Charles Hempill was a visitor in Union on last Monday where he went to consult with the doctor at that place about his health.

W. O. Troop had the misfortune to lose a very fine steer on last Monday which weighed about 1400 pounds and was worth nearly $200.

Henry Wessel was called to Plattsmouth on Wednesday of last week where he was looking after some business matters for the day.

R. B. Stone and the family were over to Nebraska City for the afternoon on last Saturday and where they were doing some trading.

Lester Waldo was over to Lincoln last week where he underwent an operation for the removal of his tonsils which has been giving this young man much trouble of late.

Z. W. Shrader and son, Troy, and wife and Mrs. J. G. Wunderlich were all over to Nebraska City for the morning on last Tuesday, they being driven down to the big city in the car of Troy Shrader.

Charles Herbert Troop of Plattsmouth was a visitor for the day on last Tuesday at the home of W. O. Troop, and was assisting in the loading of a shipment of cattle which they were sending to Omaha.

Frank Trotter was hauling stock to Omaha and has been to the ship via the big orchard and north to the Murray highway, thence to Omaha, having to detour near Myrard, going to the north instead of following the highway.

Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Sturm were over to Nebraska City, where they were in attendance at the funeral of the late Miss Nettie McCarthy, the sister of Mrs. Sturm. The funeral was held from the home of her sister, Mrs. Elizabeth McCarthy of Nebraska City, and the interment was made at the beautiful Wyoming cemetery.

Alfred Anderson of Los Angeles, was a visitor for a few days in Nehawka on last Saturday remaining until Wednesday when he departed for his home in the west. He enjoyed the visit very much. Mr. Anderson was called to Omaha to look after some business matters for his employers, a construction company of Los Angeles.

Mr. Fred Shumaker who had a fracture of the wrist for some time past is at this time getting along nicely, and is able to use the injured member properly, and which is getting stronger all the time. Mrs. Shumaker who was at the hospital for some time where she was receiving treatment for the cure of a sinus trouble is hoping that the treatment will keep off the operation which some times is necessary, and which Mrs. Shumaker hopes may be avoided.

Getting Along Nicely.

E. A. Hanson who has been at the hospital at Omaha for some time past and where recently he underwent an operation for the restoration of his health, is reported as getting along nicely at this time.

Joseph Shrader Laid to Last Long Rest on Friday

Prominent Resident of Near Nehawka Sleeps in East Union Cemetery—Funeral Friday

The funeral services of the late Joseph L. Shrader, long time resident of Cass county, was held on Friday at 2 o'clock at the Otterbein church near his old home in the vicinity of Nehawka. The services were conducted by Rev. W. A. Taylor of Union who was assisted by Rev. Knoblock of Nehawka, the ministers paying a splendid tribute to the life and services of this splendid citizen, friend and neighbor. The interment was at the East Union cemetery.

Joseph L. Shrader was born February the 8th, 1851 just east of the Cumberland mountains in Tazwell county Virginia. He departed this life March 24th, 1929, age 78 years, one month and sixteen days.

He was the son of Henry and Edith Shrader who were also born in Tazwell county, Virginia, whose ancestors were amongst the first colonial settlers to till the soil of old Virginia.

Mr. Shrader came to Nebraska in 1871 when a young man and made his home with his brother, George W. Shrader, now deceased. Here he worked on the farm until February, 8, 1872 when he was united in marriage with Miss Alice Albin the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Albin one of the well known pioneer families of Cass county. To this union ten children were born, three preceding him in death—Grover, Mary and Rena. Those surviving him are: Benjamin of Fort Collins, Colorado; Dora Murray of Parsons, Kansas; William of the Butte, South Dakota; Eva Ford, Alma, Nebraska; Fern Gish of Weeping Water, Nebraska; Lester Shrader, Nehawka, Nebraska and George Shrader, Arriba, Colorado.

Among the descendants are thirty-one grand children and eighteen great grandchildren.

He is survived by his wife who has been his constant companion for 57 years in happiness and through adversity of the day of his passing. One brother, Z. W. Shrader of Nehawka and one sister, Mrs. Christina Albin of the same county, Virginia, are the only members of a family of eleven now living.

Mr. Shrader joined the United Brethren church at Otterbein, in his neighborhood, soon after its organization 43 years ago and has always been a constant and devoted attendant. He was also a member of the Modern Woodman of America, belonging to the camp at Nehawka.

In 1878 he moved to his farm in Mt. Pleasant precinct which he had purchased the preceding year and here he lived up to the time of his death.

Mr. Shrader has passed from our sight but the impression he made for good and the lesson he taught by the noble life he lived, in one community for over a half century, will be remembered through generations to eternity. No unkind nor unpleasant word was ever uttered of friend, neighbor, or stranger, nor by an act caused a pang of unhappiness. He inherited a talent for many nameless acts of kindness and love which drew his neighbors to him and sealed their in life long friendship.

