

Greenwood Department!

Prepared in the Interest of the People of Greenwood and Surrounding Vicinity

Col. Phil L. Hall was in attendance at the Bankers Group meeting which was held at Lincoln on last Thursday.

The graduation exercises of the Greenwood high school class of 1928 will be held at the Methodist church on Thursday of this week.

Henry Wilkin was called to Alvo on last week, where he had a number of houses to paper and otherwise decorate in any of its lines.

Bert Appham who has been visiting for a time in Bradshaw, returned home one day last week and was well pleased with his visit in the west.

Charles E. Calfee while at work had the misfortune to scratch one of his hands, with the result that the member has been rather sore the past week.

Col. Phil L. Hall was in attendance at the Bankers meeting which is being held in Omaha today, Monday, and at which there were twenty new members to be received.

Henry Eikerman is having a wash house constructed on the farm some miles east of town, which is a convenience for the folks and is adding much to the value of the farm.

The Rallsback brothers received a car load of tiling for the construction of a silo on the farm northwest of town, and it was being hauled to the farm by Harold Bell, with the truck.

With last week the work of turning the stock of logs which has been accumulating at the Stradley yards, into lumber was completed and a goodly number of feet of lumber was the result.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry G. Wilkin were spending Mother's day at the home of the parents of Mrs. Wilkin Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Ingreham of near Ashland, where all enjoyed the day most splendidly.

Mrs. E. A. Landon and son, Wayne, and wife and Miss Catherine Coleman were visiting with friends and as well looking after some shopping in Lincoln on last Tuesday, they driving over to the big city in their car.

Orison Johnson, while he was making some repairs on a leaning telephone pole which was in a leaning condition, had the misfortune to sprain the muscles in his side which has kept him on the retired list for a number of days past.

Leo Peters was in town on last Thursday getting some Sudan grass seed for the manufacture of some hog pasture for the farm. Mr. Peters has been installing a water system for the farm, which will greatly facilitate the care of the stock, which he grows.

Mrs. J. N. Stubbs of Wyoming and mother of L. B. Stubbs of this city who has been visiting here for some time is very sick at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Howard Miller, living northwest of town, and is being cared for by the son and daughter. She is showing slight improvement.

Gust McNurlin of Lincoln was a visitor in Greenwood one day last week and arranged for the building of a cave at his property in Greenwood where Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Headley make their home, and thus making the place more convenient for Dewey and the good wife.

Mrs. Nealis Dye and Misses Flora and Irene Reams all sisters of Mrs. W. A. White, arrived from their home at Unionville, Indiana, last week and have been visiting at the home of their sister in Greenwood for the past week and will also visit before they return home, at a number of places in Nebraska.

On Tuesday of last week Mrs. Earl Harbut, entertained the General Kensington of Greenwood at her home and had a large number of the ladies of Greenwood as her guest, and a good time was had as well as the ladies doing a large amount of work. The gathering was made the more pleasant by the delightful refreshments which were served.

Not an account of their love for music, either military or otherwise, but for social purposes, and to further their desire for something out of the ordinary was the idea originated for the forming of the new band which is known as the K. P. band. Now do not jump at the conclusion that this means the Knights of Pythias, for it does not mean that, but at the next meeting this will be explained by Colonel Phil L. Hall, who is the royal potentate of the order.

Gave Excellent Concert.
On Wednesday of last week the boys of the Greenwood band entertained a large crowd of music lovers at the concert which they gave on the streets of Greenwood, and which was most heartily endorsed as the program proceeded as a demonstration and expression of the way the people enjoyed the occasion. In the use of tractor power to cut labor cost and save time. His farm is operated without horses. He has a herd of 30 Holstein cows and raises about 250 head of Duroc Jersey hogs each year. There is also a flock of White Leghorn chickens on the farm. His plan of power farming is being watched by neighboring farmers, some of whom are not yet convinced that a tractor can be profitably operated on a small farm.

Last year the crops on the Sprague farm were as follows: Corn and soy beans, 100 acres; alfalfa, 30 acres; oats and sweet clover, 30 acres; balance pasture. The Farnall has enabled Mr. Sprague to carry on his various field operations with ease and a minimum amount of time and labor. It has made it possible for him to become a horseless farmer.

When asked what is done with the Farnall, Mr. Sprague replied with much emphasis, "Everything." Plow work, corn, corn cultivations with four-row lister-cultivator at the rate of 40 to 50 acres a day; mowing, harvest work of various kinds, belt operation of feed grinder silo filler, roughage mill, etc., and even hauling, are all efficiently accomplished with the tractor. In hoisting hay to the barn it is used as pulley horse. In plowing, a soil pulverizer is pulled behind the plow in tandem fashion. In fact, every imaginable hauling belt and field job that must be done on the typical cornbelt farm is performed with this tractor, and it is done with dispatch and great savings in man labor. A maximum amount of Mr. Sprague's time and that of the two men whom he regularly employs, is accordingly available for the care of his cows and other livestock.

Special importance is attached by Mr. Sprague to the proper care of his farm equipment. Without such care, he declared, farmers are not able to get the most out of their machines. He insists at all times, therefore, that machines when not in use be cleaned and placed in the shed, and that they be carefully lubricated every morning before they are placed in operation.

