Elmer Bennett and Hal Parsell were visiting and also looking after some business matters in Greenwood on Wednesday of last week.

Phillip Coatman and Miss Ruby Rhoden, of Elmwood, were over to Lincoln one day during the past week doing their Christmas shopping. Joseph Romulus, who has been picking corn for George P. Foreman, completed his task on last Tuesday and is getting ready for another job at this time.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Kitzel were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Miller at a theatre party in Lincoln on Wednesday evening, they all enjoying the occasion very much.

Messrs. Kenneth Bailey and Carl Rosenow and the Misses Snavely were enjoying a very pleasant evening at a dance at Ashland on last Tuesday evening driving over in the auto of Mr. Rosenow.

On last Monday evening Bert Kitzel and the good wife were in Lincoln, where they were looking after some business matters and at the same time visiting with their friends in the capital city.

Henry J. Miller was looking after some business matters in Lincoln on last Wednesday, and accompanying John Woods, they both visiting Mrs. Hattie Lovill, who is in the hospital there following an operation, and is reported as getting along nicely at this time.

Word from Archie Miller and family was to the effect that they were making good progress on their trip to California, and were expecting to arrive there early this week. A card from Orville Robinson, who accompanied the car, was to the effect that he had reached a point in Wyoming, and was making good progress towards his destination.

Doing a Splendid Work

The Methodist Missionary society of the Alvo Methodist church, were in session last Wednesday at the home of Mrs. John Woods, and were busy in all manner of ways preparing the boxes for the various homes maintained by the Methodist denomination in this part of the country. They were packing bed clothing and other items for the needy folks at the homes and doing a very fine piece of work. Mrs. Woods also entertained the ladies in a very pleasant and agreeable manner, and the ladies pronounced their hostess a fine entertainer as well as an excellent worker. The ladies are surely seeking to make this Christmas bright for all they can reach.

Knights of Pythias Elect

At the regular meeting of the Knights of Pythias lodge last week, after the conclusion of the regular order of business and with a large number of the membership present, the election of the order was had and the following selections made for the officers for the coming year: Lyle Miller, C. C.; Edgar Edwards, V. C.; Samuel Jordan, prelate; C. D. Ganz, K. of R. and S.; A. Dinges, M. of W.; Elmer Rosenow, M. of A.; Frank L. Dougherty, L. G.; Wm. Kitzel, O. G.; Simon Rehmeier, finance officer; A. B. Stromer, master of exchequer; R. M. Coatman, trustee; Floyd Dickerson was elected delegate to the grand lodge and Bert Kitzel, alternate.

Postoffice Hours

With the change of the postoffice building near the Alvo bank, and it now being in charge of Mrs. Rosenow alone, she has arranged a schedule of hours when the office will be open and when it will be closed. Office hours for the week days will be as follows: Open at 8:30 a. m., close at 11:30, remaining closed until 12:30. Open from 12:30 to 5:00 in the evening, then closed until 6:00 p. m. Open from 6:00 until 8:00 p. m. The Sunday hour will be from 8:30 until 9:30 a. m.

Car Stalled in Blizzard as Occupants Near Home

Came Near Having to Spend Night Along Roadside—Were Enroute Home from Kansas Trip.

Caught in a blizzard within a few miles of home, was the experience of F. H. and Ed Ossenkop, who were returning by auto from a trip to Altona, Kansas, last Wednesday. Altona is about 340 miles from Louisville and the boys had been down there on business connected with a gas well lease. They left Altona at 6 o'clock Wednesday morning. The roads were fine and they were making excellent time, although bucking a stiff wind and snow and would have reached home at about 6 p. m., had they not encountered a drift at the cross roads at the Chilson school, eight miles south of Louisville, where their car stalled. They attempted to shovel a road through the drift, but the wind was so strong that it blew in faster than it could be shoveled away. Bad luck never comes single handed. The float raised in the carburetor and the gas wasted out until they were without gas. Hour after hour the boys toiled until they were exhausted from cold. As a last resort they went to the school house. Fortunately the door was not locked. On entering they were overjoyed to find a good fire in the furnace. After getting warm they went to a farm house a half mile distant and secured gas. At about midnight the wind subsided, but the cold was terrific. They would warm themselves up by the fire for a time and then go out and shovel snow as long as they could endure the cold. At last they got the car started again and were soon safe at home.

They brought home a basket of persimmons and have remembered their friends with liberal samples. They say that they grow proflically down there and that tons could be gathered. They taste very much like a nut, but have a liberal supply of seeds. Hickory nuts, pecans, pawpaws and all kinds of fruit grow abundantly. Their gas leases are about 30 miles from Chanute, where the Ash Grove company has a large cement plant. The boys expected to visit the cement plant, but the weather turned cold and they decided to return home at once.

Their story, as related by F. H. Ossenkop, is certainly a thriller and sounds like the old time stories told by our early pioneers before blizzards went out of fashion.—Louisville Courier.

Jury in Stull Case Seems to be Deadlocked

No Verdict Reached at 3 o'clock After Deliberation Since 4:30 Yesterday Afternoon.

From Friday's Post—The jury in the case of the State of Nebraska vs. C. Lawrence Stull, which since 4:30 yesterday afternoon has been deliberating on the issues of the case, seems to be deadlocked as at 3 o'clock this afternoon no verdict had been reached. The case was submitted to the jury yesterday afternoon and the members of the jury retired to their rooms to start their deliberation on the issues of the case and continued in the jury room until 10:30 last evening when they were taken to the Main hotel and quartered under the watchful eye of Bailiff Billy Atchison. The jury was returned to the jury room at 7 o'clock this morning and have since been deliberating over the issues in the case.

Mr. Stull was charged with a violation of the liquor laws in the complaint on which he was tried and which is based on the alleged sale of intoxicating liquor to two evidence men and whose statement of the case was the only testimony of the sale made by the state. The defense contended that the men had not been sold any liquor by Mr. Stull but had on several occasions visited his home and given him drinks and did so on the morning of the alleged sale. Mr. Stull denied the possession of any "hooch" and particularly that which was offered as an exhibit and which the two evidence men claimed to have purchased from him.

HOPE TO PICK A NEUTRAL

Washington, Dec. 16.—The name of a distinguished foreigner agreeable to the United States as a neutral member of both the special and general Mexican-American claims commissions has been suggested for approval to the Mexican government in unofficial conversations between the state department and the Mexican embassy here in an effort to fill vacancies and permit the commissions to resume work. The Mexican embassy has not as yet given the department its views on the suggestion but the hope is entertained in official circles here that the final selection will soon be made and that shortly thereafter it will be found possible to amalgamate the two commissions by having the special Mexican-American neutral members appointed to both.

RAT KILLING DEMONSTRATIONS GIVEN IN CRAWFORD COUNTY

Denison, Ia., Dec. 15.—Fred Butcher, entomologist and biological expert from the Ames state college, has been giving demonstrations in killing rats by the use of cyano gas in Crawford county. One or two whiffs of the gas kills a rat. Mr. Butcher advocates protection of granaries and corn cribs by the cheap and effective method of placing on the old buildings wire mesh and galvanized iron to keep the rats out.
