staunch democrat, who will not shove over to keep from running for county sheriff two years from this summer.

Roy Klarens and family, of Fifth were visiting for last week end and remained over Monday to assist his father, Nick Klarens in the harvesting of his potato crop, which is very generous, in the yield. We are not going to tell how heavy the yield is, for we do not want to advertise the potato raising ability of Uncle Nick, but they sure had some fine yields and some excellent potatoes at that.

Getting Ready for Opening
Chester Stone recently purchased two International truck chassis that he will use for the conveying of students to and from the consolidated school here. He has ordered bodies from Des Moines for the equipping of the chassis, in order to make them the most comfortable for the students. Mr. Stone has been awarded the contract for carrying the students by the board of education of the Nehawka consolidated school.

Return from the West

Mr. and Mrs. Frank P. Sheldon and daughter, Mrs. Marion Tucker, who have been in the western portion of the state and in eastern Colorado for the past week, returned home on last Sunday about noon and report having had a very pleasant visit considering the warm weather that has prevailed. They were first looking after some business and after having completed it, they went over to Fort Lupton, Colorado, where they visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Marshall. Mrs. Marshall made her home with the Sheldons when a girl, and therefore all enjoyed the visit very much. Mr. Sheldon reports very good crops in the west, but not all the wheat harvested as yet, although the harvest is being pushed rapidly forward.

A Real "News" Paper

The Journal is Cass county's greatest newspaper with a circulation almost double that of any other paper in the county. It is issued twice a week, giving you prompt service on all worth while happenings. It is the official report of the activities of readers full report of the activities of the county commissioners, news at the court house, etc., besides seven separate and distinct departments in which is reported weekly the news of importance from the different communities it serves so efficiently. Yet, it costs only $2 a year—no more than the price of small country weekly newspapers with their four pages of patent print—$2 for an entire year. Hand your subscription to the Journal field man or mail it direct to the office.

LABOR GROUP FOR SMITH

Rochester, N. Y., Aug. 28.—Delegates to the sixty-fifth annual convention of the New York State Federation of Labor today wildly cheered the mention of the name of Governor Smith, altho the federation professes to be non-partisan in the coming presidential campaign.

William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, referred to the democratic presidential nominee as "a great outstanding figure" and the 500 delegates representing more than $50,000 organized workers, came to their feet and shouted, stamped and clapped for two minutes.

Green's address which features the opening session in convention hall dealt in the main with the six hour-day and the five day week.

they take the best wishes of the many friends for their future welfare.

Mrs. John E. Turner and little daughter, Dottie Jean, who have been spending the past month at Los Angeles with her father, William Bedson, returned home yesterday after a most delightful time. The advent of the family has been a most pleasant event for the genial county treasurer who has grown tired of living on his own cooking.

J. A. Gardner, the veteran editor of the Eagle Beacon, was here Monday afternoon to look after some matters at the court house and while here, in company with his son-in-law were callers at the Journal. Mr. Gardner is looking fine and of course is busy boosting the G. O. P. which is the only detriment to this genial and clever editor of western Cass county
