

MURDOCK DEPARTMENT.

PREPARED EXCLUSIVELY FOR THE JOURNAL.

While Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Tool were away last week, Mrs. Margaret Meyers was looking after the business at the hardware store.

Miss Amelia Kupke has accepted a position as teacher near Casper, Wyoming, and departed this week to begin her work as teacher there.

Jonas Elchoff and family, of Waukomis, Oklahoma, were visiting with relatives in and about Murdock for a number of days the past week.

Jess Landholm, who has just returned from a trip to the west, reports that in the 3,500 miles of the trip he did not have a tire down, which was very fine.

Miss Catherine Neitzel has accepted the position of teacher of a school at Wood Lake, in Holt county, and will depart for that place in the near future, to take up her work.

Max Walker has been watching for the past week and on last Thursday went over to Lincoln and brought the folks home, they having been spending the week with folks there.

During the past week, Dr. L. D. Lee has removed the tonsils of Lucille Backmeier, Lois Scherman and Alvin Klemme's two children, Marjorie and Lella, of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Stock and all are doing nicely.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Stock, Sr. will depart early this week for Marion, South Dakota, where they go to consult with the famous specialist regarding the health of Mrs. Stock, who has been poorly for some time past.

A. H. Ward must have been to supper, when we were around to the new service station, but we looked around and found that the construction was going on nicely and would soon be completed and ready for service in a short time.

Roy Russell has opened a station for the Golden Rod creamery of Lincoln, in the Shatto building, where the post office was formerly located, and reports business looking up nicely.

Paul Stock is feeling that the new Chevrolet coupe which he recently purchased from Theo. Garnes, is one of the very best cars for his use, which he could have purchased, and it is indeed a fine one, which will give excellent service.

James Buskirk and family were in town on last Thursday from their home near South Bend and were looking after some business matters as well as seeing their family physician, Dr. L. D. Lee, about an injury of one of the knees of Mr. Buskirk.

Last Sunday, Dr. and Mrs. Mac Diarmid, of Omaha, were visiting in Murdock, and in company with Mr. and Mrs. L. Neitzel went to Havelock, where they visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Hitchcock, where all enjoyed the day and a sumptuous dinner.

Mrs. Henry Gabel, of Broken Arrow, Oklahoma, was a visitor for the past week at the home of her brothers and sisters in and about Murdock, being a sister of the late Lau brothers, and having formerly resided here. Needless to say, she enjoyed the visit very much.

Mrs. F. H. Green and daughter, Virginia, and sons, Frank and Austin, of Aurora, were visiting for the greater portion of last week at the home of H. H. Lawton, Mrs. Green being a sister, and also at the home of their mother, at Wabash, where all enjoyed the visit very much.

Henry Gakemeier and family were over to Arlington on last Wednesday, where they went to attend the celebration of their daughter, Mrs. Rev. Wolters' tenth wedding anniversary.

and were accompanied by another daughter, Mrs. Rex Peters, of Greenwood. A very pleasant time was had by all.

O. E. McDonald had an opportunity to learn the art of cooking very well last week as the folks were spending the week at Omaha, Council Bluffs and Plattsmouth, visiting with relatives.

However, the week is over, and Oscar has a cook again. The folks had a very pleasant time on their visit.

George Arthur Work, of Kansas City is feeling pretty well, thank you, and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Work of that place, and grandson of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Tool, having arrived via the stork route about ten days since.

The mother and young man are doing nicely and all is happiness at the household.

Henry A. Guthmann and the family write from Boise, Idaho, to Henry A. Tool, telling of the family enjoying a very fine time in the west, and that while out hunting, Mr. Guthmann got a shot at a deer, but on account of some irregularity, while there was evidence that the animal had been struck by the shot, it got away. They are expecting to be back in Murdock somewhere around the first of September.

Miss Helen Bornemeier, the manager of the telephone exchange, and sister, Mary, were driven to Eustis last week by their brother, Alvin. There they spent a very pleasant week's vacation with friends and relatives. While they were away, Miss Elsa Bornemeier was looking after the exchange during the day, and Miss Florence Thimman was looking after the office at night, in place of Mrs. Henry Heinemann, who is also on her vacation in the Black Hills.

Home from the East
On last Wednesday evening, Mr. and Mrs. Jess Landholm, who some three weeks since went east to take the parents of Mrs. Landholm to New York, where they took shipping for their home in Sweden, arrived home.

Mr. and Mrs. Landholm saw the folks depart from New York aboard one of the great trans-Atlantic liners and then retraced their steps homeward. They were greatly impressed with the states of New York and Pennsylvania as well as Ohio, but thought little of Indiana. They visited Niagara Falls and also made a trip over the lake to Canada from Erie, Pa. They liked the trip very much, although Jess was slightly sea sick on the trip over.

