WILL REOPEN MARCH 1ST

The sand and gravel industry which has grown in the past year to be quite a thriving addition to the activities of this locality, located at Oreapolis, just north of this city, will reopen for the spring and summer run on or near March 1st.

The sand and gravel pits were closed down the middle of November with the setting in of the bad weather and wintery conditions and the workmen released for the winter months with the exception of the necessary watchmen for the property.

With the near approach of the spring, the pits will be reopened and a very busy season for 1929 is anticipated as the pits here supply a great deal of material used in the road construction work in Nebraska and Iowa, and while last summer was the first season the pits were open they did a large volume of business.

MIDDLE OF THE ROAD POPULAR

Those who make the ascent of high school hill in the pioneer and primitive foot method have found that the safest and surest way of reaching the top or bottom of the hill safely is to take the street for walking, as the sidewalks are very heavily coated with ice and packed snow that makes it a very dangerous means of travel and only the school youngsters seeking a thrill will attempt the descent of the hill via the sidewalk route.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express to the members of the Plattsmouth fire department our deep appreciation of the splendid response that they made to the fire call at our home and assure them that their efforts will be most gratefully remembered.—Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Patton and Family.

Legion Initiation Will Bring Many from Over County

Greenwood Legion Bunch Here for Floor Work and Visitors From All Posts to Come.

From Wednesday's Daily.—At the Legion community building in this city on Thursday evening will be held one of the largest gatherings of former service men that has been featured in this city since the first district convention in 1926 when representatives from all posts in the county will be in attendance.

The occasion will be the initiation of a large group of candidates by the Hugh J. Kearns post of this city and in which the visitors will join in making a real event and which to the candidates will seem like the days before the armistice or even worse.

The ritualistic work of the evening will be staged by the local post and in which the visitors will join in the general attack on the candidates that will be in charge of the Greenwood post under the direction of Col. Phil L. Hall and George Bucknell. The Greenwood wrecking crew will bring their own physician, Dr. H. W. McFadden and it is hoped to have him reinforced by Dr. G. H. Gilman of Murray and Dr. R. P. Westover of this city, as well as Dr. G. L. Taylor, veterinarian of Murray, to assist.

Preceding the initiation the members of the posts and the candidates expect to stage a parade through the business section to give the candidates a chance to get limbered up for the ordeal that will follow. The Greenwood post will be here 100 per cent, they have assured the local committees and large delegations from Louisville and Nehawka are also expected to join in the impressive work as well as the fun and frolic that will be a part of the evening show.

The Legion is an order where service is the only qualification for membership and in the gatherings of the doughboy, gobs and marines there are no distinction of rank, and judges, bankers, farmers, laborers and all are the boys who were in service and race, creed and color make no difference in the great common tie that is as binding today as in the warlike days when the service men were busy in the efforts to win the war.

The members of the posts that participated in the 1929 members and from whom the class of candidates are to be selected.

Former Kaiser Given Honor by the Royalists

Forthcoming Birthday Anniversary of Deposed German Ruler Is Celebrated.

Berlin, Jan. 22.—Two thousand royalists tonight celebrated the forthcoming seventieth birthday of former Kaiser Wilhelm. At a gathering in the "Kriegerevereinshaus" under the auspices of the "upright" organization, they cheered Prince Eitel Friedrich, second son of the former emperor, and his wife, Princess Wilhelm, eldest son of former crown prince, as "their to the imperial crown."

The assembly, adorned by many ancient uniforms, and with many women in the dresses of nurses with red cross medals, made an unusual show. The gallery behind the speaker displayed a large banner reading "Youth Faithful to the Kaiser." A military band played marches and after almost every speech led the audience in singing some song pledging fidelity to Wilhelm or castigating the present republican "shame" of Germany.

The former crown prince did not appear. He was not referred to in the speeches and it was his son who was hailed as the lawful ruler of the country. Welcomed by Lieutenant General Waechter, the chairman, the young prince Wilhelm who sat in the front row, had to arise and bow frequently. The audience greeted with cheers the chairman's declaration that no people was ever more ungrateful to its ruler than the Germans toward the Kaiser; and a few minutes later when he began to read a message from the exile at Doorn, the entire audience arose and stood reverently. Tears were in many eyes as General Waechter said:

"May the spirit of the 'uprights' so permeate the whole German people that the way to freedom and imperial glory may be clear."—State Journal.

WANT YOUNG AS PRESIDENT

Paris, Jan. 22.—Arrival here today of the Japanese members of the new committee on reparations revived speculation concerning organization of the commission. There was general opinion in governmental and financial circles that Owen D. Young of the United States would be named president of the body. Washington dispatches reached here that Mr. Young would refuse to make confidence of French observers that he would be chosen and would accept.

ANOTHER SMALL FIRE

This morning shortly after 8 o'clock the fire department was called to the residence on North 7th street occupied by the Joseph Boyd family where sparks from the chimney caused a small fire to start on the roof of the residence but which was extinguished with very little damage being done to the building although the fire caused a great deal of excitement in the family and neighborhood. The fact that the wind was not blowing allowed the blaze to be checked at once. This is the third fire in as many days and the extreme cold weather has kept the fire department on the alert for calls that usually follow the cold weather when very hot fires are built in the homes.