The barn is, unusually well built and well ventilated. It is 90 feet long, 36 feet wide and is provided with Gothic type of roof. It has a capacity of 40 head. The barn equipment includes steel stalls, two-way stanchions and special pens, which are provided with two-way gates. The silo is 12 feet by 12 feet in size and has a capacity of 150 tons.

The machine shed where Farnall tractor is shown, with belt attached to feed grinder, is of tile construction, 72 feet long and 36 feet wide. At the time the photograph was taken alfalfa hay was being ground into meal for the dairy cows.

Sweet cream only is sold by Mr. Sprague. This is delivered to Omaha each morning and a considerable quantity is supplied to a large Omaha hotel. Skimmed milk is fed to the hogs.

WOULD ENJOIN VOLIVA
Chicago, May 16.—Church property valued at 10 million dollars in Zion City is being exploited for commercial purposes by Wilbur Glenn Voliva, head of the Zionists, and some of his officials, according to a suit filed today in the United States district court. The court was asked to enjoin the further sale of transferal of property by Voliva and his aides.

Many "Zionists" are listed as complainants in the suit, filed by former Senator James Hamilton Lewis. They charge Voliva and the trustees have been engaged in a conspiracy to sell the city of Zion to private commercial interests.

EXPEDITION LEADER SHOT
New York, May 15.—Roy Chapman Andrews, leader of the Mongolian expedition, was wounded in the leg by a bullet but is recovering according to a cable message received today by the American Museum of Natural History.

The message, signed by Walter Granger, paleontologist with the museum's expedition follows: Andrews shot left leg. Not permanently injured. Convalescing. Others well. New important discovery. Expedition soon moving western Gobi." Museum officials said there was nothing to indicate whether Andrews had been wounded accidentally or shot by a brigand.

Dairy Farm is Being Operated by a Tractor

Omaha Business Man Makes Test of Machine Farming on 00 Acres in Douglas County

E. H. Sprague, business man of Omaha, and owner of the Sprague stock farm near Waterloo, in the western part of Douglas county, is making an interesting experiment in the use of tractor power to cut labor cost and save time. His farm is operated without horses. He has a herd of 30 Holstein cows and raises about 250 head of Duroc Jersey hogs each year. There is also a flock of White Leghorn chickens on the farm. His plan of power farming is being watched by neighboring farmers, some of whom are not yet convinced that a tractor can be profitably operated on a small farm.

Blessed With a Son.
Judge W. E. Newkirk, and the good wife were visiting for a number of days during the past week, the first place at Morrowville, Kansas, where they were guests at the home of two sisters of Mrs. Newkirk, and later visiting with relatives at Fairbury and Superior, and later arriving at Byron, where their daughter, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Pailing reside. The day preceding their arrival the stork had been there and left a son for Mr. and Mrs. Pailing. All concerned are doing nicely, and Grandpa Newkirk and Grandpa Pailing want the name of the young American to be W. E. Pailing, but the Judge insists that the grandson be called William E., while the other grandfather wants it called Walter E. At this writing, nothing definite is known what the name will really be. However, Mr. and Mrs. Newkirk had a splendid visit while away.

Rebekahs Elect Officers.
At the regular meeting of the Daughters of Rebekah, held at their hall on last Thursday evening, after the other work was done, they looked after the election of the officers for the coming term, and selected as follows:
Past Grand—Mrs. Leona Schroeder.
Noble Grand—Mrs. Vivian Copes.
Vice Grand—Mrs. Harris.
Secretary—Mrs. June Kyles.
Treasurer—Mrs. Esther Jardine.

These selections were all excellent ones, and all will work to make the assembly a success, which it has been in the past.

$60,000 Set as Expense of Frank Lowden

G. O. P. Candidate Denies He Will Support Dawes if Convention Refuses His Candidacy

Washington, May 15.—Placing expenditures on his behalf at less than $60,000, Frank O. Lowden, Illinois candidate for the republican presidential nomination, declared Monday before the senate campaign investigation that there was no basis for the widespread opinion that he would throw his support to Vice President Dawes in the event he could not be nominated at Kansas City.

James E. Watson of Indiana told the board his own personal expenses in the Indiana primary campaign had been $2,689.90.

Old-Time Friends
Neither Watson nor Lowden could give details of campaign financing. Lowden referred the inquirers to Clarence F. Buck, former Illinois state senator, who is the directing head of his national organization, while Watson said the treasurer of his organization, Archie Bobbitt of Indianapolis, could give details of receipts and expenditures. Both of these men will be called.

Lowden reminded his interrogators with respect to Dawes that everyone knew they were old time friends. At another point he said that perhaps the fact that he and Dawes entertained similar views on public questions might have much to do with the talk that he would throw his support to the vice president. He asserted he had no agreement with any other candidates for delegate support from them.

Glad to Appear
Lowden explained beyond contributing $12,500 to his campaign fund, he had not been active in his own behalf.

Asked if his organization sent any money into Missouri where Lowden and Hoover had a contest, the witness said that none had been sent there so far as he knew. He doubted that any appreciable sums had been sent into any of the states where he contested for delegates.

Thanked by Steiwer for his cooperation with the committee, Lowden told the senators at the finish that he was glad of the opportunity to appear.
