Short Talks on Insurance

PRESIDENT Coolidge has called insurance the modern method of making the uncertain certain—the means by which success is almost guaranteed. The first thing for you to make certain of is your insurance agent. Can he be depended upon? The next thing to consider is the companies he represents. Are they dependable—like the Hartford Fire Insurance Company for example?

Mrs. Charles E. Heebner a Long Time Resident

Born Near Sidney, Iowa, in 1866, His Lived Lifetime in This Part of the West

On Saturday evening about the hour of 9 o'clock, Mrs. Charles E. Heebner passed away at her home after a prolonged illness of several months.

She was held in high esteem by a large circle of neighbors and friends always ready to help and lend assistance where help was needed, doing some good deed for others. Her life seemed to be a life lived for others and her wish to help brought comfort and cheer wherever she went.

In the past few months Mrs. Heebner has gradually been growing weaker and the progress of her case brought many complications that medical skill and loving care could not check and it was with despairing hopes that the family circle saw their loved one gradually pass from them.

To mourn the loss of this splendid lady, there remains the husband three daughters, Miss Imo Heebner at home, Mrs. Ula Westlake of Eagle Mrs. Matilda Markland of Weeping Water and one son, Granville Heebner of Nehawka, also two brothers Marvin P. Fleming of Plattsmouth and Torance W. Fleming of Weeping Water and three grandchildren as well as a host of friends.

FAMILY REUNION

The pleasant country home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Deles DeNier of Elmwood was the scene of a happy family reunion last Sunday.

A sumptuous cafeteria dinner was followed by an afternoon of music, games and conversation. In the late afternoon ice cream and cake was served. The family reunion next year is to be held at the home of Mrs. Martin Ross at Nehawka.

HAS SEVERE INJURY

From Tuesday's Daily— This morning Mrs. Con Lynch, residing on North 8th street, was the victim of a very painful accident that she sustained while engaged in canning some pickles.

PURCHASES TOLL HOUSE

The sale of the toll house, light plant and equipment which was formerly used at the Platte river bridge was made Saturday at the court house, where bids were submitted on the property.