That the fire damages are not greater can be laid to the fact that Chief Sandlin has made intensive campaigns in the past few years and the boys who were in service and race, creed and color make no difference in the great common tie that is as binding today as in the warlike days when the service men were busy in the efforts to win the war.

Budget is Explained by Gov. Weaver

Recommends Million Dollar Reduction; Penal and Charity Needs Are Emphasized.

Lincoln, Jan. 22.—The financial needs of the state government and its institutions were outlined to the state legislature Tuesday by Governor Arthur J. Weaver. In his supplementary budget message. He recommended an expenditure of $31,200,839, a reduction of $1,716,442 from the 1927-29 budget.

He reviewed in detail existing financial conditions and requisites of many of the state departments and subdivisions. He placed special emphasis on the needs of the 17 state penal and charitable institutions. The governor limited the amount for improvements at the University of Nebraska to $180,000, but he increased the maintenance fund 10 per cent, recommending $3,987,500 and which is $163,500 more than was requested by the regents and $87,500 more than was appropriated two years ago.

Need High Standards. "We had better have a good university with limited buildings than a large physical plant with decreased educational standards," Governor Weaver said in explaining his recommendations for the school.

The tax levy for 1929, based on this budget, will be slightly higher than the levy of 1928. Governor Weaver said. "Based also on this budget, the levy of 1930 will be decreased in comparison with the levy of 1929 because the emergency and deficiency appropriations will be provided for by the levy of 1929. $1,349,412 from property taxes, $12,624,535 goes to general governmental purposes, while $1,375,376 is for completing the capitol.

$4,176,000 for University. For the University of Nebraska, $180,000 is recommended for permanent improvements. The regents asked for $1,250,000. Former Governor McMullen recommended $600,000. For maintenance of the university, $3,987,500 is recommended, which is $163,500 more than was asked and $87,500 more than was appropriated two years ago.

For four normal schools, $45,000 for each school, or a total of $180,000 is recommended for improvements as against $475,000 requested.

Code Changes. The code changes recommended by the governor are:

- Finance Department—Merged with tax commissioner's office.
Welfare Department—Placed under labor secretary.
Registration—Transferred from public works department to secretary of state.
Gasoline Tax Bureau—Abolished and placed under state treasurer.
Fish and Game—Transferred from agricultural department to state park and forestry board.
Election System—Abolished; temporarily placed under insurance commissioner; recommended by governor to be turned over to attorney general.
Fire Prevention—State fire marshal and his activities placed under state sheriff.
For the Biennium 1927-29, a total of $1,756,545 was appropriated for salaries and wages out of the property tax. "For the coming biennium I have recommended for salaries and wages $1,695,485 out of the property tax, making a saving in this item of $61,060.

"For law enforcement an additional $5,000 has been added for the administration of the state sheriff's office, and $10,000 to the attorney general's office, to provide for either law enforcement or litigation."

School Budget Cut. Budget recommendations for the commissioner of public lands and buildings was $35,930, plus $135,000 for maintenance of the capitol.

Appropriation recommendations for the executive departments follow: Governor, $38,380; secretary of state, $42,480; state auditor, $61,280; state treasurer, $37,645; superintendent of public instruction, $418,080.

The budget of the state superintendent was decreased by Governor Weaver and the recommendation is less than the appropriation two years ago. Supt. Charles W. Taylor asked $544,680.

For a new boys' and girls' club building at the state fair grounds, the governor recommended $75,000 for construction of the first unit. He also recommended $10,000 for a state publicity agency under the state board of agriculture.

Governor Weaver approved the joint heating, lighting and power plant for the capitol and university as recommended by Governor Adam McMullen.

For revision and compilation of the Nebraska statutes, the governor recommended an appropriation of $60,000.

Student Increase. In commenting on the University of Nebraska, the governor said: "A careful survey of the situation with reference to the university leads to the inevitable conclusion that appropriations for maintenance, in order to maintain adequate standards, are necessary at this time. Appropriations for this purpose have not kept pace with the increasing enrollment, particularly in the years following financial depression. As an example, on Nov. 1, 1921, the total number of regular students in actual and casual attendance was 4,784. On November 1, 1928, it had grown to 6,454.

"The amount appropriated for salaries and maintenance for the university for the biennium 1921-23 was $3,418,250, while for the 1927-29 it was only $3,500,000.

"It has been this condition which has rendered it difficult for the university to retain many valuable professors, avoid large classes and in general to maintain a position comparable to other universities.

"Approximately state, the increase in enrollment has been 25 per cent while increase in appropriation has been approximately 3 per cent. These comparative percentages are not wholly accurate as the maintenance funds for the reason that the maintenance available was materially increased by the fees received from students.

"However, I deem it important to materially increase the budget as to university maintenance.

"This maintenance represents money used largely for teaching, which determines our real educational standards. We had better have a good university with limited buildings than to have a large physical plant with decreased educational standards. Because I deem the quality of instruction of primary importance, I have increased the maintenance for all purposes 10 per cent over the previous biennium.

