FINE CARD PARTY

From Tuesday's Daily—
The card party given yesterday afternoon and last evening at the Hotel Riley by the altar society of the St. John's church, proved to be a record breaker in the number present at the evening of cards, the dining room as well as the lobby of the hotel being filled with the devotees of the games. Bridge and pinochle served to pass the time most delightfully and the members enjoyed the occasion to the utmost. Prizes were offered at each of the tables and a great deal of interest was taken in the playing. The ladies of the society served dainty and delicious refreshments during the course of the evening.

County Judge and Mrs. A. H. Duxbury and Dorothea Mae enjoyed Lincoln's birthday at Omaha where they were the guests of friends for the day.

Dry Cure for Meat.

The principal dry cure for meat is dry salt. The meat is rubbed thoroughly with a high grade of salt, taking special care to cover the lean tissues and also to crowd the cure into the shanks of hams and shoulders. The pieces should be piled on a table or packed in a barrel to retain their shape.

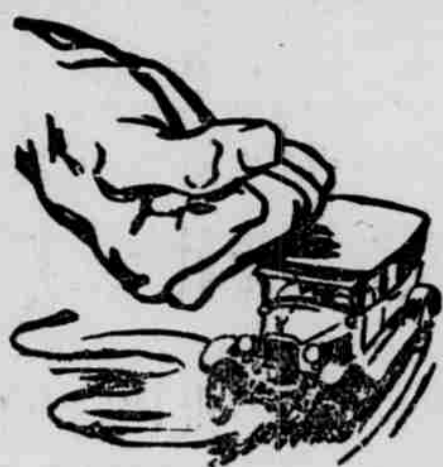

Six days after the first rubbing, the first cure will be absorbed, and the meat should be rubbed again and "overhauled." Entirely repack the meat so that no two pieces remain in contact too long. For best results meat should be overhauled three times. Meat should be left in the fry cure for two days per pound weight of piece. One-fourth as much sugar as salt may be added for a sugar cure. The following curing formula known as the Virginia Dry Cure is made up for 100 pounds of meat:

4 pounds salt.
1 pound sugar (granulated or brown.)
1 ounce red pepper.

Salt peter may be used to retain the color of the meat. Uniform temperatures are desirable for uniform penetration of the salt. A temperature of about 35 degrees F is preferable. Meat should be kept in a dry, well-ventilated place as it absorbs flavors and taints readily.

The Alfalfa Seed Tells the Story.

One cannot study the behavior of alfalfa in different fields in Nebraska without coming to the conclusion that there is a great difference in the ability of various lots of seed to maintain a stand and to resist killing out. Examples can be found of wide differences where two lots of seed were sown in the same field. One lot may show much killing out and disease while the other holds its stand in fine shape. That the difference is a hereditary one due to the inherent qualities carried in the seed can be the only conclusion.

Altho farmers may appreciate the fact that seed differs greatly the solution of the problem is not so easy, as it is not always easy to get good seed. The tendency toward Grimm and Cossack alfalfa in Nebraska is growing and perhaps rightly so where farmers want seed that will be quite sure to hold its stand for a number of years. There are old fields in the Platte valley, some of which are nearly 40 years old, that are still good stands. An effort is being made to secure seed from these old fields for sowing new ones, in seed growing areas of Nebraska.—L. R. Snipes and Jessie H. Baldwin, County Extension Agents.

CAN SPRING BE FAR AWAY?

From Monday's Daily—
Mrs. W. V. Wasley, residing in the north portion of the city, reports the first indication of the glad springtime, the advent of the robin, the joy bird of the spring and whose coming in the northland is an indication that soon the green grass and leafing trees will replace the banks of snow and ice. The two robins were first noted at the Wasley home on Saturday and crumbs of food have been placed for them that they may be able to withstand the rigors of the weather as the pioneers of the spring season in this semi-zero weather. This is the first report that the Journal has received of seeing robins in this locality this season, and sounds good to those who have had their fill of the cold weather.

Laura La Plant at Parmele in a Screen Thriller

"The Last Warning" Hailed as a Super Breath-Taker—At the Parmele Three Days.

"The Last Warning," Universal's mystery special starring Laura La Plante, will be shown at the Parmele theatre on Sunday, Monday and Tuesday nights. It is hailed as an unusual and spectacular production. From the very acquisition of the story through every phase of the work of production Carl Laemmle's orders that this be made into a special were adhered to on a grand scale.

A big price was paid for the screen rights of Thomas F. Fallon's stage play of the same name, adapted from a novel by Wadsworth Camp. It was turned over to Al Olin to adapt, and the Hollywood world is acclaiming "The Last Warning" more particularly noted for his scenario on "The Cat and the Canary" last year.

Remembering what a tremendous success Paul Leni had made in directing Laura La Plante in "The Cat and the Canary," Laemmle decided to give the director-star combination a chance to outdo their spectacular work in this other mystery story. He put every facility of Universal studio at their command and gave them a free rein. The result is that critics the world over are acclaiming "The Last Warning" more terrifying and mysterious than anything ever seen before on the screen.

The supporting cast of "The Last Warning" has unusual strength. It contains artists of such prominence that many of them could carry a picture on their own shoulders.

On the roster of this production appear the names of Miss La Plante, John Boles, Montagu Love, Roy D'Arcy, Bert Roach, Margaret Livingston, Mack Swain, Burr McIntosh, Carrie Daumery, George Sumnerville, Torben Meyer, D'Arcy Corrigan, Bud Phelps, Charles K. French, Tom McGuire, Fred Kelsey, Tom O'Brien, and Harry Northrup. Carl Laemmle, Jr., supervised the production.
