Most Young Men

are ambitious to some day own a business of their own, or to hold an interest in one already established. . . . Thousands are fulfilling this ambition every year. Most of them accomplished it by accumulating a reasonable amount in a savings bank—or buying life insurance.

Clifton B. Smith was a visitor in Nebraska City on Monday evening of this week where he was in attendance at the court of Honor, of the Boy Scouts of America, he being the scout master of the troop at Union, which by the way is a very hustling bunch of youngsters.

A. L. Becker and son, Roy, shipped a number of their hogs on last Monday and found a good market for them and also topped the market for they had the best hogs on the market on Monday. The hogs averaged 250 pounds and brought an extra dime on account of their being certified.

George Waes Mills whose earthly tenement lies with honor before us, was born in the state of Ohio, April 8th, 1857. From this life he departed peacefully at 5 o'clock p. m., Tuesday, January 3rd, 1928, in his home in Walthill, age 70 years, 8 months, and 27 days.

In his early youth his parents moved to Michigan, thence to Wisconsin where the boy grew to manhood. In his young manhood he yielded to the beckoning opportunities of the opening West and selected a homestead in South Dakota where he lived a number of years.

About the year 1891 Mr. Mills came to Nebraska and settled at Union, where he met and married Miss Emma Jane Beaudette of that village, in the year 1893. To them were born six children, four surviving their father and mother, two dying in infancy. The living are: Hazel Mead (Mrs. L. E. Williamson) Alga Cecil (Mrs. R. C. Huff) Joseph Lester, of Omaha, Frank Barlow, All

Funeral services for George W. Mills, who died early last week at his home in Walthill, Neb., were held at the Methodist church in Union with Rev. William Taylor in charge. Interment was at the Wyoming cemetery.

He was born April 8, 1857, in Ohio and came to Nebraska in 1891 settling in Cass county where he engaged in farming. He was married twice. His first wife died in 1893 and a few years later he was united in marriage to Miss Anna Edison, who survives. He was a member of the Methodist church, and of the Masonic and Modern Woodmen lodges, the latter order having charge of the services at the grave.

He was well known in the community about Union where he had made his home before moving to Walthill several years ago. He is survived by his wife, two daughters, Mrs. Alza Hall and Mrs. Hazel Williamson, Walthill, and Joseph Mills, Omaha, and Frank Mills, Walthill.

Mrs. M. Beaudett and Mr. and Mrs. B. Moore of Walthill accompanied the body to Union.—Nebraska City News-Press.

but Joseph live in the vicinity of Walthill.

Mr. and Mrs. Mills continued to live in Union until her death, in August, 1904. A year and a half later (April 2, 1906) Mr. Mills appeared in the little settlement from which he sprung, Walthill, and began draying in his part of the building of a new town. He bought a convenient site and built on it a comfortable cottage which since has been his home and there he reared his four children to respected maturity with such educational advantages as the village schools afforded.

After the village was incorporated he served as marshal several years and in that early period he did his full part in the activities so well recalled by those who were here. He was a member of the Masonic lodge and of the Modern Woodmen.

After his children had left the parental roof, Mr. Mills was united in marriage, in December 1922, with Mrs. Anna Edminston, whom he had known for many years at Union, Nebraska, and who survives him.

Modest and unassuming in manner, Mr. Mills was a man of high integrity, peaceful, honest, temperate, conscientious, patient, industries, square with every man, he held a place in the good will and esteem of the community where he could truly call every man his friend. A life like his has a noble setting and is a rich heritage of comfort for those who shed a tear at its passing.

Funeral services were held from the Baptist church at Union, Nebr., Jan. 6th at 2 p. m., conducted by the Rev. W. A. Taylor, an old friend of the deceased. Interment was in West Union cemetery.

Those from a distance to attend the last services were Mr. and Mrs. Bud Warren, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Beaudette, Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Williams, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Huff, all of Walthill, Nebr., Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Bandett, Rosalie, Nebr., and Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Mills, Omaha, Nebr.

