AMERICAN LEGION DANCE

Plattsmouth, Neb.—Saturday Night Return Engagement—Blanch Brown and Her Rhythm Boys Admission—75c, 35c and 10c

Raymond C. Pollard was a visitor in Lincoln on last Friday he driving over to the city in his car.

Business called D. C. West of the Nehawka State bank to Plattsmouth for the day on last Saturday.

Section foreman, George Paulis has been having a tussle with the flu, and is getting some better at this time.

Mrs. Glen Rutledge was a business visitor in Plattsmouth last Wednesday, notwithstanding the very severe weather.

Mrs. Albert Willis was enjoying a visit on last Sunday at the home of her parents Mr. and Mrs. Martin of Seward.

The children of Clark Adkins are reported as being quite ill with the flu, and everything is being done for their recovery.

B. L. Philpot of Weeping Water was a visitor in Nehawka on last Tuesday and was demonstrating the new Whippet six.

John G. Wunderlich has been having a tussle with the grippe, and also had to look after the hardware store at the same time.

Bobbie, the little son of Bruce Wolfe, northeast of Union who has been so ill for some time is reported as being much improved.

The Farmer Union Oil company of Nehawka received a load of gas on last Tuesday which was unloaded by Superintendent R. C. Pollard.

James J. Pollard has an infection on one of his hands which he has been having treated and with good results as the hand is showing some improvement.

The little son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Ross, has been having quite a deal of trouble with a gathered ear, but is thought to be some better at this time.

Edward Lowery and wife of Plattsmouth, but formerly residing near Nehawka were visiting for the day on last Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Wolfe.

Robert H. Chapman and the family were guests at the home of Albert Anderson and wife for a six o'clock dinner on last Sunday, where all enjoyed the occasion very much.

Mrs. James J. Pollard was at the hospital at Omaha for a time last week where she was being treated for sinus trouble which has been giving this good woman pain for some time.

Bert Willis was out to the home of his parents on last Tuesday and was assisting the harvesting of the ice crop, meanwhile the good wife was looking after the affairs at the store.

Walter Wunderlich took the two sons Jack and Bobbie out on last Tuesday evening for a little sport in skating and found some real winter weather but this did not deter the lads or their father.

Wm. Lowery who is farming the Nicholas Opp place east of Nehawka shelled and delivered corn to the Farmers Elevator in Nehawka on last Tuesday notwithstanding the very inclement weather.

Mrs. Charles Hemphill, jr., wife of Charles Hemphill of Nehawka, and who make their home seven miles south of Nehawka is reported as being quite ill with the flu.

Johnie, the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Ruben E. Foster of south-east of Union, is very seriously ill with the flu, but is receiving the best nursing and medical care and is showing some improvement.

Richard C. DeLes Deuser of a few miles east of Elmwood, accompanied by the family, which he delivered at the stock yards and on his return brought home a load of feed for the Nehawka mills.

The bridge northwest of Nehawka which has been under construction for repairs for the past two weeks was completed on last Tuesday and the crew who have been working on the structure, loaded their machinery shipping it away by truck. This will open up the road north which has been closed for some time and caused a great deal of detouring.

Robert Greg, less than a year old, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Gregg, living a few miles north of Nehawka met with a rather peculiar accident which threatened the life of the little lad for a short time.

He was playing with a small burr or nut from a bolt, and placing it in his mouth got the nut fast in his throat, and was choking severely with a prospect that it would be fatal. The parents thought to call a doctor, but seeing that something should be done immediately or the lad would die, the father ran his finger down the throat dislodging the offending piece of iron which he bought out thus saving the life of the little one.

Sustains Fracture of Leg. While working among his cattle one creature becoming excited and struggling fell and pinning one of the legs of Mr. W. T. Schlichtmeier under the animal breaking the leg. Mr. Schlichtmeier was taken to Nebraska City, where at an hospital the fracture was reduced and the limb was placed in a cast, as the fracture was a very severe one. He, however, is getting along as well as might be looked for.

Morris Pollard Very Sick

Morris Pollard who has been in poor health for some time is at this time confined to his home and bed in Nehawka, and is being cared for by his sister in law, Mrs. Ruth Pollard. Mr. Pollard is well along in years and the age and severity of the disease is making the malady hard for him to fight but as Morris is a sturdy fighter we are looking for him to be out again in a short time.

