No Lack of Candidates for Various Offices

President Has Conference With Members of Congress Who Suggest Appointments.

Washington—Conferences with numerous members of congress, in the course of which he received suggestions and recommendations for appointments to federal offices, occupied President Hoover's attention Monday as he swung into the second week of his administration.

In addition, the president talked briefly with three members of his cabinet on departmental affairs, entertained Franklin W. Fort of New Jersey, secretary of the national republican committee, at lunch, and late in the day received the members of the Washington diplomatic corps in the east room of the white house.

It was made known that President Hoover would make no statement on the withdrawal of Horace A. Mann, manager of his southern campaign, from the political field, in spite of the fact that Mann has twice said such a statement might be expected.

Texas Man Appointed.
The appointment of William E. Lea of Orange, Texas, to the United States shipping board, to fill the vacancy which will occur with the expiration of Commissioner Smith's term in June was recommended to Mr. Hoover by Senators Sheppard and Connally, both democrats of Texas, who also endorsed the suggestion that Samuel McCorkle of Mexia, Tex., be given a place on the proposed law enforcement commission.

Representative Cramton, republican, Michigan, discussed prohibition briefly with the president and asked that he appoint Judge George Young, of the New York customs court, to the United States court of customs appeals. Representative Robinson, Kentucky, recommended the appointment of Charles I. Dawson as solicitor general.

Judicial appointments in New York state were discussed with the president by Representative Fish of New York, a republican. There are three vacancies in the southern judicial district of that state and Mr. Fish is anxious that a man be selected from his own congressional district to fill one of the posts. He declined to say whom he had recommended.

Senators Pay Respects.
Several members of congress called during the day to pay their respects. These included Senators Goff and Hatfield of West Virginia, both republicans, Senator Copeland, democrat, New York, and Pine, republican, Oklahoma, and Thomas, republican, Idaho.

The president also conferred with Secretaries Kellogg, Mitchell, and Hyde on routine matters involving their departments, except that the secretary of state brought latest advices from the Mexican revolution. Attorney General Mitchell has yet to turn over to the president the opinion he has requested upon the mandatory provisions of the national origins clause of the immigration laws, although he expects to have it ready for the chief executive in a few days.—State Journal.

Leave to Sue State Denied

Alleged Designer Covered Wagon Road Emblem Turned Down

Mathew Thimgan's request for authority to sue the state of Nebraska on a claim of $5,510 as royalties he alleges are due him for the use of the covered wagon design as a marker on state highways was turned down by the representative diet Saturday morning.

After a spirited discussion upon the merits of the claim, the house adopted a motion by Mr. Cone for indefinite postponement of H. R. 174, giving Thimgan the right to sue. The finance committee had reported that bill in, after killing another which appropriated the money outright to pay the claimant. Thimgan's home is at Muriok.

The vote on indefinite postponement was 14 to 26. In making the motion, Mr. Cone said that the claimant should feel fully reimbursed, if the design is really his work, through the honor of having it displayed all over the state.

"Honors don't pay grocery bills," retorted Mr. Van Kirk, who introduced H. R. 174. "It would be only fair to let a judge and jury hear the evidence and decide whether the claim is a just one."

Mr. Davis said he understood the design and been copyrighted by Thimgan and if so he would be entitled to compensation for its use.

Didn't Get the Contract.
The opposite view was taken by Mr. Burke, who declared that the covered wagon idea originated with the state highway department, which called for bids on designs of it and received several of them; that Thimgan was not the low bidder and did not receive the contract; and that the perfected design now in use was made up in the department.

"Thimgan made no attempt to patent the design until after it had been adopted by the department," said Burke. "Moreover, his patent wouldn't be worth a dime except that the state adopted the covered wagon emblem to designate its highways. He has heretofore demanded 25 cents for each marker used. He could get an injunction of his rights, if he has any, by enjoining the department, or the contractor who furnishes the highway signs, but he has not done so."

Mr. Wynne insisted that the covered wagon design has become famous and the state was under an obligation to recompense its originator, or at least to give him his day in court.

W. C. T. U. MEETS

From Wednesday's Daily—
The meeting of the W. C. T. U. was held on Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Mattie G. Wiles on South Seventh street and attended by a very fine showing of the membership. The hostesses of the meeting were Mrs. Glen Vallery and Mrs. John Elliot of this city.

The session was devoted to the discussion of the payment of dues and the necessity of the financial support of the organization, Mrs. Charles Troop being the leader of the meeting.

The ladies had the pleasure of a letter from Mrs. Mary Wescott of Los Angeles, one of the charter members of the local union and who was in the time of her residence here a most devoted worker in the cause.

Mrs. Wescott sent a very interesting article on narcotics and alcohol, which is being read by Miss Olive Gass. The article took up this great and growing evil and which has been very active on the west coast and resulted in the tragic death of a number of prominent people and activity to stamp out this menace of the use of habit forming drugs.