"In view of this necessary increase and its allowance, and also in view of a prior demand at this time of the capital investment for our 17 penal and charitable institutions, I have recommended only $160,000 for lands and buildings for the university.

Institutional Funds. Appropriations for improvements and repairs, as recommended by the governor, at the various institutions follow:

Institution for Feeble Minded, Beatrice, $125,000 for new building and $20,000 for repairs; Nebraska Soldiers and Sailors home, Burkett, $60,000 for new building and $20,000 for repairs; Hastings State hospital, $40,000 for power plant building, $25,000 for repairs; State Industrial school, Kearney, $12,000 for repairs; Hospital for Tuberculosis, Kearney, $8,000 for repairs; State hospital at Lincoln, $22,500 for building and $30,000 for repairs; Orthopedic hospital, Lincoln, $100,000 for building and $10,000 for repairs.

State penitentiary, Lincoln, $127,500 for new cells and kitchen, $68,000 for unit to power plant, and $12,000 for repairs; Nebraska Industrial home, Milford, $45,000 for building and $6,000 for repairs; Soldiers and Sailors home, Milford, $6,000 for repairs; Nebraska City School for Blind, $12,500 for repairs; Norfolk State hospital, $100,000 for new building and $60,000 for repairs.

Nebraska School for Deaf, Omaha, $50,000 for power plant and $10,000 for repairs; State Reformatory for Women, York, $7,500 for dairy barn and $5,000 for repairs; Nebraska Home for Children, Children, Lincoln, $50,000 for building and $5,000 for repairs.

State Reformatory for Men, Lincoln, $20,500 for new buildings and $5,000 for repairs.

$35,000 for Parks. For maintenance of state parks, Governor Weaver fixed the following maximum expenditures, which shall be paid for by receipts of the state fish and game department:

Arbor Lodge, $5,000; Victoria Springs, $8,000; Chadron State Park, $14,000, and Sollet State park, $8,000.

BUSY TIME FOR BASKETBALL

From Tuesday's Daily.—The local high school basketball quintet are having a few days rest preparatory to a very busy week commencing next Saturday. On Saturday the blue and white will entertain the Omaha Central five here on the Plattsmouth court, a game that will be filled with great interest as Central has shown increasing power this year over their 1928 performance and should give the locals a hot battle.

Next week the Plattmers have two games to face them—one being with the speedy Auburn team which has been showing real class this season and looks good for the southeastern representative in the state tourney. The Plattmers go to Nebraska City on Wednesday, January 30th and mix with the purple and gold and then return to this city where Auburn will be the callers on Friday evening.

The completion of the next week's schedule will leave but three more games before the state tournament in March. Peru Prep will entertain Plattsmouth there on Friday, February 8th, while on February 15th the Plattmers will go to Omaha and play North on the Vikings court. On February 22nd and 23rd the district tourney at Peru and then the last home game of the season on the local court when Nebraska City makes their annual call.

W. H. E. L. CLUB MEETS

From Wednesday's Daily.—Last evening Miss Emma Johnson was hostess at her home at Eighth and Rock street to the members of the W. H. E. L. club, a bridge club of the young ladies of the city and who found a great deal of enjoyment in the fascinations of this game and despite the very bad weather a large number of the club members were out to enjoy the occasion. In the playing Mrs. Lon Henry received the high score of the evening while the consolation prize was awarded to Miss Eleanor Hiber. At a suitable hour during the evening the hostess assisted by her mother, Mrs. J. P. Johnson, served dainty and delicious refreshments.

'Old Alex' Sued for Divorce in Lincoln Court

Great National League Pitcher Who Has Visited Here Frequently in Linnelght.

Lincoln, Neb., Jan. 21.—Grover Cleveland Alexander, 42, veteran pitcher in National league baseball, was sued for divorce here today by Aimee Marie Alexander, his wife of 11 years.

The Alexanders have regarded St. Paul, Neb., as their winter home but this year have been living at a Lincoln hotel.

"Extreme cruelty is charged in the petition filed in district court. Mrs. Alexander, contending that her husband's earning capacity is large, asks for "equitable compensation" and attorney's fees.

Her attorney would not comment on the action, except to say "we tried to make it as easy on the boy as we could."

Mrs. Alexander was Miss Aimee Arrants of Omaha before her marriage. Her father had owned a large ranch at St. Paul, and she and Grover had known each other as children.

Efforts to find Alexander tonight were futile, and friends said they did not know whether he was in Lincoln. Mrs. Alexander had suffered an attack of influenza shortly after Christmas, and her husband was with her during the illness. The separation, so far as could be learned, was recent.

FIRE DESTROYS ELEVATOR

Dalton, Neb. Jan. 21.—Over $5,000 worth of grain was lost in a fire that destroyed the large elevator of Pelster & Anderson here Saturday night.

The total loss is estimated at $12,000, partly insured. The fire started at a time when a hard wind was blowing and the temperature was at zero. Firemen had difficulty in saving nearby buildings and the Garpey fire department was called. The elevator was built in 1906 and was the first grain receiving station established in this territory. The plant will be rebuilt, its owners announced.