Still Very Ill

Mrs. Henry Ross residing a number of miles southwest of Nehawka who has been so sick for so long a time with pneumonia remains in a very critical condition, while everything is being done for the patient in the way of best medical service and nursing. Her many friends are hoping that she may be able to be out again in a short time.

It Is Judge McReynolds.

Last week at their regular meeting the board of county commissioners appointed Mr. Alvin A. McReynolds as justice of the peace for Nehawka precinct. Their appointment was a very good one for they could not have selected a better man for the position. Judge McReynolds has a good understanding of the law and the courage to enforce the law as against all transgressors.

USED CAR DEALERS HELD

Omaha, Jan. 18.—Five Omaha used car dealers were arrested today and charged with violation of the law requiring them to report to police the purchase of second hand automobiles. Their arrest followed that of Donald Martin, nineteen and his sixteen year old bride, who confessed, police said, to having sold a number of stolen automobiles to dealers.

Lieutenant Bolan of the police auto theft bureau, said he expected to make at least six more arrests of dealers who have failed to report the purchase of cars from the Martins. He added that some of the dealers also might be charged with receiving and concealing stolen automobiles.

WEEPING WATER

Ralph Lane was called to Lincoln on last Saturday where he was looking after some business matters for the day.

Last Saturday Thead Davis was called to Plattsmouth where he was looking after some business matters for the day and having some business in the county court.

Mrs. Fred Linville was a visitor for a short time in Nehawka on last Saturday, where she was looking after some trading as well as visiting with her many friends there.

Aksel Bang was a visitor in Louisville on last Tuesday afternoon, making the trip with Sonnie Rothenberg, the bread man, where he went to look after some employment.

Sheldon Tefft, attorney at law and instructor in the law department of the University of Nebraska, was a visitor in Weeping Water for over the week end, guest at the home of his parents, Attorney C. E. Tefft and wife.

Peter Miller, sr., was a visitor in Plattsmouth for a number of days this week where he was looking after some business matters and also was the guest at the home of his son, James Miller and family of the county seat.

Miss Jessie Baldwin, the assistant county agent, was over near Louisville on last Tuesday, notwithstanding the inclement weather, and was looking after the work of a Woman's club which was meeting in that vicinity.

Mr. Brookings, the motion picture man of Weeping Water, started over to Eagle to look after some business matters, but found the weather during the snow storm so fierce that he gave the matter up and returned home, to wait another time.

L. R. Snipes, county agent was over to Mynard on last Tuesday, where he was assisting in checking up the books of the branch of the Farm Bureau, at that place. The farmers are greatly interested in the bureau work at that place and have a strong working organization.

Margaret, the sister of Mr. L. R. Lane, who is a regular nurse in the Clarkson hospital at Omaha, was spending last week visiting at the home in Weeping Water, and another sister, Mrs. Lee Strider of Louisville was also spending the week at the home of her parents as well, where all enjoyed the occasion very much.

Reports from Manley, some five miles north of Weeping Water is to the effect that some miscreant went to the garage and repair shop of August Krecklow and where they forced the lock on his gas tank, and pumped 240 gallons of gas from the tank and made away with it. It seems that nothing is safe in these times of the hustling thief.

The Rev. A. V. Hunter, who is superintendent of the Methodist conference at Hastings for that district, was a visitor with his parents for the week end on last Sunday, and occupied the pulpit of the Methodist church at the evening service. Rev. Hunter is a son of Mr. and Mrs. I. N. Hunter of Weeping Water, and they enjoyed his visit here very much.

John Little, who some time since had the misfortune to receive a shot in his hand from a gun, which he was using to shoot pigeons, and which he had to remain in the hospital at Omaha for several weeks, returned home about two weeks since and had to return to the hospital on last Friday, where he underwent an operation for relief from appendicitis. He is reported as getting along nicely since the operation.

Enjoy Meeting Greatly.

Some seventeen years ago, the Rev. A. V. Hunter, now superintendent of the Methodist conference at Hastings, and Earl L. Hunter, who is a practicing attorney and abstractor at Hastings, Lauren Niles, who is at the head of a large department store in Hastings and Shirley Marshall, now a landscape gardener and nursery stock salesman, who were at the time students in the Wesleyan University at University Place, where they all graduated and from there scattered over the country, all being in different places during the interim between then and now. They also met four young women whom the fates decreed they were to marry, and early last week the jolly eight were gathered at the home of Rev. A. V. Hunter at Hastings, where they dined and enjoyed the evening, as they were all eight united after the seventeen years, seeing the country and getting experience in the world. They sure enjoyed the occasion of this meeting after the years.

