The bankers and realtors who visited this section of the country last Friday were well pleased with the country here and especially with the soil analysis which ran high, and as well the reclamation of the soil, and making it the better.

There is a happy home in Union on account of the stork bringing a young American to the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Austin, where the mother and son are doing nicely, but whether the proud father will get entirely over his great happiness or not is the question.

H. Marks, for supper and the evening, departed late in the evening for their home in the north, and while the distance was much over a hundred miles, however, they had a good time and a good trip.

The Rev. W. A. Taylor was called to Nehawka on last Sunday where he made a most excellent address at the memorial services which were conducted under the auspices of the American Legion, and which was held at the Auditorium. Following the exercises at the hall, the last resting places of the boys were decorated with pretty flowers in token of the love, honor and respect which a grateful nation maintains for the boys who stepped in the foremost storm of the battle front to save the world in the name of liberty and freedom.

At the home of Joseph Lidgett the representative of the Journal stopped on last Saturday, and found this estimable couple busy, but having time for a friendly call, and were pleased to have their friends with them. They have just made friends with a baby squirrel, which they have named Nibbs, and which will crawl all over one, pilfering things from pockets and becoming very friendly. They have a very fine flock of chickens. They purchased some three hundred from W. H. Lesley and a number of the purchases seemed not as strong as desired, Mr. Lesley shipped them fifty-two others and Mrs. Lidgett is high in her praise for the very fine treatment accorded by the Greenview hatchery.

Deles Derner and Wayne Ackley are at this time building a barn for the former, which is to be one which will house the stock of that gentleman as well as care for the feed, this proving a great saving over the attempt to get along with the former buildings, which were not adequate to his needs.

Family Gathering Last Sunday. Last Sunday was Memorial day at the Methodist church in Wyoming and a large number of people gathered there to pay tribute to the memory of friends resting in the beautiful church yard. Among those who were there were Mont Robb and his daughter, Miss Gussie Robb, they attending the services at the church.

West and sister, Della, of Wyoming; Mrs. Kate Smith and Misses Mary Donnelly and Elizabeth Robb, of Nebraska City. A most pleasant time was had.

Beautifies Rural Home. John N. Larsh, who has lived east of Union for many years and has one of the most beautiful homes in the State of Nebraska, where he has a lake which is supplied from a large spring in his yard, and a most novel home and country resort. Mr. Larsh very cordially invited his friends to come and visit the place and enjoy the comfort and beauty of the place.

He has a unique sign which reads, "Do not pull the wild flowers, but let others enjoy them." He has a bookcase in his house which was made by his foreparents over seventy years ago, and is in excellent condition. Mr. Larsh has just completed a rustic bridge across a branch of the stream which runs past his home, and which allows guests parties to go over into a pasture with much shade and green grass, and provides a most beautiful place for a party to picnic. There are also two rustic gates built from poles and whose hinges are the forks of trees and hollows in a rock.

On the larger of the gates is the two words, "Spring Dale," written with branches of trees, which is very beautiful. One only knows the full beauty of the place and surroundings by visiting there.

On last Saturday a party of students studying botany stopped and spent two hours in visiting this unique home. Then they journeyed on to Arbor Lodge at Nebraska City.

Mr. Larsh has suspended from the porch a dinner bell, which was cast in Chicago by W. H. Stowe, of that bustling village of the then western frontier town, back in 1858.

COURT GRANTS A PERMIT. Philadelphia—Taking the stand that you cannot always judge a man by the company he keeps, the United States circuit court of appeals Friday ordered Samuel O. Wynne, federal prohibition administrator for eastern Pennsylvania, to grant to the Lykens Valley Ice and Beverage company of Lykens, Pa., a license to manufacture cereal beverages. The beverage company had been refused a permit by the administrator on the ground that the company's three incorporators had "made a bad impression" because of their associations with alleged bootleggers.

Judge Johnson of the federal district court at Scranton reversed the action of the administrator who appealed to the higher court.

Two alleged bootleggers are said to be stockholders in the company.

Iowa University Students Battle Big Ten Ouster

Belting Asserts Jessup's Refusal to Back Him Is One Reason; Sentiment Reach High Pitch.

Iowa City, Ia., May 26.—Professor Paul E. Belting, who resigned April 29 as University of Iowa athletic director at the request of President Walter A. Jessup, in a statement tonight linked his resignation with the ousting of the university from the Big Ten athletic conference.

