Charles Bates and wife were over to Omaha last Monday, where they were visiting Joe Parker at the University hospital.

Mrs. Ruth Pollard and Miss Fannie Warden were visiting for a number of days with relatives and old friends at and near Fairbury.

Merritt Pollard was building some fence on last Tuesday afternoon and getting things about the farm in readiness for the onrush of the spring work.

John Opp, who has been feeling quite poorly for some time past is at this time feeling much improved and is able to look after the work at the store again.

M. P. Flemming and family, of Plattsmouth, were guests for the day on last Sunday at the home of C. E. Hechner, where all enjoyed the day most pleasantly.

Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Rough were visiting for a short time in Weeping Water on last Tuesday, where they were guests for the occasion of a sister of Mr. Rough, Miss Agnes Rough, Elmer Wessel and the good wife will in the future have as a portion of their reading matter, the Plattsmouth Journal, which will keep them in touch with the doings of the entire county.

Ench Walker Bates has not been feeling the best for some time past, and while he has been rather poorly he has not given up and gone to bed, but has endeavored to keep going, believing that that is the best.

Mayor V. P. Sheldon and wife, accompanied by their son "Bill", were over to Omaha on Monday of this week, where they were looking after some business matters and were also attending a show while there.

Mary Jane, the two-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Betts, living south of Nehawka, has been quite ill during the past few days and great care had to be given to the little one, who is at this time some better.

A. F. Sturm was a visitor in Nebraska City for the day last Sunday, where he went to visit with his old time friend, Mrs. E. A. Kirkpatrick, who is at this time convalescing following an operation which he underwent some time since.

Thomas Mason, the mail carrier, was a visitor in Omaha for a short time on last Tuesday, after having completed the delivery of the mail. He was accompanied by his mother, and they visited with the little niece and granddaughter, whom they found feeling fine.

Believing in the practice of caring for what property one has in the best way, Stewart Rough will in a short time begin the painting of his home, which will not alone improve the appearance, but will surely prolong the life of the structure and add much to the general better appearance of the city in which it is located.

While many merchants were waiting for something to happen, Frank P. Sheldon purchased an entire car load of Red River Early Ohio and Irish Cobbler seed potatoes at the place where they were grown, and had them shipped to Nehawka, where he disposed of them, at the car, the price there being 90 cents, while at the store they sold for a dollar per bushel. These will make the very best of seed and the purchasers were fortunate in being able to get such fine quality. Other merchants said it could not be done, but Mr. Sheldon not only knew it could, but went ahead and did it.

In the deal he was able to sell the potatoes to his customers at a price equal to what the other merchants paid for the stock.

Undergoes Operation Tuesday
A. F. Hansen was at the hospital in Omaha for the past ten days, where he was being prepared to receive an operation for the restoration of his health and as he was gotten in as good condition as possible, under the state of his health, the operation was had at the hospital at Omaha on last Tuesday. Mrs. Hanson, and son, Clarence Hanson, of Nehawka, and Fred L. Hild and wife, the latter being a daughter of the patient, were over to Omaha on last Tuesday to be present at the operation.

Are Again at Work
Last fall when the winter came on a little earlier and more severe than was expected, the work on the new home of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Pollard had to be discontinued and remained in a state of inactivity until this week when the weather and the condition of the soil became such that work could again be commenced, and on last Tuesday the grading was completed about the foundation and arrangements made for the immediate erection of the superstructure. Much of the frame of the structure has been prepared at the shop of Henry M. Pollard, the contractor and build-

Joseph Shrader, Old Time Resident Passes On

Member of One of Prominent and Long Time Residents of County Dies at Nehawka

On Tuesday afternoon at 1:20 Joseph L. Shrader, one of the long time residents of Cass county was called to the last reward, death coming to him at the family home at Nehawka, following a period of failing health that has covered the last few years.

The deceased was a member of one of the prominent families of the county that came here in the sixties to help make this county one of the greatest in the state. Joseph L. Shrader was born February 8, 1851 in Tazewell county, Virginia, and spent his boyhood in his native state and amid the scenes of the great civil war which brought to the Old Dominion the torch of war over its cities and countryside.

With his brothers Mr. Shrader has occupied a large place in the history of Cass county and his untiring efforts and able management has brought him into standing as one of the leading residents of the county and an extensive land owner in this community.

Mr. Shrader is survived by his widow and seven children, Ben Shrader of Fort Collins, Colorado, William Shrader of Sturgis, South Dakota, Mrs. Dora Murray, residing in Oklahoma, Lester Shrader leaves only one member, Z. W. Shrader, the survivor of a family of eleven children.

Of the original Shrader family who came to this county in pioneer days the death of Joseph L. Shrader leaves only one member, Z. W. Shrader, the survivor of a family of eleven children.

No announcement of the funeral has been made awaiting the arrival of the members of the family from distant points.

A more complete biography of this splendid citizen will be given later in the Journal.

George Schoeman Dies After a Short Illness

Passes Aaya Last Saturday—Funeral Held Here Monday—Nearly Sixty Years of Age

The Louisville relatives and friends of George Schoeman were shocked to learn of his death on last Saturday morning after a short illness with heart trouble and other complications. While he had been in failing health for a number of years, his death was not expected. With him during his last hours were his brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Schoeman and his sister, Mrs. Henry Sals.

Mr. Schoeman was a son of Mrs. A. Schoeman, in recent years of Omaha, but formerly a highly esteemed pioneer citizen of this vicinity. After the family moved from the farm to Louisville, Mr. Schoeman was employed on the Missouri Pacific bridge gang for several years, but after receiving injuries that disabled him for that line of work, he did very little work. He was kind and friendly by nature and had a pleasant word for everyone and he was generally liked and respected by the whole town.

His mother has not enjoyed good health for a number of years and has made her home in Omaha with her daughter, Mrs. Adam Rentschler and family. The news of the death of her son was a sad blow to her as well as to the other members of his family.

Mr. Schoeman was born on the old farm southeast of Louisville, which is still in the family, on August 29, 1870. At the time of his passing he was 58 years, 6 months and 23 days old. He was baptized in the Evangelical Lutheran church and also confirmed in that faith on April 6, 1884, by the Rev. Katenhusen, long since deceased, a well loved pioneer preacher in this community.

His father passed away in the year 1883 and was buried in the Lutheran cemetery southwest of town. The funeral occurred on Monday afternoon from the M. E. church, the pastor, Rev. E. P. Booher officiating. The pall bearers were nephews and were George Frampton, Lincoln; Leon Hentschler, Omaha; William and Fred Schoeman, John Sals and William Knutson of Louisville. A short service was held at the home of his brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Schoeman, where the body was taken after death.

Interment was in the family lot in the Lutheran cemetery.—Louisville Courier.