The M. W. A. had charge of the grave services, Neighbor E. B. Chapman presiding.

TRIMBLE MUST FACE
BLACKMAIL CHARGES

Falls City, Neb., Jan. 9.—Fred Trimble of Humboldt, recently released in $1,500 bond pending trial for 20 thousand dollar Joseph Kunhart "thrusting machine robbery," must face blackmail charges as soon as he receives a 30-day jail sentence on a liquor count on which he was sentenced today.

Trimble and his son, Durban, are alleged by Frank Dalsky, Humboldt, to have attempted to obtain five hundred dollars from him last summer by threatening him with guns, charging that Dalsky had had illicit relations with the elder Trimble's wife.

Police are still seeking Durban, who is alleged to have aided his father in forcing the Kunhart family near Humboldt to reveal the hiding place of their life savings on August 20, last.

When Trimble was arrested yesterday six quarts of liquor were found in his possession. Besides his jail sentence, he was assessed one hundred dollars and costs and his automobile was confiscated.

MARRIED IN OMAHA

Miss Margaret Ruby, of near Myrard, who has been visiting in Omaha for the past ten days, returned home Sunday. Miss Ruby was at Omaha to attend the wedding of her cousin, Miss Gertrude Bengen, to Mr. Tom Doerser, of Omaha. Miss Bengen will be remembered by many friends in this section of the county as a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Bengen, former well known residents of the Myrard locality. She is also a niece of Mrs. Thomas Ruby, of Myrard.

Democrats Meet,

Pick Convention
City This Week

Jackson Day Dinner Thursday and Session of National Committee Arranged to Coincide.

Washington, Jan. 9.—The national capital this week will take on a democratic atmosphere regardless of the fact that the party is out of power. It will entertain more than 4,000 of the leaders of the party, representing all factions and all parts of the country. The occasion will be the Jackson day dinner on Thursday night, arranged by the national committee, which hopes to obviate any such fight as that which occurred at Madison Square Garden in 1924.

Claude Bowers of the New York World, an authority on Jeffersonian and Jackson democracy, has been chosen to deliver the keynote speech. John W. Davis, whose nomination came out of the Smith-McAdoo fight four years ago, will be toastmaster.

Smith Won't Attend
Although Governor Smith of New York, one of the outstanding presidential possibilities, has announced that he will not attend the dinner, many of his supporters will be there. William G. McAdoo will be there also and will deliver an address, regardless of the fact that he has announced himself out of the race.

Most of the other men whose names figure in speculation over the democratic presidential nomination have accepted invitations to attend the dinner. Such men as Reed of Missouri; Ritchie, of Maryland; Donahay and Pomeroy of Ohio; Robinson, of Arkansas; Walsh, of Montana; Glass, of Virginia, and others, are expected to give their views on the needs of the times.

Committee to Meet
The powers that be of the party chose the date for the meeting of the national committee to coincide with the dinner, and after that function is over, the committee will get down to the work of arranging the time and place for the 1928 national convention.

Cities most active in competing for the honor of entertaining the hosts of democracy are San Francisco, Detroit, Cleveland and Miami. Others in the field include Boston, St. Paul, Houston and Chicago.—Omaha Bee-News.

Creighton Prep to Play Here on Friday Evening

Junior Bluejays Will Be the Guests at the Local Gym—A Red Hot Game Is in Store.

The basketball fans of this part of the country have a real game to look forward to on Friday evening, when Creighton Prep basketball team of Omaha comes down to mix it up with Coach Rother's blue and white Platters.

The Creighton-Plattsmouth game is one that brings the largest crowds and the greatest enthusiasm of any game in the city and in the past has always been marked by fast and snappy games as the general rule, the last three years especially having been won and lost by the narrow margin of two and three points, the Platters having the edge on the Omaha lads since 1924 with two out of three of the annual contests.