In passing, the cheerfulness in his last hour was true to the life he had lived.

"Therefore dread I not to go Over the Silent River; Death thy latest thing car I know, Bear me, thou life giver, Through the waters, to the shore Where mine own have gone before."

VERY FINE MEETING

From Tuesday's Daily—

Yesterday afternoon the members of the W. C. T. U. met at the Fellowship room of the Presbyterian church and with a very large number of the members in attendance at the session. The hostesses for the afternoon were Mrs. Fred G. Morgan and Miss Jennie M. Robertson.

The program was in charge of Mrs. Fred Morgan and proved a most pleasant event in every way and with a number of the juvenile artists appearing on the well arranged program.

Mrs. Charles Troop read the Union by-laws and pledges which were followed with the greatest of interest by all of the members.

Mrs. Robert Troop was heard in two enjoyable numbers, "Old Tim," and "Memories," and Mrs. Clifford Stecher also gave two very fine readings as a part of the program.

Masters Billy Evers and Wallace Terryberry were presented in several cleverly given violin numbers and had as their accompanist Miss Catherine Terryberry.

Misses Janette Hirz and Wave Stecher presented a very delightful folk dance and song and the little ladies presented most artistically.

Master Billy and Miss Jean Knorr also gave two very clever songs as their part of the program, "Smiles" and "Learning to Cook," in their usual happy manner.

Master Herbert Minor presented a piano solo in a manner that showed the splendid talent of this young man and added very much to the program of the afternoon.

The program was closed by Miss Albin, one Wescott presented two whistling numbers, "Glow Worm" and "Mystery of Life," that was most charmingly given. Miss Helen Wescott served as the accompanist.

At the close of the evening dainty and delicious refreshments were served to the members of the party.

Governor's Code Bill is Transformed

Rodman's Committee Reports Code Consolidation Out as Sort of Civic Service

In committee of the whole the senate advanced to third reading H. R. 263, a bill by O'Malley which somewhat amends the present law prohibiting discrimination in payment of prices for cream.

Vance said the bill is intended to prevent discrimination of prices paid for cream shipped by train and cream shipped by truck.

Wellensiek, who spoke for the bill, said it does not limit price but if a company pays four cents more at one of its concentration stations it must pay the same price at its other stations.

Rodman said the bill contains an amendment to the proviso in the present law whereby it is declared not unfair to pay as much as is paid by any bona fide competitor in the same locality "or its trade territory." He asked what trade territory means. He asked if it means any distance cream is hauled by truck.

The bill was advanced without a roll call.

Several senators said a Minnesota decision held this law unconstitutional in that state.

Brazda was given full time to present to the senate the good points of his bill, S. F. 107, creating the office of county tax commissioner, making assessors prepare tax lists, issue game licenses and collecting automobile license fees. Some found fault because it takes work away from the county clerk, county treasurer and abolishes elective precinct assessors and provides for appointment of as many deputy assessors as are needed. It fixes no salary for the county tax commissioner. It is to become effective in 1930. At that time the bill was reported and no action taken.

Governor's Bill Transformed.

S. F. 218, by Griswold and Jearry, a substitute bill for one desired by the governor, originally intended to permit the governor to combine code departments and shift them about without their consent to any appointive office or among elective state officers, was advanced to third reading, after brief discussion. The substitute contains none of the original bill.

It merely provides that examiners, accountants, investigators or inspectors of code departments, if dismissed by the head of a department, may have a right to appeal to the governor for a hearing for reinstatement, and that they cannot be dismissed for political, religious or racial reasons, but only for insubordination or incompetency.

The original bill has been referred to Rodman's Douglas and a committee on miscellaneous subjects, and that is what the committee and its authors brought before the senate Tuesday. It was referred to as a sort of civil service bill, but it does not apply to clerks or ordinary help in a code department.

The mention of civil service was enough for Reed of Hamilton. He opposed it because he said any form of civil service is bunk and intended to hold people in jobs when they ought to be fired.

H. R. 414, by Sprick and Bailey, for separation of state taxes from other taxes on tax receipts, was advanced after the Omaha delegation attempted vainly to have their home county cut out of it on the ground that it would cost $5,000 or $10,000. The bill excepts for the present year counties that have bought blanks and books. Governor Weaver recommended such a bill, so Reed told Eastern of Douglas, democrat, when the latter asked who wants the bill.

"It has been fashionable for democrats to follow the governor," said Reed, "so I thought I would tell you the governor has it in his message."

Primary Amendments.

