Road Bonds to be Given a Court Test

Suit to Be Filed as Soon as Total Vote on $100,000,000 Issue in Iowa Is Announced

Des Moines, Nov. 27.—Plans were under way today for a speedy test in the state supreme court of the $100,000,000 road bond proposition voted on at the recent general election.

Col. Glenn Haynes, secretary of the Iowa Good Roads association, and John Fletcher, attorney general, who is charged in the bill with the task of attacking the validity of the bond measure, were in conference as to the method of thrusting out possible points of controversy.

Suit to Be Filed
A suit in district court will be instituted as soon as the executive council announces the total vote on the bond issue, and authorizes the sale of the first installment of bonds, it was said.

W. C. Merckensson, secretary of the council, said today all counties had made returns, but that it would take a day or so longer for tabulations to be finished by this council.

Early action by the supreme court is important, it was stated by council members, due to the fact that road bonds voted in several counties mature April 1. These bonds, intended to be redeemed by state bonds, must be taken up by the individual counties, if the road bond issue has not been passed upon by that date.

Vote Being Canvassed
The council is also engaged in canvass of the votes on presidential electors, all state officers, with the exception of governor and lieutenant governor, and members of the legislature.

The statute provides that the vote for the chief executive and lieutenant governor shall be canvassed by the legislature in joint convention just prior to administration of the oath of the two officials.—Omaha Bee-News.

NEW PREMIER MAY WESTERNIZE RUMANIA

Bucharest, Rumania, Nov. 29.—Westernization of the constitutional basis of Rumania was decreed today in a manifest issued by the new Jullu Manu government. Public servants, courts and the army are to be made independent of political power. The government is to be decentralized, by establishing local elective autonomy. Since agriculture forms the chief industry of Rumania, other branches of production are to be made dependent on it, and export taxes are to be abolished in time to make agriculture more profitable.

THURSDAY'S RESULTS

Nebraska 4, Kansas Aggies, 0.
Oklahoma 14, Missouri 0.
Marquette 6, Iowa State. (Non-conference.)

Nebraska's Cornhuskers clinched a successful season Thursday afternoon by handing the Kansas Aggies an 8 to 0 setback and so clinched the first Big Six conference football championship, while Oklahoma turned the tables on Missouri's Tigers, 14 to 0 and Iowa State bowed to Marquette, 6 to 0, in a non-conference game.

Victory over the Aggies Thanksgiving day marked the fifth triumph of the Huskers this season over a Big Six team and gave Nebraska undisputed claim to the championship. Missouri and Oklahoma finished tied for second as a result of the conference slates previously, ended up in fourth and fifth places, respectively. The Kansas Aggies landed in the cellar after five conference reverses.

Sloan Is Scoring Ace
Clair Sloan, fast stepping Nebraska halfback, failed to tally in the Kansas Aggie game Thursday but emerged with high scoring honors in the Big Six conference as a result of his showing throughout the entire season. Clair piled up a total point score of thirty-five counters, including only three points scored in conference games.

DENIAL BY DEWEY OF COMMUNIST PRACTICES

New York, Nov. 29.—Prof. Dewey of Columbia university, noted for his philosophical writings and teachings, denied today he was a propagandist for communism as charged at the American Federation of Labor convention at New Orleans. The convention voted yesterday to strike from the record references to Dr. Dewey. Tribute was paid to him as "the leading educational authority in America." Later Matthew Wolf, fourth vice president of the federation, referred to him as "a propagandist not for special interests but for communist interests."

Jardine Says Farmer Entitled to Federal Aid

Reports Low Prices for Record Yield; Urges Quality Production—Decrease in Exports.

Washington, Nov. 30.—Despite the clamor of demands for farm relief legislation, Secretary Jardine in his annual report to President Coolidge declares that "it is beyond question that 1928 will go down in American agricultural history as a year of achievement."