Have Most Pleasant Evening.

On last Monday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Jamison, were gathered the members of the Pinochle club, which consist of a large number of players of this fascinating game. A covered dish luncheon was served and following this the entire number enjoyed the game. The club had for their guests a number of friends from Weeping Water.

CASS COUNTY AGAIN TO BE PLACED ON ACCREDITED LIST

Tuberculosis testing of cattle in Cass county commenced December third, and has progressed far enough so the livestock owners may be assured that the county will maintain its status as a modified tuberculosis free accredited county.

January twelfth, five thousand eight hundred and fifteen cattle had been tested. Twenty-three were removed as reactors. This shows the infection to be less than four-tenths of one per cent.

According to the uniform methods and rules, "if twenty per cent of the cattle of an accredited county are tested and the infection is found to be less than one half of one per cent the county may be reestablished as an accredited area."

More than twenty per cent of the cattle of Cass county are tested and the infection is less than four-tenths of one per cent.

A few more precincts will be tested in the near future, but the entire county will not be covered. The amount of infection does not warrant a complete test of the county. The packers will continue to pay the ten cents per hundred cwt. premium on hogs raised in this county.

Sunday Dance Law is Held Un-constitutional

Measure Is Class Legislation Says the Supreme Court in Opinion in Saunders County Case

The state law prohibiting dancing on Sunday was declared unconstitutional by the Supreme court in an opinion handed down Saturday morning.

The suit which resulted in the overturning of this law was one filed by County Attorney Cecil E. Galloway of Saunders county, in which it was sought to force the closing of the Scotts Lake Outing club near Morse Bluffs, where Sunday dances were being conducted.

It was the charge of the county attorney that the morals of the young people in that vicinity were being corrupted. The District court of Saunders county upheld the law and granted the injunction closing the resort.

Fine and Sentence Provided.

The law provided that "if any person of the age of 14 years or upwards shall be found on the first day of the week, commonly called Sunday, rioting, quarreling, engaged in public dancing, hunting or shooting, he or she shall be fined in a sum not exceeding $20 or be imprisoned in the county jail for a term not exceeding 20 days, or both."

A provision, however, was included asserting that the portion of the act relating to public dancing should not apply to cities of the metropolitan class having a public welfare board with authority to regulate public dancing.

It was this provision that caused the Supreme court to overturn the law. Regarding that the court says:

Called Class Legislation.

"That portion of Section 9795 . . . is invalid, as class legislation, under Section 18, Article 3 of the constitution of Nebraska prohibiting the passage of any local or special law granting to any corporation, association, or individual any special or exclusive privileges, immunity or franchise whatever."

The court points out that the law discriminates between metropolitan cities and between them and other cities by a classification having no reasonable basis.

The ruling does not affect those provisions relating to rioting, quarreling, hunting and shooting. Those relating to hunting and shooting have been nullified for years by public opinion and no effort has been made to enforce them.

The law relating to Sunday dancing has never been applied to private dances and in many localities it has been ignored as to public dances.

"Private Club" Ruse Used.

In some places, however, it has been successfully evaded for public dancing purposes, the promoters of the dances using the guise of a private club by assessing a nominal membership fee on those wishing to dance, but charging the usual admission price at the same time.

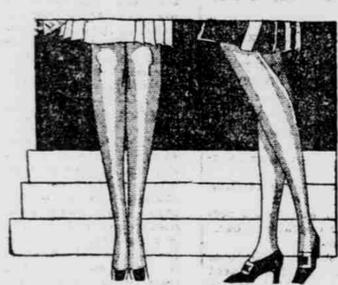

Judge Charles H. Slama of Wahoo was the attorney for the Scotts Lake Outing Club in the suit.

TIME EXTENSION IS ASKED

Washington, Jan. 21.—A bill to extend the time for John C. Mullen, T. L. Davies, John H. Hutchings, and Virgil Falcon of Falls City, Neb., to bridge the Missouri river at Rebo, Neb., from one to three years, was introduced today by Representative Morehead, Nebraska.

A time extension of one year for beginning construction of a bridge across the Missouri river at Decatur, Neb., is provided in a bill introduced today by Representative Howard, Nebraska. The measure would provide that time for completion of the bridge shall be extended three years.