Spent Week in West
Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Tool and son, Douglas, with the latter as the driver of the car, departed last Sunday for Grant in the western part of the state, where they spent last week, and enjoyed the west and the visit at the home of Rev. and Mrs. Bandy, Mesdames Tool and Bandy being sisters. The trip out and back was great and all enjoyed the visit there very much.

Flood of Comment Over the Nation on Smith Speech

Farm Leaders and Many Dry Exponents Are Praising Fearless Attitude Taken.

Farm leaders, wet and dry enthusiasts and politicians and office holders of the democratic and the republican parties were stirred to emphatic comment by Governor Smith's acceptance speech as presidential nominee. Most of the comment centered on those sections of the speech which stated the candidate's views on farm relief, prohibition and the tariff. The reports were gathered by the Associated Press.

In Chicago, Sam H. Thompson, president of the American Farm Bureau federation, said: "Governor Smith recited facts that clearly represent the present agricultural situation. He reiterated the democratic party pledge adopted at Houston. As I have already said, that party platform covers the fundamental principles adopted by the American Farm Bureau federation five years ago. The avoidance of government subsidy, by assessing the cost of surplus control to the product benefited, is fundamental. Governor Smith's plan to find a way of spreading the marketing costs over the marketed unit of the commodity benefited is satisfactory."

C. E. Huff, president of the Kansas Farmers' union, commented at Salina, Kans., said: "Governor Smith recognizes the underlying principle embodied in the McNary-Haugen bill, that of distributing the cost of disposing of the surplus over all the units of the commodity benefited."

Praises Nominee's Courage.
In New York, former United States Senator Atlee Pomerene of Ohio, democrat, government counsel (rep.), said: "Governor Smith's speech showed that Governor Smith knows more about national issues than most of the legislators in Washington."

"It was a great speech by a great statesman," he said. Other comments in New York included the following:
Representative John G. Tilson (rep., Conn.): "Governor Smith's tariff proposal, in effect, is to repeal the present tariff law without any indication of what will take its place and it is quite disturbing."

Ritchie Pays Tribute.
Governor Albert C. Ritchie of Maryland: "The address disclosed his personality, his character and his views on the people of New York and the country must know him."

Charles M. Hay, dry Missouri democrat candidate for the senate: "I am a dry and I oppose the governor's program for modification, but I am heartily in accord with his stand for enforcement and I am sure the people of Missouri will approve it by their votes."

Mrs. Ella A. Boole, president of the national W. C. T. U.: "His proposal to recommend an amendment to the Volstead act, which is intended to convey the impression that under his plan the sale of wine and beer may be legalized, is the program of the Association against the Prohibition Amendment is interesting in the light of his lack of co-operation in enforcement in New York state."

Dry Democrats Satisfied.
At Richmond, two outstanding Virginia democrats, Senator Carter Glass and Governor Harry Flood Byrd, issued statements describing Governor Smith's state control prohibition proposals as impossible of achievement, but asserting that the question was not an issue in the presidential campaign. Both men expressed in definite terms their faith in the party nominee.

Said Senator Glass: "Knowing perfectly that as president he will have no power to modify the Eighteenth or any other amendment to the federal constitution, and that not in a hundred years hence will two-thirds of both branches of congress propose, or three-fourths of the states of the union ratify any such proposition, I put Governor Smith's record as a man and as an executive over against that of his republican competitor, and I put the record and declaration of the principles of the democratic party against that of the republican party, and on this score, preserve my party regularly as a democrat and join in the fight against entrenched privilege and against the worst record of thievery and corruption and organized maladministration of government that ever disgraced any political regime in the history of the American republic."

"No Tammany scandal or any other scandal has ever touched Governor Smith," Byrd said. "Governor Smith is the most independent national leader in this country."

Fred W. Johnson, chairman of the democratic eastern headquarters at Salt Lake City, said today that Governor Smith's acceptance speech was a "clear, straightforward exposition of his views" and that his attitude on the tariff plan was "especially acceptable to the industries of the west."

Praised by Hawes.
At St. Louis the speech was praised for its "straight shooting" by United States Senator Harry E. Hawes, of Missouri, chairman of the central regional headquarters of the democratic national committee.

From Dallas were wired conflicting views expressed by democratic party leaders of Texas.

"It is a very instructive and statesmanlike document," declared Jed C. Adams, democratic national committeeman.

Lieutenant Governor Barry Miller said: "Governor Smith made a wonderful speech. It will be an important factor in bringing victory for the entire ticket in November."

Alvin S. Moody, chairman of the anti-Smith democrats of Texas, declared the "New York governor's" "plan for wrecking prohibition is deserving of the denunciation of all American citizens, whether they be for or against prohibition."

At St. Paul, Minn., Andrew Volstead, author of the prohibition enforcement law, said Smith avoided the liquor situation, and said the governor "purposely seeks to become the candidate for the liquor interests."

Smith Bound by Platform He States

His Personal Opinion Does Not Affect the Pledges Made by the Party at Houston Convention

New York, Aug. 23.—As a full pledged presidential nominee, Governor Smith today came back again to his native New York City, still uncertain when he would start active campaigning.

