a large number of aliases in this western country.

He came to the vicinity of Weeping Water some time ago and had been working for Mr. Wegener and when his work was completed made a quick getaway and left in his wake two forged checks that bore the name of Mr. Wegener, one for $43.80 and one for $47.50.

The traces of the man seem to indicate that he must have relatives or friends in Oklahoma as he was in correspondence with a lady supposed to be his wife and it is thought that the man has gone to that part of the country to join his family.

The muck wanted man was driving a Dodge touring car when last seen and with which he is supposed to be making his way southward.

In an effort to have the man traced the Cass county sheriff's office has had his description broadcast from radio stations WOW and KFNP.

BAD ROADS AND TAXES

Better journey down to the county seat, if you happen to live along the northern or central part of the county, and pay your personal taxes before the weather gets bad and makes the roads impassable. If it were possible, the Courier would recommend that tax payers refuse to pay their taxes until the commissioners made it possible for them to pay a visit to the court house, driving over roads that were passable at all seasons of the year. But no, you must plod through the muck and mire and pay your taxes just the same. You must help to keep the wheels of government turning. But then we have fine roads bordering both ends and one side of the county and if you are lucky enough and can get to them, you may enjoy a drive over these scenic highways some time.—Louisville Courier.

SCOUTING AND THE SCHOOL

Scouting, while no substitute for school work, provides a program for utilizing some of the unappropriated time of the boy. The boy spends about five hours a day, five days a week, 36 weeks a year in actual school work. This is about 1-9 of a boy's year that is spent in school. Then he spends about 1-3 of his life in sleeping, leaving the remaining 5-9 of his days undirected and unorganized.

It is these hours that Scouting fills with attractive, useful, morale and character building activities. It has been a basic criticism of most school methods that they have largely and so long ignored students interests.

The test of an educational program is not how good it looks on paper but what it does to the boys mind what it teaches him. Scouting reaches the boy it actually works. It therefore is a valuable addition to the boys life along with his school and helps prepare him so that when the time comes to enter his chosen field he can do so well equipped for anything that may be there for him.

FREE ENTERTAINMENT

At the Eight Mile Grove school house on Friday evening, November 18th at 8 p. m. sharp, a four-act comedy play, entitled, "The Lay of the Hen," the greatest sinner, and the greatest sinner, and as a consequence she met her doom the first and which was the most drastic.

Granted a Stay of Life. Hezekiah was sick unto death, and the prophet Isaiah visited him and with a message from Jehovah, which was that he should die of the sickness and not live. The message was given by Isaiah, and as the great prophet was leaving, Hezekiah turned his face to the wall and prayed to the great Jehovah, saying "I beseech thee O Lord, remember now how I have walked before thee in truth and with a perfect heart and have done that which is good in thy sight."

Hezekiah wept sore. And as Isaiah was leaving, Jehovah spoke to him, saying, "Go, return and tell Hezekiah his life shall be lengthened 15 years, and that he shall go up to the house of the Lord, and that the Lord will heal his disease," which was a very loathsome bill. The life of the king was advanced 15 years and as a sign the shadow which had advanced in the afternoon was caused to retreat ten degrees.

Many good acts did Hezekiah do after that.

Micah said unto the people, "You covet fields and seize them, houses and take them away. To those who had devised evil on their beds, for they did lay awake in the night devising schemes whereby they could skin someone out of what they had, and the judges who took the bribes, as well as the prophets, uttered pleasing prophecies for the rich for hire or to gain the favor of the rich, and the priests did also as told by Micah.

The Lord saith, "Behold, against this house will I devise an evil. From which you shall not remove your necks, neither shall you walk haughtily. For you shall pay for the sins

Golden Text: "He hath showed thee O man what is good; what doth Jehovah require of thee, but to live justly, and to live kindness, and to walk humbly before thy God."—Mic. 6:8.

Very Rugged Prophets

Elijah, Amos, Isaiah, Micah, and John the Baptist, all rugged, in physical appearance, in the life they lived, and the way they carried the message of God to the people. Elijah the Tishbite, when he first came in the time of Ahab, king of Israel, was a man dressed in skins of animals, and like him was John the Baptist, who came preaching in the wilderness of Judea, some nine hundred and thirty years after the appearance of his progenitor, and saying "Repent for the Kingdom of God is at hand," was much like the ancient prophet, for did he not come in the spirit of Elijah, and created whom he was sent with a message of the coming of the Master, who was only six months younger than the Baptist. Then one hundred and ten years after the time when Elijah had confronted them, did Amos, the shepherd and fruit grower come with a message for Israel, notwithstanding the fact that he had come from Judah, and prophesied that there would be trouble for the sins of Israel for her idolatries, and that the city of Jerusalem would be destroyed by fire, which came to pass about one hundred and fifty years later.

Last week we studied the prophecies of Hosea, and what he stood for and how he pleaded for Israel, even using his own life with its troubles as an illustration of the mercies and love of God. Hosea was a mild mannered man, and a beseeching prophet, asking the opposite Israel and Judah to return to the Lord and that they would be bound up, even after they had been chastised.

