Burden Too Big for Germany to Carry. Paris—Dr. Hishmar Schacht, chief of the German delegation to the second Daves committee, Tuesday told his colleagues on the committee that the schedule of reparations annuities demanded by the allied nations exceeded Germany's capacity to pay.

Dr. Schacht says reparations figures beyond capacity of his country to pay. Paris—Dr. Hishmar Schacht, chief of the German delegation to the second Daves committee, Tuesday told his colleagues on the committee that the schedule of reparations annuities demanded by the allied nations exceeded Germany's capacity to pay.

Dr. Schacht's stand was received in some quarters as merely representing the viewpoint of the German government which was to be considered by the reparations experts, together with the viewpoint of the allies, and in others as a rejection of the allied figures.

The attitude of the German delegation was understood by some of the experts as indicating that the allied memorandum should be considered as only one step in the negotiations. By this view the Bureau that the German delegation will present tomorrow are intended to enable the committee to compare the two sets of figures before taking another step forward.

In German circles outside of the German delegation, Dr. Schacht's statements were regarded, however, as meaning more than that and tending to show the determination of the German experts to accept no arrangement unless further reductions were made.—State Journal.

Promises of Campaign to be Honored

President Makes Stand Clear on Major Issues; Agriculture Action Is Only Experiment.

Washington, April 12.—President Hoover's campaign—said his first message to the congress Tuesday and called full speed of legislative machinery to produce two main results—farm relief and tariff revision.

Terms, but to the point, was the message. The president made it plain that the campaign dealing with the "red-tape two pledges given in the last election" and that he wanted the job done with efficiency and dispatch.

Mr. Hoover laid down no hard and fast rules for congress to follow. But he outlined the campaign, set out all an encompassing expert the agricultural problem, and suggested the general path to follow.

"There is no single plan or principle that can be generally applied," said the president.

"I have long held that the multiplicity of causes of agricultural depression could only be met by the creation of a great instrumentality clothed with sufficient authority and resources to assist our farmers to meet these problems, each upon its own merits."

"The creation of such an agency would at once transfer the agricultural question from the field of politics into the realm of economics.

Outlines Purpose. "The administration is pledged to create an instrumentality that will investigate the causes, and sound remedies, and have the authority and resources to apply those remedies.

"The pledged purpose of such a federal farm board is the reorganization of the marketing system on sounder and more stable and more economic lines.

"Every effort of this character is an experiment, and we shall find from our experience the way to further advance or tax upon the farmer, nor that a bureaucracy be set up.

"In summing up the farm relief problem, Mr. Hoover said: "The difficulties of agriculture cannot be cured in a day; they can not all be cured by legislation; they must be cured by the federal government alone. But farmers and their organizations can be assisted to overcome these inequalities.

Only Experiment. "Every effort of this character is an experiment, and we shall find from our experience the way to further advance or tax upon the farmer, nor that a bureaucracy be set up.

"We must make a start. With the creation of a great instrumentality of this character, of a strength and importance equal to that of those which we have created for transportation and banking, we give immediate assurance of the determined purpose of the government to meet the difficulties of which we are now aware."

The president declared that seven years of the tariff act had demonstrated its wisdom.

"On the whole it was worked well," he said.

He stated, however, economic shifts necessitate a readjustment of some schedules, which should be undertaken with the greatest care. He added:

"Seven years of experience have proved the principle of flexible tariff to be practical, and in the long view a most important principle to maintain."—Omaha Bee-News.

McKELVIE SUES X-RAY EXPERT

Lincoln, April 15.—Fifty thousand dollars each for two X-ray burns is asked by former Governor Samuel R. McKelvie in a district court suit filed here against Dr. Roscoe L. Smith, X-ray expert.

Twice while being treated, Mr. McKelvie alleges, he was scalded by the X-ray machine, the result of the "carelessness and negligence" of Dr. Smith. The first of the burns was in 1925, the second last November. He says they caused "extreme pain, rheumatism in his left leg, a skin disease spread over his entire body, and prevented him from using his eyes for a long time."

Since the last one, his petition continues, he has been incapacitated from business. The first cost him $12,000 in physicians' and hospital bills.