His views on the public issues of the day were before the nation and he was worn by the strain of his notification last night in Albany, the democratic standard bearer seemed more anxious for rest and recreation than anything else.

After an overnight stay at his suite in a local hotel, the governor tomorrow will move on to New Jersey to take part in a big democratic national guard troops there. Next week he will pay his annual visit to the New York state fair at Syracuse, but beyond that he has no engagements. He will make no speech at Seagirt but may deliver a non-political address at Syracuse.

Says Bound by Platform
Sleeping late after his notification ceremony which was forced indoors by bad weather, the democratic nominee spent some time reading congratulatory messages before taking the train to New York. As he traveled down the river, he came forward to a special car occupied by newspapermen and held a short press conference.

As he sank back in a seat at one end of the coach, the governor, chewing the stub of a cigar, was asked whether he thought there was anything inconsistent in a dry democrat running for the senate or house on the ticket with him.

"Everybody who is nominated for office stands on the platform of the supreme body of the party, to-wit: The national convention," the nominee replied.

"Then you don't regard them bound by your acceptance speech?"
"No one can amend the platform," Mr. Smith came back, dismissing the subject.

"Has the reaction to your speech been favorable?" he was next asked.
"Yes, judging from the messages I have received." He reported that telegrams from all parts of the country had reached him at the executive mansion in bundles of 50 to 100. He estimated that at least 3,000 arrived within an hour after he had concluded delivery of his acceptance speech. The governor said that if anyone had sent him a message expressing disapproval of any of his views he had not seen the communication.

"Do you think any dry could take offense at what you said on prohibition?" asked a reporter, recalling that the nominee had advocated modification of both the Volstead law and eighteenth amendment.
"No sensible one could," the governor retorted.—State Journal.

CARD OF THANKS
We wish to take this opportunity of expressing the heartfelt appreciation that we have felt at the many words of sympathy and the acts of tender kindness given us at the time of our deep sorrow at the death of our loved one, and also for the beautiful floral remembrances at the funeral service.—Mrs. P. H. Meisinger, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Tritsch and family, Mr. and Mrs. William H. Tritsch and family, Mr. and Mrs. Carl C. Meisinger.

WILES FAMILY REUNION
The annual reunion of the members of the Wiles families in Cass county, Nebraska, and Mills county, Iowa, will be held on Thursday, August 30th, at the city park at Glenwood, Iowa. All members of the family and their descendants are cordially invited to be in attendance.

REMAINS OF HARVEY AID AT REST NEAR OLD HOME
Peacham, Vt., Aug. 23.—The body of Peacham's most distinguished son, Col. George E. Harvey, internationally known publicist and former ambassador to Great Britain, was laid in the family plot in the town of his birth today after a brief service attended by many friends and associates.

ROOTER CLUB MEETS

The boys in the Plattsmouth Rooters Pig club studied problem XI "Shows and Showing Equipment."

This lesson gave them full instructions for the handling of their swine at the state and county fairs. The study period was in charge of their leader, John B. Kafenberg.

Each club member was presented with a free admission ticket to the state fair.

The meeting was held at the Mynard Community Hall Thursday evening. The next meeting will be held sometime after the state fair and probably will be the last one for this season.

STILL AT HOSPITAL
Mrs. Fritz Siemoneit, of near Culm, who was injured in the shooting affray at their home several weeks ago, when Joe Altschaffle ran amuck, is still at the hospital in Omaha taking treatment in the hope of restoring to her the use of her arm and shoulder. The patient is doing as well as could be expected under the circumstances, but is still far from well and the efforts to restore the use of the arm, the nerves of which were shattered by the gunshots, will require some time.

AGED PIONEER POORLY
From Saturday's Daily—John Meisinger, aged 85, one of the early residents of Cass county, who is making his home with his daughter, Mrs. Frank Salsburg on the farm near Glendale, ten miles west of this city, is very critically ill at the home, from ailments connected with old age, and in his condition there are very little hopes entertained of his recovery.

Philip Fornoff Better
From Friday's Daily—The reports today from the hospital in Omaha state that Philip Fornoff, who has been in quite poor health for some time and who for several days was suffering from hicough, is reported as being somewhat better, the complication of his case being stopped and the patient resting easier after the very severe ordeal that he has been through. Mr. Fornoff is a brother of George Fornoff of this city.

DEPARTING FOR CALIFORNIA
From Saturday's Daily—Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Waintroub of Los Angeles, California, depart Sunday for their home in the west and are accompanied by the members of the family here who will make their home in the future in Los Angeles. Mr. H. Waintroub will go with his son and wife to the west coast via Salt Lake and the Los Angeles cutoff while Edward Waintroub and sister, Miss Henrietta, are making the trip by bus to the west and expect to enjoy a fine sight seeing trip. Everybody reads the Journal Want Ads and your message will get results at moderate cost.
