Banks Will Pay Full 1927 Tax

New Law for Taxation of Competing Capital at Higher Rate May Settle Future Litigation

Reports at the capital are that the national banks of Omaha which resisted payment of their taxes for 1925 and 1926 on a basis of 70 per cent of the full value of shares of capital stock and won a decision in the federal court holding that they need not pay more than the rate of five mills on the dollar, the same as competing capital, will pay taxes for the year 1927 on a basis of 70 per cent assessed valuation.

One national and seven state banks in Lincoln county which sued in the state district court at North Platte are also reported as being willing to pay taxes for 1927 as provided by the 70 per cent amendment. The county board of Lincoln county, however, with the attorney general's office representing the state, will appeal in the suit involving the 1925 and 1926 bank taxes. The Douglas county board does not care to appeal in the national bank tax case for 1925 and 1926 and no appeal has been taken, the state being interested only to the extent of one-thirtieth of the total tax that will be collected.

It is alleged that the question of bank taxes for the future will be solved if banks pay for the years 1927 and thereafter, regardless of the outcome of an appeal in the Lincoln county case. The act of the 1927 legislature was supposed to have solved the dispute in that it provided that any moneyed capital coming in competition with banks shall be taxed on the basis of 70 per cent full valuation, the same as banks are assessed, instead of being assessed five mills on the dollar valuation under the intangible tax law. The legislative act, attorneys say, cures defects on the present state law and that it is in perfect accord with the federal law that does not permit national banks to be taxed at a higher rate than competing capital. If this state law is enforced bankers of Omaha are said to have agreed to make no further contest of their taxes. They desired the federal court judgment in their favor to apply only to Douglas county conditions.

GAGE COUNTY CATTLE FEEDING

Beatrice, Nov. 12.—Charles Malley, well-known farmer and stock raiser of southern Gage county, shipped in nearly 1,000 head of stock, cattle which he will feed on his farm the coming winter. It is estimated that close to 1,000 head of feeders from the western part of the state and Canada have been shipped to this county the last few weeks. Corn is plentiful and farmers figure that there will be a profit in feeders this winter. Few hogs have been brought into the county, as most of the farmers raise their own.

In nearly all sections of the county farmers are gathering their corn and cribbing it, and the work will be in full blast within the next few days. Most of the grain is reported to be well seasoned. It is one of the biggest crops ever raised in Gage county.

TO FILL HOUSE VACANCIES

Washington, Nov. 16.—The republican committee on committees in the house has been called to meet Dec. 1 to fill vacancies in that party's membership on the standing committees. It is expected that all will be filled without contest except in two cases.

One fight has been indicated over the plan to put representative-elect Harry A. Estep, of Pennsylvania, on the ways and means committee, and the possibility that Representative John M. Nelson, of Wisconsin, will be urged by his friends for the chairmanship of the pensions committee.

Opposition to Nelson's possible selection is because of his adherence to the LaFollette presidential movement in the 1924 campaign.

New York, Nov. 18.—Edward E. Spafford, elected national commander of the American Legion at its convention in Paris, is a member of Delta Lodge No. 451, Brooklyn, having been initiated March 18, 1924, and raised in April.

Graduating from Annapolis, and rising to the rank of Lieutenant-Commander, he resigned his commission in 1914. He became commander of the New York state department of the American Legion in 1922 and held that office for one year. Subsequently, he served as chairman of the National Naval Affairs committee, and, in 1924, there will be a profit in feeders this winter.

DECLINATION FROM MAY

The committee endeavoring to secure Earl May, radio golf cup announcer and his popular singer, Jack Todd, for a personal appearance here during the Harvest Festival, has been advised by Mr. May that the press of business is too great to permit of his getting away, much as he would like to do so. Mr. May kindly offered to broadcast any announcements the committee might desire made and the services of his station will be gratefully accepted.

The present plans call for appearance here either Monday or Wednesday night of "Gloomy Gus," KFAB announcer, and the Buick Master Six orchestra, and a one-hour broadcast of dance music and incidental doings at the carnival. If Wednesday night is selected, the crowning of the Queen, for which honor several young ladies of this vicinity are actively in the race, will be among the carnival highlights broadcast and with the redoubtable "Gloomy Gus" at the mike, a splendid description of the coronation may be expected.

The hook-up will be accomplished by the use of the Lincoln Telephone and Telegraph company's toll lines, and a lot of special broadcasting equipment. Finals in the radio announcers' contest will also be held that night.

Passing of John William Kunz, an Old Resident

Living Near Elmwood Since 1877—Services Are Very Largely Attended by Friends.

Wm. Kunz, who had been sick for some time passed to his reward last Saturday morning. He had suffered a stroke but had been up and around and was taken with another stroke Friday afternoon, the end coming on Saturday morning. Mr. Kunz was one of our most highly respected citizens. He was a successful farmer, but during the last years of his life had retired from active farm work and moved to town. He was a citizen, good neighbor and friend to all, and will be greatly missed.

John William Kunz was born Nov. 17th, 1855, in Wuertenberg, Germany. He was the oldest child of John and Christine Kunz, who, in 1857, with their 18 months old infant, emigrated to America, settling in Illinois, for the time being, and then later in 1877, finding a home in Nebraska, near Elmwood.

