Hold Successful Recreation Institute

The second recreation institute at the agricultural college Oct. 25 to 27 was a success both from the standpoint of interest and attendance. Under the direction of J. R. Batchelor and Charles F. Wells of the playground association of America the groups played games of every kind, gave programs of rural nature, and learned to lead others in different community activities.

County extension agents in Lincoln for their annual conference spent two half days at recreation institute. Community leaders, women's clubs and boys and girls club members and leaders and other individuals were present to enjoy themselves. Copies of the games played and the methods used in directing the games were handed out at the institute. Extra copies are available and will be distributed free of charge to those who write or call for them at the Farm Bureau office at Weeping Water.

Hens Need Alfalfa Hay.

As green feed disappears and the garden stubs cleaned up, the laying hens will need some other sort of green food. Many practical poultry keepers depend upon green, leafy alfalfa hay during the winter months. Hay for hens may sound unreasonable, but it does help to keep them in thrifty condition and in high production. Some folks stuff the hay into buckets and pour boiling water over it, then feed it hot. Others build racks with slats made of two inch poultry netting and let the hens pick off the leaves. These racks should be made so the hens cannot get into them or over them. Hay may also be cut up or ground with a cutter or grinder. The hens will eat more of it in this form.—L. R. Snipes, J. H. Baldwin, County Extension Agents.

Herbert Hoover Rides to Presidency on Wave

Great Majorities Over the Nation Sweeps Into Power Full Congress of Republicans

With one of the greatest voter ever records in the history of the nation being registered at the polls yesterday the republican party secured a large and commanding majority in both the senate and house in the sweep of ballots that carried Herbert Hoover to the presidency. The extent of the victory for Hoover was such that several of the states of the southland deserted their mooring and were found in the republican column, Florida for the first time since 1876 and Virginia for the first time since the civil war. Although throughout the night Smith had faced the loss of Virginia and Florida, the democratic crisis gained first importance when Hoover swept out of the upper New York counties with so great a lead that it overrode Smith's New York City advantage.

Turn to Hoover

Tennessee and Maryland of the border group after giving encouragement to the Smith forces early last night, turned to Hoover and Curtis. Others of the border, West Virginia, Kentucky and Oklahoma, rolled up substantial republican majorities. Missouri alone still showed signs of a close race, Hoover's lead being subject to the great vote of St. Louis.

A similar situation developed in Massachusetts, where Smith began to cut into his opponent's advantage as the Boston vote was tabulated. Elsewhere in New England the republican majorities held. The farmer middle west, the north-west and the Rocky mountain country returned early Hoover leads as the late closing polls there turned in their ballots.

Hoover's lead over Smith in New York state was 57,779 votes with 511 districts missing.

The vote tabulated at 1:35 a. m. was:

Hoover, 2,015,808.

Smith, 1,958,029.

Returns from 4,293 districts out of 4,774 outside of New York City gave Smith, 852,062; Hoover, 1,336,216.

Returns from 3,463 districts out of 3,493 in New York City gave Smith 1,195,967; Hoover, 679,592.

Roosevelt Still Leads.

Franklin D. Roosevelt's lead over Albert Ottinger in the race for governor was nearly $9 thousand at 1:45 a. m. today, with 879 districts missing.

The vote from 7,388 districts out of 8,267; Roosevelt, 1,964,655; Ottinger, 1,884,772.

In 4,088 districts out of 4,774 outside of New York City the vote was:

Ottinger, 1,291,020.

Roosevelt, 894,123.

In 3,300 districts out of 3,493 in New York City the vote was:

Roosevelt, 1,070,527.

Ottinger, 683,752.

Senator Royal S. Copeland (dem.) running for re-election, had a lead of more than 100 thousand over the republican candidate, Alvan B. Houghton at 2 a. m. today with 1,797 districts missing.

The vote from 6,470 districts out of 8,267 was:

Copeland, 1,671,574.

Houghton, 1,548,123.

Conceded by World Times.

The New York World conceded the election to Hoover shortly before 10 p. m., and the New York Times followed suit an hour later. Both supported Governor Smith in the campaign. The New York Sun, which supported Hoover, claimed his election by more than three hundred electoral votes.

At 11 p. m. both sides were still claiming Massachusetts.

Connecticut gave its seven electoral votes to Hoover. Smith carried Hartford, Bridgeport, Waterbury, and New Haven, but lost his advantage in the smaller cities and towns.

Albany, which has known Smith for eight years as governor of New York state, gave him a majority of 14,268 over Hoover.

Herbert Hoover took the lead over Smith at 2 o'clock this morning when the vote from 1,153 precincts in the state had been tabulated. At that hour the vote stood: Hoover, 20,912; Smith, 19,843.

Hoover continued to whittle down the early lead of Smith in all sections of North Carolina early today. At 12:30 o'clock this morning unofficial returns showed that in 990 precincts out of the 1,753 in the state, Smith had a lead of 4,878, whereas three hours before he had been about 22 thousand ahead.

In South Dakota.

Hoover was leading Smith by more than 300 thousand votes when the half way mark of the estimated 250 thousand votes cast was reached after midnight, but the race for governorship between the democratic incumbent, W. J. Bulow, and his republican opponent, Emil P. Jones, was a nip and tuck affair with first one and then the other taking the leadership. At the latest count of the republican gubernatorial nominee was leading by slightly over 1,500 votes.

Wisconsin, which was lost to the congressman in 1928 through the elder La Follette's victory, returned to the fold.

Iowa, one of the battlegrounds of the farm question, gave its native son a sparkling lead, elected probably an entire republican state and congressional ticket, and voted 100 million dollars for good roads. One of the few congressional races in doubt was in the fourth district where Gilbert N. Haugen, republican co-sponsor of the McNary-Haugen bill, was considered still in danger.

In other farm area states it was only a matter of adding to the grow-

W. C. T. U. MEETS

The W. C. T. U. met on Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Etta Perry Barker in the north portion of the city and with a very large number in attendance at the meeting and a great deal of interest shown in the session.

The occasion was the Prayer Day of the society and the meeting was in charge of Mrs. Charles Troop.

Mrs. Robert B. Hayes and Mrs. J. E. Wiles gave a report of the state convention and the many interesting matters that were discussed at this session of the state organization. The Cass county delegates were much pleased over the fact that four new unions were established in the year at Avoca, Alvo, Nehawka and Murdock.

Mrs. Hayes was honored at the state convention by being named as a delegate to the national convention of the society at Boston November 14th to 22nd, representing Cass, Nemaha and Johnson counties, and the local Union feels well pleased over this recognition given their member by the state organization.

The ladies had as their guest for the day Mrs. Catherine Perry, one of the highly esteemed pioneer ladies of this locality and mother of Mrs. Barker.

At a suitable hour in the afternoon Mrs. Barker assisted by her sister Mrs. Spangler, served dainty and delicious refreshments.