Belting asserted his belief that "the western conference interpreted the president's refusal to support me further as a direct challenge to clean sport in the University of Iowa and they acted accordingly. I think their judgment was correct."

From Prof. Louis Pelzer, Iowa's faculty member of the Big Ten committee, came a revelation that the charge that a "slush fund" is being operated here for the benefit of athletes was one accusation. He said that the information on which the committee acted was given by Commissioner John L. Griffith.

Campus sentiment against the conference's action reached a high pitch today, culminating in a student mass meeting on the campus. More than one thousand students paraded to the home of President Jessup, bearing banners with the inscription, "go to college at a profit, 'subsidized athletes' and 'we want to know why.'"

President Jessup gave a short talk in which he told the students, "as I understand it, we are not out of the Big Ten. The conference simply used one of its devices by refusing to schedule athletic contests after January 1, 1930. Our athletic council will work as fast as possible in finding out the facts, and when they are found we will know whether we are still members of the conference."

Student Leaders Resentful. Student leaders expressed resentment that Iowa had been singled out for action. They alleged that other schools were irregular in methods of attracting athletes.

"If Iowa is not clean in its handling of intercollegiate athletics, the first move must be a housecleaning," said Prof. Pelzer and Prof. E. H. Lauer, appointed director of athletics following Belting's resignation. Iowa's 1929 football schedule will not be affected, the officials said. Jessup tonight denied rumors that he was considering the presidency of the University of Michigan. His name had been linked with that position, following the resignation of Clarence Cook Little.—World-Herald.

REFUSES BIG REWARD. Covert Jean, 22, 2220 Howard street, Omaha, former Plattsmouth boy, refused Sunday night to accept more than $2 as a reward for returning to its owner a wallet containing $185.

The owner, P. E. Johnson, 72, of Cold Springs, Colo., left the wallet on a counter after pay for gasoline purchased at the United States Oil company's filling station at Fortieth and Cumby streets at 9 p. m. He reached Council Bluffs before noting the pocketbook was missing. Returning to the cash, Johnson said he offered a substantial reward, which was rejected.

"Guess there's not many young fellows like that," the veteran motorist commented later.

"I didn't do nothing to earn the dough," Jean explained. "Two bucks was more than plenty. Wouldn't have taken that if the old man hadn't insisted on giving me something."

PINNED UNDER BURNING CAR. Ashland, Neb.—Pinned beneath their car after it had turned over on loose gravel west of here Sunday morning and caught fire, Grace Heilerich of Ashland and Genevieve Ford of Des Moines were saved from serious injury when passing motorists righted the car and pulled them to safety. Miss Heilerich escaped with a deep cut on the right forearm and Miss Ford suffered minor head lacerations.

The girls were roughed to Ashland for medical treatment. Miss Ford is a guest at the Hellerich home.

Birth Rate of Nebraska Shows Marked Increase

Report Shows That Rate Has Gained Much in 1928 Over Record of Previous Years.

After showing a steady decline for six years in succession, the birth record for 1928 as compiled in the state vital statistics office registers an increase over the preceding annum. A summary given out by Miss Esther Stern, chief clerk, reports the total number of births last years as 28,029 compared with 27,866 in 1927 which was a gain of 163.

The 1928 figures however are more than 600 below the mark reached in 1926 and some 4,009 under those for 1921.

A birth graph for Nebraska covering the past seven years would exhibit a sharply descending line from 1921 to 1927, and a slight upward turn during 1928. Here are the returns by years during that period:

1921	23,259	1925	29,179
1922	31,173	1926	28,287
1923	30,171	1927	27,866
1924	30,396	1928	28,029

Boys Outnumber Girls. In each of the past two years, about 800 more boys than girls were born in Nebraska. In 1928 the count was 14,415 and 13,614, respectively; in 1927 it stood: Boys, 14,360; girls, 13,506.

The white race, Chinese and Japanese, Mexicans and miscellaneous elements in Nebraska's population reported more births last year than the year before. On the other hand fewer children were born to negro and Indian parents in 1928 than in 1927. Here are the comparative statistics:

White	27,289	27,406
Colored	238	235
Jap. or Chl.	26	31
Indian	120	88
Mexicans & others.	193	269

Even though the total number of births was larger, the rate per 1,000 of population fell off slightly in 1928, being 19.1 for that year as against 20 in the one just preceding.