Here, this energetic and tireless man helped with might and main, not only to earn a comfortable livelihood, but to convert his primitive surroundings into a progressive modern up to date section. He was wide awake to any and every opportunity for improvement to the agricultural, commercial, and intellectual, but above all in the religious world. He personally worked for the foundation of the first Evangelical church of which he was a charter member. In the church of his choice he was not only interested in rearing a suitable edifice but in character building by his own upright life he assisted others. From the old homestead now occupied by his son, Joseph, he regularly wended his way every week to attend prayer-meeting of which organization he was class leader for many years. As Sunday school worker he was especially fitted on account of his benign and tender disposition. His keen business insight made him a very efficient trustee, and his services on the financial boards were highly prized.

January 13th, 1881, was a festive day for it was the occasion of his happy marriage to Matilda Thingan (Timean), 6 children were born to this sacred union, namely: Mrs. Angie Levanter, Sutton, Nebr.; Edward M. Kunz, Imperial, Nebr.; Mrs. Lena Jeffers, Lincoln, Nebr.; Albert Kunz, Elmwood, Nebr.; Fred C. Kunz, Imperial, Nebr.; Mrs. Esther Wohlgenuth, Milford, Nebr. All too soon death entered the family circle and claimed the wife and mother, Dec. 17th, 1894, she left her husband and 6 little children. Esther being only twelve weeks old, to spend Christmas in Heaven. But the home did not remain motherless, for Oct. 9th, 1895, Amelia Holke gave her hand and heart as companion to William and cared for the orphans. This second union was blessed by 2 children, Robert G. Kunz, Imperial, Nebr., and Joseph W. Kunz, Elmwood, Nebr.

Four years ago, brother Kunz began failing, yet still able to be about, and his wife endeavored to look after his interests till about the latter part of June, 1927, when he became bed fast yet again as the sunny days of Fall came he rallied to such an extent, that he could attend divine worship and visit his neighbors, and friends, who were joyous to again have him with them. Not long, though, did he tarry for he was on his way home, Nov. 11, he took a stroke about 4 o'clock, and in spite of the best of medical care and nursing could accomplish passed on the following night. He reached the age of 71 years, 11 months and 24 days. He leaves to mourn his faithful companion, who with untiring love and affection tenderly cared for him throughout the long days and dark night, 8 children, 1 step son, Emil Holke, 16 grandchildren, 4 sisters, 4 brothers, namely: Mrs. Carrie Detman, Imperial, Nebr.; Mrs. Julia Gustin, Elmwood, Nebr.; Mr. John Kunz, Elmwood, Nebr.; Mr. Fred Kunz, Elmwood, Nebr.; Mrs. Katie Swartz, Elmwood, Nebr., and one aunt, Mrs. Rosa Meierhoff, Springfield, Ill.

The widow and children as well as the brothers and sisters join in tendering all the kind friends their heartfelt for their many beautiful expressions of their good will, for the practical help and assistance, the floral displays, the appropriate religious, music and singing, and above all their love and sympathy.

The funeral exercises were conducted from his late residence in Elmwood Monday afternoon, under the able direction of the Clements Undertakers of Elmwood. Promptly at 1:45, Rev. Haist read the funeral ritual at his late home following which Rev. Norenberg of the Calahan Evangelical church led in prayer. The body was carried by the deceased six sons. At the Evangelical church, Miss Florence Rummel presided at the piano. A mixed quartet consisting of Mrs. Wm. Pahl, Mrs. F. W. Backemeyer, Mrs. Walter Lenz and Mr. Henry Bornemeier rendered two very appropriate selections and Mr. Walter Lenz sang a very touching solo.

Rev. H. Pieper read Scripture passages, Rev. Stauss of Murdock led in the opening prayer. The pastor spoke on the text, "And Israel said unto Joseph, Behold I die; but God shall be with you." Rev. F. L. Wiervert very ably spoke in German from the text, "Yea, Though I Walk Thru the Valley of the Shadow of Death, I Will Fear No Evil; For Thou Art With Me."

The ancient Order of Odd Fellows were present in a body and formed a guard of honor and joined in the ceremonies at the grave. Friends from long distances were present, showing that the deceased numbered

FURNACES WORK FINE

From Friday's Daily—Installation of the two furnaces donated to the Legion for use in the new community building by Plattsmouth Masonic bodies is about completed and both can now be fired simultaneously, sending out great volumes of heat into the main assembly room.

A deep cold air shaft was dug in the north furnace room, walled up and covered over with concrete floor, this work being done by Legion members themselves, while a large grill has been framed into the wall thru which the cold air passes on entering the underground duct. The casing surrounding the furnace extends over the duct, allowing the greatest freedom of circulation and the cold air quickly finds its way up and is heated, passing on out through the large 3-foot overhead piping into the assembly room through a wall register.

The furnace in the south end of the building receives its cold air thru a wooden tunnel leading under the west entrance stairway and about which is framed a similar wall grill, but as the cement floor was already laid in this room, it was impractical to use the underground duct. The register opening thru which the heated air passes into the assembly room was cut through the 8-inch brick wall and here also a large wall register permits the greatest freedom of circulation.

Installation of the furnaces was in the hands of Andy Kroehler and his assistant Cliff Forbes, who is also a Legion member.
