

FINELY STYLED FINE WASH FABRICS ARE ULTRA-CHIC THIS SEASON

WHAT a change from the thin to the now of washable weaves. Time was when the washable section meant headquarters for the humble, workaday materials—a department in distinct contrast to that devoted to the display of the more formal silks, satins and other esthetic textures.

Witness the evolution of the simple cottons and tub materials of yore. They are that finely textured and nervously processed these days one finds it difficult to classify them. It is indeed bewildering to stroll through a "washables" section as now is. Were it not for the reassuring placards and signs about "would seem as if one had inadvertently wandered into the department of costlier silks and formal weaves. There is that exquisiteness about the modern sheer cotton prints, silky washable broad cloth and the broadest transparent voiles, likewise the new rayon netties, which belie their origin. If they are not really and truly silk and all that, some of them are quite baffling.

BIBLE SCHOOL LESSON

For Sunday, May 13th By M. S. Briggs

Golden Text: "Behold, thy kingdom unto thee: He is just and bringeth salvation."—Zach. 9:9.

The Triumphant Entry During the life and public ministry of Jesus Christ, he had ever exerted an influence over the disciples and all his followers, and this was in order that he might have time to establish especially in the minds of the little bands of disciples, who ultimately became his apostles, and the ones through which he must place the plan of salvation of the world, and to have allowed the recognition of the people in the way they chose and to crown him king, would have had the effect of interfering with the proper schooling of the disciples who were to carry on the work after he had been taken away, for he came to give his life a ransom for the redemption of the world, for mankind had forfeited their claim to everlasting life by their sins, and this by disobedience and they had no way to redeem themselves and would be unable to attain eternal life otherwise.

Many was the time when they would have taken him and made him their king and especially during the year of popularity, and so carried the people in their effort to do this, that they compelled him to seek out places of retirement, where he could consult with the little band of disciples, and even then the people anxious to listen to his gracious words sought him out and monopolized the time and opportunity that no time or occasion was allowed for such instruction.

Tells of His Coming Death

A number of times did Jesus tell of his coming crucifixion to the disciples who were unable to receive it, for they thought that if he were indeed the very Christ, then he could not be killed, but they must learn the lesson and the plan of the Father before to the world which had been lost through sin. Therefore, the Master had repeatedly spoken to the twelve, and he had taken Peter, James and John up into a high mountain, where he was transfigured before them, and had conversed with Moses and Elijah regarding the coming crucifixion and for what purpose it was to be accomplished. He charged them that they should not tell any one until after the crucifixion, and they could not understand why this was so, and kept wondering until after the things occurred, and Jesus was risen from the dead, and had after the period of his staying here for the giving of added instruction to the band, ascended into heaven, there to sit with the Father, did they understand fully the plan of the Father. Having thus prepared the disciples, as best their limited understanding would allow, Jesus then prepared to allow the people an expression of their desire for declaring him their king. It was at a celebration which lasted for some two weeks that the administration was to occur. The Master and the band of disciples were in Perea, which is on the east side of the Jordan, and were coming back, and had walked some fifteen miles, arriving at Bethany, where he made his home with Lazarus and the two sisters for the night before the time of the

Triumphant Entry

With true significance Jesus sends two of his disciples from Bethany to Bethany, with instructions to go and get an ass, of which he was to ride into Jerusalem, the selection of the animal on which he rode, instead of a horse, was that the horse was a symbol of war, and the ass was the symbol of peace. As they came, the people, hearing of the coming, went out en masse, and spread their garments in a way that the Son of Life might ride over them, others cut branches from the trees and strewed them in the way, to do homage to the prince of life, and as he came they shouted with loud voices, "Behold the king coming in the name of the Lord" and "Hosanna in the highest," and when some of the people in high position asked him to hush the people he replied: "Should I command the people to refrain, the very stones of the street would cry out."

Determined to Crucify Him

The Jews who had been using the temple of God for mercenary purposes and making of it, as Christ said, a den of robbers, were greatly incensed at this action and immediately began a determined campaign to get possession of Jesus and to kill him. We will study in the coming lessons how the scheming bribery and murder was interwoven with the affairs of men, that they might put Him out of the way. They did not know that in thus doing they were taking the life which was to be given for the salvation of the world and even themselves. The ones who were scheming to take the Master's life, were enacting one part in the tragedy of the ages, and which should bring life and happiness to all who would believe in him as the only begotten Son of the Father, and the Saviour of mankind.

RECOVER TRUCK

The Ford delivery truck of the firm of Bestor & Swatek, which was stolen here sometime Sunday night, was recovered yesterday at Omaha, the truck being found by the police on Howard street where it had been abandoned by the party that had driven it from this city. The car was not damaged and the blanket and sweater that members of the Bestor family had left in the truck the night before was found here, indicating that the person stealing the truck was a genuine simple thief that he did not damage the car or take any of the property of the truck owner. The truck is now back home and doing the usual daily dozen over the streets of this city.

and prosperous Bible school as well as church.