Now comes Micah, a man of hard experience, much like Amos and his son, Isaiah, and in no uncertain terms did he address his prophecy to the day and age in which he lived, as well as all succeeding generations. Micah said, Woe to them which devise evils on their beds, and scheme how they may be able to work their deceitful works when the days shall come.

From the Bible Teacher of the Christian church we get the following synopsis of the condition of the times when Micah came with his burning message for the rulers and rich, who had oppressed the poor, and whose cause he was championing under Ahab, forced to pay tribute to Assyria, which together with the cost of the Syno-Ephraimite war fought in 734 before the coming of the Savior, fell as a heavy burden upon all classes. Both rich and poor suffered. The grasping avaricious landlords used their power to oppress confiscating the property of the poor, and even evicting the widows from their homes the Pharaohs devoured the humbler classes as "sheep crop the grass."

Under Hezekiah who attempted to reform the state, conditions became even more hopeless. Men ceased to trust one another, Jerusalem became a hot bed of factions and intrigues. The advisers of the king were divided in their policies, some urging an alliance with Egypt against Assyria while others advised submission to Assyria.

A Most Grave Condition. The custodians of the law abused their powers; nobles fleeced the poor; Judges accepting bribes; prophets flattering the rich; and priests teaching for hire. Lust of wealth ruled on all sides. A most grievous condition prevailed, and it was a very serious time for the nation, as within less than a decade and a half, that the nation of Israel was carried away into captivity never more to return. Of the two nations Israel and Judah, Israel had been the greatest sinner, and as a consequence she met her doom the first and which was the most drastic.

Granted a Stay of Life. Hezekiah was sick unto death, and the prophet Isaiah visited him and with a message from Jehovah, which was that he should die of the sickness and not live. The message was given by Isaiah, and as the great prophet was leaving, Hezekiah turned his face to the wall and prayed to the great Jehovah, saying "I beseech thee O Lord, remember now how I have walked before thee in truth and with a perfect heart and have done that which is good in thy sight."

Hezekiah wept sore. And as Isaiah was leaving, Jehovah spoke to him, saying, "Go, return and tell Hezekiah his life shall be lengthened 15 years, and that he shall go up to the house of the Lord, and that the Lord will heal his disease," which was a very loathsome bill. The life of the king was advanced 15 years and as a sign the shadow which had advanced in the afternoon was caused to retreat ten degrees.

which you have committed." Micah's voice was directed toward those upon whom the evil should come as a recompense for their evil deeds, and as he stood for the championing of the cause of the poor, he like his successor, prophesied that the troublesome days should come, for indeed was Judah like Israel, on the tobogan slide, and while they could have averted the dire calamity which was certain to come if they did not mend their ways, they failed to profit by the wise words of the fearless prophet, and in the after-years the nation was carried away to Babylon, where they remained for seventy years.

We were not able to visit any class on the last Lord's day, as our companion was sick, but we will try and visit the two Bible schools at Union the coming Sunday.

ST MARY'S GUILD MEETING

The St. Mary's guild of the St. Luke's church met on Tuesday afternoon at the home of Miss Barbara Goring on North 6th street and with a very large number of the members in attendance at the meeting and with a great deal of important business to look after.

The ladies spent the day in sewing and looking after their plans for the fall activities and which included a bake sale on Saturday, November 26th at which time the ladies will have in addition to the bake sale a splendid offering of aprons for the grownups and Christmas stockings for the children.

At a suitable hour dainty refreshments were served by the hostess that aided in the completion of the most enjoyable event.

Rachel Robertson Leads the Field

Collects $5.53 in "Have a Heart" Campaign—Five Others Collect Over $3.00 Each

From Monday's Daily—Plattsmouth folks opened their hearts and purses on Saturday to help the destitute women and children and other unfortunate in care of the Volunteers of America by contributing a considerable sum to the worthy cause. Every one connected with the affair was deeply grateful to all who in any way helped make the day successful. The total collected was $41.40.

A statement issued by the organization's representative says: "To the city officials, the local newspaper, the merchants who furnished the incentives for the children's efforts as well as to Mrs. F. G. Coryell's capable leadership, full credit should be given; neither must the public's generosity in patronizing the youthful workers be omitted. From early in the morning until late in the afternoon each of the girls and boys played the merry game of 'competition' for the prizes and movie tickets and at the close of the 'contest' it was found that Rachel Robertson, 624 N. 6th street, was entitled to the first prize, having collected $5.53. The second was won by Earl Hyde, Route 1, Vine, who had $3.91. Robert Bestor, Oak street, had $3.72 and received the third award, while Velma A. Wright won the $1 fountain pen given as fourth prize. Rose Marie Burckham and Wauwata Welshimer each collected over $3 and are entitled to two moving picture tickets for their efforts. All the other children will receive a ticket to the show presented on the eve of November 21st and 22nd.
