'Drowned' in Lake; Brought Back to Life

Little Hope Held for Recovery of Chadron Man, Who Fell Into Water While Fishing.

Chadron, May 13.—Slight hope was held Monday for the recovery of Fremont Bisping, 40, who was unconscious for several hours Monday following his rescue from the waters of Whitney lake, near here. Bisping was under water for more than five minutes before his companions succeeded in bringing him to the surface.

He was fishing from a boat with L. J. Morrey, when the latter lost his balance and fell into the lake. In attempting to get back into the boat, Morrey upset it, dumping Bisping, wearing hip boots and unable to swim, into the water.

Bisping immediately sank below the surface in 15 feet of water. Morrey yelled for help and dived for his companion. He succeeded in bringing him to the surface after more than five minutes, it was said.

George Erb, fishing on the bank, heard Morrey yell and waded into the lake with a long pole, which he extended to Morrey, who helped Bisping, while Erb dragged them to shore.

When taken from the water, Bisping's muscles were too rigid for first aid pumping to remove the water from his lungs. His body was wrapped in blankets and placed in the warm sun and a doctor was called. After working more than an hour the doctor succeeded in getting some signs of life from the apparently drowned man.

Bisping is the son of C. H. Bisping, recently elected mayor of Chadron for a second term.—Omaha Bee-News.

AIR FIGHT AT GRAND ISLAND

Grand Island, Neb.—An "air fight" between aviation schools of Grand Island over the new city airport ordinance loomed Tuesday.

Superintendent R. V. Clark of the city airport, ordered "Dutch" Devore, Wood River pilot, from the field, allegedly because he was flying an unlicensed plane. Tuesday the order was rescinded until the city council could clarify the situation.

Since the airport ordinance became effective May 1, trouble has been brewing. Several have charged the Morton training ships of the Grand Island Flying school are unlicensed and officials of the school have replied new Waco planes have been ordered. Ships of the Walter Smith school of aviation are licensed but Smith is objecting to the council fixing charges of $25 a month for storing his ships in the airport hangar, $30 a month per ship for use of the field and 10 per cent of all taken in for passenger rides.

AIRPORTS TO BE PLANNED

Cleveland—Impressed that the air offers the last opportunity for speedy and expanded transportation, 250 engineers, architects, contractors and government officials will convene here Wednesday to form a definite program for the guidance of a nation wide airport development.

Altho differing on technical details, the delegates will have one common idea, that the mistakes of railway and city planners in making tracks and streets inadequate for the future must not be duplicated.

The delegates, who will be in session for three days under the sponsorship of the national aeronautical chamber of commerce believe that airport development presents the most important problems in the aviation industry.
