Need a School For Drivers
One is appalled when going on the highway at the reckless and unskilled manner in which many drive cars. On last Sunday a car bearing number 11-1550 from Otoe county ran across the pavement and into the window of the store of Mable Reynolds forcing the front of the store in a number of inches.

Until one knows how to herd a car along on his own side of the highway they should not be allowed to endanger others property and lives.

COAL GROUP WILL DISBAND
Terre Haute, Ind., June 5.—After an existence of twenty-five years, the Indiana Bituminous Coal Operators association comprised virtually all the owners of soft coal mines in the state, has adopted a resolution to disband, effective July 1. This action was taken today at a meeting of the executive board.

The resignation of Phil H. Penna, secretary of the association and one of its organizers, is said to have hastened the action of the group. Mr. Penna said today there was no friction among the members but that collective bargaining between operators and the miners' union practically had ceased and therefore there was no need for the operator's organization to continue with its expensive machinery of operation.

VARE IS OUT FOR HOOVER
Kansas City, June 11.—An emphatic declaration in favor of the made tonight by Senator-elect William S. Vare of Pennsylvania, who controls a large block of delegates from his state. Declaring that he was convinced of the sincerity of President Coolidge's statement that he was out of the race, the boss of the Pennsylvania republican organization said he would use his influence at the caucus of the Pennsylvania delegation tomorrow to have Secretary Hoover's candidacy endorsed.

Vare's statement was issued less than half an hour before Secretary Mellon, who is regarded as holding the key to the presidential nomination situation, conferred with correspondents after he had made a canvass of the situation here with Senator Curtis of Kansas, one of the presidential candidates; Representative Hull of Illinois a supporter of former Gov. Frank O. Lowden, and the other party leaders.

"The republicans of Pennsylvania, in my judgment, are for Herbert Hoover for president," he said.

DEATH OF MRS. JOSEPH WOOD

Sylvia Neoma Libby, was born at Elk Creek, Nebraska, December 15th 1869. She spent most of her childhood days here.

On September 25th, 1887, she was united in marriage to Joseph Wood, at Elk Creek, Nebraska. During their married life they have spent their time in Nebraska and for the past twenty-one years they spent their time on a farm northeast of Union, until about a year ago they moved to Plattsmouth and have made their home at their daughter's south of this city.

Mrs. Wood, her daughter, two granddaughters, and a neighbor had started to church, Friday evening, as they got a little over a block from church she was stricken by a paralytic stroke, she was taken to the nearest house and medical aid was called, but she was unable to be moved only a short distance, then they took her to her youngest daughter's.

She only lived about four hours and passed away at 1:30 Saturday morning.

To this union nine children were born, three infants preceding her in death, one daughter and two sons.

The ones living are Mrs. Niley Wiles, Plattsmouth, Mrs. Earl Arnold, Plattsmouth, Floyd Wood, Union, Nebr., Wood, Plattsmouth, Jonathan Wood, Union, Walter Wood, Union.

The funeral services were held at the Sattler funeral home Sunday afternoon and the body was laid to rest in the Rock Bluffs cemetery southwest of this city.

She is survived by her husband, six children and six grandchildren.

By Written Ballots
All the votes were by written ballot, without nominations, but the winners were the slate agreed upon by a caucus of the McKelvie delegates shortly before noon.

The lineup was: For Dietz, Abbott and Davis the following delegates: S. R. McKelvie, Norris Brown, C. Petrus Peterson, Dietz, Baldrige, Fred S. Berry, Abbott, Loren H. Laughlin Clarence Davis and W. E. Shumann.

For McMullen: The governor himself, Mark Woods, A. R. Davis, C. E. Sandall, Margaret Dietrich, P. B. Fleming, H. E. Potter, Carl Marsh and A. M. Bartlett.

McMullen was given the empty honor of presiding as temporary chairman, Mrs. Dietrich was made the temporary and permanent secretary of the delegation.