More Twins, Fewer Triplets. There were 856 pairs of twins ushered into the world in Nebraska in 1928; whereas 1927 marshalled only 334 doubleheaders in the natal field. Of triplets, however, only 4 sets were reported in 1928, while 7 such groups were registered in 1927.

More than 20 per cent of all births last year—5,747 in number—took place in hospitals and other institutions.

Of the 28,029 births which occurred in 1927, only 487 were illegitimate. The previous annum, 489 illegitimate children were born.

Physicians were in attendance at the birth of 27,627 children during 1928. Midwives cared for 234 cases, and 168 were looked after by relatives or friends.

Lindy and Ann Wedded Quietly in New Jersey

Ceremony Performed at 4; Lindy's Mother There; News Told by Morrow's Secretary.

Englewood, N. J., May 27.—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh and Miss Anne Morrow were married quietly here at 4 o'clock Monday afternoon.

This announcement was made by a secretary of Ambassador Morrow, father of the bride.

The secretary telephoned to Universal Service the following announcement: "Mr. and Mrs. Dwight W. Morrow announce the wedding of their daughter, Anne, to Col. Charles Englewood, N. J., May 27, 1929."

He added that only members of the Morrow family and Colonel Lindbergh's mother were present.

The ceremony was performed by Dr. Williams Adams Brown of Union Theological seminary. Dr. Brown is an old friend of the Morrow family and his daughter, Helen was a close friend of the bride.

It was learned at Roosevelt field that Lindbergh has ordered his plane put in shape for 8 Tuesday morning.

Mechanics found a faulty oil line in the plane but promised it would be repaired.

Secretary Reticent. Mr. Springer was very reticent in giving details of the event, declaring he had only been authorized the brief public announcement.

At 4:30 p. m. the couple were seen to leave the Morrow grounds in Lindbergh's car with the flyer at the wheel. Newspaper men stationed outside the residence thought nothing of the couple's exit, being unaware of the long impending marriage, for announcement of which they were waiting had taken place.

Where the couple had gone could not be learned. It was not thought likely they had left on their honeymoon, for no baggage was visible to the reporters.

However, there was a strong likelihood the couple may have gone to the home of friends in order to avoid public scrutiny. Newspaper men, however, rushed to Port Washington, L. I. in order to "cover" that place in the event the couple were heading there to board their amphibian and fly to the summer home at North Haven, Me.—Omaha Bee-News.

General Harry A. Smith Dies at Omaha Sunday

Commander of the Seventh Corps Area Passes Away Following Operation a Few Days Ago.

Major Gen. Harry A. Smith, 62, member of the general war department staff and commander of the Seventh corps area, died Sunday morning at 5:30 at Clarkson Memorial hospital.

General Smith was taken to the hospital May 22 for an emergency operation.

The general's condition, considered grave, seemed to improve, but early Sunday morning he was given but a few hours to survive.

A military funeral will be held sometime before noon Wednesday. The burial will be at Atchison, Kan. He is survived by his widow and two sons, William A. and Newcomb.

Native of Corps. General Smith is a native of this corps area, having been born in Atchison, on June 18, 1866.

Upon graduation from the United States military academy in 1891, he was assigned to the First United States Infantry, then stationed in California. From 1896 to 1898 he was with the national guard in Kansas.

In 1892 General Smith wed Miss Harriet Newcomb of Atchison.

At the outbreak of the Spanish American war in 1898, he became a member of the Twenty-first Kansas Volunteers, and commanded a battalion of this regiment in Cuba, where he remained until 1900.

He served in the Philippines from 1900 to 1902 and again from 1905 to 1907.

In 1908 he was a distinguished graduate from the Army school of the Line and the next year graduated from the Army Staff college. He became a senior instructor in the Army service schools at Fort Leavenworth in 1909 and remained there until 1914.

Wonder what she'll give him next Christmas

"NO," he says, "I guess I can run the old farm without electricity."

"Sure," I says, "and your wife could run the house without a modern corn planter."

Well, sir, that started him to thinking. He got to figuring how he could make his wife a real nice present of a Delco-Light plant—and get the benefit of having electricity in the barn himself. Now he's got it. And, say! He's the proudest man in three counties. Says if he'd known what Delco-Light would do for him he'd have got it for her ten years ago.