Mrs. Wescott also sent to the local union a large and very fine portrait of Miss Frances E. Willard, first president of the national W. C. T. U., which will be a cherished possession of the Plattsmouth union, both for its beauty and the sentiment that has prompted the gift from the former Plattsmouth lady.

At this meeting five new members were received into the union and became active in the organization. As the afternoon drew to the close the hostesses served very dainty and delicious refreshments that aided in making the event on the the greatest pleasure.

PROSPERITY AND FIRE

According to a compilation by the New York Journal of Commerce, insured fire losses last year totaled $301,267,560, a minimum for the period from 1920 to 1928.

"While these figures are commendable for the reduction shown, they are in no wise justifiable," the report says, "and represent an economic waste of national resources that constitutes a serious drain even upon a profligate nation. The extent of this waste may be seen from the figures of the fire losses of the past 50 years, representing $10,261,472,446 in the aggregate as to property values destroyed."

In 1926 our total fire losses were the highest on record and it is noteworthy that they have been appreciably reduced during the last two years. There is, however, little cause for conceit as yet. It is only our tremendous prosperity that offsets so inexcusable a waste.

Over 80 per cent of all fires are attributable to carelessness. Various organizations are making intensive efforts to educate the people in fire prevention. And until the lessons are heeded, our fire loss must continue to be a serious blot on our record of prosperity and progress.

STIMSON IS FORCED DOWN

Bay City, Mich.—The airplane endurance flight of Edna Stinson and Randolph G. Page ended after approximately eleven hours of flight tonight, when they landed on the ice of Saginaw bay at 9:50 o'clock. Heavy snow and wind forced a landing.

The two veteran Detroit pilots took off from their ice runway on the bay here at 10:40:15 o'clock this morning, planning to stay aloft eighty hours. Their motor was functioning perfectly, they said, but the driving snow which came with nightfall and gale sweeping in from late Huron made flying conditions dangerous.

Jealousy

A long time ago someone called jealousy "The Green-Eyed Monster." It still goes by that name, but it has another one, which calls jealousies unhealthy habits of feeling and thinking. These unhealthy habits express themselves in unhealthy acts which may start very early in life. I need not tell you how unfortunate this is for a child. You know how uncomfortable this is for the family. Therefore you will wish to prevent any habits of jealousies being started; or cure any habits of jealousy that are already started.

This is the subject for discussion at the Child Development meeting, Thursday, March 21st. The morning meeting is at Muriok at 9:30 and the afternoon meeting in Union at 2:00.

Living More Pleasant in the Smaller City

Investigations and Tests Prove That Smaller City Has a Greater Amount of Real Living

The man or woman who makes their home in a small city has the greatest advantage over the resident of the larger city in the living conditions, the rental and living costs and also has the advantages of the friendships and associations of the friends that otherwise is impossible in the larger places. This is the observation of one of the residents here who came from the large city to dwell among the good people of this community.

The man or woman who makes their home in a small city has the greatest advantage over the resident of the larger city in the living conditions, the rental and living costs and also has the advantages of the friendships and associations of the friends that otherwise is impossible in the larger places. This is the observation of one of the residents here who came from the large city to dwell among the good people of this community.

This party has a position traveling through parts of Nebraska and finds that first of all he can live here much cheaper and be in as close a touch with his trade territory as when he resided in the larger city, as the train and bus service here is such that you can reach almost any point in the state with speed and best service all through the day is all that anyone could ask. The Missouri Pacific and the Burlington, especially the former have schedules that bring many trains into the city at all hours while this service is supplemented by buses that operate at almost any hour of the day. This enables those who are engaged in business in the city of Omaha to reside here if they wish to make the trip back and forth each day and as it requires only a little over a half hour to drive to the metro-polis, one can reach there as quickly from here as from the north sections of Omaha and Florence.

Perhaps the greatest advantage that this new dweller here finds in the small city is the fact that life is more intimate and gives the opportunity of knowing each other better, of friendly associations in lodge and social life, of the splendid schools and churches of the small communities that all tend to make more attractive the opportunities for pleasant association for members of the family circle.

Investigation has shown that living costs and rentals are cheaper in the small place and a city as well situated as Plattsmouth affords a good representation of business houses and stores as can be found anywhere and with stocks that have the range of assortment and at prices better than the larger cities.

Where Shall I Do My Banking Business?

Almost every banking house in the country is advertising "Service." It is necessary, then, to select the one best suited to your particular needs. The first test should be, "Is the bank forging ahead?" When this is answered, determine if the bank has well qualified officers in charge, and if the directors are men who can successfully manage their own affairs. Good officers and directors are very important factors in the making of a first class bank.

We believe you can answer these questions to the credit of this institution. Then it is right and proper that you should decide today to make the Farmers State Bank your permanent banking place.