No Instructions Needed
The delegation did not instruct Mr. Abbott and Mr. Davis as to their attitude. It didn't have to. Mr. Abbott will be against a platform plank that would favor the McNary-Hau-sen bill or the equalization fee. He will stand with Coolidge. Mr. Davis will vote to keep seated the Hoover delegates from the south who were given credentials by the republican national committee.

In spite of Governor McMullen's leadership in the farm revolt, Nebraska is now firmly lined up with the industrial northeast, so far as the convention is concerned. C. E. Sandall will invite Senator Robert M. La Follette, jr., of Wisconsin, to second the nomination of Senator Norris. Seventeen of Wisconsin's 26 votes are instructed for Norris and La Follette today said they had no second choice.

McMullen Satisfied
Dietz was named to the committee to inform the nominee, an honor that carries with it the necessity of paying his own expenses to the notification ceremonies.

After the meeting, Governor McMullen said: "I am satisfied. They had the votes and they used them. We might have done the same thing, although I believe if we had had the votes, we would have been willing to give the other side a place on one committee."

Mark Woods Heated
He brought the only heat to the meeting, when he got up and said: "It looks like we are being railroaded here by two Omaha delegates," looking at Baldrige and Dietz. Baldrige leaped to his feet, and said that he was voting as he did because he was for Hoover, and did not approve of the McMullen tactics.

McMullen is Defeated at the Nebr. Caucus

Dietz Selected Chairman with Aid of Baldrige at Spirited Meeting

Kansas City, Mo., June 11.—The McMullen delegates were defeated in every test vote when the Nebraska delegates organized here this afternoon. Malcolm Baldrige and Gould Dietz turning the scale. Dietz was elected chairman of the delegation with 10 votes to 9 for McMullen. Charles E. Abbott, Fremont lawyer, was elected to the convention resolutions committee by 10 votes to 9 for McMullen.

Former Attorney General Clarence Davis of Holdrege was elected to the credentials committee by 10 votes to 8 for Mark Woods.

Before organizing, the delegates took from National Committee-man McCloud, the convention tickets allotted to Nebraska and divided them among the delegates and alternates. That made McMullen happy, and he cheerfully transferred to the delegation the problem of apportioning 171 tickets among six hundred Ne-

Third Antarctic Trip Planned by British Officer

Commander Jeffery, Shackleton Veteran, May Seek Pole From Another Angle

New York—A third expedition to the antarctic will be undertaken this fall, according to an announcement just made here by Commander Douglas G. Jeffery, Royal Navy, retired, and a veteran of Shackleton's party.

The expedition, according to Commander Jeffery, will make use of two airplanes and will probably include an attempt to reach the south pole. Its major explorations, however, will be conducted on almost the opposite side of the Antarctic Continent from the two expeditions projected by Commander Richard E. Byrd and Sir George H. Wilkins, respectively.

Commander Jeffery, who has been in the United States since last March, intends to invite four other Shackleton veterans to accompany him. One of them is Capt. Arthur Argyle, navigator and copilot of the Bellanca monoplane Columbia.

Commander Jeffery said he expected to arrive in the antarctic some time in November to establish his base at Graham's Land. From this point he intends to explore the vicinity of Wedded Sea and Coat's Land.

Possibility that the three antarctic expeditions may work together by radio in co-ordinary meteorological and other data and observations was hinted by Commander Jeffery. It also is possible, he said, that his base at Graham's Land may make a terminal for the antarctic basin flight proposed by Sir George.

One of the airplanes which will be used by Jeffery expedition is at present being built. It is expected to have a cruising radius of 6000

CLEAN PROGRAMS ARE RADIO AIM

Chicago, June 12.—A plea for maintenance of the highest moral standards in radio programs was brought before the industry Monday by Eugene O. Sykes, senior member of the federal radio commission.

Judge Sykes addressed several thousand representatives of the radio trade at the opening of a joint convention and exposition sponsored by the Radio Manufacturers' association, the Federated Radio Trades association and the National Association of Broadcasters.

"Broadcasters must always remember that among the many listeners to their programs are a large number of children," he said. "Their minds are pliant and easily subject to influence. For their sakes it is vital that programs be always of the highest moral plane—that they assist in elevating the thoughts of their child audiences and afford them education."
