Estimate Shows Better Condition

June Report Raises May Production Figures; Rye, Spring Wheat, Oats May Be Lower.

Washington, June 9.—With an indicated production of 512,252,000 bushels on June 1, the winter wheat crop was estimated Friday by the Department of Agriculture as showing an increase of 33,000,000 bushels over the May production report, but rye, spring wheat and oats figures indicate that these crops may set new low records.

Despite the indicated winter wheat gain over the May report, the harvest will fall below last year's crop by 40,000,000 bushels, Friday's survey showed. A further decline may be expected from the department's notation that the conditions resulting from the rather general rains occurring since June 1 are not included in this report.

Less Rainfall.

Rye condition was reported as indicating the third lowest yield in the department's records and the condition of 67.9 per cent of normal is the lowest ever reported on June 1. The indication of a 10.3 bushels acre yield exceeds only the figures of 10.2 bushels in 1885, and 10.1 bushels in 1887.

Insufficient rainfall was termed the cause of the low spring wheat indication of 75 per cent of normal, the lowest estimate recorded except that of 1926. This lack of rain was noted in all the important spring wheat areas.

The June 1 condition of oats, placed at 73.3 per cent is the lowest yet reported for that date. Growth was retarded by drought in most of the corn belt states, the report showed, while in some sections the stand was reported to have been thinned by April breezes.

Barley Higher.

The barley crop condition was reported slightly below the 10-year average. Tame hay and pasture showed 89.7 per cent of normal to 74.6 per cent.

Peaches, pears and apples all showed improvement on June 1, compared with last year, and also well above the 10-year average.—Omaha Bee-News.

of the state and now is down 1,200 feet.

Officials of the Standard, Midwest, Sinclair, Pure Oil and Mid-Kansas companies have visited the Nebraska oil center and daily reports now are being made to these companies.

General optimism over the projects is increased because the main fields are but 75 miles from the Russell, Kas., field and only 65 miles from the Natoma, Kas., well that came in last Sunday and is said to be yielding 200 barrels.—State Journal C

Oil Projects in Nebraska are Being Pushed

Several Rigs in Operation in State at Present Time—Five in the Republican Valley

Hastings, Neb., June 6.—Oil operations in Nebraska had reached a point today where it was reasonably certain that the forty-year-old question of whether there is oil in the state will be answered within a short time.

Five oil rigs now are drilling in the Republican valley More than 200,000 acres are reported leased Men are working day and night in a race for state prizes offered for the first well that yields fifteen barrels of oil daily, or 1,500 cubic feet or gas.

The oil mania has got taken on boom aspects. Generally the projects are backed by foreign concerns, many of which hold positions of importance in the petroleum world.

The Lohf Creek project near Riverton heads the list. The well is being drilled by A. B. Boyce of Tucuman, N. M., who is under contract to the Ohio Oil company—a subsidiary of Standard Oil. Already the Ohio is reported to have spent more than $150,000 on the project and no local funds have been solicited.

The project was first started by John W. Fuller, Denver capitalist and oil man of Oklahoma and Texas. The Ohio company took the field over from Fuller and the hole now is down 800 feet.

The Graham well is located a short distance west of Beaver City. It is reported to be financed by oil capital in Tulsa and Wichita. It now is down 2,200 feet. The Montague well is situated seven miles south of Beaver City. It is down 1,300 feet and is supported mostly thru capital in Hastings.

The U. S. Drilling company well is located near Campbell and is financed by Campbell and Hastings men. It now is down 3,380 feet and is the leader in the race for the $30,000 in prize money offered the first successful oil and gas wells in the state. The fifth well is situated near Imperial in the far western part