Insisting that the gross income for agriculture this year will be well above the 1927-28 total of $12,253,000,000, the secretary nevertheless couples his forecast with the statement that "this does not mean that agricultural grievances are insubstantial nor does it mean that the remedy for these very real difficulties should be left to the free play of economic forces."

The situation from which agriculture still is suffering has complex economic, social and other roots," he says.

"Agriculture is entitled to practical governmental help in rebuilding its fortunes on a firm and permanent foundation."

Without offering any hard and fast farm relief proposal, the secretary suggests that farmers could benefit themselves by giving major attention to quality production.

Wheat Export Lower.
In the fields of farm credits and crop insurance the secretary found the greatest need for future improvement, though he felt that the federal farm loan system and intermedial credit banks have already greatly increased safety and stability.

Mr. Jardine's optimistic outlook took into consideration his notation that "in value our agricultural exports for the year were 4 per cent less than those of the preceding year and were the smallest in the last five years."

In spite of bad weather conditions in some sections, he says the acreage of crops harvested was the largest ever recorded, and eight million acres above the 1927 total. Yields per acre, moreover, were "about 8 per cent above the average for the last 10 years and about 1.7 per cent above those of last year."

His estimate of gross income based on conspicuous betterment in the live stock industries, the increased income from which he believes will more than counterbalance lowered returns to be expected from cash grains, hay, tobacco and potatoes.

Crop production in general, the report asserts, was good in all parts of the country.

Wheat Prices Low.
"Our wheat production exceeded 900 million bushels for the first time since 1919," the report says. "The increase was mostly in hard winter and durum wheat."

"In the last two months wheat prices in the United States have averaged about 28 per cent lower than those of the corresponding period in 1927."

"Corn production is estimated at about 2,900,000,000 bushels, the largest crop since 1923. Corn has grown this year on an acreage a little larger than that harvested last year and the yields, although uneven, averaged a little better. Iowa had a record crop and good yields were raised also in Illinois, Missouri, Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas. In other important corn-raising states, the yields were disappointing."

Declining and poultry production, the secretary said, have shared in the general prosperity of the live stock industries.—World-Herald.

TEAM AND WAGON FELL INTO DITCH

Last Monday afternoon a rather serious accident occurred at the Albert Selker farm just north of the city. Kenneth Copperwaite and Albert Kunz were shucking corn and came close to a ditch some ten feet deep, the ground giving away and the wagon going into the ditch dragged the team and driver along. The team was badly tangled up and it was a big job to extract them. Kenneth was injured, having the ligaments in his shoulder torn. One of the horses was badly injured internally and had to be put out of its misery. The other was somewhat badly injured but will recover. Kenneth will be laid up for some time because of his injuries. Albert Kunz while assisting in extracting the horses received a severe bump on the head that was quite painful. This was rather a serious accident and rather unfortunate for all concerned.

The team was one that Albert purchased of Ed Ernest. They were bay in color and a very nice team.—Elmwood Leader-Echo.

WINS FIFTH PLACE

The Nebraska judging team at the annual International Live Stock Exposition at Chicago this week, placed fifth in the awards announced by the judges and with the exception of the Kansas team that placed second, was the leading mid-western team in the competition at the great exposition.

The Nebraska team was composed of Cas county young men, William Brandt, Jr., Nehawka; Irwin Nolte, Eagle; Harold H. Wall Elmwood, and won the first honors at the Nebraska state fair and also the right to represent the state at the international show.

The young men on this judging team have made a great record for themselves and their friends are well pleased to see that they have ranked among the best in the international show in which every state and many of the Canadian provinces and other nations were represented.

Robbins Says Nation Lacks Defense Plan

Assistant Secretary of War Claims United States Is Helpless at Enemy Hands

Washington, Nov. 29.—The United States is utterly lacking a basic and specific plan for defense against a possible enemy attack.

This amazing disclosure was made by Assistant Secretary of War Robbins called upon the War and Navy Departments to prepare jointly, for approval by President Coolidge and for submission to congress, "a specific project for the defense of this country or coalition of enemies that might arise."

