BLAZING OIL KILLS THREE Los Angeles, Sept. 13.—Three men were killed and seven others severely burned when a battery of crude oil stills at the Standard Oil company refinery at El Segundo, on the coast near here, exploded and sent blazing oil in all directions:

The dead: Foreman Thomas J. Davis, Lawndale.

Charles E. Lambert, twenty-two, Redondo Beach.

Fred J. Holden, El Segundo.

The three men killed were cleaning around the still when the explosion occurred. The blast shook several neighboring beach towns. The men injured were working at some little distance from the stills. At company offices it was announced all were expected to recover, altho some were terribly burned.

A general fire started by the explosion was extinguished with the aid of a special solution used in that work.

Government to Take Over the Retention Work

Will Have Charge of Work to Save Land in Mills County From Washing Away

The land along the Missouri river in our neighboring county of Mills across the river, where for years a battle has been waged by the farmers of that locality and the Burlington railroad, against the river encroachments, will have the government of the United States in charge in the future, in the effort to protect the land from further washing.

There are over 7,000 acres of the land bordering the Missouri river which each year is constantly menaced and each year a small part of the rich and valuable land is nibbled off by the Missouri river and swept into the rushing waters, some of the most fertile farms of the part of Iowa have been practically swept away by the river and despite the fact that the farmers, Mills county and the Burlington railroad have spent millions in the effort to stop the inroads of the river and without little success.

The situation is to be handled in the future by the United States war department as part of the Missouri river improvement program, as the Glenwood opinion has the following to say of the situation in the Iowa bottom lands:

The last session of congress appropriated $200,000 of government money to be used in Missouri river improvement work between Kansas City and Omaha. Certain of the large land owners of the district interested in the United States engineering corps and through the office of Mayor Young, of Kansas City, were able to get a proposition whereby, upon payment of $4,000 by the land owners of this district the government assumes the maintenance of the levee along the Missouri river banks from the Plattsmouth bridge north to the big bend at Polson. This was really a general proposition and the $4,000 asked for by the government was small in comparison with what the government will probably have to spend in maintenance. One of the railroad attorneys recently said that the C. B. & Q. railroad has spent over one million dollars in the last ten years in trying to hold the river bank along a portion of this strip south of Polson, where their trackage was endangered. This gives an idea of the expense of the work involved.

The question of how to raise the $40,000 then confronted the district which was put into a trusteeship with C. L. Lindquist, Harry Kiser and H. M. Lincoln as trustees. The C. B. & Q. Railroad offered to pay $15,000 of the $40,000 needed and the county board of supervisors was asked to levy and did levy a special tax for the remaining $25,000 against the land in the district. The land owners were given five years to pay this tax but enough of them came in and made an advance payment to make available another $15,000, making $30,000 in cash available. The remaining $10,000 was raised by selling that amount of bonds which were bought by interested land owners in the district. These bonds run for five years and will be paid out of the remaining taxes which will be paid by those in the district who did not pay their special tax in advance. The entire cost amounts to $2,800 an acre on the land in this district which is considered a small amount with which to purchase permanent protection from the river which has so severely threatened crops and has almost every year caused partial and some times total crop failure to portions of this land by the flood waters as well as threatening to eat away the entire acreage of this fertile valley. It is a happy solution of a serious problem and was a situation of great government assistance. The land owners of this district are to be congratulated upon having completed this transaction with the government.

WORK IS PROGRESSING From Wednesday's Daily— The work of construction of the building of the Farmers Creamery and Canning Co., at Main and Richey streets, is progressing very fast, the carpenter work being handled by Bert Coleman and his force of workmen and the brick and tile work by Emil Walters and his force. With the rate of progress that is being made it will be only the matter of a very short time until the building is ready for occupancy and the company can prepare for the installing of the machinery of the building that will mark the formal opening of the new creamery for business.

The residents of this portion of the county are planning a general big time on the date of the opening up of the creamery and the Plattsmouth Chamber of Commerce is to purchase the first pound of butter made in the local plant for $500 and a general celebration will be arranged for the occasion by the residents of this city and vicinity who are much interested in the development of this fine industry that should be a real boost for the farming interests of the county.

The fact that the entire personnel of the company is composed of practical farmers makes it an added interest and will give to the farming section a market for their dairy products.

Taking Chances

Risking insurance policies, deeds, mortgages, bonds, jewelry, etc. to that "secret hiding place" at home is about in the same category with trying to beat the "through express" to the crossing. In either case, you may win. But why take chances when you can keep your valuables in a Safety Deposit Box in our vaults at a total cost of less than a third of a cent a day? Why not stop in today and rent yours?

ENJOY FINE MEETING

The Social club enjoyed a very fine meeting at the home of Mrs. Fred Bell, south of Plattsmouth, on Tuesday afternoon and who was assisted by Mrs. Greeley Bell in the entertaining and serving.

The afternoon was spent in visiting and planning the work for the next meeting as the ladies of the club will open regular season of club extension work on the occasion of the next meeting, which is to be at the home of Mrs. Will Coats on October 9th.

The club leaders this year will receive their instructions at Murray instead of Weeping Water as heretofore and which will be a great deal more convenient to all of the members of the club as well as the leaders themselves.

The club had a very large attendance at the meeting and with the attractive surroundings of the Bell home as well as the beautiful afternoon it was an occasion that all enjoyed to the utmost.

At a suitable hour the hostesses served a very delicious lunch that was very much enjoyed by all of the party.

There were four guests present at the club meeting, Mrs. Royal, Mrs. Forest, Mrs. Nottleman and Mrs. Chris Bell.

The club leaders go to Murray for their instruction on September 27th and will be in readiness for the meeting to be held on October 9th.

MYNARD U. B. CHURCH Sunday school at 10 a. m. Sermon at 11 a. m. After Sunday school, the school will be reorganized.

SPORTSMEN TAKE NOTICE Autumn Hunting season is approaching, more wild than ever. The season is on when the voice of the pump gun will break the stillness of the dawn. Before many days have passed the Mallards and the Crimons back will be feeding around the Platte and Missouri rivers and lakes and streams. You sportsmen overhaul your hunting apparatus for the open season, Sunday 16th. The approaching season is going to be good, ducks and geese are already on the river and game is encouraging to the lover of sportman. Thousands of ducks are feeding on the Platte and have seen large flocks of geese, Canadian and we can't account for them coming so early as they are the last one's on the flights.

Prospects for a lot of shooting that will prove unusually attractive to sportsman. We have also received notice that there will be an open season on pheasants for at least six to ten days or more in October.

The pheasants which I helped stock in eastern and central Nebraska have been a detriment to the farmer, as I told them that they were crop destroyers than insect destroyers, but its up to the communities whatever their sentiments are for an open season but we have orders from various counties to an opening. We also have an abundance of Hungarian Partridge in this locality, also the domestic quail. The last two seasons have been favorable for the development and the increase of quail and