Think of that Mother

Yes, Sunday marks the anniversary of that beautiful sunset, which was established some years ago, and which is a wonderful recognition of the best friend of man, his mother. Remember your mother. If she has given her life for you and has answered the call which all must answer sooner or later, honor her by the wearing of a white flower for her sake, and try and make your life as pure and spotless as the flower. If she is still living, be thankful and wear a red flower for her. In addition, honor her with your presence, if within reach of her—if not, send her a message—a letter, a telephone call or a telegram—show her your appreciation and make her happy on this day set apart for a tribute to the mothers of our land—both living and dead.

"Still through the golden mist of memory, I see her standing as she stood of yore— Framed in the light from our kitchen door, Her candle high in hand to Her eyes were blue above the waves of the sea. When twilight falls, and she had learned the use Of love, each day I think we loved her more."

HOLD LAST SERVICES

From Monday's Daily—The First Methodist church was filled to its capacity yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock to attend the funeral services of the late Mrs. Earl Emberry, one of the victims of the terrible tragedy of Friday night. Many friends and neighbors gathered to pay their last respects to the young woman who had so suddenly been taken away from her home and family.

JOHN USZOVIZ BURIED

This morning at 11 o'clock a short funeral service was held at the Settler funeral home at 4th and Vine streets, for John Uszoviz, the aged Hungarian, who Friday night murdered Mrs. Earl Emberry and Hans Tams, and then turning the gun on himself. A short prayer service was held by Rev. C. W. Wichmann, pastor of the St. Paul's church and after which the body was taken to the Oak Hill cemetery for the interment.

RECEIVE FINE GIFT

Mrs. C. L. Berger of this city has been pleasantly remembered on the near approach of Mother's day, by her two grandsons, Harold G. Renner of Los Angeles, California, and Carl W. Renner of Bellevue, Kansas. Harold, who is an expert baker sent the grandmother a very beautiful cake that was appropriately decorated for the coming event, while Carl remembered the grandmother with a fine electric percolator. Mrs. Berger has had the care of the boys since their baby hood and has been their mother as well as grandmother through these years and the remembrance from those at a distance is very much enjoyed by Mrs. Berger and a most fitting remembrance of the day.

HOOVER AND BRUCE AHEAD

Baltimore, May 8.—With approximately 100 rural precincts yet to be heard from tonight in the state total of 1,195, results of Maryland's primary election yesterday Hoover still swelling his majority on the republican presidential preferential ballot, and Senator William Calhoun an overwhelming favorite for renomination in the democratic senatorial race.

BRAZIL REMAINS ADAMANT

Geneva, May 8.—League of Nations optimists received a definite setback today with the arrival of a note from Brazil to the effect that that nation had refused to change its mind about its withdrawal from the Geneva peace institution.

China-Jap War Seems to be Imminent in East

Premier Tanaka's Gesture to Diplomatic Missions Believed to Indicate Tokio's Serious Plans.

London, May 9.—Japan and China have come to the point where a declaration of war seems imminent. An actual state of warfare already exists, for there has been heavy fighting between the Japanese troops and the Chinese nationalists in Shantung province.

Battle Raging

A general engagement existed, the Japanese blowing up an ammunition dump, setting fire to the barracks and carrying on a fierce offensive. The nationalist attacked in large numbers along the whole line of the railway. Pekin advisers say that the battle was raging at 11 Tuesday morning, but details as to the casualties were lacking.

Railways Congested

Coincidentally it was stated from Tsientsin that the Pengtiao line were rapidly moving northward, the bulk of this army having already reached Shih Chia Chang (Chentow) in Chihli province. The railways were congested and passenger traffic on the Pukow-Pekin railway was stopped. Missionaries were evacuating Tsingchow by road.

HAS WINDOWS PAINTED

Miles Allen, the enterprising shoemaker and dealer of south Sixth street late last week, had the two show windows painted and decorated which makes the place a very nice place to display his goods. Miles who has been in business now for over a year, is well pleased with the excellent business which has come to his store in the line of repairing and the sale of stock.

Woolen Unopposed

Evans Woolen unopposed for the democratic presidential preference vote of the district polled 16,965 votes in 315 precincts. A majority was in sight for Senator Arthur R. Robinson, who sought renomination on the republican ticket. In 547 precincts Robinson had 28,876, Arthur L. Gilliom 14,566 and Solon J. Carter 8,893. Gilliom had many attacks on the plan and on Dr. E. S. Shumaker, head of the state Anti-Saloon league.

Two Races Doubtful

The gubernatorial races on both major party tickets failed to develop leaders who seemed likely to command a majority. Frederick E. Schortemeier had taken the lead among the 10 republican contestants for governor with 55,447 precincts reported. He had 12,215. Frederick Landis was second with 10,828 and Thomas H. Adams, third with 9,186. Frank C. Dailey remained in the van of the seven who would be the democratic nominee for governor. Dailey had received 17,689 votes in 474 precincts, but John E. Ford, crick had made substantial gains and was second with 12,219. Earl H. Crawford was third with 3,123, and the rest of the field was trailed.