The joint conference committee on S. F. 105, Griswold's primary election bill, has agreed upon amendments to meet objections of Governor Weaver and will report Wednesday. The committee proposes to strike out the repeal of the presidential preference voting at the primary and secret voting in the state conventions on election of national delegates and national committees.

SOUTHERN CROSS HUNTED

Sydney, N. S. W.—The search for the airplane Southern Cross and the four men it carried which has been carried on since Monday by newspaper hunters and airplanes still was unsuccessful and nothing had been learned to relieve the general anxiety of the fliers.

Nothing has yet been heard here from the native runners who are searching the sparsely peopled country in the vicinity of Wynnum. The silence of the lost men has not been regarded as necessarily a bad omen since their radio generator was operated by air driven apparatus which would not function if they had landed.

The Southern Cross, veteran of a flight across the Pacific from the United States, was en route to England with two of its original crew and two other men when it disappeared.

The missing men are Captain Charles Kingsford Smith, Pilot Chas. T. Elm, Navigator Litchfield and radio operator McWilliam.

IOWA BANKERS' FARM COMMITTEE TO MEET

Boone, Ia., April 2.—Otto Herman, chairman of the agricultural committee of the Iowa Bankers' association and president of the Security Savings bank here, has called a meeting of that committee to be held at Iowa State college at Ames, Thursday of this week.

The meeting will be held with county agents and officers of county bankers' associations.

Coulter Says World Surplus Real Trouble

Imports Are Driving United States Products Off the Market Claims Dakotan.

Washington, April 2.—The farm surplus of the world rather than that of the United States is causing distress to the farmers of the country, G. L. Coulter, president of the state agricultural college of North Dakota, told the house agricultural committee today in testimony on the new farm aid bill.

Crops produced in other countries where lands and labor were cheap, he said, were driving American products from the market and leaving the American farmer with a surplus on his hands.

They come into this country largely in the form of substitutes, he added, explaining that imported molasses used in the manufacture of industrial alcohol means displacing American corn, while starch imports left growers in this country with potatoes to throw away. He urged tariff revision to preserve the domestic market for American producers and suggested that members of the agriculture committee present the case to the ways and means committee.

Favors Farmer Control.

Coulter favored creation of a farm board to aid the farmer in balancing production and demand. Stabilization corporations also disagreed with suggestions that they should be controlled by the government instead of the farmers.

Coulter said that in anticipation of the enactment of farm relief legislation that would be effective, plans already were being made to increase the acreage in production during the coming season.

Turning to the problem of dealing with the Philippine island farm products, Coulter said congress should say frankly to them whether they might expect their independence and proceed accordingly.

"If we intend to give them their independence, we should put them on the same tariff basis as Cuba and other islands," he said.

He said 60 per cent of wheat of the world is grown in these two countries and that if they co-operated they would be able to control the price rather than have the world market do so.

Senator Norris, republican, Nebraska, observed that a higher price level maintained by the United States and Canada would result in increased production in India and Russia, but Brinton said that this did not necessarily follow.

Advocating the McNary bill, which is serving as a basis for the farm hearings, Brinton declared that the stabilization corporations could return a profit because they would make "enormous economies" in the handling of wheat.

Speaks on Stabilization.

Chairman McNary contended that stabilization corporations would lose money in the end, but he also thought they would institute economies and that these savings could work to reduce their losses.

C. C. Coffey, dean of the department of agriculture at the University of Minnesota, told the house committee that funds should be made available to the agricultural colleges to assist in educating young men and women in co-operative marketing. There is a shortage of men in the field he said, and organizations are hiding from men capable of instructing others.—Lincoln Star.

JUDGE WINSLOW OFF BENCH

New York—United States District Judge Francis A. Winslow, sixty-six, Monday announced his resignation from the bench, and so halted congressional investigation into maladministration of justice made against him in the house of representatives.

Winslow, who was appointed to the federal bench by President Harding six years ago, sent in his resignation to President Hoover last week. It reached the president Monday afternoon and was accepted.

"The act speaks for itself," he said, "announcement of the resignation was made by Winslow's counsel, Martin Conboy, who also issued a statement saying that Winslow had decided to resign because he felt that the charges against him impaired his usefulness on the bench, even though those charges had not been proven. Additional reasons for his resignation, as listed by Conboy were strain on Winslow's health imposed by anxiety about the charges against him and lack of sufficient funds for such legal conflict as continuance on the bench would make necessary."

Winslow was charged in the house of representatives by Congressmen F. H. LaGuardia with "grave irregularities" in the conduct of bankruptcy matters.

PET COYOTE ATTACKS BOY

Bradshaw, March 29.—Fifteen stitches were required to close wounds about the face and neck of 4-year-old Joseph Carlson, Jr., of Bradshaw, after he had been attacked by a pet coyote at the home of a neighbor.

