Nebraska Shines in 'All Big Six' Football Team

Seven of the Eleven Are Cornhuskers—Elmer Holm to Captain Associated Press Team.

Kansas City, Nov. 30.—Nebraska, which has never lacked of football stars, produced a banner crop of players this year and snared the lion's share of honors on the 1928 Big Six all-conference team chosen by the Associated Press with the cooperation of conference coaches, athletic directors, officials and sport writers.

Seven Cornhuskers were named on the first team while the conference champions nearly rounded out a full team by placing three additional players on the second team. The preponderance of Huskers bears evidence to the superiority of the machine which bowled over all conference opposition and fared well in inter-sectional games. The Cornhuskers defeated Syracuse and Montana State, tied Pittsburgh and lost only to the Army.

The Missouri Tigers, who shared second place with Oklahoma in the conference final standings, placed two men on the first team, placed Oklahoma and the Kansas Aggies landed one each. Every conference member gained recognition on the second team. Besides Nebraska's three places, Iowa State won three, Kansas two, Missouri one, Oklahoma one, and the Kansas Aggies one.

Elmer Holm, co-captain with Blue Howell at Nebraska, was named first team captain, and Lindholm, Iowa State's captain, who narrowly missed first team honors, heads the second team.

Blue Howell, Nebraska fullback, was the conference's leading scorer, and a unanimous choice of the critics. He has received some mention for all-American honors, though he was somewhat overshadowed in late season by Clair Sloan, Nebraska's triple-threat ace, whose educated toe caused a revival of field goals in the conference this year. Sloan, playing his junior year, booted three during the season.

Ted James, Dan McMullen and Elmer Holm, all seniors were outstanding choices for line positions. The first team's line averages better than 200 pounds, with the backfield averaging in excess of 180.

Mehrlie, weighing 165 pounds, is the lightest man on the first team. The selections:

Reduction of Membership Of Supreme Court Commission To Save Nice Sum

By reducing the membership of the Supreme court commission from six to three, and the number of its secretaries from four to three, which the judges of the court have recommended to the governor and the legislature in the biennial judicial budget, a total saving of $33,000 is made in its payroll for the two-year term starting July 1, next.

The court is asking to have $2,000 more appropriated, however, for salaries and wages of its employees and maintenance of the state library than was given it during this biennial period.

The net effect of these changes will be a decrease of $31,000 in the total appropriation of the high bench and commission, from $229,500 to $268,500.

Salaries of the seven judges, at $7,500 a year each, will require $105,000. Each commissioner is paid $5,000 a year, making their total compensation for the biennium $30,000. The clerk of the supreme court draws $5,000 a year, the reporter $4,000, and the deputy clerk $3,000; so that it will take $24,000 to pay them.

Secretaries to the judges and the commissioners, who are their stenographic assistants, receive $150 per month each. Clerks and stenographers in the clerk's office get the same pay, except in one instance, where the filing clerk draws but $108. Two bailiffs are on the payroll at $125 each. The state library staff is on a graded salary basis.

The $2,000 increase requested by the court is partly to raise the filing clerk's remuneration up to the same level as the others in the clerk's office, and partly for library maintenance. The library has recently moved into its expanded quarters, and the expense and caring for them will be larger than heretofore.

Cass County Corn Pays.

Cass county one of the best counties in one of the best states in all America, is hard to beat when it comes to raising good corn, or anything else as to that matter, Otto Schaffer, who entertained the contest for the best ten acres of corn, had a piece of ground which he been in alfalfa and hog pasture, which he put in corn of the yellow dent variety, getting the crop in early and having a good stand and with good cultivation, which had an excellent crop. County agent L. R. Shipes and a man from Lincoln came and picked a portion of the corn in order to get a good average, and found by weighing it that the yield was 95.6 per acre. This is pretty good, and while it is, the entire field of one hundred acres of corn raised by Mr. Otto Schaffer averaged slightly above 55 bushels the acre. Two things contribute to this excellent yield, one was that the man who did the farming absolutely knew his business, and the other was the favorable season with good soil. However more corn can be grown on the Cass county land than is at this time with the better cultivation.