W. R. C. TO OMAHA

From Wednesday's Daily—This morning the members of the Plattsmouth post of the Women's Relief Corps chartered the bus of Clarence Colner and were taken to Omaha where they are to spend the day there at the home of Mrs. Charles Tunge, formerly Mrs. Emily Dickson of this city and also for many years a member of the local W. R. C. There was a large number of the ladies making the trip and to enjoy the well known hospitality of the Tunge home and in renewing the association with their old time friend.

Watson Shoots Ahead of Hoover in Indiana Race

Piles Up Great Strength as Votes From the Country Districts Come In.

Indianapolis, Ind., May 9.—Senator James H. Watson early today shot ahead of Secretary Hoover for the presidential vote in the republican presidential primary. He contested had developed into a close race as additional returns came in, and for several hours Hoover was in the lead, but as more precincts reported, Watson came up closer to Hoover and then passed him. Watson's power came from the country districts. Hoover showed most of his strength in the city sections.

SEEK REOPEN OHIO MINES

Athens, O., May 7.—The scene of activity of the Ohio mine strike yesterday shifted back the Hocking valley today as businessmen of that district made plans for the opening of several mines and union officials called for a giant mass meeting to "set forth the position of the union" to the merchants.

Weariness of the long strike which has seriously impaired their business, representatives of Athens, Hocking and Perry County Civic associations, sponsoring reopening of Hocking and Valley mines, today called Adjut. Gen. Frank D. Henderson in Columbus to discuss work.

Meanwhile union officials made plans of the mass meeting to be held here Wednesday afternoon to counteract activities of the civic organizations and of Oral Daugherty, despoiled Hocking Valley sub-district president, who has advocated settlement of the mine strike on a $5 a day wage basis.

TAX CURBING IS DEMANDED

Washington, May 7.—With the promotion of co-operation between the commercial industrial and financial interests of the country to insure national prosperity its object, the chamber of commerce of the United States today began its sixteenth annual meeting.

Lewis E. Pierson, president of the organization, in an address opening the session, reiterated the chamber's demand for a reduction of the corporate income tax to 10 percent. This position, he said, has the support of the chamber's 1,600 member organizations.

"Extravagant spending of funds raised by taxation," he declared, "involves a burden upon the productive enterprise of our people that must be seriously reckoned with as a factor detrimental to national prosperity."

BANK APPEALS TAX JUDGEMENT

Lincoln, May 7.—The supreme court Monday heard arguments in the appeal of Receiver Kilk of the Old State bank against a judgement against the guaranty fund for $573 country taxes. The receiver raised several questions of paramount interest in matters of this kind.

He claims that any political subdivision having a claim against a failed bank for taxes due must file a claim within the period allowed and if it does not do so it is barred. He says the guaranty fund is a creature of the statute, and that to obtain the benefits from that statute a claimant must comply with its terms.

MINNESOTA BANK ROBBED

Spring Valley, Minn., May 7.—Four masked men robbed the First National bank here of $15,000 late today, forcing six clerks into the patrons to lie on the floor until the robbers fled in an automobile bearing an Iowa license.

C. A. Gilbert, vice president of the bank, was struck over the head by a weapon in the hands of one of the robbers when he walked into the bank during the holdup. He, too, was forced to lie on the floor. A $7,000 currency shipment, which had just arrived from the Minneapolis federal reserve bank was overlooked by the robbers and they passed up $2,000 in silver because it was too heavy to carry away.

BETTER PAY TO EMPLOYEES

Washington, May 7.—By a vote of 281 to 14, the house today passed the Welch bill to give an $18,000,000 salary increase to 135,000 government employees. The measure now goes to the senate. The measure carries pay increase for virtually all of the civil service employees, except those in the postal and foreign service.

It was opposed on the floor by Representative Woodrum, a Virginia democrat, who argued that it discriminated against poorly paid in favor of those in high grades. He contended it would give $5 a month raise to a man drawing $1,300 a year and $175 a month more to the man drawing $7,200 yearly.

"TURKEY TALK" IS OUT

"Turkey Talk" has just been issued at the agricultural college for the benefit of the Nebraska people who are interested in raising turkeys. The new circular is a supplement to the regular bulletins that have been out for some time, and its arrival came at just the opportune time.

Turkey profits can be assured "if we can raise them," the bulletin states. Turkeys used to be common to the state, but poor luck with the little turks has discouraged so many people that the demand for turkeys is each fall.

The agricultural college has been successful in its attempt to raise turkeys in confinement, but it has employed strict measures of sanitation and it has kept the young poulters yarded away from the old birds and from chickens. A few farmers have copied the methods of the college and been successful in eastern Nebraska.

The new circular lists a probable cost of a little over $2 per bird at marketing time. Heretofore live turkeys have brought from thirty-five to forty cents per pound, and the young birds ordinarily weight from ten to twelve pounds. Anyone can figure the possible profit, provided the turkeys are raised, not lost with blackhead or other diseases.

Among the gifts for Mother at the Bates Book Store are special Mother's Day Boxes of Candy, framed Mottoes, Pictures, Stationery, etc., etc.