A playmate was showing Joseph the coyote, tied to a post in the yard. The coyote, apparently noting the child was a stranger, set upon him, biting the lad about the neck and such legal conflict as continuance on the bench would make necessary.

Winslow was charged in the house of representatives by Congressmen F. H. LaGuardia with "grave irregularities" in the conduct of bankruptcy matters.

CHARGES AGAINST MORROW

Washington.—Gezayn Ugarte, head of the diplomatic mission sent to Washington by Mexican rebel forces, declared in a prepared statement Monday that the present insurgent movement in his country was a public effort to "oppose the despotic regime which had imposed itself on the people against their will."

He endorsed the statement credited to General Escobar, commander-in-chief of the rebel armies, charging that Ambassador Morrow was using his office to further the cause of the Calles administration in Mexico, and expressed surprise that it should have offended the state department. Disclaiming any desire "to enter into a controversy with the state department," Ugarte said: "Our purpose is to expose to the American people our cause, and to disclose to them the antecedents and aspirations of the revolutionary party."

Former President Calles was charged in the statement with "continuing to wield his power thru the provisional president, Portes Gil, his instrument," after having "promised faithfully to withdraw from public affairs at the expiration of his 'term' as president."

DLD Highway will Have Fifteen Miles Paved

Cochran Announces Plan for Re-routing Parts of the Highway—Completed Next Year.

Lincoln, Neb., April 1.—The state highway between Lincoln and Omaha by way of Gretna and Ashland will not be entirely paved until next year, State Engineer Roy Cochran stated in an interview with a World-Herald reporter at Lincoln last night. But the road will be entirely paved next year, Cochran promised definitely.

The chief obstacle to immediate paving of the completed stretch of road from Lincoln to the Douglas county line, Cochran said, is a plan to make changes in the present route of the D. L. D. highway.

The road is completely paved in Douglas county.

The relocation will be made to secure the best permanent road base and to avoid railroad crossings. Paving could not reasonably begin, declared Cochran, on the new grade until it has settled through a winter.

About 15 miles of the Omaha to Lincoln road will be paved this year from the new increased gasoline tax fund, he said, but most of this paving will be on the west end, where the route is settled. It will doubtless begin at the end of the Lancaster county paving just out of Havelock and extend clear to Greenwood.

Only 50 miles of paving can be done this year on all state highways, Cochran said, from the additional gasoline tax. The Omaha to Lincoln road, he said, would get nearly a third of all the paving done on all state highways this year.

"And it will be completely paved by next year," he said. "This road has to bear a very heavy traffic and it needs paving as badly as any section of highway in the state."

Relocation of the D. L. D. highway will begin near Greenwood and take the road away from the Burlington railway tracks to a point near Ashland.

There is also the possibility that the present route around Ashland will be relocated in order to eliminate rail crossings, was learned through Cochran would not confirm this.

Cities Paying Off Indebtedness Rapidly

Pawnee City Leads With Payment of $70,000; Crete Second With $40,500.

Bonds issued by municipalities and school districts in Nebraska in March totaled $1,084,164.79, according to a compilation by Ralph C. Lawrence, bond examiner for State Auditor Johnson. Of this amount $650,000 was issued by the city of Omaha and $213,000 was made up of refunding issues which do not increase the bonded debt of the municipalities or districts. Bonds paid and cancelled in March total $352,579.

The state purchased three issues of bonds totaling $199,500 direct from municipalities. These issues were $135,000, Kearney refunding, $36,000 Crawford intersection paving, and $28,500 Council Bluffs water all bearing 4-1-2 per cent per annum.

Doane College to Receive New Athletic Field

Construction Work to Start Immediately, President Dean Says—Has a Son in School.

Crete, Neb.—Doane college is to have a new athletic field, the gift of G. Eli Simon, Cambridge, Neb., attorney, according to an announcement late Monday by Edwin B. Dean, president of the college. Construction of the field is to start at once, under the terms of the gift.

Mr. Simon was born and reared on a farm in the vicinity of Cambridge, and was a son of one of the first pioneers to settle in that section of the state. He received his education in the public schools, Franklin academy, Fremont college, and Creighton university college of law. He served as Furnas county attorney one term and is at present city attorney of Cambridge.

Besides following his regular profession and serving in various capacities to his community and the state, Mr. Simon has taken special interest in education, both from the intellectual and physical standpoints. While attending Franklin academy, he was elected football captain. His son, Eldon, who completed his work for the A. B. degree at Doane college at the end of the first semester, lettered in both football and track during his four years in college. Mr. Simon says, "Athletics in college is an important department since one of its chief functions is to train students in the development of physical power, as well as in the mental and moral training necessary for competent leadership."