Going into further detail as to the many considerations an adequate defense plan should include, the assistant secretary said:

Size of Army
"Such a project should take into account geographical isolation, the initial resistance of our navy, the present size of our army, the strength of our man power and the stage of our industrial development."

"It should give consideration to the time needed for training troops, the initial rate of production of munitions, the period required for industry to come into mass production for war and the necessary war reserve of finished articles and raw materials."

"It is believed that if a reasonable defense project is prepared, the financial program necessary to carry it out will not be excessive and will be such as will receive the approval and support of congress."

Commerce Beary
Pointing out that under the terms of the national defense act his office has "vigorously pursued" its task of preparing for the prompt and efficient mobilization of industry in the event of war, Robbins enters this complaint:

"But to formulate a balance sheet and obtain and supply information as to what the assistant secretary of war needs in the mobilization of material (reserve stocks) is not and cannot be possible until a specific defense plan is sufficiently forecast and reinitiated that the requirements thereunder may be determined."—Omaha Bee-News.

Numerous Cases of Influenza in the State at Present

Omaha and Western Counties Report It Prevalent—Not a Serious Malady

Omaha, Nov. 30.—Hundreds of Omahans have the "flu." Health Commissioner Pinto does not call it an epidemic or even admit that the disease is more than the gripe that comes generally at this season of the year. However, he says it has been very prevalent the past week.

Prevalence of the infection was noted in the schools last Monday when more than the usual number of teachers were ill. The number has steadily increased since then. Street railway employees are ill to an unusual number. Ten men were off duty today at one street car barn case. Other employees of labor also report an unusual number of persons ill with "colds."

The disease brings with it aching in every joint, chills and a cough in some instances, which strikes suddenly. It is not reportable, hence the number of cases in Omaha is not known. The "flu" has appeared in several Nebraska cities in similar form. There have been no deaths attributable directly to it, so far, Dr. Pinto says.

School Attendance Shrinks

Sidney, Neb., Nov. 30.—An epidemic of influenza is prevalent in Cheyenne and other western counties, according to reports from doctors in this vicinity. The disease is found among both children and adults and its course runs from a week to ten days, the health bureau here reports. Some schools are running with less than 50 percent attendance. No deaths have been reported.

GLENDALE WOMAN'S CLUB

The Glendale Woman's club held a very pleasant meeting this week at the home of Mrs. Lawrence Meisinger, near ousville, and at which there were in attendance seven of the members and two visitors.

After the short business session, the ladies turned the meeting over to Mrs. Meisinger and Mrs. Philip Hennings the extension work leaders, who discussed and explained the lessons received on balanced meals and also on the school lunches, that were made a part of the study program of the present month.

There was a presentation of ten different sandwich combinations that was a very interesting subject and was followed by the ladies with interest.

The next meeting will be held on Tuesday, December 11th, with Mrs. Hans Staben, and the ladies will take up the study and demonstration of ten different kinds of candy that is being arranged under the direction of the extension department of the state university for study in the various clubs. This next meeting will be an all day meeting and the members are urged to bring a covered dish for the dinner. There will also be the club Christmas tree at this meeting.

County Agents Help 4-H Clubs

Nebraska counties having county extension agents had an average enrollment of 165 boys and girls in club work while counties without agents averaged 37 members per county in 1928.

Club members from organized counties took home $4,603.14 in premium money from the 1928 Nebraska state fair, while members from all the other counties won but $724.49.

Since club work began in the state more than ten years ago, only two state championships in all-around club work have been won by boys and girls working without the assistance of county extension agents. Four different championships are awarded each year, making the ratio two out of more than 40.

These statements might indicate that most of the counties have county extension agents. On the other hand, only 39 out of the 93 counties in the state had agents in 1928. Work with the boys and girls is only one phase of the work of the extension agent. If corresponding figures were available on work with men and women, they would be as striking.
