Spencer Marshall who does a business in clothing and shoes and by the way, keeps tab on the volume of the business, says that this February up to the 19th was greater in volume than all of the months in 1928, which speaks well for the prosperity of the business interests of Weeping Water.

Edward Dowler was a visitor in Dunbar on the 21st of this month, where he went to attend the sale of his friend, George Stites, who is holding a sale and who will on the first of March go to Alvo, where he has purchased the lumber yard of John W. Banning of that place, and will engage in the lumber business.

The father and mother, while they are happy over the event, are not the only ones rejoicing for Grandfather Verne Smith and wife are also wearing broad smiles.

George Ellis and wife of West Point, where Mr. Ellis is engaged in business, were visiting in Weeping Water for the greater portion of the week, with their friends and relatives. Mr. and Mrs. Ellis have been in West Point for some time past and are liking the town very much. They are with their daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Ellis LaRue, who is also a business man in that place. Mr. Ellis tells of the completion of a very fine new school building, at that place, which houses all the educational interests of the city. They returned to their home in the north on this Thursday.

A. R. Dowler was a visitor in Elmwood on last Tuesday morning and in Nehawka in the afternoon, where he was looking after the sale of the newer and bigger Chevrolet, which the Dowler Brothers are selling many of at this time. During the month of February they disposed of fourteen new cars and at the same time many used cars, which makes a very fine record. Mr. Edward Dowler will move to Weeping Water within a short time now, as he has to vacate the farm which he disposed of to Ralph Lindsey, and is to give possession March 1st. Mr. Edward Dowler is thinking of purchasing a home of his own in town, as he had a number of very flattering offers.

ARMY MEASURE DEADLOCK ENDS. Washington, Feb. 16.—The long deadlock over the army promotion bill was broken Saturday when the senate military affairs committee reported out a compromise measure and the senate sent it to conference with the house to iron out differences with that body.

Many changes were written into the bill, which represents a compromise between the groups favoring promotion as vacancies occur and those for a system of promotion on the basis of seniority. The entire list of officers would be affected.

The provision to give full honors and justice to Major Gen. Hunter Liggett, one of the outstanding heroes of the world war, was restored to the bill.

Fight Weaver Plan to Cut the Code Bureaus

Bill to Have State Treasurer Collect Gas Tax Meets Opposition in Senate

Lincoln, Feb. 19.—The standpat Republican bloc in the state senate, which has opposed Governor Weaver several times this session, presented considerable opposition Tuesday to a measure which embodied his plan to cut down the code departments. The measure, senate file No. 78, was introduced by Senator Warner of Waverley, and provided that the gasoline tax shall be collected by the state treasurer rather than by a separate bureau under the department of agriculture.

Weaver For It. Senator Weaver declared that the gas tax receipts must now pass through the hands of the bureau chief and the secretary of the agriculture department before finally reaching the state treasurer. He declared his plan would eliminate all of this extra work and that the governor during the morning had said he still favored the plan.

Those opposing the measure favored the collection of the tax by the secretary of agriculture, pointing out that the work could be done under the supervision of Secretary McLaughlin with the aid of one or two clerks.

Muny Bills Passed. Five bills sponsored by the Nebraska League of Municipalities were passed by the senate. All are related to the governing of the procedure of mayors and councils in the various classes of villages, towns and cities.

Under the provisions of senate file No. 39 the major and council of cities of the second class have the power to employ efficiency experts to perform such duties as they see fit. A broader application of this means that such cities may employ city managers while still retaining their council form of government.

The other measures passed provide for the following: All ordinances and resolutions for payment of money by a municipality shall be read on three different days unless three-fourths of the council or trustees shall dispense with the rule.

In cities of the first class from 5,000 to 25,000, ordinances and resolutions, or orders for the appropriation or payment of money shall require a majority vote of the members of councils or commissions, and ordinances of a general or permanent nature shall be read on three different days unless three-fourths of the members vote to suspend rules.

Any property of any municipality shall be sold for a cash consideration only. Mayor and council of cities of second class shall have power to perform any act or thing when the matter of exercising such power is not specifically pointed out by statute.—Omaha Bee-News.

Europe Faces Fuel Shortage in Rail Tie-Up

Cold Wave Sweeps Over Continent —Distress Great in South-eastern States. London.—The unusually severe cold wave, continuing over Europe, is causing considerable distress, particularly in the southeast, where fuel shortage has been rendered acute through stoppage of transportation from Polish and Czechoslovakian mines. Some 300 casualties have been reported from central Europe.

Rivers and sea channels over most of Europe, save in Spain, were reported frozen over or choked with ice. Rome had a heavy snowfall. The Riviera was covered with snow. In Berlin schools were closed for a week because of the icy conditions.

Temperatures in many cases are extra low to be without precedent, although Scandinavia was normal.

In Budapest the crowd stormed a coal depot during the night after the government had announced distribution of fuel at 8 a. m., refusing to wait till morning. Fifty persons were injured as a result of the ensuing riot.

In Vienna the Chancellor, Dr. Seipel ordered Parliament suspended for two weeks because of this weather. He explained that this would save five tons of coal daily. The Austrian Ministers at Prague and Warsaw made personal appeals to the rulers of Czechoslovakia and Poland for additional fuel, pointing out that Austrian supply had sprung from 125,000 tons to 30,000 tons.

But in Czechoslovakia miles of abandoned freight cars were frozen fast to the tracks and could not be moved, while in Poland rationing of coal supplies had been reported to avert a shortage there. At Lwow, Poland, not a single train had arrived from the last three days and a food shortage as well as fuel shortage was threatened.

In the Cattagat and the Sound between Denmark and Sweden 130 steamers were frozen fast, awaiting attempts of ice breakers to release them.

The canals and lagoons at Venice were completely frozen over, for the first time, it is said, since the thirteenth century.

The Riviera offered a plaintive note—there were no snow travelers and the heavy snow has brought too much slush for the comfort of the migratory Parisians who sought to escape winter there.

RIVER CONFAB IN DEADLOCK

Santa Fe, N. M., Feb. 16.—Little progress was made Friday in the Colorado river conference being held here in an effort to find a solution of the differences between Arizona and California over the allocation of water of the Colorado river.

Following the morning session, the conference adjourned over the weekend.

Attempts to interpret provisions of the Swing-Johnson Boulder dam bill in relation to water allocated to the lower basin states, and particularly the waters of the Gila river, a tributary of the Colorado, developed a wide divergence between Arizona and California viewpoints.

John L. Bacon, chairman of the California delegation, declared it was absurd for Arizona to claim 2,800,000 acre feet of water from the Colorado river and all water of the Gila river, which amount to 4,500 acre feet.

"This would give Arizona 7,000,000 acre feet," Bacon said. "And if all this water is included within the 7,500,000 acre feet allowed the lower basin states, where does California come in?"

In replying, A. H. Favour, Arizona water commissioner, said: "Under the Santa Fe compact, California is allowed 4,500,000 acre feet."

SET TRAP FOR THIEVES

The names of Nebraska and Kansas will appear on all stamps of from 1 to 5-cent denominations sold within these states starting April 1, Postmaster J. Dean Ringer learned today.

The test is to be made in these two states in an effort by the post-office department to cope with thieves; to render more difficult the sale of stolen stamps and facilitate the tracing of stolen stamps from one state to another, and if successful, it was said, the plan will be extended to all states of the union.