The Junior Jays have a large school and a great array of basketball talent from which Eddie Hickey has the opportunity of picking a red hot organization and which is generally the case.

The fine showing that the Platters made in the North high game with several of their players out of the going, has encouraged the fans and they are anticipating a real game against the Junior Jays on the local court. VanAekern, one of the veterans of the Creighton team has been going strong this season in his work at forward and has been a large factor in the winning of the games that the Omaha team has annexed.

Creighton last night ended the winning streak of Central at Omaha by the score of 19 to 13. Central will play here next week against the Platters.

PANAMA GREET'S LINDBERG WITH ROYAL WELCOME
Panama, Jan. 9.—Another triumph awaited Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh when he landed on the field here today, named in his honor Campo Lindbergh. He landed at 1:51 p. m., taking four hours to span the distance between San Jose, Costa Rica, and this city, 310 miles.

President Chiari, high officials of the government, Colonel Harry Burgess, acting governor of the canal zone, and others awaited him.

All the shops were closed and the city was in holiday dress. At the Cathedral Plaza Lindbergh was presented with the golden key of the city by the alcalde, Mario Galindo.

After the parade Lindbergh was escorted to the American legation, where the charge d'affaires, John F. Martin, will be the flier's host during his stay in Panama.

Inspection of Shops Put Off

Barber Board Not to Act Until Rules Distributed—Session Held Wednesday Afternoon

Inspection of barber shops and colleges in Nebraska will not begin until the rules and regulations adopted by the state barber board have been printed, distributed and posted in the various places. This was decided upon by the three board members and State Welfare Secretary Frost at their session Wednesday afternoon.

Several minor changes in the regulations as previously drawn up were decided upon. The revised schedule of requirements will go to the printer at once, and as soon as copies of it are available they will be mailed out. Meanwhile, the board is continuing in session to scrutinize the 5,000 or more applications for licenses without examination, which came in before the period of grace expired January 3.

The permits are to be made out and sent to the applicants who are eligible, as rapidly as possible.

For the present, barbers in Nebraska are working without licenses because of the physical impossibility of getting out so many all at once. Those who have made application, however, may go ahead without fear of being prosecuted for illegal practice.

Anyone who failed to apply by January 3, however, must take the examination. Provision is made in the barber law for issuing temporary permits to applicants pending their examination.

All applications heretofore filed must be accompanied by physicians' certificates showing that the applicants have been duly examined and pronounced free from infectious and contagious disease.

Representative of two barber colleges in Lincoln and one in Omaha were before the board Wednesday afternoon seeking precise information on what is expected of them.

It has developed that the schools have been taking some students who do not have a common school education. Under the barber law, no one can be licensed in future without that amount of general schooling and a special six months occupation course in addition.

No effort will be made to prevent unlicensed barbers going about and shaving persons at their dwellings.

Democrat Enthusiasts Hold Annual Dinner

Present Administration Rapped for Its Handling of the Tariff Laws — Bryan Predicts Victory

Omaha, Jan. 9.—Several hundred Nebraska democrats held an old time Jackson day dinner here Monday night with several prominent speakers on the program. Recalling the eventual life of Andrew Jackson, Gov. W. J. Bulow of South Dakota, compared conditions then to those now and closed his address with the hope that the nation will have another Jackson for its president when this campaign is over.

Eugene N. Foss, former governor of Massachusetts, urged slight revision of the tariff and reciprocity with other nations. He said the welfare of the United States depends on the adoption of a constructive program in which the present administration has utterly failed.

Gilbert M. Hitchcock spoke of the constructive laws enacted by the democrats during the first years of the Wilson administration and arraigned republicans for so handling the tariff as to help favored individuals and localities to the injury of others.

MR. Hitchcock declared that personalities should have no place in the coming national campaign and that the issue before the public was whether the country should continue to be run in the interest of privileged classes or in the interests of the people.

Charles W. Bryan and others spoke on "lookout for the coming campaign, predicting victory for the democratic party.—State Journal.
